TORONTO PARK.

Hanlan's Point, the Cooney Island of Canada, across the bay from Toronto, is more popular than ever this season with the hosts of pleasure-seekers who cross over daily. There are many amusement devices, big hand concerts, novel outdoor acts and all kinds of shows at Hanlan's Point. The Stadium is the big athletic field where the home games of the Toronto Baseball Club (Eastern League) are played, as well as the Tecumseh Lacrosse games and big athletic events. The magnificent grandstand will seat 15,000 people, and the bleachers 7,000. L. Goldman is the enterprising manager, W. D. Garwood, secretary, and Ed Coombes, press manager.

Grimsby Beach, well-named "the pride of Canada," is a magnificent wooded park of more than one hundred acres, stretching half a mile along the southern shore of Lake Ontario and twenty miles west of the mouth of the Niagara River. The mammoth forest pines, maples and other varieties of forest trees have been zealously guarded for more than the half-century this beautiful park has been in existence. It is asserted that along the entire borders of Lake Ontario there is not such another lovely forest. American capital has finally acquired this famous camping-ground, and while retaining all the charms and delights of the park as an ideal summer home, modern methods of diversion of the highest class have been introduced to meet the diversity of taste of the resort's clientele. Grimsby Beach is and will continue to be a residential park. While a small section of the woods and beach will be devoted to bathing grounds for Sunday-School picnics, society excursions, etc., by far the larger portion of the park will be devoted to the cottage life of the permanent summer residents who wish to enjoy rest and quiet among the towering pines. The accessibility of Grimsby Beach is one of the continuing causes of its phenomenal popularity. It is situated on the main line of the Grand Trunk Railway, scarcely an hour's ride west of Niagara Falls. All trains to and from Toronto or Detroit over the Grand Trunk pass Grimsby Beach. The elegant cars of the Hamilton, Grimsby & Beamsville electric road stop at the park every hour. There are several beautiful rides from the park through the fine fruit country of Ontario. There is a splendid palace steamer plying direct between Toronto and Grimsby Beach direct, giving a fine sail on Lake Ontario of two and a half hours each way. Two steamboat lines operate between Toronto and Hamilton. There are two fine hotels on the grounds equipped with every modern luxury and convenience. There is a splendid bathing beach, boat houses, etc., and the fishing is good. There are all kinds of amusement devices, including a fine athletic field, bowling green and lawn tennis courts. The auditorium has been entirely remodeled and is one of the most modern structures in Canada. During the season an excellent stock company, known as the Sterling Stock Co., appears under the management of Loring Sterling. In addition to this company, on special evenings, dramatic musical comedy, lectures and concerts are given. The Canadian Sabbath is strictly observed at Grimsby Beach. All religious services are under the direction of a committee of the Cottagers' Association. Physical culture is taught by an experienced director, Frank M. Howard of Hamilton, bandmaster of the 4th Regiment Band, conducts the musical program. There is a central business block, called the Bee Hive, where all sorts of merchants sell supplies to the campers and cottagers.

Scarboro Beach Park, the big white city, known as "the people's playground," is beautifully situated on the blue waters of Lake Ontario, in the eastern part of the city. Under the liberal policy of the Toronto Street Railway Co., the proprietors of the park, who have spared no expense in beautifying the park, adding new devices, etc., the popularity of Scarboro is increasing. This resort presents a beautiful sight at night, being lighted by a thousand incandescent lights. It is the policy of the proprietors to book nothing but the best in the way of attractions, and so far they have met with great success. The finest military bands, imported and local, appear during the season also the highest acts procurable. The vaudeville theatre has a change of acts weekly. Another popular feature is the Old Plantation Show, where the program is changed weekly. Scarboro Inn is very popular with the clientele.

The Sunday concerts are usually largely attended, and the several magnificent fireworks displays draw big crowds. Fred L. Hubbard, general manager, and Geo. H. W. Moran, attraction manager, are gentlemen well acquainted with the amusement business. A large corps of assistants to these two men are working to the best interests of Scarboro. NEWARK (N. J.) PARKS.

Newark, N. J., is indeed a fortunate town, ideally placed for the amusement of its citizens. Its proximity to New York City, with its wealth of amusements, is an advantage that many of its inhabitants fail to realize. Trains go and come in very rapid succession over a most accommodating number of Eastern roads. By getting an early start, any joy-seeker Newarkian can accomplish the thrill of busting Coney. But Coney falls to lure the loyal citizens of the New Jersey metropolis. Enterprising minds have supplied it with a multitude of theatres and three of the most attractive parks that the readers can imagine. These three are: Electric Park, of which Chas. A. Dunlap is the head; Olympic Park, of which H. H. A. Schmidt is the head, and Hillside Amusement Park, of which E. H. Thaller is solely responsible. It was the writer's pleasure to enjoy the hospitality of the two most-mentioned of these amusement resorts the past week, for which reason he will deal with them at greater length; the last-mentioned will have a review in an immediately subsequent issue.

There is a greenness, a verdure, about the Newark parks that makes them prepossessing. How much more appealing they are than the hoardwalk-floored, leafless, grassless New York parks. Their freedom from artificialities, that they fulfill the very definition of a park much more than the concession-covered, extravagantly-lighted resorts of the Knickerbocker State.

Aa interesting half-hour ride on the Springfield Avenue car conveys one from the center of the town to Olympic Park, where a majestic arched entrance invites one to pass beneath it into the fascinations of the grounds. The abundance of grass, of flowers and fresh air furnish an auspicious beginning. To the right as one enters, the frame hostility of the proprietor is located; directly behind this is the official office building—a small two-story place of ideal proportions, surrounded by flowers of all shades and degrees of florescence and fragrance.

In the office we recognized the following staff: Herman H. A. Schmidt, proprietor; James M. Beldon, general manager; Ed Schmidt, manager; Frederick Rosenfeld, bookkeeper; Emma Ketterling, assistant. Robert E. Long, who did Olympia's press work all summer, left on the 20th of August to resume his familiar duty as advance agent for Brady's Western Mother Company, joining the show at Kansas City.

To the left of this building is situated a domestic menagerie, comprising innumerable species of rabbits, guinea pigs, monkeys, goats and sheep. A pedigreed greyhound and collie are two very important and widely-known members of Olympic Park's attractions. The enclosed bowling alleys are located near these animal pens. The next big building on the horizon of the park is the opera house, in which a company of Aborn players are soon to enjoy the close of a prosperous season. The far-west festivities are to take the form of a two weeks' grand opera program, in which Madame Butterfly is to be presented the week of September 4. This is the first half of the dual week, with Tales of Hoffman closing the distinction of the second half. This week perennial Pinare is being offered for the first time in three years.

Behind the opera house is a feast that will captivate any eye—one of the prettiest and best-laid half-mile racetracks in the country. General Manager James M. Beldon announces with justified pride that after two years of beard-rendering enforced idleness, this stadium is to be opened to the sound of the equine hoofs, for on Labor Day actual racing (something which all red-blooded New Jerseyites have been longing for) is to be resumed. Of course, book-making will not be tolerated, so as to conform with the rigid laws. The persistent enterprise of the management is nowhere better exemplified than in just this instance.

Saturday, August 26, the Knights of Columbus and their 8,000 friends utilized the track for athletic games and on the following day Manager Beldon astutely offered the visitors a unique treat in the form of a competitive bicycle race between a group of one-legged cyclists that make a practice of such contests. On Sunday, September 3, motorcycle races have been arranged. They will continue every Sabbath for five or six weeks consecutively.

From the racetrack our attention turns to the carousel, which revolves away at a merry rate, bucking and snorting under the management of Roscoe C. Briggs. Fred Dolle is proprietor, Louis Phillip assistant manager, Abe Weiss, helper, and Cliff Robrick, offer. Next in turn comes the gigantic coaster, the product of the T. M. Horton Co. of Pittsburgh, Pa. Mr. F. J. Kitchart is their local representative. Bill Cooper is his assistant manager and he finds able aids in Otto Polk, assistant, and Oscar Koening, helper. Mrs. Kitchart takes care of the cashdrawer.

The shooting gallery is under the protection of Charles H. Guerra and his son Richard. The elder Guerra fell with a dumb-waiter three weeks ago and is just now able to get around again.

We have now reached the greater part of the park and confront the big dancing pavilion and Casino, for which Bandisiel's Orchestra of nine pieces furnishes the music. The only other remaining structures are the racehorse stables and the aviation shed. Owaer Schmidt and Manager Beldon have carefully provided both an airship and an aeroplane for their patrons' entertainment. The aeroplane has been built by skilled mechanics right on the grounds and made its first ascent last Thursday, August 24. The plane is a thirty-six-foot medium Curtiss type. Fred Owens, well-known figure in aviation circles, is the aviator. Fred was formerly with Strobel for four years and flew at King Edward Park, Montreal, last July, finishing the season with the United Aviation Company. This year has seen him at Mineola, L. I., and now at Olympic Park for the remainder of the season. He goes up with the master dirigible airship Olympic every afternoon about 5 p. m. This yellow dirigible is the largest of its kind outside of those in the government service. It is ninety feet long, carrying 18,000 cubic feet of gas and is propelled by a twenty-horsepower Curtiss motor. The airship crew is: Fred Owens, aviator; Ed Boland, assistant aviator; Arthur Bonks, gas man; Grover Gray and Herman Schmidt Jr., general utility.

Free vaudeville of four different acts is dispensed on the Central Arena each afternoon and evening. Last week Dan Kruke, a local Irvington man, and his two children, featured on the acrobatic wire. The Grosios in hand-duplone contributed an aerial novelty, while Weizell, the juggler, and the aerial contortionist, The Great Johnson, aired out the program.

A free sliding mount is enjoyed by the youngsters and the interior refreshment concession is able to visit forthrightly, business. A Doumar, assisted by Mike Davis, handles the ice cream cones. Frank M. Snider is in charge of the candy and popcorn concessions, assisted by his wife, who also attends to the stand in the opera house, and by Andrew Pfeiffer. James M. Beldon Jr. is in charge of the soda counter, assisted by Elmer Diehl. The restaurant, dance hall and opera are the drawing features of the evening attendance. Roland G. Pray is Mr. Aborn's local representative. The treasurer is none other than our old friend Fred W. Gregory, who has been at this stand for three years and was formerly treasurer of the Empire Theatre, Pittsburgh.

Manager Beldon has instituted a series of clambakes, the first of which was held Tuesday evening, August 22. These are sure to be a success and will cultivate the patronage of the better classes.

Olympic Park stretches out so picturesquely and majestically with its colorful vistas of horticultural plants all about, that one compares it most favorably to the Zoological Gardens of Cincinnati, Ohio, and anyone who has ever had the good fortune of beholding the Queen City grounds, can appreciate the commitment. Including the racetrack and athletic, Mr. Schmidt has turned over forty-five acres for recreation purposes. The public appreciates it, with the result that at the close of its eighth season Olympic Park can look proudly upon the year 1911. Chas. Hunter, manager of the restaurant, and Chas. Montaloni, manager of the dance hall and the opera, have contributed greatly to the Olympic management's success.

A very pleasant twenty-minute ride from the noisome center of Newark, brings one to the delights of Electric Park, well named Electric, since it has no less than 30,000 effulgent incandescent electric bulbs strung on every available point of vantage, so arranged as to present a perfectly symmetrical panorama from the distance and a haven of splendor from within.

A winning feature of the park is the area which it comprises, some of which is covered by tall shade trees, under which the most rollicking picnic parties can gather, and the remainder of which is devoted to amusements. To the right as one enters is the Casino, where one can obtain both the choicest foods and beverages. Various small concessions thence skirt the way to the hippodrome or inclosed arena, in which the Wild West exhibition is given. This ground is as good a field as there is in the state of New Jersey for the purpose. Admission is charged for the grandstand seats, but admission to the park also entitles one to a glimpse of this performance, albeit you are compelled to stand.

Next to the arena is the musical carousel, and let it be understood that the children all know the pleasures that this nook of the park affords them. Next in turn comes the new $30,000 roller coaster, a veritable peer of its kind. This machine is just enjoying the first season of its career. Without a doubt it is one of the safest in the world, with such wicked dips and sharp turns that one ride fails to suffice the ordinary patron. It is almost entirely of the most durable maple and equipped with the latest of engines and safety devices. The Griffith-Crane Co., its builders, have constructed a device that serves as a distinct credit to their ability.

Near this structure are the cowboy quarters and Manager Geo. P. Kemp, brother to the proprietor, F. M. Kemp, has so arranged matters that the boys can live just as if they were out on the ranch. Little cabins have been built, similar to those in the West, and a regular cowboy settlement and Wild West town is presented. This is one of the most ideal arrangements imaginable and the boys and girls appreciate it immensely. Around from this is located the beautiful dance hall, as carefully built as the best in the state. A restaurant adjoins it. The floor of the dance hall (50x163 feet) is of hard wood and so brightly illuminated that you simply can't withhold dancing on it as soon as Sweet & Vincent's Band of eight men strike up their dulcet strains. The charge for dancing is very nominal (one cent per person per dance). Needless to remark, Manager Dunlap has created the most popular dance floor in the city. Law prevents him from devoting the use of the building to dances on Sunday, but the able director has not allowed the crowd to suffer disappointment, as he arranges a basketball entertainment on this day—and you can guess the rest.

Electric Park contains seven acres all told and, because of its convenient location, enjoys the most gratifying popularity. Mr. Charles A. Dunlap is its president, general manager and principal stockholder. Ernest Hirschbott is the secretary and treasurer. The company is incorporated for $100,000 and has been in existence for the last nine years, during which time the management have spent in the neighborhood of $150,000 in improving their enterprise. Newarkites and their neighbors appreciate this fact and Electric Park is taxed to its capacity every Saturday, Sunday and holiday.

The big feature attraction is Kemp's Wild West. Every circus man in the country will recall just who the Kemp boys are. For thirty-four years they have lingered in the limelight of cowboydom. They claim to be the first to introduce the Romany chariot race as a circus show, then they were known as the Kemp Bros., then the team changed to the opposite sex, being called the Kemp Sisters. One of the girls was married, but the remaining one, Milda, still sticks with the show. F. W. Kemp owns 71 Ranch (between 6,000 and 7,000 acres) at Sterling, Colo., and is also proprietor of this outfit. His brother George has managed it all season at Electric Park and is also arranging to take it out over the central fairs, commencing right after Labor Day. When the show does play the fairs, Kemp has arranged for a ten-piece Indian band. In his outfit he has Ella Hill, the oldest show Indian squaw, now seventy-one years old. She has been in the show since thirty-four years ago and also crossed the Atlantic with him. Doc G. A. Barnett, the famous announcer, is still doing duty with the Kemp in his old capacity. The aggregation consists of about forty head of horses, twelve Indians, including Utes, Winnebagoes, Cheyennes, Ponies and Sioux, and the following Western cowboys and cowgirls: Howard Lemmon, chief of cowboys here, also at the Seattle Exposition in 1909; Walter E. Newhall, assistant arena director; V. Johnson, the Utah bucking horse champion; Dick Lamont, Glen Bingham, Charlie Perryman, Tee Stokes, Tommy Lee, Joe Combs, Tom Monte (Ute Indian), Jesse Stokes, Vic Cody, the rifleshot expert, who at present is on the hospital list with a form of appendicitis; Lizzie Holley, Catherine Withers, Olga Kirspe, Mildred McConnell, Mabel Kenjocky and Mida Kemp. The home of the Kemps is at El Paso, Ill.

A survey of the devices reveals the identity of the following concessioners and attaches. The Old Mill Jimmie O'Donnell, manager; circle swing, Walter Roder, manager, Copple Epply, assistant; soda stand, by the Sorrell family; Ferris wheel, Charles Epply; Japanese rollog halls, Pata Sen in charge; milk-shake stand, Dan Fox; souvenir counter, throwing ball game, honola game and the wheel of fortune, Herman Silberberger, assisted by his wife and daughter; the tippy village and tribe, headed by Charles Smith and Mme. La Belle, the gypsy queen, who travels to the extremity of Florida every winter, where this camp of the nomads is located; the coaster is operated by Billie Call, manager, Alfred Markowsky and Red Schander, assistants; carousel, Charles Keenan; the amusement parlor, slot machines, phonographs and automatic devices, Daniel O'Brien, manager; the candy stand and shooting gallery, operated by Mrs. O'Brien; cashiers, May Green, cashier-general; Bessie Gates, Laura Worth, Mabel Worth, Misses Keenan, Vollmer, O'Connell and high-wire fire diver, gave a performance and won a heap of applause for his daredevil spirit. At the theatre a plantation show drew a large share of the patronage. The patriotic holiday events passed with no serious accidents.

NORTH BEACH, LONG ISLAND.

If you want to take a pleasant ride and see a very pretty amusement-offering park, none better can be suggested than Galn Park, North Beach, L. I., of which Russell R. Schaller is secretary and treasurer and Samuel H. Abrams, manager. With his official force the park has surged rapidly to the front of public attention and is experiencing the best season of its career. At North Beach there are about one hundred concessions. The toboggan slides and one of the large carousels are controlled by Mr. E. Joy Morris. George W. Kremer has also installed two large carousels in this park and F. Droge possesses still another. The colossal shoot the chutes, Happyland, the Indian Show and the free circus are controlled by the company and are under the particular supervision of Mr. Abrams himself. The Ferris wheel is operated by James Thom, while J. J. O'Donnell pays the necessary attention to the Texas pony track. The mammoth open-air swimming pool, the largest pool of its kind in this part of the country, and the bathing pavilions, are controlled by C. Deutschmann. The Giggler and the Barrel of Fun are operated by William Osterlie. Then there are to be found the usual ble party to Fort George, August 17, for a visit with a number of concessionaires. The party arrived early and went home late. They were entertained at supper by Ed. Fitzpatrick. The Bathing Club at Luna this season has enjoyed many outings. Once a week they collect together and journey to Peterboro's bathing pavilion at the foot of 10th Street. All the members of the above include song writers, actors, managers, property men, electricians and performers, who do their part in the open-air free circus.

Warren Cleveland, who has charge of Shoot the Chutes, reports business is good. This was his first chutes that Paul Poyton constructed. Walter Larek, the popular advertising man of Luna, will leave soon to join the advertising force of the Appalachian Exposition, which will be held at Knoxville, Tenn., from September 11 to October 1, 1911. Harry Collins, professional representative for the F. B. Haviland Pub. Co., is making a bit with the visitors by singing There's a Dixie Girl Who's Longing for a Yankee Doodle Boy, also Honey Love, assisted by Lemelin's Band and his forty-five musicians.

King Carlo's Indian Village and Congress of Novelties, located on the old Dreamland site, has decided to play all the big fairs this fall as one of the main attractions.

The St. Leon Family, who has been one of the free attractions in Luna's Free Circus this summer, closed its season here on August 20, and joined Polly of the Circus Company No. 1, under the management of Frederic Thompson, which opened at Trenton, N. J., the week of September 1.

Joe Galli, who for a number of years was chief special officer, and still holds the same position in Luna, has disposed of his interest in an amusement concern on Surf Avenue, but will organize a company of his own and will make a trip South this fall.

Robert Evans, who has been sick for some time, resumed his position as assistant treasurer of the Luna Park Company, and we are glad to see his smiling face once more.

Edward Holden's European Circus and his bucking mule, Alexander the Great, is some cut-up act in the free circus this week. Alex is ridden by Norman Woodward and is known as the boy who can ride any way. This is an act that never gets stale.

Fritz and his high-diving dogs are still making good. He makes a bit with the children. Jack Dowling's sayings—hand me a penny and I will put Luna Park on it—says business is good. Jack says the real work is coming soon, when he opens at the Colonial Theatre, one of Percy Williams' houses.

H. L. Curran, manager of the Motordrome, also chief driver, assisted by Jack Altman, are creating a sensation by their fast driving in their 45 h. p. racing machines. These daring drivers go around a track very near straight up and down and hold the thousands of people that visit this show spellbound. After their season here they will embark for Havana, Cuba, to open in one of the big parks there.

Peter Brothers, who spent part of the summer in Montreal, Canada, at King Edward Park, returned last week and is now one of the lightning ticket sellers in front of the Living Wonders of the World, one of Omar Sami's shows.

WHITE CITY, WORCESTER, MASS.

Little Florence of the dance hall; police, Charles Vanover, chief, Ben Trembly, John Dolan, Charles O'Connor and Charles Garhant, also night watchman.

William D. Conklin is chief electrician, assisted by his son, Roscoe D. The brilliant illumination of the park is a tribute to the electrician's ability. The fact that Electric Park entitles any of its competitors is an indisputable fact and is largely responsible for the successful season that Charles A. Dunlap is experiencing. Mr. Dunlap has just engaged Ella Hockett, a very versatile equine performer for the fairs. She opened at the Deposit (N. Y.) Agricultural Fair this week, working with Mr. Dunlap's remarkably intelligent equine, Indian Chief.

There is no doubt but that Electric Park is under the best of management, shyly assisted by competent lieutenants.

WORCESTER PARK.

Lincoln Park at Worcester, Mass., has been in operation for 15 years. It is situated on the shores of Lake Quinsigamond, and comprises about twelve acres of land. The new theatre at this park has only been in operation about two years. At present it is playing vaudeville and musical comedies to good business.

Coburn and Irwin are the managers of the various concessions located along the pike. Mr. William C. Flemming, formerly manager of the Vendome Theatre at Buffalo, is manager of the theatre and of the out-of-door attractions. The dance hall, scenic railway, skating rink all appear to be making money. The bathhouses along the shores of the lake are doing fine. The weather has been very suitable to open-air amusements and if it continues amusement men will reap a harvest.

White City Park at Worcester, Mass., is in its seventh season this year. Mr. George Gallagher, Mr. Robert Clark are the two main factors as regards the successful operations of the numerous concessions. Mr. Gallagher is the general manager of all attractions, and Mr. Clark handles the publicity work. The largest attraction is the massive hall room accommodating two hundred and fifty couples at one dance.

The scenic railway, chute the chutes, merry-go-rounds and other concessions are doing fine business. The evening before the Fourth of July, fireworks were displayed, and George Gallagher's Band gave a concert. Prof. Garay, a small games, such as the dip and the nigger head game, cane boards, Japanese rolling games and many other competitive and prize amusements. The Terminal Music Hall, at which vaudeville is featured daily, is under the management of Gus Benschatzke. Henry Danfklirsch has the largest dancing pavilion at North Beach. F. McMahon gives his labors to the Meriden, the leading picture house at North Beach. Combination picture and dancing pavilions are controlled by F. Haffner and D. Dittich. Lepplin is responsible for the success of the German Castle, where free Tyrolean singers and other musical performers are to be found. A. Bracher is the genial host at Sanford's Point Hotel, aptly termed the Delmonico of North Beach.

Free pyrotechnical displays are featured every Tuesday and Thursday evening and swimming races and naval parades are oft times offered.

An individual feature of this resort is its large, grassy lawns, where jolly picnickers can enjoy the pleasures afforded by mother earth without congestion.

This Thursday, Friday and Saturday, the land parade took place and features of this kind are to be expected till the end of the season.

The Fourth Annual Carnival starts September 5 and continues until the 9th, when extra-ordinaries as the naval displays and pyrotechnical celebrations will feast the eye every night.

AT LUNA PARK.

New York, Aug. 28 (Special to The Billboard).—As one enters the park, he will find numerous beverage concessions, owned by Anderson Reid, but under the management of Arthur Buck, who has been in the same position for three seasons. Arthur is there when you want a Luna smile.

One of the most popular concessions here and one that deserves credit, is the Teaser, managed by Chas. Dowd, who certainly is one hunter.

Ray Montgomery and Healy Sisters, who formerly worked here and also have been in Vandeville for the past three years, joined the Queen of the Folies Bergere, which opened at Chester, Pa., the week of August 20.

Steve Turner, announcer in front of the Grand Canyon, and several others, formed an automo-

ATWOOD MAKES RECORD

WHITNEY FORFEITS RIGHT

Intrepid Aviator Completes Passage of 1,265 Miles and lowers all Previous Records—Hopes to Make Trip from San Francisco to New York in October

America has again proven her prowess—this time in the air, when Harry N. Atwood, the intrepid aviator, under the management of Leo Stevens, landed on Governor's Island in New York Harbor, after a passage of 1,265 miles from St. Louis to New York, and lowered the record of Herr Koenig, the German aviator, by over one hundred miles. This is the greatest scientific feat recently recorded and the papers and business centers throughout the country have not been slow to show their willing co-operation. This record-breaking aerial voyage was very recently denied a license by the Aero Club of America, but, today, he can hardly find the least obstacle to even his slightest whim. The achievement reflects naught but superlative credit upon the aviator and his manager. All the watercraft in the bay and the Hudson paid salutatory tribute to the greatest feat of the air-world.

Up to the last day Atwood pursued his journey with remarkable serenity, but his advent into the metropolis was delayed by damage to his engine and a threatened fire, which held him at Nysack, N. Y., on the 24th. In a rather disadvantageous topographical pocket. His course was resumed and finished, however, on the 25th in a burst of glory. He left at once for Boston to compete in the meet there, and also expresses intentions of making a trans-continental air tour from San Francisco to New York this October.

Scientifically, here is precisely what Atwood has accomplished:

Distance covered in air line—1,265 miles.

Total distance, including detours around New York and other places—1,385 miles.

Started from St. Louis—8:05 a. m., August 14.

Finished Governor's Island—2:38 p. m., August 25.

Flying time for entire trip—28 hours, 9 minutes.

Number of flights en route—20.

Average distance of each flight—63 1/4 miles.

Beats previous world's record by 100 miles, not crediting him with the extra 100 miles which he claims for detours.

To American and English Production of Der Rosenkavalier, On Account of Tremendous Expense Necessary for the Proper Staging of Magnificent Opera

London, Aug. 22 (Special to The Billboard).—On reaching London yesterday, F. C. Whitney formally cancelled all his arrangements for the production of Der Rosenkavalier, forfeiting both the American and English rights.

Mr. Whitney states that his original opinion of Der Rosenkavalier as a brilliant musical work remains unchanged, and that the alteration of his plans was solely on account of the enormous expense that would be attendant upon the production of the piece. The composer requires an orchestra of 92 musicians, while the total strength of the company, including artists and chorus, would be over 2,000. Another thing is that the opera was to be given in German, which at once limits the patronage.

Outside of New York, only three American cities offered any prospects of reasonable support—Boston, Philadelphia and Chicago—and they were by no means certain. The railway fares, too, would have been practically prohibitive.

In addition to paying large advance royalties, Mr. Whitney has already spent a considerable sum on scenery and costumes, and also has quit a few members of the company under contract. Mr. Whitney's losses will undoubtedly be very large, but he figured that it would be better to pocket his losses now and forfeit his rights, than to produce the opera and probably sink $200,000 more.

MINSTRELS IN SMASH-UP.

Hamilton, O., Aug. 27 (Special to The Billboard).—The private car of Cohn's Minstrels was in a smash-up near here today, while en route to Cincinnati from Springfield.

Leo Mantell, a performer, was injured about the arms and shoulders. Several others were slightly bruised, but no serious injuries were reported.

The train carrying the car was pushed into a freight that had just left a siding, but the engineer saw the danger and reversed in time to prevent a serious wreck.

WOODS FINED.

Chicago, Aug. 25 (Special to The Billboard).—Isaac Woods, manager and producer of School Days Show at White City, was fined $5 in the Court of Domestic Relations for violation of the Child Labor Law. It was alleged he employed Dorothy Wells, under 16 years of age.

A PLEA FOR AID.

William O'Day, now in Cincinnati, Ohio, is suffering from an attack of nervous prostration and is in need of financial aid for treatment. He is at present confined to the Hotel Imperial under the care of Dr. Heiferlich. All donations, no matter how small, will be thankfully received.

WEDDING AT FAIR.

Columbus, Ind., Aug. 24 (Special to The Billboard).—Dan Leach, the acrobat and slide-for-life performer, and Miss Emma Wigley, of Defiance, O., were married here at the fair grounds immediately after Leach had performed his slide act.

HILL SHOWS OPENING.

New York, Aug. 26 (Special to The Billboard).—Gus Hill will this season have three companies playing Mutt and Jeff, the incidents of which are founded on Bud Fisher's cartoons. Besides these attractions he will have Billie Richie, a company playing Around the Clock, besides one other show, bearing his banner this season. The opening dates of the various Hill companies are September 4 and 11.

Frohman Discovers New Playwright

New York, Aug. 25 (Special to The Billboard).—In Algeron Boyesen, son of the late Professor Boyesen of Columbia University, a young American playwright long resident in Paris and as yet totally unknown to the American stage, Charles Frohman believes that he has brought to light a new American playwright of the highest order. Mr. Frohman predicts that, with the ripening of Boyesen's powers, he will do for the drama of American life what the foremost European playwrights have done for the drama of older civilizations. Mr. Boyesen's manuscripts have the technical excellence of European-made plays, combined with the dramatic strength and optimistic outlook characteristic of American playwriting. Everything that Mr. Boyesen has written is closely related to the psychology, the morals and manners of current American life.

On the strength of his latest play, The Other Mary, contracts covering the production of all Boyesen's plays for the next five years have passed between Charles Frohman and Sanger and Jordan, who turned out to be the American agents for the new playwright. Overjoyed at the news of the acceptance of his play, Mr. Boyesen writes that he will sail for this country from Paris within the next few weeks to watch the final rehearsals of his first play that has reached the stage. Like most playwrights, Boyesen has been writing for the stage for fifteen years.

His output is small, numbering in all three manuscripts, but until Mr. Frohman's acceptance of The Other Mary he has been denied a hearing, much less a production, on all sides. Last Monday the cast that will support Mme. Nazimova in The Other Mary, was finally completed. Its principal members will be Brandon Tynan, Malcolm Williams, Frank Goldsmith, William Hasson, Lucia Moore and Grace Reals. Madame Nazimova's first season under Mr. Frohman's management will begin September 21.

BEN ALI'S TROUPES BUSY.

New York, August 26 (Special to The Billboard).—Harry Record, the Australian vaudeville magnate, has booked one of the Hassan Ben Ali troupes of acrobats for a tour of Australia, to begin May 1.

Another of the Ben Ali Berber troupes has been engaged to fill a two weeks' engagement at the exposition in Toronto which opens August 23. When the two weeks' contract has been filled the troupe will proceed to San Francisco, where it will join the Aborn's Bohemian Girl Co., which is to open the latter part of September.

The Bohemian Girl company which is to begin its season at the Majestic Theatre in Brooklyn September 11, will have with it one of Ben Ali's Berber troupes to appear in the abduction scene of the opera.

Ben Ali's Amshl Troupe, the latest group to be brought from the other side, is expected to reach New York Tuesday.

Mallie and Bart write that they are making a big hit everywhere in Europe. They are booked solid until next May.

JULIA SANDERSON.

DONALD BRIAN.

Joint stars in The Siren, which opened at Atlantic City, August 20, and will go into the Knickerbocker Theatre, New York.

R. P. Donaldson Seriously Hurt

The many friends of Robert P. Donaldson, formerly general agent for the Adam Feltzer Shows, Billie Boughton's Overland Show, Conroy Concert Company and others, will regret to learn that he was seriously injured in an automobile accident August 16, at Marshalltown, Iowa. The full extent of his injuries are not known, but it will be some time before he is able to get around. Donaldson was to have started in advance of the Melver Stock Company, September 27, but will hardly be able to take the road at all this season. He can be addressed care 325 South Third Avenue, Marshalltown.

TO FLY AT FAIR.

Albuquerque, N. M., Aug. 26 (Special to The Billboard).—Aviation flights will be one of the big features of the New Mexico State Fair here October 9-14. A contract has been closed with the Curtiss Company to furnish the flyers. Albuquerque is almost a mile high, and the aviators will be at a considerable elevation, even before they leave the ground.

ROBINSON'S NARROW ESCAPE.

Astoria, Ore., Aug. 24 (Special to The Billboard).—Hugh Robinson had a thrilling experience here today with the Curtiss hydroplane. Robinson had made a number of fine flights yesterday, and was just starting out again today in very rough water, when his propeller struck a large wave and broke. One piece cut a large hole in the boat, which filled with water, and the aeroplane turned over backwards and floated upside down. Robinson stuck to the disabled airship until it was towed to shore.

Kliegel Bros.' Offices Burn

New York, Aug. 28 (Special to The Billboard).—A dispatch received Monday states that the offices occupied by the Kliegel Bros., at 38th Street and Broadway, were gutted by fire late Sunday night. Kliegel Brothers are manufacturers of theatrical and electrical stage effects.

CHARGES DISCRIMINATION.

New Orleans, La., Aug. 26 (Special to The Billboard).—Mrs. Bernard Shields, prominent in local theatricals, has issued a statement in which she charges Miss Jean M. Gordon, assistant factory inspector, with discrimination in the enforcement of the child labor law. Mrs. Shields says that an affidavit was made against allowing a fifteen-year-old boy performer to appear on the stage of a regular local theatre, but no action was taken against allowing children to play in the Flowerland Festival at the Tulane Theatre last May, nor have any steps been taken against allowing 2,000 children to participate in a forthcoming entertainment. Mrs. Shields also states that she is not opposed to the enforcement of the Child Labor Law, but that she is opposed to unjust discrimination.

CURTISS' NEW AVIATOR.

New York, Aug. 26 (Special to The Billboard).—The Curtiss Aviation Company has added another aviator to its staff in the person of Cromwell Dixon, who has for some time been attending aviation centers with his miraculous flights. Dixon is the youngest aviator on the Curtiss staff, being only nineteen years of age. His first experience with the aeroplane was undertaken at the St. Louis Exposition in 1904.

Big Aviation Meet at Canton

Canton, O., Aug. 26 (Special to The Billboard).—The first international aviation meeting to be held in Ohio will take place at Canton, September 26, 27, 28 and 29. The meet will be modeled along the lines adopted by the Chicago Committee. It will be under the auspices of the Aero Club of Ohio, backed by the Business Men's Club, the Board of Trade and a list of citizen guarantors. Fifty thousand dollars has been subscribed. M. A. & L. C. Vinsos and Elwood Salshury have been contracted with to manage the enterprise. The Wright Company, the Curtiss forces and a number of independent aviation men will co-operate with Salshury and the Vinsos.

Incidentally the Stark County Fair has been absorbed by the aviation meeting proposition. It has been decided to hold a program of night attractions including a big ballet-spectacle of 100 people, a feature concert band and other attractions. This will give concession people a great opening. Headquarters have been established in the Courtland Hotel, Canton.

WESTERN FAIRS TO OPEN.

Montrose, Colo., Aug. 26 (Special to The Billboard).—The Western Colorado-Utah Fair and Racetrack Circuit opens the season at Glenwood Springs, Colo., August 29. One of the special features will be aeroplane fights by the Curtiss Company. This is expected to be an excellent drawing card, as it will be the first time an attraction of this kind has been presented at a fair in Western Colorado.

Following Glenwood fair and in close order will come Hotchkiss, Delta, Montrose, Grand Junction, and close at Salt Lake City, the first week in October. This gives a circuit of six weeks, and no doubt will draw many concessions, street shows, etc. The racing purses for the circuit will total $25,000.

MOOSE TO GIVE A CARNIVAL

Decatur, Ill., Aug. 26 (Special to The Billboard).—Decatur Lodge No. 64 of the Loyal Order of Moose, are arranging for a carnival next month that will eclipse anything in that line ever held in this vicinity. A committee consisting of O. B. Cross, Eli Parks and J. F. Neikater, was appointed to confer with representatives of carnival companies, and the best company that it is possible to secure will show here. The dates have been set for the week of Sept. 20 to 27.

WEEK THROUGHOUT AMERICA

ROBINSON FAMOUS SHOWS SELLS-FLOTO IN CHICAGO

Reported to Have Lost Much Money This Season—Rumor Has It that Wife of Dan Robinson Will Request the Appointment of a Receiver for Shows

Ottawa, Ill., Aug. 26 (Special to The Billboard).—Mrs. Bessie Robinson, wife of Dan Robinson of Cincinnati, today folled a plan to "kidnap" Robinson's Circus, tents, menagerie, wagons, baggage and all. George Little, former manager of Jack Johnson, world's champion pugilist; "Bunk" Allen and E. H. Allith, all of Chicago, had cancelled the dates for the show, and Mrs. Robinson, through intercepting a telegram, became aware of this, and was told that the men intended to put the circus on a train, send it to Chicago, and there sell it. With the aid of forty employees, Mrs. Robinson grabbed on to the receipts and held on to them. Then she obtained an injunction restraining the removal of the show. She intends Monday to ask for a receiver. Mrs. Robinson owns a large interest in the show, and Little, Allen and Allith also are interested financially. It is said that the show has been losing steadily all season.

First Visit to the City of Cool Zephyrs by the Popular "Two Bit Show" is Big Success Artistically and Financially

Chicago, Aug. 22 (Special to The Billboard).—At last the long heralded twenty-five-cent circus, the Sells-Floto Shows, has appeared in Chicago, and the great industrial population is able to see a genuine circus at their doors, and at a price that puts that style of entertainment within reach of even the most race-sneak-defying families. The Sells-Floto Show came into Chicago from the West, having played in Aurora last Saturday; Rockford on August 17, and Freeport the Wednesday before. At this latter point they had the misfortune to be visited by a severe thunderstorm and cloudburst, which so damaged the canvas of the big top that it had to be left on the lot. The storm came right after the afternoon performance was concluded, and compelled the abandonment of the evening performance. Fortunately, last year's canvas was at hand, and the show has since been exhibiting under it. The damage was speedily repaired, and the show entered Rockford the next day and paraded on schedule time.

On Sunday morning the tents were pitched in South Chicago, and a record-breaking attendance from the employees of the great steel mills turned out to give the show a welcome at both performances. On Monday, August 21, the canvas was stretched on the site of the George M. Pullman Industrial School, 111th Street and Indiana Avenue, Kensington. This is in the center of one of the most important manufacturing districts of the Western metropolis, and only a block or two from the Pullman station of the Illinois Central Railroad. The accessibility of the site, and the fame of the performance, which had preceded it from South Chicago, drew a great crowd Monday night, when The Billboard representatives made their call. They received courteous and hospitable attention from Manager Fred Bailey Hutchinson and Press Representative F. Carmichael, whom they met on the lot. Mr. Tamm has not been with the show since it left the Twin Cities.

Beyond doubt, the Sells-Floto Circus gives the biggest quarter's worth of entertainment ever purveyed in America. The menagerie, while not as extensive as some of the other menageries on the road, is excellently selected, and may be said to make up in quality what it lacks in quantity. Especial consideration has been paid toward features that will interest the children, and it contains a remarkable

BLACK & WHITE BOOKED.

New York, Aug. 26 (Special to The Billboard).—Black and White, two foreign girls who do a novelty acrobatic act, have been booked by Irving Cooper for a tour of the Sullivan & Considine Circuit, opening October 2 in Chicago. Black and White have been in this country before. They first appeared here with Hirtig & Seamon's shows, later playing the William Morris houses. In the spring they left the States. They are now in Australia.

He will be associated with Gus Sun in the venture.

Showman Killed; Family Injured

Middlesboro, Ky., Aug. 26 (Special to The Billboard).—Mexican Joe Morgan was killed and his wife and two daughters seriously wounded August 15, at Four Mile, near this city. Mexican Joe was showing the closing act for the evening when some one began shooting in the direction of the stage. About fifty shots were fired with the above result.

A SELF-EXPLANATORY LETTER.

The Billboard Pub. Co., Cincinnati, Ohio, Gentlemen:—I am writing you and all showmen at my husband's request. He has been a reader of The Billboard for years, and has been in the show business since he was four years of age. He has been out with a show of his own, known as the California Jumping Jack. We have been married only two years and have a baby nine months old. He was arrested on suspicion of having robbed a post-office and is now in the Beaumont jail awaiting trial, which comes off the third Monday in October. My husband is innocent of this charge and I am asking help from all show people, so that I may prove it. I will sell our wagon show, which consists of one duck pan, card star, the bewitched fan, disappearing dice, produce half-dollar, large size bottle and glass, the four-door box, and over a hundred other tricks, which I will sell very cheap.

Yours respectfully,
MRS. WARD GLOVER,
Paloak, Tex.

WISE PARK MANAGER.

The Novelty Machine Company points proudly to the fact that they have closed a contract for the installation of their popular device, The Frolic, at Central Park, Allentown, Pa., which is operated by the Lehigh Valley Transit Co. President and General Manager E. F. Stevens realized the advantage of erecting The Frolic at the end of the season and not waiting until the rush of the season of 1912. The device has already been shipped by the manufacturer and his erection will commence the day after Labor Day, the day following the finale of the present season for Central Park. It would be well for other managers to think about installing their devices now.

COL. CAMP IN NEW YORK.

New York, August 26 (Special to The Billboard).—Col. James B. Camp of Louisville was in New York this week arranging for the appearance of musical celebrities to appear at his musical matinees during the forthcoming season. Col. Camp is prominent in the show business, having served in practically every capacity, from actor to manager.

Nina Lester has finished George B. Green's Circuit, and is now playing Hooklin's.

MLLE. DAZIE.

Her clever terpsichorean act, La Tragedie d'un Mardi Gras, was one of the features at the Winter Gardens.

John Collins Needs Assistance

John W. Collins, the old-time microscope man, is down and out in San Antonio, Tex. He has been in the hospital for five weeks, suffering with locomotor ataxia. He would like to hear from his old-time friends, and any assistance they can give him will be greatly appreciated. Address John W. Collins, care Bexar Drug Co., Gunter Bldg., San Antonio, Tex.

BAER SUICIDES.

Willmar, Minn., Aug. 25 (Special to The Billboard).—S. H. Baer, committed suicide here August 17. The drug used was cyanide of potassium. Financial difficulties was the cause of his act. Baer was at one time a prominent theatrical manager, with houses at Sioux Falls, Sioux City and Lemar, Iowa. Mr. Baer had the distinction of being the first man in the West to close a contract for the appearance of Nordica for a one-night stand outside the larger cities.

Gulick's Body to be Exhumed

Pittsburgh, Pa., August 26 (Special to The Billboard).—Friends and former business associates of the late R. M. Gulick, Pittsburgh theatrical man, have petitioned Coroner Jamison to have the authorities in Brooklyn, N. Y., exhume the body from the grave in Greenwood Cemetery. This will be done.

James Varley, for 21 years advertising manager for Mr. Gulick, headed the petition. He declared that Jane Houswright, Gulick's housekeeper, had exercised undue influence to keep friends from visiting the dying theatrical man, even though Gulick had written to some and asked them to visit him, as he was lonely.

The only will of Mr. Gulick's that has been found so far bequeathes his entire estate, amounting to about $100,000, to Mrs. Houswright, with the exception of a $100 bequest to his son, James Gulick. It is also said that relatives will take steps to contest the will.

Jeannette D'Arville spent her vacation playing her novelty act. She is meeting with big success.

The Moral Code Produced

Rochester, N. Y., Aug. 21 (Special to The Billboard).—The initial performance of The Moral Code, a new play by Herbert Thomson, was produced by Arthur Hammerstein at the Lyceum Theatre tonight.

The play is in four acts and five scenes, and the action involves a prominent surgeon who shoots his wife's admirer and the latter's arrest, to avoid scandal, on a charge of burglary. His conviction by the criminal court and the confession of the real cause of the shooting form the strongest scene in the play. The doctor's attempt to murder his rival under the pretense of performing an operation in the amphitheatre of a hospital is an unusual stage picture.

Mr. Hammerstein has staged The Moral Code elaborately. Mabel Roebuck is the wife, Jan. Wilson the doctor. Orme Caldara and Frank Hollins are also in the cast.

DEMAND INCREASE.

Kalamazoo, Mich., Aug. 22 (Special to The Billboard).—The Stage Employees Union has demanded an increase of wages for the members employed at the Fuller Theatre here, and unless the demands are acceded to it is not likely the house will open on schedule time.

COMMITTS SUICIDE.

Willmar, Minn., Aug. 25 (Special to The Billboard).—Sam Bear, who has been connected with various amusement enterprises in Sioux Falls, S. D., and adjoining territory, committed suicide here on August 18.

THE SIREN HAS PREMIERE.

Atlantic City, N. J., Aug. 21 (Special to The Billboard).—The Siren, a new musical comedy in which Charles Frohman is starring Donald Brian, was given its premiere at the Apollo Theatre last night. The play fairly took its hearers by storm, and promises to be one of the successes of the season. Donald Brian, as the Marquis de Ravalliac, and Julia Sanderson in the title role, made a most charming pair of stage-sweethearts. The company includes Frank Monahan, Will West, Elizabeth Firth, Gilbert Childs, F. Pope Stammer, Florence Morrison and Moya Manning.

CHARGED WITH MURDER.

Philadelphia, Pa., Aug. 25 (Special to The Billboard).—Albert Berry, a parachute jumper, was arrested at Coatsville, Pa., near here and formally charged with murder. The police accuse the balloonist with having led the mob which dragged a Negro murderer from the hospital there last Sunday and hanged him at the stake.

THE AMUSEMENT WEEK IN NEW YORK

SCORES IN PREMIERE

Initial Production of Stapleton and Wodehouse's A Gentleman of Leisure a Decided Success—Douglas Fairbanks in Role, Well Supported by a Large Cast

New York, Aug. 27 (Special to The Billboard).—The preliminary season of the Playhouse in West Forty-eighth Street opened Thursday evening, August 24, with the production of a meritorious new comedy featuring Douglas Fairbanks in the principal role. The youthful comedian responded most ingeniously to the lines in The Gentleman of Leisure, and in consequence has invested himself with a vehicle that stands out for praise and commendation. At the end of the third act the calls for Mr. Fairbanks became irrepressible and the young star was compelled to make a brief curtain speech.

Quite an essential element of the new play's success is its witty plot. Musical comedies would do well to have John Stapleton and F. C. Wodehouse, its authors, originate plots and action for themselves. The story narrates the experiences of Mr. Robert E. W. Pitt, a gentleman of leisure, given to a passion for betting, who agrees to turn burglar on a dare for the wager of a dinner. Pitt stumbles stealthily into the home of a girl whom he had met on the Lusitania and had often longed to meet again. One complication ensues after another, but finally through the heroine's assistance the leisurely gentleman gains his point. Visions of Arsen Lupin, Alias Jimmy Valentine and The Deep Purple rise during the robbery scenes.

Mr. Brady set a new fashion in programs. A little card folder, which carries no advertising, proved quite a feature of the opening performance of the season.

The Tribune comments upon the new production as follows: "The preliminary season of the Playhouse in West 48th Street, opened with the production of a new comedy, entitled A Gentleman of Leisure, with Douglas Fairbanks in the principal role. Throughout the four acts of the play Mr. Fairbanks was applauded generously for the manner in which he rendered the character of Robert Edgar Willoughby Pitt, the gentleman of leisure."

"At the end of the third act there were so many calls for Mr. Fairbanks and the other principals of the cast that he came before the curtain and made a brief speech, thanking the audience for the reception given to the comedy. "Elmer Booth, as Spike, pleased the audience, and George Fawcett, as Big Phil, shared in the applause. Ruth Shepley, as Mollie, won the (Continued on page 61).

HAZEL DAWN.

Her striking beauty, clever acting and musical talent, which finds vent not only in vocal exercise, but in an ability to play the violin wonderfully well, while she gives an exposition of extreme terpsichorean grace and rhythm in The Pink Lady, have insured a permanent place among Broadway stars who was scarcely known before The Pink Lady was produced.

UP AND DOWN BROADWAY

The first performance of Miss Burke's new play, The Runaway, will occur at Atlantic City, September 11, after which it comes directly to New York. C. Aubrey Smith, Miss Burke's new leading man, came from London on the Manhattan especially to join her forces. The engagement of The Runaway at the Lyceum Theatre follows the production of Tiny Neighbor's Wife, which will be produced by Daniel Frohman September 6.

Klaw & Erlanger will present Miss Charlotte Walker early in October in a dramatization of John Fox, Jr.'s novel, The Trail of the Lonesome Pine, by Eugene Walter.

William Morris has been engaged to play the principal comedy role in When Sweet Sixteen, the song-play by Victor Herbert and George V. Hohart, which opens at Daly's Theatre on September 11.

For his approaching production of The Grain of Dust, a dramatization of the last novel from the pen of David Graham Phillips, James K. Hackett has engaged E. M. Holland, Fraser Conlter, Vaughn Travor, Charles Steadman, Frank Burdock, Oliver Oliver, Pauline Neff and Mary Moran.

Cecil Yapp, who was with the New Theatre Company from the time of its inception till its disbanding, has been engaged to play his original part of the cast in The Blue Bird, in Klaw and Company's revival, which opens this season at the Century Theatre.

Without essential alteration, the original company which presented Everywoman at the Herald Square and Lyric Theatre last season, will resume its run at the latter house on Labor Day. The engagement is limited.

Allen Ayneworth, the English actor who came to New York a short time ago to be leading man with Grace George in The Earth, and in the repertoire company at The Playhouse, returned to Europe August 22 to undergo a surgical operation. His brother, Dr. Abbot Anderson, is a London practitioner, and when the actor found that an old trouble had begun to bother him he decided to go home to his surgical relative, undergo an operation, and return to New York in time for the opening of the repertoire company. He expects to be back in four weeks. Miss George and her company will proceed with rehearsals of The Earth, Much Ado About Nothing, and another comedy that is to be presented at The Playhouse.

Otto Hagerbach, the playwright and librettist, who returned from Europe on the Kaiser Wilhelm der Grosse, Tuesday, August 22, brought with him the manuscript and lyrics of a new musical comedy, which will be produced here as soon as it can be staged. The new play has a

New York, Aug. 25 (Special to The Billboard).—Sophocles was the master of Greek tragedians. His immortal works are the embodiment of the most genuine of Hellenic principles. Thus as the people rankled at his heart with unremitting vindication and inexorable revenge, so does the drama manifest in undeviating terms the idea of vengeance as constitutionally ingrained in our highly civilized ancestors. Time and conditions have since changed—the theatre of today bears no resemblance to the spacious open-air amphitheatre of the pre-Christian era. As we unfortunate twentieth century beings drink in the wisdom and learning of our forefathers, we begin to realize how really little of the genuine, original atmosphere of the classic in its native tongue we imbibe from the English version, impoverished at its best. Occasionally we do seem to recognize the sterling qualities of silverliness that the drama of the age of its presentation must actually have possessed. Sophocles has endowed his immortal work with the spirit of a time long since forgotten. The qualities of the lofty, destiny-driven mind of the Greek and very little expression in their descendants. That illustriousness of mentality has suffered a sad relapse in the modern inhabitants of Hellas. It is with a reverential appreciation, therefore that we view the performance and exhibition of a race at its most civilized and developed era. It would be well if the nowadays critics would feel the

Phillips' Lyceum Opens Season

New York, August 26 (Special to The Billboard).—The opening for the season of the Phillips' Lyceum Theatre this week was most auspicious and presages to equal at least, if not overshadow, the highest record made in the theatre during any of the twenty-seven seasons that Mr. Phillips has operated the Lyceum. His company this year is a splendidly balanced organization. In the production of The Girl of Eagle Ranch, which was the aggregation's initial effort of the 1911-12 term, all the artists acquitted themselves creditably.

In the cast were: Harold Claremont, J. M. Hollick, Harry Macdonald, Warren F. Hill, Frank Rose, Harry Schenker, E. Christie, Miss Gerry Morley, Miss Emma de Castro, Miss Alice Meredith and Miss Carrie Rde. The piece was staged by Warren F. Hill.

The executive staff of the theatre includes: Denis A. Phillips, proprietor and manager; Paul H. Wolf, treasurer; Warren F. Hill, stage director; Frank Pfeiffer, stage manager; George Frank, musical director; John Corvett, scenic artist; William Conlin, advertising agent.

Parisian setting and teems with local color cleared at first hand in the furnishings by Mr. Hagerbach; Hugo Wolf, the popular French composer, who wrote the original score of Madame Sherry, but whose work is but little known in this country, has written the music for this piece.

The chorus rehearsals of The Quaker Girl, the latest London musical comedy success, which Henry B. Harris will produce in this country the latter part of September, began at the Hudson Theatre, last Monday, August 21.

John Hyams and Leila McIntyre, the new established stars of The Girl of My Dreams, rounded out the first month of their season at the Criterion Theatre. As musical comedy for children as well as grown-ups, The Girl of My Dreams has novelty as well as melody and humor to its credit.

With only two more weeks to run, Christie Macdonald in The Spring Maid, still continues to crowd the Liberty Theatre to the walls. The record of this charming star and opera is a notable triumph for Werthe and Luescher; the find that Miss Macdonald in the role of the same Princess Roxana, is receiving the same rapturous reception each night that marked the enthusiasm which greeted her at every performance the first season.

To give The Pink Lady touring company proper escort, Klaw & Erlanger engaged Clarence Hyde, who will act as advance representative.

James T. Wilson, the vanderella actor, and formerly with Babes in Toyland and The Wizard of Oz, married Irene Berry, one of the fairies of The Three Twins Company now in rehearsal. The pair were united August 23 in New York City after four years of courtship.

The name of the new play in which Daniel Belasco will present Frances Starr has been selected. It is to be called The Case of Beck.

Liebler & Co. Engage Waller

New York, Aug. 26 (Special to The Billboard).—Liebler & Co. last week announced the most important engagement so far made for their theatrical year. This resulted from the cable acceptance by Lewis Waller of the part of Boris Androvsky in The Garden of Allah, soon to be produced for the first time in the world at the Century (formerly the New) Theatre. For the better part of a year, George C. Tyler, managing director of the firm, has been casting about for the most suitable actor to play the central male character in the Robert Hichens' drama. Two players of world-wide reputation have been under consideration, Forbes-Robertson and Lewis Waller. Mr. Waller has now accepted.

When in London this spring and summer, Mr. Tyler, who felt that in Mr. Waller he had found the ideal Boris, discussed with the London celebrity the project of coming to the United States. The role naturally applied to Mr. Waller, but there were many difficulties to overcome before he could agree. He had never been in America, and his position in the world of London theatricals was so much of a fixture, with so many obligations for the 1911-12 season already contracted for, that it was feared the arrangement would fall through. Now, however, the matter has been adjusted, and Mr. Waller will shortly sail for New York to originate on the stage the character which, through the novel, is familiar to virtually millions of Americans.

K. & E. NOTES.

New York, August 26 (Special to The Billboard).—Klaw & Erlanger's production of The Roundup, under the direction of Joseph Brooks, opens its fifth season at the Boston Theatre, Boston, on Labor Day, with new scenery and costumes. Ripley Holmes will again play the role of "Slim" Hoover, the fat man whom nobody loves. The play will make a long road tour.

Their biblical play, Ben Hur, which is entering its thirteenth season under the direction of Joseph Brooks, will open its tour later in the year than usual, as a Broadway engagement with a big cast is planned. The chariot races will be staged on a larger and more sensational scale, due to the advances made in stage construction and lighting. In the galley scene the ship will be sunk in full view of the audience, carrying down with it the hating slaves and pirates. An entirely new production will be built and new costumes made. A tour of the larger cities will follow.

Rebecca of Sunnybrook Farm, their idyl of youth, will make its first tour this season in the third year of its existence. The first season was played in Boston and New England.

EVENTS OF THE

WEEK IN NEW YORK

ACTS NEW TO NEW YORK

Comedienne Makes Hit at Fifth Avenue—Two Girls and a Piano Clever Comedy Act—Novelty Wire and Sharp-Shooting Act Well Received as Opener

BURNHAM AND GREENWOOD, two girls and a piano. Fifth Avenue; fourteen minutes; la one.

Burnham and Greenwood registered one of the solid hits on the Fifth Avenue bill this week. Much credit for the success of the two girls belongs to Miss Greenwood. Her grotesque antics, aided by an over-supply of good humor and cheerfulness, and her ability to "put over" her comedy, found abundant favor with the Fifth Avenue audiences. Her partner, Miss Burnham, condones her work to piano playing, singing and looking pretty. Burnham and Greenwood, as a comedy act, are a sure-fire success.

KIT KARSON, novelty wire act. Hammerstein's; nine minutes; full stage.

Besides the execution of some neat wire walking feats, Kit Karson creates interest and attention by some sharpshooting, done while in various postures on the wire. He also does

MELROYS A THREE ACT.

New York, August 26 (Special to The Billboard).—Later in the season The Melroy Duo will be joined by Clara Melroy, and the offering made into a three act. The Melroys worked as a trio last season for William Morris.

TRY-OUT NEW ACT.

New York, Aug. 26 (Special to The Billboard).—At the Fifth Avenue Theatre last Sunday night, Edna Ang, the comedienne, tried out a new playlet written by herself and in which she played the principal role. The piece was given a favorable reception.

Others added to the bill for the Sunday performances were: Mabel Florence Players, Harry Leighton, Lillian Graham, John Birch and Baby Doll Morrison.

Opening of Williams' Houses

New York, Aug. 26 (Special to The Billboard).—The Percy Williams Circuit of theatres in Greater New York will start the season going Monday, August 28, with the opening of the Orpheum, Brooklyn. Four more houses, the Colonial, Alhambra and the Bronx in Manhattan and Greenpoint in Brooklyn, open Labor Day while Mr. Williams' newest playhouse, the Bushwick, located at Broadway and Howard Avenue, Brooklyn, opens Monday, September 11. All of these theatres are devoted to the presentation of high-class, modern vaudeville.

Mr. Williams' stock houses in Brooklyn, the Crescent and the Gotham, open September 5. With six vaudeville theatres, two stock houses and various other theatrical enterprises, Manager Williams is facing one of the busiest theatrical years of his career.

The coming season on the Williams Circuit will see an impressive array of headliners. Among those who will make their appearance early in the year are: Amelia Bingham, Irene Franklin, Victor Moore, Frank Keenan, Carria McLean, Sam Chip, Missy Marble, Fanny Rice, four Mertons, Will M. Cressy and Blanche Jayne, McIntyre and Heath and others of equal importance.

SCORE EXCEPTIONAL SUCCESS.

Jack Terry and Mabel Lambert opened on the Sullivan & Considine Circuit at the Empress Theatre in Seattle, August 14, and scored a remarkable success. The couple are being billed heavily in all the S. & C. houses.

Terry and Lambert are making a world tour, their Seattle date being their first stand of the trip. They will go to Australia and other foreign countries, returning to the States. Every detail of travel has been lifted from the shoulders of the artists and their tour is magnificently arranged without incurring the slightest cause for worry to Terry and Lambert.

MANAGER'S ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCED.

New York, Aug. 26 (Special to The Billboard).—Announcement has been made of the engagement of Meyer C. Solomon, manager of the Amphion Theatre in Brooklyn, and previously a charge of Fox's Folly in Brooklyn, to Miss Edie Gertner. The ceremony will be performed September 17. The couple will spend their honeymoon in Atlantic City.

MISS SLEETH WITH FIELDS.

New York, Aug. 26 (Special to The Billboard).—The act known as the Lyric Four, has been dissolved and Miss Sharley Sleeth, who was associated with the quartette, has signed contracts to appear with Nat Fields and Company in his condensed version of The Girl Behind the Counter. In this vehicle Mr. Fields and his company will open on the Sullivan & Considine Circuit at Louisville, September 2.

a little lariat spinning, which he uses as an opening. The opening is good, but as the act nears the end it becomes better, each succeeding trick being more difficult than its predecessor. His sharpshooting is exceedingly clever. One of his feats is to hang suspended by his boots from the wire, and while in this position demolishes with correctly aimed wads the targets that have been placed up stage. Opening the show is the most difficult of spots at Hammerstein's, but Karson went exceptionally well, considering the handicap.

New York, Aug. 26 (Special to The Billboard).—More man fades into insignificance when one pursues the Hammerstein program this week and arrays the galaxy of feminine talent represented on the bill against the weak male contingent. Note the list of fair charmers who usurp everything—from the good positions accorded them to the final encore. Stella Mayhew is probably the first on the list, and not so very far in the rear come Belle Blanche, Belle Baker, Aida Overton Walker and Mlle. Mario Corio, who is featured in Molasso's

CHIEF CSA HASEN.

He has just returned to America, bringing with him 30 Berbers, whom he will use in his acrobatic troupe.

PERTINENT PATTERN

New York, Aug. 26 (Special to The Billboard).—Harvard and Cornell opened last week on the Proctor Time. For the past four years the act has been working continuously for the United. About November 1 Harvard and Cornell expect to open on the Sullivan & Considine Time.

Klein and Clifton open September 4 at the Miles Theatre, in Detroit, booked by Keefe, the Chicago agent.

On Monday of this week Blanche Gordon, who bills herself as the famous Georgia co-shouter, opened at Proctor's 23d Street Theatre for a tour of the Proctor Circuit.

The week of September 4, J. J. Morrison and his company presenting a dramatic playlet, called The Verdict, begin work for the Shedy Agency.

Jim and Ann's Baby is the title of a rural comedy-dramatic sketch in which Margaret May, Mamie Lee and Company, this week began a tour of the Proctor houses. A third member of the company is Harry Parker. After the act has finished the Proctor Time the company will go West to appear in houses booked by the W. V. A.

Having fulfilled their contracts with W. S. Cleveland for his time, Hines and Fenton, the eccentric comedians and dancers, are back in New York, playing the Proctor Circuit, on which they opened Monday.

Peter McNally has resigned as stage manager of Proctor's 58th Street Theatre to become associated with Sophie Everett and Company, in a capacity similar to that in which he was employed at Proctor's. His old position has been assumed by Frank Neville.

Weaton's Modals are playing return dates in all the Proctor Theatres. The act made a tour of the circuit only about three months ago.

The Tag-Tag Episode is the title of a skit in which Sheridan and Sloan are appearing in Proctor houses. The Sullivan & Considine Time has been booked up for them, the opening stand being Louisville, Ky., and the opening date November 12. Sheridan and Sloan have contracts for twenty-five weeks.

Nick Paleveda, the original lanky lad with long, loose limbs, has just completed his new act for the coming season, opening the week of September 3. He will introduce many new features this season.

William St. Willis, principal tenor, and his wife, Elaine D. Gilbert, prima donna, are spending a delightful summer at Atlantic City, where Mr. St. Willis is enjoying success as tenor soloist with Martini's Symphony Orchestra on the Steel Pier, singing encores such as Mary, I Love You; Sunbeam Sioux, Life Isn't All Roses, Rosie; Oh, It's Nice to be Nice to a Nice Little Girl, etc.

BILL AT HAMMERSTEIN'S

Stella Mayhew Heads Bill Made Up Almost Entirely of Feminine Talent—Van der Koors, Belle Baker and Aida Overton Walker Well Received

pantomime, Paris by Night. It is truly a woman's bill and they "clean up" in a manner that from mere man's point of view is unduly parsimonious.

Kit Karson, one of the mere men, who does a novelty wire act that is really a novelty, afforded a most pleasing and interesting opening number. What Karson undertakes and performs is described in detail under the heading of New Acts.

The magic work of the Van der Koors, who are presenting a comedy act called Felix, the Mind-reading Dnck, caused much merriment. The good work started by the first two acts was continued by Louis Stone, who is billed as the Topsy Turvey Dancer, and who dances while harnessed to a platform on wheels; dances a clog with his head downward and his feet stamping on a wooden platform six feet in the air. His finish is a dance while performing a hand-stand. Stone has a novelty. It is one that should keep him busy in the best houses continually and without interruption.

Bert Fitzgibbon, who followed Stone, caused much laughter, as did Welsh, Mealy and Montrose, in their acrobatic comedy act called The Big Scream.

Belle Baker was originally programed for Spot No. 11, but was moved up earlier on the bill to fill the position following Welsh, Mealy and Montrose. She sang Let's Make Love While the Silvery Moon is Shining, a coon song, an Italian number and concluded with Honey Man. Five bows, to answer to the applause, briefly tells how well her work was liked.

Aida Overton Walker, assisted by Bobby Kemp and eight dusky maids, closed the first half of the show. Her act is along the lines of a miniature musical comedy. Whoever staged the numbers possessed experience in work of this kind. Aida Overton Walker is a clever artist and has competent support in Bobby Kemp and the eight girls. One of the musical

Selden Will Produce Sketch

New York, Aug. 26 (Special to The Billboard).—About the middle of September, Edgar Selden, general manager of the Shapiro Music Co., Inc., will produce in vaudeville a dramatic sketch called The Getaway, written by Will A. Page, and secured by Mr. Selden by special arrangement with Doubleday, Page & Co., publishers of the story. The author is well known as press agent and business representative for Charles E. Dillingham.

In the cast of The Getaway will be three people. Two of the characters are of the "light-fingered" gentry type, while the third person is a part of a hotel detective. The piece is said to be gripping throughout, with a surprise for a climax.

Mr. Selden will give the piece an elaborate production. It will be complete in every detail.

They will appear in Percy C. Williams' theatres in New York. Irving Cooper, since his retirement from the stage, has been a manager and producer of vaudeville acts.

Dramatization of Quixotic Theme Has Premiere at Paterson—Reception Extended New Play Suggests that the Same Popularity which Graustark Met Will Welcome New Piece

New York, Aug. 19 (Special to The Billboard).—At the Lyceum Theatre, Paterson, N. J., August 17, Baker and Castle produced for the first time on any stage, George D. Baker's dramatization of Harold McGrath's novel, The Goose Girl. James W. Castle staged the piece. Prognostication in matters theatrical, insofar as the production of a new play is concerned, generally obtains no further consideration than the utilization of the subject for debate. This statement applies to the time prior to the first production.

For the success of the dramatization of McGrath's romanticism, Baker and Castle bore sanguine expectations. They believe that a play with a quixotic theme like that running through The Goose Girl would accrue for them the same harvest of shekels as resulted from their production of Graustark. That their judgment was sound, was exemplified in the reception extended the work by the first-night audience.

The Goose Girl is an interesting play. The deftly woven plots and counter plots, through all of which is disentangled the history of the simple goose girl, and her final restoration to her proper sphere, make an attractive recital. George D. Baker displayed unmistakable signs in this dramatization, as in previous efforts, or possessing a thorough knowledge in his art.

A more complete production could not have been made. For the staging of the piece credit must be given to James W. Castle. He has provided more than the ordinary requirements.

The story is told in four acts. The first scene shows the Black Eagle Tavern; the second set is a scene of a corner of the Palace Gardens; act three has the same set as scene one, and the action of the final part takes place in the throne room of the king's palace. The setting is most elaborate.

The role of the Goose Girl is intelligently interpreted by Miss Virginia Ackerman. She possesses a charming and winning personality and displays ability as an emotional actress when required. She played the Goose Girl part convincingly. Victor Sutherland, as the American Consul at Drieberg, is another to whom much praise is due for his excellent characterization. The company is an exceptionally well-balanced one. The following is the cast of characters and the players:

Encourages New Playwrights

New York, Aug. 26 (Special to The Billboard).—William Elliott, a son-in-law of David Belasco, will enter the ranks of the producing managers. He will be associated with Mr. Belasco. Mr. Elliott states that it is the intention of his father-in-law and himself to encourage new authors, and in accordance with this intention he will read carefully every manuscript submitted to his firm, and that merit, and not names and reputations, will guide his selections. The firm will produce a play in the spring by a new author, a woman, which Mr. Elliott says he considers one of the most unusual plays he has ever read.

Elliott was formerly on the stage, playing for many years under Mr. Belasco's management.

"TOUCHED" FOR $110.

New York, Aug. 19 (Special to The Billboard).—During the stay in this city of Mose Oppenheimer, who accompanied John W. Considine here, an incident occurred that will leave an indelible impression upon Oppenheimer's memory.

Oppenheimer is interested in the Sullivan & Considine Circuit. With John W. Considine he came East to complete some matters of business in connection with the S. & C. firm. Wednesday afternoon he had a few leisure moments and decided to while them away at the ball game. In Mr. Considine's car he motored to the American League Park to witness the game between the Tigers and the Yankees. When he entered the park he was jostled by several men. Jostling people is a common occurrence at a ball game and Oppenheimer failed to pay particular attention to it.

After the game he returned to the Knickerbocker Hotel, where he had a dinner engagement with some friends. When the check was presented Oppenheimer reached for his wallet but found it was gone. He recalled the incident of the jostling at the park. It was then that the wallet was stolen. Oppenheimer lost $110.

S. & C. MANAGERS CHANGE.

New York, Aug. 26 (Special to The Billboard).—Several theatres comprising the Sullivan & Considine chain of houses open tomorrow for the 1911-12 season. The Empress in Cincinnati; the Empress, Chicago, and the Empress in Milwaukee are three of the houses that start off the season's drill tomorrow.

Sullivan and Considine have made changes in the management of a number of their theatres. At Milwaukee, George A. Boyer has been placed in charge of S. & C.'s house, the Empress. At the Empress in St. Paul Charles D. Stevens is manager, and at the Empress in Chicago, James Fenimore Lee, the former New York newspaper man, is in control.

J. R. Bronson has resigned as manager of the Empress, Denver, and has been succeeded by Bert Pitman.

Friction Between Lessee and Owner of Theatre Will Probably Result in a Refusal on Part of Latter to Renew Lease, Which Expires Next Year

A rumor has gained circulation that the days of the Havlin regime in the Grand Opera House in Cincinnati are numbered. It is said that John H. Havlin's lease on the house expires next year and that Chas. P. Taft, acting for the Sinton Estate, owners of the building, will not renew the lease.

The statement is made that there has been more or less friction between Taft and Havlin for a number of years, dating back to the time when David Sinton was alive and Rainforth & Havlin were the lessees of the house. It seems that Rainforth & Havlin were never able to get a lease that gave them exclusive control of the house, as Mrs. C. P. Taft, Mr. Sinton's daughter, was a supporter and patron of the German Theatre Company, and through her the German Theatre Company has rented the Grand Opera House for their productions on Sunday nights during the regular season. This, of course, was a handicap to Messrs. Rainforth & Havlin, as it only gave them a six days' booking for their attractions, cutting out Sunday, which, in Cincinnati, is probably the best night in the week for theatres. The handicap became more exaggerated when the Shuberts opened the Lyric Theatre, running the house Sundays as well as the other nights. This gave the Shuberts quite an advantage and was quite an important factor in their struggle for a foothold during the first two years of the life of the Lyric.

Another incident that did not add to the good feeling between the Tafts and Havlin, was about three years ago, when the Times-Star, Mr. Taft's newspaper, raised the theatrical advertising rates. Havlin, at the time, joined with the other theatrical managers and refused to advertise in the Times-Star, and placed in his theatre program a notice to that effect. It was often remarked at the time that Havlin's stand in this matter would not help him any in getting a new lease at the expiration of the present one. Harry Rainforth retired from the firm of Rainforth & Havlin several years ago, and Havlin assumed sole control of the house, with T. Aylward as resident manager.

In addition to the above, it is said, there will be a new Richmond in the theatrical field in the person of Charles W. Murphy, president of the Chicago National League Baseball Club, and that the theatre to be used as a nucleus for the building of a powerful organization will

New Telepathic Production

New York, August 26 (Special to The Billboard).—Aethela and Aleko, who style themselves as exponents of telepathy and prophetic vision, are again in the East on the United Time, after a tour of the Pantages Time in the West, and following a well-deserved vacation.

After playing for the United Time, Aethela and Aleko will go over the Miles Circuit, opening November 15, and then follow with a tour of the Pantages Circuit. A complete new production, with special scenery, drops, etc., is now being built.

A NOTABLE ACROBATIC TROUPE.

New York, August 26 (Special to The Billboard).—Sle Hassan Ben Ali, head of the celebrated high-school for acrobats near Tangier, Morocco, will arrive in New York August 14 with an innovation in the way of amusement features. By special dispensation from the different chiefs in the South, he has secured a company of expert Berber dancers, men and women, and these he will present in an elaborate spectacle later in the season. The most picturesque of the North African dances have been seen in America. In motif and form they are entirely different from the religious dances of the peoples farther East. They have none of the objectionable features of these. In view of the unsettled political condition in the country just at present, it was necessary for Hassan to procure special permission from each chief before the men and women were allowed to leave. In case of actual war they are to be returned at once to their respective tribes, according to their contracts with Hassan.

LEP SOLOMON TRANSFERRED.

New York, Aug. 26 (Special to The Billboard).—On September 15, Lep Solomon becomes manager of the Grand Opera House in Brooklyn, one of the links in the Wm. Fox chain of theatres. Until last week Mr. Solomon was treasurer at the City Theatre, from which house he was transferred to the Nemo, at 110th Street and Broadway, and placed in complete charge. At the time of the change he was notified that his tenure at the Nemo was to be only temporary and that upon September 15 he was to assume charge of the Grand Opera House in Brooklyn.

OLD SOLDIERS BOOKED SOLID.

Col. J. A. Pattie has his Old Soldier Fiddlers booked ahead with the United Booking Office on the big time until the close of next season. He has forty weeks' time without an open week.

ILLNESS CAUSES CANCELLATION.

New York, August 26 (Special to The Billboard).—Gladys Wilbur, the singing dienne, was billed at Proctor's 68th Street Theatre the last three days of this week, was compelled to cancel, owing to illness.

The Siren Produced

Atlantic City, N. J., Aug. 21 (Special to The Billboard).—Donald Brian made his debut as a star at the Apollo Theatre tonight in The Siren, a new musical comedy from the pens of the authors of The Dollar Princess. Julia Sanderson, Elizabeth Firth, Frank Moulan, Will West, Gilbert Childs, F. Pope Stamper, Florence Morrison, and Moya Mannering are among the artists in the company of one hundred. The Siren is in three acts. The music is by Leo Fall, and the libretto of Leo Stein and A. W. Wilner has been adapted by Harry Smith. From Atlantic City Mr. Brian and The Siren go to the Knickerbocker Theatre, New York City.

STAGE ATTACHE SHOT.

Wilmington, Del., Aug. 24 (Special to The Billboard).—Homer Start, an attache of the theatre at Shellpot Park, this city, was painfully wounded by the accidental discharge of a revolver, used in the performance. His condition is not serious.

Frohman Will Not Retire

New York, Aug. 26 (Special to The Billboard).—For some time it has been rumored that Charles Frohman was so seriously ill that he would be forced to retire from business, and that Klaw & Erlanger would arrange to take over Mr. Frohman's business interests. In connection with this a close business associate states that Mr. Frohman will quit the show business when he dies, and not before—and that Mr. Frohman is suffering from inflammatory rheumatism, painful, but not serious, and that he would probably be up and around in time for next season's rehearsals.

WELLS LEASES NEW LYRIC.

Richmond, Va., Aug. 26 (Special to The Billboard).—Jake Wells today closed a deal with M. L. Hofheimer, whereby the Lyric Theatre, just built, is leased for a term of years to Wells and his associates. This breaks down the threatened opposition to the Wells and Leath Company interests in this state, and leaves Wells virtually in control of the theatrical field in Virginia.

THE WEEK THROUGHOUT THE WORLD

APPALACHIAN EXPOSITION

Practically in Readiness for Opening—Success of Last Season Results in Management Being Inundated in a Sea of Applications for Space

Knoxville, Tenn., August 26 (Special to The Billboard).—The second Appalachian Exposition opening is but a few days away and preparatory work progressing favorably. Its officers and directors are sanguine of a much greater success than last year.

The midway, under the directorship of the popular amusement manager, K. G. Barkoot, will be a prime factor of the exposition. Many high-grade feature shows and a large number of sensational free acts have been engaged.

The time set for the opening of the Appalachian Exposition is at the commencement of the most delightful season of the year, when the terrific heat of the past summer is but a dim memory. The mountains and valleys are clothed in their most beautiful raiment, and the brilliant sunshine is tempered by the soft, balmy breezes of September. Taken all in all, there is no more delightful spot on earth at this season of the year than Knoxville, in the heart of the famous Appalachian region where the exposition is to be held.

Last year being the first of the exposition, it was an unknown quantity, and the people were somewhat apathetic; but the splendid success achieved awakened the enthusiasm of the skeptical ones, and this year all Appalachians far and near are boosters. Everyone who can raise the price for miles around, have signified their intention of coming, and railroads are already busy making preparations to transport the largest number of people ever carried over their lines to any exposition or celebration in the South.

Space in the exhibit building is practically all taken. Many famous ribbon winners are entered for the horse show, enough to insure its being the largest and best outside of Madison Square Garden. The kennel and poultry shows are also attracting a great deal of attention. I am told the excellence of these exhibits will do more to educate the people of the desirability of raising blooded stock, instead of scrub animals than anything else has ever yet done for the fair Southland. The mining and mineral exhibits, the agricultural implement display and Government exhibits will be of such great magnitude that they will eclipse anything of the kind ever attempted in the Southern states or, for that matter, anywhere else, excepting, of course, the World's Fairs of Chicago and St. Louis.

President Taft, William Jennings Bryan, Champ Clark of Missouri, Governor Ben W. Hooper of Tennessee, and the governors of several other states are among the distinguished visitors who will attend.

E. E. Meredith's Vaudeville Gossip

Pearl Evelyn has returned to Springfield, Ill., after a trip to Chicago to appear in a suit against Dave Lewinson of the Congress Cafe. She had been booked to play there by Coney Holmes of the W. V. M. A., by telegraph. When Lewinson filed his affidavit he declared that Holmes had nothing to do with the Congress bookings, and that he did not even know Holmes. A. E. Meyers, who books the Congress, helped in obtaining a settlement. Miss Evelyn gets part money, and part in future time.

Grace May has referred a case of cancellation at the Buffalo Theatre, Chicago, Ill., to the White Rats and suit has been brought. She alleges that she played two performances before Andrews cancelled her. The W. R. A. U. is making a campaign against managers who cancel in this way.

Word has reached the White Rats that Wright Magee, manager of the Maze Afrdome at Joplin, Mo., was unable to pay salaries July 31 and rumor is that the place of amusement is closed.

Tom Deegan is said to have Evelyn Arthur See, Mona Rees and Mrs. Felicia Rees under contract to appear in halls and other places of entertainment (not vaudeville theatres) and the disciples of Absolute Life are to receive twenty-five per cent of the gross receipts.

A theatre in Memphis, Tenn., for the Sullivan and Considine Circuit is one of the results of Paul Goudron's recent trips through the South. The house will seat 1,500 people and will be located in the heart of the city. The contract for a Sullivan and Considine franchise for Coast shows was signed in Chicago last week.

Clever Conkey has returned to Chicago after twenty weeks on the Gus Sun Circuit and has twenty weeks more of that time opening early next month.

John P. Reel is putting on a vaudeville show this week which splits between Kendallville and Ligonier, Ind. He spent last week in Chicago getting the acts and incidentally signed contracts with J. C. Matthews, calling for Reel's appearance on the Pantages Time starting August 27. The vaudeville show to be seen in the Indiana points this week consists of Three American Comiques, John P. Reel, Le Vere and Palmer, Alice Van and De Mora and Graceta.

Harriet and Ellice Elkins, English performers, are in Chicago after having been left in Los Angeles by Fitzgerald's Juggling Girls and tell a story of mistreatment which is calculated to win for them wide sympathy. The girls came from England at Fitzgerald's request and traveled with his act with Ringling Circus and Pantages Time. The girls say that Fitzgerald paid them $1.25 a week while with the circus and when they wised up to the fact that they were being lured to him, he raised the salary to $5 a week. He gave them fifty cents a day for food and furnished their rooms. Often times he took them to places where negroes generally stopped and in some instances would pay for a week for rooms in which three of them stopped. The girls say that Fitzgerald did not pay these meagre salaries promptly. When they approached him for money, the manager of the act would curse them terribly. Their story has appealed to show folks here and J. C. Matthews, of the Pantages' office, has provided them with some money with which to eat until the White Rats-Actors' Union can investigate their case. When the girls first came to Chicago they applied to the Associated Charities. The organization refused them and instructed them to see Mr. Matthews.

Harry Wiggans Loses Eye

Harry Wiggans, the amusement promoter, and creator of the Foolish House and the Ostrich Farm, and now holding concessions at East Lake Park, Birmingham, Ala., met with a serious accident that caused the loss of his left eye. Mr. Wiggans has just returned from Atlanta, where for several weeks he has been under the care of a celebrated oculist in a vain attempt to save the optic.

Friends of Mrs. Wiggans will be glad to hear that she is recovering from a twelve weeks' siege of typhoid.

Mrs. Sophie Wiggans of Union Hill, N. J., mother of Ed. Wiggans, the Chicago booking agent, died August 10, aged 77 years.

The Rinaldos are adding three drops to their spectacular offering, making a total of twelve.

Acrobats Held at Ellis Island

Hassan Ben Ali, the producer of vaudeville acts and importer of foreign novelties, is having considerable trouble in entering a troupe of Arab acrobats to this country. Forty of these dusky performers arrived in New York on the steamship Olympic on August 16, and are being held at Ellis Island until certain technical difficulties are overcome. Hassan Ben Ali has appealed to the Bureau of Emigration at Washington for their release. Twenty-four of the Arabs are engaged for the coming season at the New York Hippodrome, and the other sixteen for the Aborn Opera Company's production of The Bohemian Girl.

AMUSEMENT EVENTS OF THE WEEK IN CHICAGO

CURRENT ATTRACTIONS

Shows that Hold Over and Those that Replace Others of Which the Runs Are Ended—The Kaleidoscope of Play Bills in the Western Metropolis

Chicago, August 26 (Special to The Billboard).—Edwin Arden, who returns to McVicker's tonight in the role of William Lake in The Deep Purple, has scored some of his most conspicuous Chicago successes on the stage of that historic playhouse. Arden made his first appearance there as a star in 1898-99 in Zorah, a play of his own composition, which is still drawing down royalties for its author from the stock companies. Other McVicker's successes in which he appeared were Hearts Are Trumps, Jim Blodsoe and Home Folks. The company supporting Mr. Arden in the Armstrong-Mixer play is cast as follows: George Bruce; Inspector, Richard Garrick; Gordon Laylock, Emmett Corrigan; Harry Leland, the badger, Robert Cain; "Pop" Cisk, Frank Currier; Connolly, Edward Gillespie; Finn, police lieutenant, George M. Fee; Doris Moore, Madeleine Louis; Kate Fallon, Azne Sutherland; Mrs. Lake, William Lake's mother, Margie Holloway Fish-er; Ruth Lake, his sister, Helen Fulton; Christine, Mrs. Fallon's housemaid, Virginia Philley; postman, John Williams; bellboy, Andrew Kelly; valet, George M. Zorn; page, Henry Davidson; messenger, William Page; organ grinder, Giovanni Cavallaro.

The current week is the last of the summer season at the Olympic, Get-Rich-Quick Wallingford playing its last performance here on Saturday night, September 2. It will have then run for ten solid months, which makes the record for a non-musical play in the city of Chicago. For the closing week many changes have been made in the cast. George Parsons has been succeeded in the part of Blackie Daw by William Forestelle; J. C. Yorke has replaced Royall Tracy as the hotel clerk; Charles H. Wilson is Joseph Kaufman's successor in the part of the reporter and film magnate; and Chas. B. Hamlin is now the real estate dealer.

An Everyday Man, with Thomas W. Ross in the title part of Robert Nelson, seems to be the latest attraction that the Cort Theatre has had in a long time. Owen Davis has departed from his favorite field of melodrama and has constructed a play of modern life along original and pleasing lines. The scenery which depicts the Adirondacks is from the studio of Frank Dodge and is in excellent taste. The supporting company is cast as follows: Peter Cary, president People's Gas Co.; W. H. St. James; Horace Van Anstlin, his friend and business associate; C. B. Weds; Norwood Van Anstlin, latter's son; Bill Woodbury, famous football player; Frank Wunderlee; Walter Jardine; a broker on his honeymoon, Harold De Becker;

WEEK AT THE PARKS

Outdoor Amusement Resorts of the Windy City Have Had Excellent Season and the Business at the Various Open Air Places of Amusement Holds Up Remarkably

Chicago, August 26 (Special to The Billboard).—For the waning days of summer the local park managers have provided extra attractions calculated to appeal to the children who will soon be returning to their studies. At Forest Park a new attraction is offered in the shape of a travel-lecture on Hawaii, delivered by Mr. Loyd Childs of Honolulu, who has spent years in that Paradise of the Pacific. The beautiful moving pictures of Honolulu are none worth the price of admission. In the grill room the light Hawaiian vocalists and musicians provide excellent and novel free entertainment. Bronck's Prize Band gives daily and evening concerts in the band shell in the grove, and the many rides and pleasure devices, including Anna come in for a great share of attention from young and old.

At Sans Souci the free vaudeville bill in the Crystal Casino is a magnet that assures large attendance. Next week's bill will include Adele's Animals, Lane & O'Donnell, Delmar and Delmar, Davis and Walker, Four Gypsy Players and Danders and Dale. The beautifully decorated restaurant remains a favorite place of rendezvous.

The Chimes of Normandy is the second of the free comic operas to be presented by the White City Opera Company, and under the direction of Salvatore Tomasso and George Herbert will hold forth all next week in the beautiful Terrace Garden of the popular South Side amusement park. Bohemian Kryn and his famous band will discourse sweet music afternoon and evening, and the multitude of rides and attractions provide entertainment for all.

Riverview Exposition will close its season in a burst of glory on September 10. The tordore, however, will continue its races only late in the fall, during which time special Sunday races will be held. On Monday Armistead Hand and his band will succeed Patrick Conway and his lithacau Band and will remain until the end of the season. Special picnics are scheduled for nearly every day that remains of the summer season.

The Minneapolis Symphony Orchestra will begin an engagement at Ravinia Park Monday night. This orchestra is new to Ravinia, but has been heard and liked in Chicago. Genevieve Wheat, contralto, will be the soloist Tuesday evening; Richard Czerwinsky, violinist, will play Wednesday afternoon; Mrs. Truman Aldrich, pianist, will be heard Wednesday night; Joseph Schenck, tenor, will sing Friday night; and Lonie Heine, cellist, will play Saturday evening.

President Theatre Changes Owners

Chicago, August 26 (Special to The Billboard).—Through a deal consummated this week Isaac A. Levinson has passed title to his President Theatre to the Louise Amusement Company for a rumored consideration of $50,000. The theatre is located near the North Street entrance to Washington Park, on Garfield Boulevard, between the South Side Elevated Railway and South Park Avenue, and is a popular place of amusement on the South Side. It has a seating capacity of 731.

CHICAGO PARK NOTES.

Chicago, Aug. 25 (Special to The Billboard).—The boys attached to the various concessions and interests in Forest Park are arranging to attend the Wolgast-McFarlane fight, in Milwaukee, on Sept. 15, in royal fashion. The arrangements are under the supervision of George (Koli) Black, who, in 1900, held the hammer weight championship, and who is now connected with the park. The party will travel in three or more special cars on the Northwestern Railway, and have had three sixty-foot pennants made to emblazon the name of Forest Park alongside.

Charles R. Maclean, Riverview's Director of Publicity, who was seriously injured in an automobile accident late in July, expects to return to the park early next week. During the week immediately following the accident it was not thought that Mr. Maclean would survive, the injuries being internal. He was thrown from a speedster employed at the park in one of the stunts of the "thriller" type—an exact duplicate of the car that killed Ralph Ireland early this week on the Elgin race course. The same car turned "turtle" at Riverview Friday night, and Thomas Orr, the driver, miraculously escaped with his life. The car was wrecked.

When the season closes at Forest Park, Miss Julie Seaman, who is in charge of the creation of that popular report, will become the bride of Ed. Waldmade, the well known North Side restaurateur and saloon keeper.

Mr. Ray Harper, of the office of Sans Souci Park, has been confined to his home with a severe illness.

The Billboard is now on sale in White City at the souvenir stand, presided over by Miss Jean Stanb.

Dellwood Park, near Joliet, on the line of the Chicago and Joliet Electric Railway, is having an aviation meet of its own to-day, tomorrow and Sunday, August 25, 26 and 27. Rene Simon, in his monoplane, and John Frisbie, in his biplane, are the performers.

Morris Wolfeld, president of the White City Amusement Company, was fined $3 and committed to jail for a week for failing to pay a fine for a woman, who was picketing the South Side pleasure park, some matches, which were labeled "White City is not fair."

Manager Issues Defi to Union

Chicago, August 26 (Special to The Billboard).—Manager U. J. Hermann of the Cort Theatre has uttered a defi to the demands of the Musicians' Union that downtown playhouses use eleven men in their orchestras. He has dismissed his old band at his theatre and has engaged Tomasso's five-piece orchestra for temporary service. It is his intention to later install a Hungarian orchestra. Other Loop managers are preparing to follow suit and ignore the demands of the union. The musicians demand that the outlying houses employ seven men in their orchestras. The demands of the musicians are the result of a plea of the members of the so-called Trombone Club, which is seeking the introduction of an elbow horn in every theatre.

THE UNITED PLAY COMPANY BEGINS SEASON.

Chicago, August 26 (Special to The Billboard).—The first of the Third Degree shows that the United Play Company are putting out on the road this season opened at Rockford, Ill., August 19, for a thirty weeks' tour over Stair & Havlin Time. Sarah Padden heads the company.

The Western company, which has Franklin Gale and Kenneth Stuart as its principals, begins its season at Michigan City, Ind., on September 2, and will tour through to the Pacific Coast.

The Southern company, with Grace Lord as its featured member, will open at Freeport, Ill., August 31.

There will be two companies playing The Jinx and the Mouse, one to tour the Middle West, opening at Clinton, Iowa, September 3, and the other to cover the South and East, opening at Crown Point, Ind., August 24.

SAID AND SEEN ON CHICAGO'S RIALTO.

Chicago, August 25 (Special to The Billboard).—Delightfully cool weather has given a great impetus to indoor amusement in Chicago, and the end of next week will see nearly all of the playhouses of the Western metropolis in full swing. The Deep Purple, Paul Armstrong and Wilson Misner's drama of the sordid slide of life, will reopen McVicker's Theatre tomorrow night, August 26. Liebler & Co. have made two new and important changes in the cast. H. S. Northrup will not appear as previously arranged, and the role of Harry Leland, "the badger," will be taken by Robert Cain. It is probable that Ada Dwyer will take the part of Kate Fallon in the opening performances, but she will be succeeded later by Anne Sutherland, a great favorite here, and not by Jeffrey Lewis, as announced.

On Friday night, September 1, Dustin and William Farnum will appear at the Chicago Opera House in Edward Pepple's latest melodrama, The Little Rebel, the scenes of which are laid in Virginia during the latter part of the Civil War. Edward MacGregor is busy rehearsing the play for Manager A. H. Woods, and the production is made by those who have witnessed the rehearsals that here is a worthy successor to Held by the Enemy and Shenan-

PERLE BARTI.

She will star this season in The Winning Widow, under the direction of Max Spiegel.

Sam Lederer Painfully Injured

Chicago, August 26 (Special to The Billboard).—Through a letter to Frank Rivers, auditor of the Kohl-Castle houses, received today, and bearing the postmark of Prague, Bohemia, Sam Lederer, manager of the Olympic Theatre, states that he is recovering from a severely sprained ankle, caused by slipping upon the deck of the ship that bore him Europeanward. The accident occurred on the first day out, and he was confined to his berth during the entire voyage.

Particular interest attaches to the production from the fact that 1911 marks the semi-centennial of the beginning of the great conflict that raked the nation. M. A. Kelly, head of the department of military tactics at the United States military academy at Providence, R. I., has been engaged to direct the maneuvers of the hundred odd supernumeraries who are to appear in the production. Mamie Lincoln, who is said to be a grand-daughter of the illustrious martyred president, will have the honor of playing the role of the first lady.

Woman Makes Theatre a Fort

Chicago, August 23 (Special to The Billboard).—After sustaining a siege of four days and nights in the dressingroom of the People's Theatre, West Van Buren and Leavitt Streets, in order to protect a leasehold that she held on the property, Mrs. Della Hayden, on the advice of the court, compromised with S. W. Quinn for the sum of $125.34, and retired with the honors of war. The case attracted considerable attention, and Mrs. Hayden was the recipient of a score of offers of marriage from those who admired her plucky fight. She is the widow of the inventor of the computing scale, who got $25,000 for his patent.

FATTY FELIX GOING INTO RE-HEARSAL.

Chicago, August 25 (Special to The Billboard).—Henry W. Link, manager of Fatty Felix, with headquarters at the Jordan Show Print Company, Chicago, announces the commencement of rehearsals for this show on September 11. The road tour will open on September 24 at McHenry, Ill.

A complete list of attractions at Chicago Theatres appears on page 61.

THE MAJESTIC BILL

Victor Moore and Emma Littlefield Score Heavily in an Act Far Beneath Their Abilities—Bessie Wynn Fails to Get Over a Couple of Songs but Wins Audiences with Others

Chicago, Ill., Aug. 25 (Special to The Billboard).—There's an old comedy line that has been put across by a few monologists and comedians which runs something like this, "You meet an awful lot of nice people in Chicago. If you're lucky," evidently Bessie Wynn did not expect to be "lucky" because she made an awful failure in trying to get away with suggestive songs in the early part of her repertoire on Monday night. Her first, just for a kid, was rare but hardly raw, but the second number, There's Something Coming Down, was as raw as they make 'em now-a-days, even for burlesque shows. The song in itself is bad enough, but Miss Wynn's business during the rendition was really repulsive. No doubt she discovered her mistake as both songs were cut for the latter part of the week and replaced with kid numbers. Miss Wynn is clever as an artist and puts over a good song in fine style. It would be far better if she would leave the spicy numbers for the English music hall artists who specialize in this class of songs.

Victor Moore and Emma Littlefield hold the headline position with one of those bare stage acts. It seems that people of such talent as Mr. Moore and Miss Littlefield would find a better vehicle; however, they go very big and scored a great success. All previous records for attendance at the Majestic were shattered this week when the house was sold out at the majority of the performances and played to a real theatre-going crowd who appreciated the merits of a carefully selected and well balanced bill. The bill is owned by Jeter and Rogers, comedy skaters and dancers, who are reviewed under new acts on this page.

Clay Smith and Melodie Twina appear in artistic nonsense. The trio carries its own drop which adds a noticeable tone to the offering. They are costumed neatly and all have a natural stage presence. Their songs are rendered in a pleasing manner, and all scored a hit. The dancing of the two young ladies is clever but just a trifle slow in spots and can easily be improved by picking up a little. One unforgivable offense is committed, they so far forget themselves as to pull the old line "Oh look at the moon" in reference to the "bald head" gag. Chuck it, Mr. Smith, you are flirting with failure when you go from your good material to such a line as this. It may have been used as a cue for the moon song but try to

NORMAN FRIEDENWALD.

His rapid rise in vaudeville, fair and aviation circles is a popular topic of discussion among professional people.

VAUDEVILLE CHATTER

The Lyric Theatre at Lima, Ohio, opens Sept. 4, and will be booked again this season by the Chicago office of Sullivan & Considine. The opening bill will be headed by the La Velles. Grace Wilson recently played the Thalia Theatre, being placed there by Charles H. Dontrich. The Hamilton theatre will open for the season Sept. 4. The Magic Theatre at Fort Dodge, Iowa, opens Sept. 4, and will be booked by Charles H. Dontrich. Lewis and Chapin are in Chicago for a few weeks and will present their offering here, before returning East, where they have a season's engagement. Manny Newman's Vaudeville Theatre, at La Salle and Spring Valley, Ill., will be booked the coming season by Charles H. Dontrich. Edward Rondell was here last week from New York, looking over some acts submitted for his Road show, by J. C. Matthews. He made several selections.

JETER & ROGERS, Comedy Skaters and Dancers; Majestic; first in blue-act show; time, nine minutes, working in one.

When Clare Victor Dwiggins created his famous cartoon character, Ophelia Bumps, it is doubtful if he ever thought it would be instrumental in creating laughter outside the New York World and affiliated papers. However, a certain young man seemed to realize that this would be an ideal character for a comedy roller.

skater. He must have studied the cartoon well, for his conception of the character is worthy of "Dwig" himself. One of the boys works straight and the other as Ophelia. Their skating is clever and their dancing on the rollers wonderful. Just one little tip: There is a trifle too much slapstick stuff and were this eliminated, the act would be worthy a place on a bill with the best and biggest vaudeville has to offer.

THE CLIFF NELSON PLAYERS. Comedy Play-let; Willard Theatre; third in fire-act show; time, eighteen minutes, full stage. A TRIP TO NEW YORK. Characters: Mrs. Brown, Hiram's wife.....Mayme Egbert Cherry, Hiram's daughter.....Anna Connelly Lucinda, a pest.....Lynn White Joe Davis, a scamp.....Hamish Ingram Rev. Arthur, Joe's brother.....Eastwood Harrison Hiram Brown, Pickled.....Cliff B. Nelson To sit in an audience and watch an artist doing a jag seems simple. But to do that jag without a sudden sobering is another thing. Of all the delightfully enacted drunks, bringing out the comedy side of the affair, Mr. Cliff Nelson takes the bell. The play embraces one, Hiram Brown, who has made a trip to New York and come home "pickled"; also of certain actions of said Brown during his sojourn in the metropolis, wherein a certain girl, a pink mask, a mask ball, and a lost watch and ring give Hiram much food for thought on his return home. Mrs. Brown decides to have the minister (very cleverly played by Mr. Harrison) show Hiram the error of his ways. Now it so happens that both the minister and his brother Joe are in love with Cherry. Joe "jobs" his brother by handing him a fake telegram calling him out of town. Joe masquerades as his brother and learns that Cherry is rather anxious concerning him. His impersonation is clever, but his work just a trifle slow. Many

New Headliner Lands Heavily

Chicago, Ill., Aug. 26 (Special to The Billboard).—Jack Taylor, the young college boy, appearing under the billing, The Chattering, Comedy Conjuror, was the headline attraction at The Willard the first three days, and the Willard's the last four. It is very doubtful whether any performer has ever made such rapid strides as has Mr. Taylor. He had his first professional try out at the Clark Theatre in April, and has not lost a single week since. Manager Licalzi of the Willard, and half owner of the Willard recognized the possibilities for Taylor, and took the gamble of headlining and featuring a name known to practically none of the patrons of either house. As a result, Mr. Licalzi said, "He'd do the same thing over, over and over again" (sneering Remick's stuff). Taylor has a manner original, and a wonderful personality, and, as the manager remarked, "It's not what he does; it's the way he does it."

The show is opened by Emma Fowler and Company, gymnasts. The act is good in spots but lacks terribly, and if snoring and snoring were in evidence, they were forgivable. Miss Fowler is a small woman, and displays remarkable strength. A very clever dog is introduced, which is one of the best things in the act. There are possibilities for the act, as both lady and gentleman are clever people, but they should work with an alarm clock instead of the orchestra.

Edna Rupert, dramatic contralto, appears second. The last said the better.

The Cliff Nelson Players appear third, and are reviewed under New Acts. Jack Taylor hands out a bunch of rapid-fire chatter and magical stunts, which proved a complete innovation. He opens with a few stunts in magic, and closes with about ten minutes of new monologue of a very good sort. Taylor proved one of the highest hits playing the Willard in the last year, and may well feel proud of his great success.

Tiebor's Educated Seals close the show, and went very big. The act was reviewed in the columns two weeks ago.

EDDIE FOY, INSURGENT, LOSES OLYMPIC DATE.

Chicago, August 25 (Special to The Billboard).—Disaffection with the importance of the role assigned to Harry Fox in the Pet of the Petticoats, and the threat of the erstwhile Chicago comedian to leave that production, so disrupted the plans of his managers that they were compelled to relinquish their booking as the opening attraction at the Olympic Theatre, September 3. In consequence, the time was assigned to John Barrymore and Thomas Wise, and these joint stars will appear at the Randolph Street playhouse on that date in Uncle Sam, their new vehicle. The play, which is said to have no patriotic significance, is the result of the collaboration of James O'Dea, a Chicagoan, and Anne Caldwell. Mr. Fox for Fitzgerald, as he is known in private life, has since patched up his differences and will appear in The Pet of the Petticoats after all. Harry Fox, however, it is said, will not be seen in the piece, which will go on the road under the joint management of Charles Dillingham and Florence Ziegfeld.

Good Bill at Wilson

Chicago, Ill., Aug. 26 (Special to The Billboard).—Manager Licalzi, of the Wilson Avenue Theatre, must have bribed the weather man this week. Cool nights were in order for the entire week, and the result at the Wilson has been packed houses at every performance. The Salambos in their electric novelty offering, prove a big sensation, as their act is just a trifle different from the ordinary run of vaudeville acts. The show is opened by Mr. and Mrs. Nello in an excellent juggling offering. The act has been attempted by other jugglers but not so successfully as by Nello. The act went very well for one of this nature, considering that the Wilson audience is very hard to please in this line.

Franklin Clifford and Company appear in a pleasing Western dramatic sketch, using four people and score heavily. The acting of each member of the company is clever and found complete favor.

Provol, the whistling ventriloquist and mimic is third on the bill and handed out some new material in the ventriloquist line. He adheres strictly to whistling and imitations, and was one of the hits of the bill.

Charles Siders, assisted by Frank Halliday, appear next to closing. They have their own special drops and stage setting and are costumed very nicely. Their songs were well rendered and were enthusiastically received. They responded to two encores.

The Salambos in an electrical act close the show. Their mysterious control of electricity and fire had the audience spell bound and made them the topic of comment in general after the show. They made a big hit and will undoubtedly find blanket contracts awaiting them on some of the more important time.

HERE AND THERE IN THE CHICAGO COLONY.

Gus Sun is expected to arrive in Chicago this week. Charles E. Bray left Chicago for New York on Saturday, the 19th, and will return about the middle of the week. Charles E. Hodgkins left on the 19th for a business trip to New York. Knoxville, Tenn., has a new theatre which opens August 21, using the Charles E. Hodgkins booking. Count the first, the educated chimpanzee, opened at Milwaukee this week for Walter F. Keefe and will play that time for eight weeks and then open on the Pantages Circuit. Charles E. Hodgkins is placing the act. The Pantages Time was secured through J. C. Matthews. Comedy Holmes is now booking thirty-seven theatres and no agent in the Association is kept busy. The Majestic Theatre at Little Rock, Ark., opened this week, playing split weeks. The Charles E. Hodgkins road show starts out September 3, and has twenty weeks on the Lyric Circuit. The Rinaldos have added three more drops to their transformation act, making twelve in

THE PATHE WEEKLY

Events of the Week Told on the Screen Encompass the Happenings of the Entire World—Motorphoto Co. Establishes New Epoch in Film Making

New York, Aug. 28 (Special to The Billboard).—The current Pathe Weekly, which is not released when this paper goes to press, is inclusive in its scope if nothing else can be said about it. It will contain topics gleaned from all quarters of the globe, some of the interesting events in Australia and the live topics of America.

The Pathe Company has gone to much expense in preparing for this feature of their business, having established a corps of ten camera men who stand ready at all times to catch the important events in New York as they happen. The wreck of the Pennsylvania limited in Indiana was caught by a special camera man who left for the scene within a hour from the time it happened. A general news ticker is soon to be placed in the company's offices on 25th Street so that all the important news will be received long before it is printed. While this article is being written a camera man is awaiting the expected landing of Birdman Atwood at Albany, while another is stationed at Steeplechase Park, N. Y. The company has camera men in all the principal cities of the world ready to film the important events.

U. S. MOTORPHOTO COMPANY.

New York, Aug. 28 (Special to The Billboard).—The recently formed U. S. Motorphoto Company, whose organization was announced in a previous issue, has undertaken a somewhat different line of manufacture from any other film company. The company will manufacture mostly commercial and scenic films, and have an arrangement whereby a thousand feet of film can be condensed and put into less than 100 feet. The pictures are printed

Film Explodes; Panic Ensues

Pittsburg, Pa., Aug. 28 (Special to The Billboard).—A case of "fire" in a moving picture theatre at Canonsburg, fourteen miles south of here, tonight caused a panic, which resulted in the death of 28 persons and the injury of 90 more.

There was no fire. The theatre was located on the second floor of the building, and the audience of about 700 had just started to leave their seats after the first show, when the blowing out of a fuse started the senseless cry. About 150 people were waiting just around the turn in the hallway to take their places for the second show, and into this closely packed crowd jammed the 700 from within the house, and in an instant nearly 1,000 people, three-fourths of them women and children, were crowded into the narrow, steep, ill-lighted stairway leading to the street.

The picture theatre was in the Morgan Opera House, which is a large structure, affording a seating capacity for about 1,000 persons.

The operator had just thrown the title of the next series of pictures on the screen: A Little Child Shall Lead Them, when the film exploded and his asbestos cabinet was filled with flames. The operator succeeded in extinguishing the flames, but made the fatal mistake of opening the door of the cabinet and allowing the smoke to rush into the auditorium. This caused the yell of "Fire!" and the audience, turning in their seats, saw the smoke, and the panic was on.

This is not the first catastrophe that has happened as a result of having moving picture theatres on the second or third floors of old and obsolete opera houses and halls, and it will probably not be the last, unless every city and town in the country prohibits the showing of moving pictures in buildings above the ground floor.

The proprietors of moving picture shows, whether they are on the ground floor or above, should take warning from this dreadful catastrophe and make their theatres as safe as possible, widen the stairways and entrances, and provide a number of exits for use in just such cases. If the moving picture people do not take it upon themselves to do this at once, they will be forced to do so later on, as this accident is bound to result in legislation all over the country to make laws and ordinances governing motion picture houses more stringent.

ROMEO AND JULIET 3-SHEETS.

In addition to the extra lobby display on Romeo and Juliet, the Tanbouser Company have been offering exhibitors gratis, they announce that both three-sheet posters and special booklets for the distribution are now available to exhibitors who wish to spend a little money in featuring the picture. This makes Romeo and Juliet the first film issued as a regular release on manufacturer's regular release day, to be honored with a three-sheet poster, or indeed any thing over the size of one-sheet. The departure, since it is made in behalf of Shakespearean production, a classic, would seem to prove that the best classes of people are being drawn to the moving pictures.

Overman, Elliott and Bennett, old Cincinnati show boys, will open a Louisville and moving picture theatre in Scottsburg, Neb., August 28.

much smaller, and are run in three rows on the ordinary width film.

The Company is selling their own projecting machine to show these pictures, and are attacking an entirely new line of trade for their market. They expect to specialize the taking of pictures, and take those which will be of interest to special clubs and people. A contract has recently been signed with the Southern Railroad Company for the taking of commercial and scenic pictures along the route of that railroad.

SELIG ENTERTAINS

Exhibitors Are Initiated Into the Mysteries of Photography—Moving Picture Men See Themselves on the Screen at Selig Exhibiting Rooms

Chicago, Aug. 25 (Special to The Billboard).—On Friday morning, August 25, a line of automobiles, numbering about thirty, and each one containing about seven exhibitors, started from the city office of the Selig Polyscope Co. for a day at the Selig studio. After driving through the business section of the city they left for the plant. When within a block of the studio, they were lined up in good parade fashion, and Selig's moving picture machine was put to work, and at about 2:30 the members of the Motion Picture Exhibitors Association of Illinois saw themselves on the screen in the Selig exhibiting rooms.

Preceding that the members were shown through the entire building and grounds. The Selig plant is one of the finest and largest in the country goes without saying, and may claim it the finest in the world. It is complete in every detail, and every imaginable sort of prop is at the command of the producer. A rare collection of wild animals has been secured by Mr. Selig, which in themselves would make up a good sized zoo.

That which perhaps interested the exhibitors most was the taking of a picture, in scenes of which the moving picture theatre participated. The name of this film will be "The Run on the Bank," and when released will show several persons prominent in the moving picture industry. Mr. Turner, the head of the industry, personally supervised the taking of the film and explained in detail to the exhibitors the many things that go to make up a picture.

At noon a good luncheon was served and heartily enjoyed by all present, as was also the exhibition of the film "Lost in the Jungle." The film was taken in Florida and is a picture that will undoubtedly be the subject of much talk in film circles. The courage demonstrated in this picture by Miss Williams in facing denizens of the forest is something wonderful and is possessed by few women. One scene shows where a tiger pounces on her head and actually claws her.

Among some of the Chicago film men present were George Kleine of the Kleine Optical Co., John Rock of the Vitagraph Co., Frank M. of the Vitagraph, and W. N. Selig, "the self," extending a welcome hand to all.

Moving Picture Theatre

The Princess, at Mt. Vernon, O., Mr. man, owner, with Sam Hantman, manager, presented the initial performance August 1, a big business.

The Colonial is the name of a new moving picture house opened at 615 Main Street, Wilmington, W. Va., by Philip Kockert.

The People's Amusement Company will open a new theatre September 1, at Rutherford, N. J. Mr. Goebel of the Kleine Optical Co. has a vacation in Michigan at Gull Lake.

THE TORN SCARF—REX.

Good films are very easy to find—but exceptional ones not near so easy. However, Rex Company, who have been placing meritorious productions on the market, produce a one-reel story de luxe when they come and executed The Torn Scarf. No better heralding has been given this story, but careful acting, such vigilant detail work, such consistency maintained throughout, the production should be conscientiously praised and commended by the press.

The story suggests the plot of De Maistre's "The Necktie," inasmuch as it portrays the struggles and sufferings of a peasant too indigent to purchase an attractive, but scarred from a mendicant peddler. Her despair at her poverty leads her to the which is happily counteracted by her realization that her love for her kin must not be destroyed by her desire for rapid money.

The strength of the story is by no means of the extraordinary qualities, the work of performers towering mightily as well. The aged wife was interpreted with skill suggested long study of the passion. The story of the husband was more natural could ever be brought out by pen. The photography was par-excellence; the scenery good and well chosen. The people were shown in typical European postures and times. The stage directorship ably gave a film that redounds credit to the Rex company.

NEW EUROPEAN AGENCY.

New York, Aug. 22 (Special to The Billboard).—The Melias Company has established their European agency with Mr. J. F. Brown at 3 New Compton Street, Charing Cross, London, W. C. The agency was abandoned months ago and since being reestablished Mr. Brookline the company reports good business throughout Europe and the British Isles.

COLLEEN BAWN.

New York, Aug. 26 (Special to The Billboard).—Prominent among the first of the three reel production of Colleen Bawn, a company has staged the picture at the location the events in the story were to have taken place, and around which original story was written. An argument was used to produce the picture, and by a few advance photos which have reached New York office of the company, the picture is to be one of the most notable of releases.

At the present time no release date is set for these films, nor has the picture shown to the press. In a later issue, a review of the picture will be given.

---SAVE---

GEO. L. MARION

Governor Tener of Pennsylvania has fixed September 28 for the execution of George L. Marion, the Theatrical Agent, who was convicted of killing his common law wife.

There can be no doubt of his guilt, but there is much evidence that Marion was the victim of insanity, and on this ground it is believed the Board of Pardons will commute the sentence if sufficient effort is made on the part of those who wish to see Marion's life spared and to save the profession from the stigma of having one of its representatives executed.

All who are interested are invited to write to the Board of Pardons, Harrisburg, Pa., strengthening with your own, the general plea that is being made to save Marion's life.

THE BILLBOARD PUB. CO.

Chicago Moving Picture News

Chicago, Aug. 26 (Special to The Billboard).—Mr. Carl Ray of Muskegon, Mich., and treasurer of the Michigan Exhibitors' Association, was present at the gathering of the Motion Picture Exhibitors' Association of Illinois, at Selig's studio last week. Mr. Ray is building a new moving picture house in Muskegon, which will open soon, and which he will name the Majestic. Besides the Majestic, Mr. Ray owns several other moving picture theatres in Muskegon, and also owns the opera house in that city. He recently sold his Elite Theatre to Mr. F. A. Alberts.

The Selig Polyscope Company is now in the midst of taking one of the greatest feature films that has been put on the market since the Passion Play. The subject is Columbus' Discovery of America. Through the Knights of Columbus they have secured the use of the boats, Nina Pinta and Santa Maria, which were exhibited in Chicago during the World's Fair. This picture will require a great outlay of money, and it will take a month or more to take it.

The American Motion Slide Company of Chicago are putting on the market a motion slide that in many ways will prove a novelty to theatre managers, and which has possibilities that are almost infinite. The old style slides, in size and appearance, are much like any other slide, but as a feature it has possibilities innumerable.

Dante's Inferno Scores in Cincy

It required considerable nerve on the part of Managers Oiler and Erb to enter into a contract to exhibit the Dante Inferno film at the Grand Opera House, Cincinnati, for two weeks. One week is usually regarded as being enough for any show in Cincinnati and many managers shook their heads when they learned that Oiler and Erb had paid a big sum of money for the privilege of presenting this famous film for two weeks. It was predicted that they would lose out.

The result of the experiment has proved that Oiler and Erb knew what they were about, for the picture drew larger crowds during the second week than during the first week. The house has been packed four times a day. Oiler and Erb have the Ohio state rights for the celebrated film and will hook through the state on a percentage basis.

Mr. A. G. Rider, owner of the Lincoln Park Theatre, Chicago, has patented a device for inserting between the film and light when the picture is being shown on the screen, which makes it possible to keep the film stationary for a period of a half hour. This will prove very useful for short titles and short film letters. He has also patented a new water-proof system which is being considered by several manufacturers.

MR. FILM BUYER--

Listen! You!! Be Reasonable

Don't you know that there are "tricks in all trades"? Don't you know that some film dealers send out big fat lists just full of good subjects for almost nothing? Aren't you wise enough to "smell a rat"? When they get your deposit they tell you the subjects you ordered have been sold and to make another selection, or if they do send what you order it is a piece of "JUNK" that won't go through your machine. We sell our "JUNK" film for scrap celluloid and never try to unload it on our customers.

Every film we sell is thoroughly cleaned, inspected and repaired from end to end before it leaves our plant. We employ nothing but honest methods in selling our films and you must be satisfied or we don't want your money.

Send for lists.

Isn't it advisable to start right so long as we can show you by the experience of others and from what we know of the machine ourselves that the Edison is the one which will make your show all you desire it to be?

THE MODERN CONCESSIONAIRE.

The concessionaire is the most essential element of every outdoor enterprise—the park, the fair, the carnival. He is a big factor at the circus—the red corpuscle that gives the life and vigor to the blood. Parks are splendid institutions but without the intelligent direction of the privilege holder's ambition they would be naught else than vapid picnic grounds, void of entertainment and pleasure.

A manager can hope to draw the crowd on the strength of the beauty of his grounds, its shadiness and cool, leafy groves—but his hope will not rest on the profitable foundation that it would, were he not to introduce Mr.
Concessioner to his premises.

The typical privilege man is by very nature, a reticent, taciturn business man during working hours, but a warm-hearted, congenial companion when his tools are over. He never conducts his occupations in the vaunting, vain-glorious method that other groups of men in other fields are wont to do. He is on the whole a self-sufficient fellow; content to take care of his own interests, without meddling into the inner of his neighbors' worries. It is because of this confined and what may be termed concentrated energy that each concessioner contributes his modicum to the general success of any amusement enterprise in which he engages.

Quite a few instances of promoters trying to take advantage of their concessioners have been recorded from time to time, but the plucky little fellow usually teaches the would-be patrician a good, sound lesson that he never forgets, and never again does the former try to do an injustice to any concessioner.

Just as in all commercial lines, so in the privilege game, the industry is being carried on in larger and broader channels. There was a time when there was almost one concessioner to every booth or attraction. Today, however, the more prosperous fellow often controls a number of concessions and appoints managers at the head of his various places, thereby deriving greater profit in a shorter time. This practice has not, however, reached the state of monopoly, nor is it ever likely to, due to the rapid changes that take place in the amusement world. Any concession only serves its proprietor for profit as long as the patronizing public stamp their approval on it, after which it is always best to cast it aside and scramble for something new.

While one man labors at new schemes and devices, so does his competitor and soon he finds that to keep in front, he can not count on any one form of concession for longer than one or two seasons. This shifting of popularity is the backbone of the profession and keeps it flowing in a free and unlimpoverishable state. Thus it is that the concessioner must needs be ever watchful and keen to the times and conditions that surround him.

A BOON TO THE PROFESSION OF AMUSEMENT.

Our little Chicago friend did not exactly "cash in" last week, but it has ceased to be a contemporary, nevertheless, however a poor specimen it may have been at its best. The fact that it failed to comply with the printer's demands to "come across" is responsible for its demise, though it has been moribund from the very moment of its birth, and the obsequies were without pomp or ceremony.

The failure of the paper to establish itself is not due altogether to lack of ability or to a negligible quantity of perseverance in the make-up of its founders, promoters—and now its chief (we might truthfully say its only) mourners. There was no place for it.
It was a supererogation, an excres-cence, a thing for which there was neither need nor excuse for its being.

It tried to break into a field already covered thoroughly, impartially and disinterestedly by The Billboard, and instead of turning its energies (save the mark!) to the uplifting of the amusement profession, it sought by obvious innuendos and hints of big stick methods to coerce patronage, and gain a following through fear of its antagonism.

There was no room for it, even if it had employed a different policy. But as it was—sic semper superomnibus.

The Hoosier Schoolmaster, a dramatization of Edward Eggleston's famous American classic by Benah Poynter, was produced for the first time at St. Wayne, Ind., August 10, and despite the intense heat was greeted by a large audience. The numerous curtain calls denoted the success of the piece.

Rooster of Billy Company, the tour of which opens September 3 in Omaha, Neb., under the direction of The Shuberts: Frank G. King, Dale Devereaux Jr., Albert Bruce, George H.
Ashe, Chester A. Taylor, George Dangerfield,
Ed. Willis, Walfrid Wilcox, Frank King Jr.,
Maud Folsom, Beth Merrill, Gladys Wayne, Mrs.
Mattie Perkins and Miss "Chick" Perkins.
Guy Crandall will be the agent and Frank Daily, carpenter.

Dale Devereaux Jr., has been engaged to play Sam Eustace in Billy, opening September 3, in Omaha at the Boyd Theatre.
The Orpheum Theatre at Sioux Falls, S. D., has been leased to Wm. Barrington, who will continue to play stock, vaudeville and motion pictures.

Cecil Yapp, who was with the New Theatre Company from the time of its inception till its disbanding, has been engaged to play his original part of the Cat in The Blue Bird, in Lieber and Company's revival of the play, which opens the season at the Century Theatre, Mr. Yapp was one of the most popular players of the New Theatre organization, and the Cat was perhaps his most successful characterization.
Though his early appearances were all in London, with Sir Herbert Tree, Lewia Waller and other leading stars, Mr. Yapp is an American, born in St. Paul, Minn.

The Girl From Rector's will begin its second season on Labor Day, Monday, September 4, under the direction of Max. Plohn. In the cast will be Dorothy Deiton, George W. Paige, Frank Dorley, Margaret Carson and others. The tour will commence in Charleston, S. C., and extend through the South to the coast and the Northwest, making a season of about forty weeks.
Ed. H. Lester will be the manager with the company and Will M. Elliott in advance.

When The Blue Bird is revived at the Century Theatre next month, numerous departures will be made from the performance as given by the New Theatre Company last season.
While abroad this summer, Hugh Ford, the general stage director for Lieber & Co., visited the various productions of the Maeterlinck play on view in London, Paris and Moscow, and received from these representations many suggestions that he will work out in the Century revival. The Russian performance, in particular, though in it impressionistic staging was carried to extremes, offered many points which, when incorporated in the American version, should add greatly to the effectiveness of several scenes.

Ethel Brandon has been re-engaged by Liebler & Co. for her original part of Minnie Tyl in this play.

Jos. M. Gaites has engaged Fred G. Latham, for many years stage manager for C. B. Dil-lingham, to produce the new Victor Herbert, Fred de Gresac and Harry B. Smith opera, The Enchantress, in which Kitty Gordon is to star.
Mr. Latham produced all of the Fritz Scheff operas.

NOTES OF THE ROAD.

At the Country Club, one of Jesse Lasky's best big girl acts, has been secured by William Alexander and will be sent on tour beginning the last week in August. Mr. Jarvia Joscelyn, the principal comedian, has been re-engaged for his old part of the chairman of the House Committee. Ettie May Lyon, who has been the leading lady with the Planophiles, has been secured for the role of the wife of the president of the country club. Kendal Fellows will be seen as the Irish butler. The rest of the cast company will include May Clinton, Kitty Whitney, Lonise Hollis, Marion Craig, Harry Luck,
M. Van Bureghy, Howard Hainly and Jack Barry.

Musical Walker, who closed with Roy E.
Fox's Lone Star Minstrels a few weeks ago, in order to play vaudeville time, has signed with the Ringling Show for the balance of this season. His vaudeville bookings closed at Lincoln, Neb., on the Ted Sparks' Time. Walker clowna on the track and does a blackface comedy musical act in the concert. He also plays in the clown hand in the parade. For two years he had been doing principal end on the Fox Minstrels.

The Herbert-Gilpin Famous Shows are now in their 22d week under canvas. Business is good, and all with the show are enjoying the best of health. Mrs. Ed. S. Gilpin is away on a visit to home folks at Mill Shoals, Ill. Fred Lake rejoined the company after an absence of five weeks, during which he played vaudeville. This week we play Robinson, Ill.; our tent season ends about the last of October. A number of return dates have been arranged for next season.

Eddie Miller, principal oriental dancer and snake charmer with Welsh Bros. London Hippodrome Shows, has closed with that company, and is spending a vacation at his home in Glenville, N. Y. Mr. Miller has joined hands with E. Mandy in a new act, entitled, Just in Time. The team will be known as Miller Bros., and the act will consist of singing, talking and character changes, introducing a wonderful snake dance, using a den of snakes.

Miss May De Mar of the well-known vande-ville team of Golden and De Mar, is in the Deaconess Hospital in Cincinnati, recovering from an operation. Miss De Mar is well and popularly known in vaudeville circles, having been appearing recently on the Wm. Pollard Circuit, and her many friends will be glad to learn that she is rapidly recovering, the operation having been most successful.

Gracie Emmett, fresh from the farm, arrived in New York last week, and is busy rehearsing, prior to her opening Sept. 4. Miss Emmett was to have produced her new act, but the managers in the Middle West put in a bid for Mrs. Murphy's Second Husband and her advisor, Pat Casey, booked Miss Emmett solid for the season—this being the 12th year for the act.

Jack Wallace, with his Educated Cockatoos has finished 27 weeks for Gus Snn, and opens August 28 for Norman Jefferies. Wallace states that while playing in Stanton, Va., he was offered $5,000 for his feature bird, White Eagle, but declined. He is negotiating for a New York appearance in the near future, either at Hammerstein's or the American Music Hall.

"Barnum," the hypnotist, and his company open their season at Sheboygan, Wis., August 30, playing in Wisconsin and Minnesota until October 16, when they open on the Cort Theatre.
This company is booked solid for the entire season over the above circuit, carrying fifteen people, special scenery and a number of new advertising features. A record season is anticipated.

Rooster Myrtle Vinton Co.: H. F. Bulmer, manager; Wm. R. Binder, H. H. Budds, Nelson
H. Bell, Albert A. Hazen, Wilford Leroy, Vivian Bulmer, Ethel Leosard, Mary Davis, and the ever popular Myrtle Vinton. An orchestra has been added this season, and with all new plays, and everything up-to-date, business has been good so far.

Mrs. La Belle of the La Belle Sisters, was the victim of a peculiar accident at Lindsie, August 17. A baggage man noticed smoke issuing from one of Mrs. La Belle's trunks; she was called, and upon unlocking the trunk, flames burst forth, painfully but not seriously burning her about the hands. Clothing, etc., was destroyed to the value of $50.

Willard Halsted, presenting A Few Minutes in Portland, has another original idea for next season in the vaudeville line, presenting a new Colossal number, The Story of Washington.
With special scenery, special slides and costumes. Putting the two together making a very interesting and novel feature.

Happy Gus Frall and Clarence Breeding, known as the German count and his friend, are in their third year in Indianapolis, with four weeks' return engagement to follow. Their Dutch comedy act is going big in the sidewalks and movie picture houses. They will be busy until the latter part of November.

Ethel McDonough, formerly Divine Myrma, the Divine Venus, opened an eight months' tour over the Orpheum Circuit at the Columbia, St. Louis, Aug. 21. At the conclusion she will return to Europe to fulfill contracts at the Palace Music Hall, London, where she so successfully appeared last season.

The Fay Sisters, after forty-eight solid weeks on Frankel Bros. Circuit, are spending a vacation on their grandfather's farm near Ottawa, Kan., and visiting other relatives in the vicinity. They open at Ottawa week of August 28, with their own show, The Fay Sisters' Associated Players.

Willard Halsted, presenting A Few Minutes in Portland, has another original idea for next season, presenting a colonial number, The Story of Washington, with special scenery, special slides and costumes, putting the two acts together and making a very novel and interesting feature.

Rozell's Minstrels will put in the entire winter on Western Vaudeville Time. Mr. Rozell will put out one of the strongest minstrel shows in vaudeville, carrying a full band and orchestra and a company of eighteen performers. This show has been out all summer and report a successful season.

Olto Viola, "the man who falls," is meeting with great success in Europe. With his exclusive agent, Chas. Bornhaupt, he will sail for Australia July, 1912, for a tour of thirty weeks on the Brennan Circuit, with South Africa and Honolulu to follow. He is booked solid until 1914.

DEATHS.

ALLEN—May Maybin, known as Mma. Allen, died at Keller Hospital, Tampa, Fla., August 14, from complication of diseases. The deceased was a member of many first-class repertoire shows, but for the past eight years had been playing vaudeville. She was a resident of West Tampa, but born in Philadelphia, Pa., and was 26 years old. She is survived by a grandmother, two brothers and her father, all residents of Philadelphia. Interment was in Woodlawn Cemetery, Tampa, August 17.

BIRTHS.

Nettie Parker presented her husband, Dr.
Harry Parker of the Hudson Comedy Company, with a boy on August 17. Mother and son are doing nicely at their home, 1150 N. Main Street, Rockford, Ill., and would be glad to hear from friends.

PERFORMERS WED.

Jose Leo and Nina Gallagher, members of the Pringle Stock Company, playing in Seattle, Wash., were married on the stage of the Seattle Theatre, August 15, immediately after the conclusion of the evening performance.

Julian L'Estrange, whose entire American experience up to this time has been under Charles Frohman's management as leading man for Billie Burke, has severed his connection and will next season play Nicia in Paul Wiltstach's dramatic version of Thais, under the management of Jos. M. Gaites. At the close of Miss Burke's tour last week Mr. L'Estrange returned to New York and sailed yesterday for England for a six weeks' holiday at home before returning for the Thais season.

Joseph M. Gaites, with the help of Jake Tan-nenbaum, the veteran theatrical manager of Mobile, Ala., has made a discovery in the person of Gabe Chamblin. Mr. Tannenbaum really discovered the young man, for he has been instrumental for several years in having his voice cultivated. For the past year Mr. Chamblin has been singing in the choir of the largest Episcopal Church of Mobile. In response to a wire of Mr. Gaites, he left for New York Monday, and if, after hearing him sing, Mr. Gaites is sufficiently impressed, he will tie him up for a long term contract. Mr. Chamblin has a tenor voice which is described as being of unusual quality and possesses a clearness of tone which closely resembles that of Caruso.

ADVERTISING TALKS

Some of the smaller publications could almost eke out an existence from the proceeds that could be derived from advertising that The Bilboard declines to accept. Not a week passes but advertising copy which is received, accompanied by cash to pay for its insertion, is returned to the senders because it would have a tendency to besmirch our columns and debauch the amusement business.

Legitimate advertisers should not be forced to associate with those adventurers in the advertising field whose greed induces them to make promises they are unable to fulfill.
An advertiser is judged by the company he keeps, and the dishonesty of one advertiser reflects discredit upon the honest ones who advertise in the same paper.

An occasional advertisement which should not be allowed to appear is likely to creep into the advertising columns of any paper, but it is the endeavor of The Billboard to protect both honest advertisers from understandable association and our readers from frauds. When our attention is called to unfair dealing, a prompt investigation is made, the advertiser compelled to make restitution and his business thereafter declined.

Action of this kind is not entirely unselfish on the part of The Billboard, because we realize that it is to our interest as publishers of the leading amusement weekly to seek the advancement of the amusement business. Entirely independent and engaged in no factional fight, our sole object is to promote the interest of amusements as a whole.

As recipients of the advertising patronage of men who have devoted their time, energy, capital and intellect to the upbuilding of the motion picture business, we deem it our duty to protect them from those who would undermine it. Films and slides depicting hangings, burning at the stake, white slavery and others of a sensational nature do not have a tendency to uplift and perpetuate the motion picture business. Advertising of such films and slides is always declined by The Billboard, regardless of how remunerative it may be. That this policy is appreciated is shown by the constantly increasing volume of advertising.

In this department THE BILLBOARD will print each week the choruses of late songs especially recommended by their publishers for use on the stage. Artists who find these numbers suitable for their act can obtain complete professional copies by addressing the publishers. This department constitutes a valuable aid for professionals, as only songs that have intrinsic merit and are especially adapted for use on the stage will be produced. Performers will, by consulting this department, be spared the time and trouble of trying numerous songs that have no particular value, or give no evidence of attaining longevity.

Words & Music by IRVING BERLIN

CHORUS
When I'm a-lone I'm lonesome, When I'm a-lone I'm blue, Some-one kind-ly in-ter in my sym-pa-thy place, Every-oh-er girl and broth-er, Has a pal just like a moth-er, When they can tell their true blue, When they can call their own Wont some-bod-y kind-ly hear me, Lin-ger near me, come and cheer me,

The World of Amusement

NEW SHOW INTERESTING.

The Whirl of Mirth or Dooley's Reception, is a farce in two acts, written by Edgar Selden. It is not the burlesque type of attraction, but an interesting and entertaining musical show. Ben W. Harris wrote the music and George Paxton staged the numbers. The entire production was made under the personal direction of Charles W. Daniels.

A most competent cast of people has been engaged. Eddie B. Collins, who is known as The Man With the Funny Face, is principal comedian; Nellie Walker is prima donna. Others with the company are: William J. Kenney, Willie Mack, George M. George, Harry McAvoy, Charles Yeager, Howard Dalley, Nellie Walker, Hester Waters, the sonnette, Maudie Stevens, Ida Yeager, Edgar Hall, Robert Beattie, Irvy Klinger, Arthur Hagerty, R. J. Levy, a male chorus of six, and sixteen girls.

Edgar Selden has provided an interesting book and Eddie Collins, as well as the others, in the cast, every opportunity to make the best of their parts.

The Whirl of Mirth should be one of the best shows on the Wheel this season. Comparisons can not be made at this time as most of the shows are not yet opened, but judging from what attractions have been on the Wheels in previous years The Whirl of Mirth stands up well in comparison.

JACK SINGER'S SHOWS.

The Behman Show will be the only Singer show to retain its old title and will be a strong show, using as the book a modified version of the Girl from Rector's, with Florence Mills as Lute, the leading prima donna role.

Painting the Town, the new show in which Pete Curley is to make his return bow to burlesque audiences, is another strong production, with a line-up of fourteen principals and a big singing chorus of twenty girls. The show will be billed as Halliday & Curley's Painting the Town and will include in its cast such well-known players as May Shirk, who will play the leading female part; Margaret Howard, Clara Raymond, Geraldine May, Betty Davison, John H. Price, Ralph Rockway and Thomas Shields. Painting the Town will carry more scenery and properties than any burlesque show which ever took the road and its extra feature will consist of a novelty in the way of a mysterious fountain, in which real water will be used and which will require an entire car to transport it from stand to stand. One of the features of the Painting the Town Show will be the singing. A small operetta will be included in the numbers, for which a special chorus of solo and choir singers have been engaged.

Ben Welch's Burlesquers is the third show to be put out by Jack Singer this season and great preparations are being made to make this a banner production. The company is headed by the popular and versatile Ben Welch, who will be supported by a strong cast and a powerful chorus of good-looking girls. All three shows are rehearsing in New York and will open in a few days.

C. B. Arnold, formerly a well-known carnival promoter and later a part owner of the Bachelor Club Burlesquers with Harry Hastings and also former owner of C. B. Arnold's Fads and Follies and the Serenaders, is now secretary and treasurer of the Jack Singer Amusement Co., Inc., of which Rudolph Hynicka is president and Jack Singer general manager. The offices of the firm are located in the Columbia Amusement Co.'s new skyscraper building at 47th Street and Broadway, where all the business relative to the productions at present owned by the firm is handled. Among the productions owned by the Jack Singer Co. are: Halliday & Curley's Painting the Town, Ben Welch's Burlesquers, The Behman Show and The Passing Review. The Singer shows have always been notable for their gorgeousness and high moral standard, and they have led the march of improvement ever since the days of split in the two wheels. The executive staff of the Singer Company includes: Sydney Wire, general press representative; Jake Lieberman, John Jacmes, Charles Falke, Louis Levine and F. C. Hill, travelling managers; and C. B. Arnold, secretary and treasurer.

PLAYHOUSE NOTES.

William Preston Hemsteger was tentatively engaged fifteen weeks ago by McMahon & Jackson, operating the Lyric Theatre, Cincinnati, as a motion picture house during the summer months, to act as descriptive talker and lecturer. His work has been so successful that McMahon & Jackson retained him considerably longer than they originally intended. He is at present alternating between the Lyric and the Alhambra, the latter being a regular moving picture theatre, booked by McMahon & Jackson.

arranged, which will be considerably lower than what they have been. The usual high-class attractions will prevail, however.

H. H. Robey has just completed a new theatre at Spencer, W. Va. The theatre is centrally located and has a seating capacity of 725, with incline floor, stage 14x40, dressing rooms and private electric plant. Repertoire, musical comedies, minstrels, vaudeville and moving pictures will be played.

Wm. Krelitz has succeeded F. A. Shinsbrook as manager of the Rosedale Opera House, Chambersburg, Pa. Mr. Shinsbrook has organized a company and purchased the Franklin Guard Armory and will convert the theatre into an up-to-date theatre.

Tynes and Taylor have leased the Grand Theatre, Portsmouth, O., for the coming season. Mr. Tynes, who also owns the Columbia Theatre, will have the management of the house. Klaw & Erlanger will do the booking.

The Unique Theatre at Mayfield, Ky., is undergoing extensive repairs. The Hickman-Bessie Company will open this house August 14, and Manager T. L. McNutt has some excellent attractions booked for the coming season.

MARGARET RAGAN,

Leading woman with Price and Butler for the past three seasons.

The Gallipolis Theatre, at Gallipolis, O., under the management of J. L. Kaufman, has undergone a series of renovations during the summer months, and is now open, running vaudeville and motion pictures. A local paper, in commenting upon the new house, said that nowhere in the country can be found a prettier theatre for its size. Mr. Kaufman has had considerable experience in the theatrical world, and is fully capable of making the Gallipolis theatre a popular place of amusement.

Edward L. Moore has added White's $250,000 theatre at McKeesport, Pa., to his circuit of houses in Ohio, Pennsylvania, West Virginia and Indiana, and will open September 4, playing first-class attractions. Fred E. Johnson will be in charge. Mr. Johnson is well known in the theatrical profession as a manager and former advance man.

Jake Wells and the Bandy Brothers will operate the Liberty Theatre of Savannah, Ga., during the coming season. An application for a charter for the Liberty Theatre Company was filed in the Superior Court by Jake Wells, Hubert Bandy and F. W. Bandy. It is stated the house will open the first week in September.

J. D. Moore has leased the Grand Opera House at Amarillo, Texas. The house has not been very successful for the past few seasons, but under the management of Mr. Moore there is no reason why it should not be a big success, as Amarillo is a good theatre town and the house modern and up-to-date in every respect.

August 28 was the opening date of the Shubert Theatre of Springfield, Mass. Wm. D. Fitzgerald will again manage the house. It is reported that a new scale of prices have been Manager King of the Atchison (Kan.) Theatre and the People's Theatre of Leavenworth, Kan., has secured a list of Singer bookings for his houses. Both theatres have been renovated and redecored for the coming season.

The Opera House at Swayzee, Ind., will be opened September 1, after having been closed for several years. New scenery is being painted and the house put in first-class condition to offer stock and vaudeville attractions.

The Lyric Theatre, Bellville, Ill., has changed hands, and hereafter the house will be managed by W. J. Gillman. The house will be thoroughly renovated, and a number of improvements added.

The new Victoria Theatre, Goldsboro, N. C., under the management of Gourdon & Brown, is doing good business, offering high-class vaudeville entertainments.

Nemick Brothers have leased the Milo Theatre at Little Falls, Minn. Legitimate attractions will be featured, interspersed with vaudeville and pictures.

Metropolis, Ill., will have a new theatre, to be known as the Elite. The house will open about October 1, with James Slick as manager.

The Kingsdon, N. Y., Opera House opens August 15 with Lew Dockstader's Minstrels, Manager C. V. Du Bois will again be at the helm.

The Orpheum Theatre, Springfield, Mass., opened for the season August 14 with a good bill. Mr. Cavallo is the assistant manager.

The Newport (Ark.) Opera House changed hands August 7. R. G. Parvin will be the new manager, vice J. W. Grubbs.

The season at the Grand Opera House, Stevens Point, Wis., will open August 19, with The Cat and the Fiddle.

The Opera House at Atwood, Ill., is complete and ready for its formal opening, which will occur August 15.

STOCK COMPANY NOTES.

The Honeymooners Company, managed by W. H. Murphy, which has been touring the West, report that they have been out all summer, and that considering that they have been playing opera houses with canvas shows for opposition, business has been satisfactory. Their bookings in the West are nearly completed, after which they will move East. They will play in the East and South the coming season.

Wm. Triplett and his company have become firmly established favorites throughout the Southern states. In response to a persistent demand for the attraction, Manager Lashley has made his bookings again include Georgia and Florida time. A number of new plays have been added, with others in preparation. Recent additions to the executive staff include W. B. Goehle, business manager, and L. B. Archer, general agent. The company is in its forty-eighth week and will not close this summer. Chas. B. Smith has joined as electrician.

Alley Stock Company closed a fifteen weeks' engagement at the Snperha Theatre, Atlanta, Ga., and will rest for four weeks. Members of the company left for their homes. Manager Y. C. Alley will spend a few weeks in New York on pleasure and business. The regular season opens in September.

The fifteenth annual season of the Myrtle Vinton Company will open in Seymour, Iowa, August 8; rehearsals at the same place one week earlier. They are booked almost solid for the first five months of the season. In many of the towns booked they have played for the last several seasons.

The National Players, under the management of F. Wirick, closed their regular summer season at the Aldrome Theatre, Elwood, Ind., August 16. Many of the company joined one-nighters out of Chicago.

Miss Ruby Thorne, who has just closed her engagement with the Alley Stock Company, will spend a week or so at her home in Nashville, Tenn., before leaving for New York.

TRIBUTE TO A MINSTREL.

The poetical tribute to Al. G. Field, here reproduced, was written by Dr. H. M. Hamill of Nashville, Tenn., and was printed in the Confederate Veteran.

TO AL. G. FIELD.

When labor's done and life is past,
As comes to all of us at last,
And at the judgement bar we stand,
The sheep and goats on either hand,
I think I know your final plea,
And what your future fate shall be.

When Gabriel's trumpet thrice has pealed,
His cry rings forth, "Call Al. G. Field!"
And bowing low before the Book
Of Fate, with kind but homely look,
The prince of modern minstrels stands,
An old-time hanjo in his hands.

The angel speaks, "What is thy plea, Whereon must rest thy destiny?"
Then, slowly kneeling, Field doth say:
"Dear Lord, on this thy judgement day,
Which long ago thou gavest me,

I've tried to charm away men's fears,
And oft have dried the mourner's tears;
By song and laugh and merry jest,
Thy minstrel, Lord, hath done his best."
Then with a smile upon his face,
The angel answers, full of grace:

"Well done, good minstrel, though men carp,
Unstring thy banjo, take this harp;
And when the Pharisee shall frown,
Tune up thy harp and wear thy crown."

THE STAGE OF THE RENAISSANCE IN ITALY.

During the period of the Renaissance in Italy, when in other countries the actors, by being compelled to play more frequently than had hitherto been customary, were compelled to seek refuge inside a building, as they could not repeatedly expose themselves to the risk of having their performance spoiled by torrents of rain, or other inclemencies of weather, on the other hand, in Italy, with its equal climate, the risk is not so great, and even in this day there are many open-air theatres in that country. The stage in those days consisted of a square wooden platform about six feet high, covered with canvas all around the bottom. The front and sides of the stage are open. The back consisted of a decorated curtain, fastened to a partition of lathes. Behind this background was the dressing room, used by actors and actresses together, in which they retired also during the intervals of their acting. For the medieval custom that all performers remain visible to the audience during the whole play no longer suited the conditions of the stage, for one thing, because in the small professional companies the same actor had frequently to play several parts, and because the new repertoires required various changes of costume.

The decorative back-cloth was either painted as a landscape in perspective, a street, etc., and in this case the actors went in and out by simply pulling the curtain a little one way or the other. Or the background consisted simply of draperies, and in this case the actors went in and out in different places, and where they were supposed to listen unseen to some speech on the stage they put their heads between its folds. The latter kind of background seems to have been most commonly used; at least, in most illustrations we notice such a richly folded back-cloth with heads peeping out. Undoubtedly this was the older arrangement, and the painted curtain a later reform.

French engravings of the sixteenth century show exactly the same scenic construction, except that the theatre is found inside a building.

Resume of the Week's Important Amuse

BALTIMORE, MD.

The opening of the Maryland Theatre, August 21, was a notable one in local theatres. The event marked an historical epoch in Baltimore's relation to the stage and famous old-time actors. This gathering of famous stars was a tribute to Manager James L. Kernan, who celebrates his 46th anniversary as a theatrical manager. A special souvenir program was issued containing interesting facts concerning the manager and the actors. Mr. Kernan's father conducted a produce and commission business where the Maryland Theatre now stands. Mr. Kernan began his career as a clerk for his father. In 1862, Mr. Kernan enlisted with Harry Gilmore's famous cavalry troop and continued in the service with the Confederate Army until the close of the war. After the war he came back to this city. His brother, Eugene Kernan, now manager of the Lyceum Theatre in Washington, had taken the Baltimore Opera House in payment of a debt. After much persuasion James L. Kernan was induced to take charge of the house. That house is now the Monumental Theatre.

Mr. Kernan made quite a fortune in this old theatre and then his business expanded to three theatres in Baltimore, two in Washington and one in Buffalo, N. Y. Several years ago he disposed of his interest in these theatres and has confined his time exclusively to the management of his new structures—the Maryland and Auditorium Theatres and the Hotel Kernan, which are under one roof.

In the lobby of the hotel hang many framed resolutions and silver loving cups which were presented to Mr. Kernan as tokens of esteem expressed by business men and civic organizations of this city. In the lobby of the Maryland Theatre, hangs a handsome oil painting of Mr. Kernan, which was presented to him by the employees of the house August 14. In the rathskeller, under the theatre, the walls resemble a vast hall of fame for the great number of relics and old pictures of famous thespians who have long passed into eternity. Mr. Kernan is proud of his collection.

Charity has been Mr. Kernan's hobby and recently he founded a hospital bearing his name, and he has also made arrangements by which his fortune will go to charitable institutions after his death. The actors who were on the bill to honor Mr. Kernan included Mrs. Annie Veamans, Maggie Cline, Lottie Gilson, Gus Williams, Frank T. Ward, John P. Curran, Fox and Ward, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Thorne, Allan and Clarke and John Le Claire. Lottie Gilson made her debut at the Monumental Theatre in 1880.

Lyman H. Howe has become interested in the "See America First" movement which was started in this city and each week his exhibition will contain some American views. Last week a film showing the beautiful mountain gorges in Colorado was presented. This picture was taken through the country at the Denver and Rio Grand Railroad. The picture of the train winding through the rocky gorges was very interesting.

"No Interruption to Business while Improvements are Going On" is usually conspicuous in front of any business establishment, and the Victoria Theatre was handsomely renovated throughout without closing the doors. This popular playhouse is one of the best business stands in the city. Messrs. Pearce and Scheck have spared no expense on the artistic embellishment of the house in making it cozy and comfortable. Manager C. E. Lewin has been very busy looking after the work and to get good results he only engaged experienced workmen and artists.

Maggie Cline, who is appearing with the "Old-Timers" at the Maryland Theatre, wrote a letter to James L. Kernan in answer to a request for data concerning her stage career. She stated that she made her first appearance in this city with Snehaker's Majestics at the Monumental Theatre the week of January 7, 1881. She said that she was born in Haverhill, Mass., on January 1, 1860, and she is now 51 years old and she doesn't care a darn who knows it, and dares anyone to deny it.

William L. Ballant, manager of the Gayety Theatre, is the sole heir to the real and personal property of his mother, Mrs. Jennie C. Ballant, by her will which was filed in Orphans' Court, August 17. The will was drawn October 29, 1910. Mrs. Ballant died June 28 last. She named her son executor without bond.

Katherine Kavanagh, the well-known Baltimore actress, will open the season at the Savoy Theatre, in a play of her own construction, Diamond Chip. The house will open September 4, and the Boston Players which played here last season, will resume after Miss Kavanagh.

John Thomas Cox, a retired patrolman, died after a lingering illness at his home at Hamilton, August 20. Cox figured as a hero and saved many lives in the Front Street Theatre panic in 1895. During a performance, a leaky gas-pipe caused someone in the audience to yell: "Fire!" and a rush for the exits followed. Cox patrolled this heat and he reached the theatre in time to calm many of the panic-stricken people.

A romance at Hollywood Park came to a climax August 19. Miss Barbara Frances Leyh and Charles W. Kidd were married. Both worked together at the Ben-Hur race. Miss Leyh sold the tickets and Mr. Kidd was the electrician. Mr. Kidd makes his home in Norfolk and in summer works at the park.

I., will give concert daily and become the chief attraction. The Shubert Garden will close its dramatic season with the current week's bill, but will put on vaudeville and motion pictures for the remaining days of the summer season. The early closing is caused mostly by the players having to depart for their winter engagements, and it being not the desire of the managers to put in inferior attractions. This week's amusements are still plentiful, inasmuch as with the closing of these garden theatres we have the opening of the downtown theatres, and in two weeks more all will be asking for business as usual.

CINCINNATI, O.

The Cincinnati park season is nearing the end, but the various amusement resorts continue to draw as well as at any time during the season.

Coney Island's Harvest Home and Silver Jubilee are on in full blast, and for the first time in several years the boats have been forced to make extra trips to handle the crowds. The hippodrome races on the quarter-mile track are a big hit, and the Midway, with the Oriental and Lion Shows, and the fat man and Philipino Midgets, is doing a big business. The Mardi Gras and Masked Carnival on the 24th, the first ever held in Cincinnati, was a big success. Elaborate Mardi Gras decorations and special electric lights added to the event. Prizes were given for the most comic costumes. Taken in all, Coney's 1911 season has been the most successful in years.

The recent fire at Chester Park would be classed as a rather high-priced attraction, but it has been the cause of some great crowds at this resort the past week. Col. Martin has had all the debris cleared away, and things are running as smooth as though a fire were never heard of. Coburn's Minstrels will take the place of vaudeville in the opera house, starting August 27, and continuing until the close of the park, September 4.

A number of outings have kept things humming at the Lagoon, while at the Zoo the Hawathin Indian Players are attracting large crowds.

This is the first two weeks' engagement at the Grand since the memorable initial engagement of Ben-Hur.

Mr. Lehman said this was one of his longest vacations and he enjoyed himself immensely and now feels ready to take up the strenuous duties of managing the Orpheum. Everything is now all in readiness at the Merchants and Manufacturers' Fair which is to be the week of September 4, at Carnival Park, Kansas City, Kan. Merchants and manufacturers of both cities have taken an interest in this fair and everything promises success. Will Firstenberg is general manager of this fair, which is the second annual, and he has been most energetic in pushing everything through to a success. It is expected that the attendance this season will far exceed that of last year.

The Shuberts donated the free use of the house, and the work of the players, stagehands, orchestra and house staff was freely donated.

The regular vaudeville season at the Miles Theatre opened Monday matinee, August 28, with Pantages bookings. The season has already been on for some time at the Dewey, Gayety and Orpheum, and the Unique Theatre has never closed its doors.

The opening at the Bijou Opera House is Sunday afternoon, September 3, with In Old Kentucky. Wonderland Park and Longfellow Gardens are running full blast and will continue to remain open until cold weather sets in.

Joe Schaeffer will not return to the Dewey Theatre, where he was for so long employed as advertising agent, this season. Instead he will remain with the Unique Theatre, where he is engaged in a like capacity. He will be joined at this theatre later by Eddie Clark, who has been associated with the Unique for many years.

SAN FRANCISCO, CAL.

The New Cort Theatre will positively open Saturday night, September 2. John Cort is here, arrived August 17, and is personally rushing the completion of the building, so it is definitely assured that the contractors will turn over the playhouse to the manager in due time. The premiere will be Margaret Mayo's comedy, Bishy Mine, by William Brady's company. This new house will be equal to any theatre in the country for beauty and comfort. The facade and interior are massive and tasteful, and the interior scheme of decoration will be most distinctive. Mr. Cort announced that in the future he will make the New Cort Theatre his Western headquarters. Mr. Homer Currau will be resident manager.

The annual California State Fair takes place at Sacramento, August 26 to September 2, in

For several weeks the Bert Levey Circuit was playing six acts coming direct from Shedd's Vaudeville Exchange, New York, but the last few weeks none have come here. Colonel Case, well known as a fancy sharp-shooter both in vaudeville and Wild West shows, is now recovering from a broken arm, caused by being run over by an automobile. The Colonel, however, takes the matter as an unavoidable accident, and is singing the praises of the automobile owner, who immediately picked up the injured man and removed him to a private hospital, paying all expenses and in addition presenting Case with a check for $1,000, and also sent him to his ranch with instructions to remain as long as he desired, for life, if necessary. Several lawyers were continually after Case to bring a big damage suit, but Case would not consider it, as he felt the automobile owner treated him white.

The Girl in the Taxi is on for a two weeks' run at the Columbia. The local papers "roasted" the show, the cast and the entire outfit, which did not do the box-office any good. It was not more than six months ago that this show did a very big business at the same house. Came too soon to repeat.

The Portola Theatre, with its splendid location on Market Street, where everybody must pass, is doing an overflowing business during the Eagles' Convention.

RUBE COHEN.

NASHVILLE, TENN.

The open-air concerts which were given by the First Regiment Band on Sunday evening, August 20, at Centennial Park, proved to be very entertaining and drew large crowds of Nashville music lovers. The directors of the Tennessee State Fair have closed contracts with this band to render daily concerts all during fair week.

While in Biloxi on a vacation trip I was entertained by S. T. Steinhens, manager of the Pleasure Palace, and the Alrdome. Manager Steinhens has two of the prettiest picture theatres in Biloxi, and is doing a good business. Another of his theatres is the Bijou, picture house. During the summer this house is closed, but will open for the winter season.

W. R. ARNOLD.

SEATTLE, WASH.

The New Metropolitan Theatre will be completed and probably opened September 18. It is undecided what company Klaw & Erlanger will send out from New York to this beautiful theatre, but it will probably be The Spring Maid, with Miss Hays, the Hungarian songbird. Whatever the production may be, it will be a distinguished company. George McKenzie, representative of Klaw & Erlanger, has received advices from headquarters that Messrs. Klaw and Erlanger will be in Seattle for the opening night, and that they will have as their guests Henry B. Harris, Charles B. Dillingham, Joseph M. Gaites, Al. Hayman, Pat Casey and Jake Gottlieb.

Gilbert Barry, for several years manager of the Grand Opera House, will be the manager of John Cort's new theatre at Ogden, Utah, which is just being completed at a cost of $80,000. Mr. Barry has been in Mr. Cort's employ for many years. He was with him at the time Mr. Cort built the Grand Opera House, which was the keytone to his later success, being one of his oldest and most trusted employees.

By the terms of an agreement reached between John Cort and Ed. Drew, the control of the Seattle Theatre passes from the former to the latter. The Third Avenue playhouse, for the last year the home of a stock company, will for the next two years present a line of dollar attractions, which will include, beginning September 3, The Flower of the Ranch, The House Next Door, The Red Mill, The Traveling Salesman, In Old Kentucky, The Third Degree, Billy Clifford, Max Dill, Checkers, The Three Twins, George Sidney, Rose Melville and Polly of the Circus.

According to the Portland Oregonian, Alexander Pantages has refused an offer of five million dollars for his chain of theatres. Those making the offer had gone into the business very thoroughly, and estimated that his real estate, less, etc., were worth $1,000,000, and added a bonus of $1,000,000 for good will. Mr. Pantages refused the offer and it is announced that he will at once spend $2,000,000 in new theatres. Inasmuch as he is at present building on Market Street in San Francisco, and in one of the most desirable parts of Portland—both theatres being Class-A steel buildings—this seems to be a conservative estimate.

The Williams Stock Company opened at the Princess Theatre in Victoria, B. C., August 6, with Friends as the bill. Flokie Mullaly and Arthur Cyril head the company. Margaret Doyle, Mr. Van Dyke, Byron Lovick and Dave Williams are in the supporting company.

Within a week of the marriage of his divorced wife, George L. Baker, general manager of the Baker Amusement Company and owner of the Baker and Bungalow Theatres in Portland, was married at Medford, Ore., to Mrs. Clara Skeel Galloway, widow of R. W. Galloway of Portland, Ore.

Theatrical openings are in order for the fall season. Lyceum opened its doors Sunday matinee, with Graustark, an old favorite attraction of the past season.

Manager Moore still retains the management. Hap Hook, formerly assistant treasurer of the house, has been promoted to treasurer.

Bob Lathan does the same stunt in tearing off the coupons at the door, and the old familiar yell "Carload is up!"

The Empire will continue shop, opening Sunday, August 20, with Joe Hurtig's Bowery Burlesquers. Harry Winters will handle all the affairs for the firm and the box-office will still have Charlie Schaffer's smiling face to say, "How many?"

Ted Nicholas, an old-time publicity man, will handle that end of the house. Robert Rippos, who handled the advertising in past years, has left to take the same capacity with the Gayety Theatre at Kansas City, Mo., which is on the same burlesque wheel.

The American will open on or about September 3, with melodrama. It is reported that Charlie Wilbur, formerly with the Academy at Buffalo, will be the manager.

It is reported that the Valentine Theatre will have a new manager for the coming year. Harry Ketchum, formerly with the Valentine Theatre at Springfield, O., is spoken of. A change in the box-office force is also on the list, but no one as yet engaged.

The new scale for the stage hands went into effect in this city last week. Now the boys behind the scenes get extra pay for Sunday Shows.

Manager Bronson was in the city and is now busy in the starting out for his opening date. China Chop Sney Mullin of the Wayne, is married. Won the girl on drinking Coca-Cola for six months.

Had a chat with Manager Tom Henry at the Gayety, in Toronto, last week. He had just come in from the East. Very busy for his opening of August 12. Tom seems to be a fixture with the firm at that city and is very popular. Has some theatre.

Roy Bell, treasurer of the Cort Theatre, Chicago, was home for the week. His theatre opens again for the coming year on August 17.

Bob Leroy, one of the old-time agents and a great pilot for theatricals, was in the city in advance of Billy Single Clifford attraction that is billed for the Lyceum, August 20-23. Bob claims that his attraction is in for one big season. Openings at Dayton and Columbus were self-onts.

Charlie Worthington, a well-known performer, and in fact, handy in all branches of theatricals, was home for a few days last week. Charlie is out of the show business and now general representative for the Curtiss aeroplanes. He is here trying to get a suitable date for a meeting for some flights.

Billing is out for the opening in September for Keith's vaudeville house. There will be some hot contests on in the vaudeville lines this season. Arcade has had ten-cent vaudeville for past years, and now the new house has advertised their prices with 1,000 ten-cent seats.

The new Bralley's Theatre is fastly rounding into shape, and will soon have its flashing touches for its fall opening.

Otto Kileves, for years manager of the Valentine Theatre and Casino-Farm, and who in the past two years headed the Auditorium Theatre of the Shuberts' theatre, has left the field and is now connected with Mort Singer's attractions in the capacity of manager of Heart Breakers, which Western tour opens Monday, August 21.

Another management change has taken place in theatricals in this city. Tom H. Tierney, who has been with Stair & Havlin in this city for the past eight years at the Lyceum, and past year as manager of the American, has resigned, and his place will be taken by Edward Wilbur, who hails from the Academy Theatre of Buffalo.

JACK TIERNEY.

OMAHA, NEB.

When the Shuberts take over the Boyd Theatre this fall, there will be warm competition between the rival theatrical factions, Klaw & Erlanger, who book the Brandels, and the Shuberts. It is rumored that both factions will give Omaha their best attractions, and it then remains to be seen whether a city of this size can support two first-class theatres at the high prices of admission. The Brandels will open the last of August and the management announces the best booking that this city has seen in many years. The Shuberts also promise good bookings for the Boyd. It is not likely, however, that their house will open before September 15.

The Gayety will continue to book the Columbia Amusement Company (Eastern Wheel) burlesque attractions and will open on August 27, with The College Girls. All the shows this season will remain for a full week, instead of omitting Saturday night as was done last season. The shows will come from St. Paul, where as last season they came from Kansas City. Manager Johnson has received the entire season's bookings for thirty-eight weeks and is well pleased with the shows that will appear at his house.

During the past season at the Gayety, 71,647 ladies attended the week day ten-cent matinees. This does not include the ladies who attended the night, Sunday and holiday performances. This house is becoming more popular every season with the ladies, and it is the high-class burlesque shows which appear there that draws them.

Manager Franke of the Krug, has returned from Kansas City, where he has been spending his vacation. He is having his house renovated and putting in new carpets. Everything will be in readiness for the opening on August 27. Western Wheel burlesque will continue at this house, and all shows will remain a week instead of four days, as during the past season.

The Musicians' picnic at Courtland Beach on August 10, proved a big success, and the excellent music pleased the large crowds.

Manawa continues to be a popular resort for Omaha people, and hussoes is very good at this beautiful lake resort. The new dance hall erected this season is doing a nice business.

The writer was a guest of the Campbell Bros. Shows for three days. In Nebraska, where the show has put in five weeks' time, and while business has not been what it was in former years, in this territory, it was quite satisfactory considering the condition of the country and what other tented shows are doing this season.

The show is about the same size as in the past, and the performance on an average of shows of its size, while the managerie makes a very creditable showing. The Campbell Brothers have nine performing elephants that would be a credit to any show. The stock looks fine and palaters are with the show, going over all the wagons and dens, which will greatly improve their appearance on parade. My visit with Fred Hatfield, Ed. Campbell and others connected with the show, was a very delightful one, and every courtesy was shown me by the Campbell Brothers.

Among the "big men" who will speak at the exposition are: President Taft, W. J. Bryan, Gov. Harmon, Gov. Wilson, Champ Clark and Uncle Joe Cannon.

Fred Martin, who has been manager of the Bijou since it opened, has resigned and will devote all of his time to the Gay Theatre, the new vaudeville house. Corbin Shields, who has been with the Wells people for several years, succeeds Mr. Martin. Mr. Shields comes here from Lynchburg, Va. Mr. Martin is believed to be one of the youngest managers in the country, being now in his twenty-fifth year, having started on his theatrical career ten years ago as program boy at Stanb's Theatre, being promoted to treasurer and assistant manager, which places he held until he went to the Bijou two years ago. The Gay opened August 28 with a strong bill with five acts, including pictures. Four shows will be offered daily.

Open air vaudeville at Chilhowee Park is drawing well. Cronchs Band being a strong card.

GUY SMITHSON.

DENVER, COLO.

J. Rush Bronson, manager of the Empress Theatre, resigned last week to go into business here. He is succeeded by Bert Pittman, who is well known in Denver as former manager of the Novelty Theatre here.

The season at the White City has been fairly profitable this year, and Manager Burt has worked hard to give the public a good line of attractions. The season closes Labor Day week.

The Elitch Gardens will close Labor Day. The past season has been a profitable one. Manager Long has spent a lot of money in giving Denver a good stock company and the best of plays.

The Broadway opened its 1911-12 season Sunday, August 27, with The Spring Maid as the attraction. The attendance on opening night was very good.

M. M. Koser, 521 West 11th Avenue, and W. G. White, 705 Lincoln Street, Denver, have jointly built a headless biplane that is believed to be far in advance of other air machines. The new Koser-White biplane was taken east of Park Hill August 19, and with George Renel, the French motorcycle rider, as the aviator, was given its first extended trial. The new biplane rose like a bird and under perfect control executed a straight-away flight, a turn and came back with the speed of an express train. The machine made another successful flight Sunday and Monday.

Buffalo Bill was in Denver last week and gave two shows at Union Park. Colonel Cody comes to Denver so often that we feel he is a Denver citizen. Says he will retire to private life and divide his time between Denver and his ranch at Cody, Wyo. A great many people were disappointed at not seeing a street parade, but Colonel Cody decided at the first of the season that the parade were too trying on the employees, as well as upon himself, and that feature would be eliminated this year.

JULIAN HELBER.

VANCOUVER, B. C.

Monday, August 28, will be a red-letter day in Vancouver as far as theatricals are concerned, for on that day the theatrical season of 1911-12 will be inaugurated. Miss Nobody From Starland will start things at the Vancouver Opera House, while the Avonue Theatre will reopen on the same date with George B. Howard and Company. In the Gentlemen From Mississippi. At the Empress Theatre the Walter Sanford Players will inaugurate their regular season. This theatre has not closed its doors since it opened some three and a half years ago. Then the Vancouver Exhibition will also commence on the above date.

John Phillip Sousa and his famous band will arrive here from Australia early next month. The band will make the initial appearance of its American tour at the Vancouver Opera House, September 18.

Andrew Mack's engagement comes to an end at the Empress, August 28. For his last week he will present Arrah-Na-Pough and Tom Moore. Hundreds have been turned away nightly during Mack's engagement and he is offering the above plays by special request for his farewell week.

The musical season which opens here shortly promises to be the best in the history of the city. Several of the world's famous artists will appear. Among the early attractions in this line are Jan Kubelik and Kathleen Parlow.

Alf. Goulding and Jack Pollari, formerly of the famous Pollard Lilliputian Opera Company, have been engaged to support Max Dill in The Rich Mrs. Hoggendelmer. Messrs. Goulding and Pollard when not working, make their home in this city.

Joe Boncor, a local boy, made his reappearance in this city with the Lewis and Lake Company at the Grand Theatre last week, and is meeting with big success.

J. M. McLEAN.

A. H. Woods has added another big feature to the Marguerita Sylva Opera Company by engaging the Royal Blue Hungarian Gypsy Band from Buda Pesth, which will be heard in the garden scene in the second act of the new Franz Lehar comic opera, Gypsy Love. The band is under the leadership of Karl Kapossy, and was secured at the instigation of the famous Vienna composer. Kapossy and Lehar are great friends and were together in the same regiment in the Austrian army. Lehar was the bandmaster and Kapossy the cornetist in the Kaiser Voo Joseph Infantry. The Hungarian leader and his players were the favorites of Prince Louis of Battenburg, the father-in-law of the Spanish king, and they were always sent for to play on state occasions. The Kapossy band is the only real Gypsy band ever seen in this country. A. H. Woods will make the Sylva production the most notable in his career as a theatrical manager. The actual running expenses of the enterprise will be close to $10,000 a week. This makes it the most expensive American production ever launched outside of grand opera.

Miss Lillian Russell has under consideration the book of The Love Syndicate, a musical comedy by Fred De Gresac and Harry B. Smith, and if she finds the part outlined for her suitable, she has agreed to sign a contract with Joe M. Gaites, who will star her in the piece next season.

Additional Big City Letters will be found on page 60.

WORLD OF LITTLE WHEELS

J. T. Fitzgerald Contributes an Excellent Forecast of the Coming Season as Affecting the Business and Profession of Ice and Roller Skating

PROSPECTS OF ROLLER SKATING IN THE FUTURE.

Revival of roller skating. The same old story is on the lips of managers, professional skaters and those mostly interested in the welfare of roller skating for the past four years. Each time it is some one giving his views on how the roller game is going to pan out, and the difference of opinions in many cases are quite a contrast. Still the game on little wheels goes on just the same as though it were one of our regular business enterprises. And so it will be for those who are conducting their skating rinks in the manner like some that I have visited the past year. In these rinks there is no such thing as how long they are going to last, but the thought of the manager who is conducting a well-governed rink is what he can give his patrons in the way of masquerades, flower carnivals, popular birthday parties, May pole dance, fancy and graceful skating contests and numerous other souvenir nights to best please them. It is very true that there are rinks throughout the country that have closed their doors, they say, for lack of business. In fact, that is the story that is circulated, but in many cases it is not the truth. I have been told by the help employed in some of these rinks that if the rink had been properly managed and the manager would have spent a little money in trying to please his patrons, that the rink would be still running. Still it is natural that in some of the small places where rinks are conducted on a small scale, that if there is not enough life kept into the game it will die out sooner than in the larger cities, and in most instances it is the small rinks that are not successful. In other cases where the rinks are closed for the summer months, the skaters are very eager for the fall and winter opening, and in these places business has been good ever since the opening of the rink in that locality. So I find that the pessimistic opinion is held only by managers who mismanage

If rink managers were to get into closer touch with one another, organize associations and enter into correspondence with each other, the skating game should live as long as any other sport. If the rink business in your town is on the wane, book attractions. You will find it a great help. Run local affairs now and then, put on a good race or a novelty event, give your patrons something to come again for, and they will keep your rink open. Reports are being circulated about the opening of new rinks in new localities, and in such places business has been very good. Many of the popular rinks in the large cities have booked attractions many months ahead, which goes to show that the roller skating game has not yet reached its Waterloo. The Western Skating Association has been a great help to the skating game, and its officers are always ready to lend a helping hand whenever it is called upon to do so. I would like at all times to hear from managers of rinks and skaters throughout the country, and may be able to answer many questions in doubt and render valuable assistance in many cases.

BECKER TAKES HONORS AWAY FROM MARTIN OF CALIFORNIA

In one of the Garrison finishes, Henry Becker, Chicago's champion professional skater, the smallest skater in the professional game, defeated Fred Martin, champion of California, who had been cleaning up the Chicago skaters during Becker's absence from competition. In both the one mile heat and final of the two-mile race by two feet at Riverview Rink, Sunday night, August 6. Becker got off to a good start, and stayed behind until the last three laps, when he sprinted to the front, closely followed by Martin, with Ed Schwartz in third position. The last lap in the final shows that Becker is still possessed of his old-time speed, by the way he sprinted around the last turn and won the final in a grand finish. The time for the race was 5:20.

LEO GLASBRENNER ONE OF CHICAGO'S LATEST PROMISING ROLLER SKATERS.

Leo Glasbrenner, who came into prominence by winning the second street roller Marathon, April 23 of this year, in the fast time of 32:58 4-5 for the ten miles, has not yet reached his seventeenth year. Leo, who has only been skating the past two years, has skated some creditable races. He won the Harmon Cup series from a field of fourteen of Chicago's fastest amateurs at Riverview Rink in the early part of the summer and finished in the list of prizes in many other races before he retired for the summer. He is good on either a flat or banked track, and when the fall season sets in he is going to try and set a few new records. He has plenty of endurance, is one of those youngsters full of determination and plenty of nerve to back up his speed, and we hope to hear more about him later on.

CARNIVAL NEWS

Budget of Notes from Several of the Larger and More Important Carnival Companies and Individual Items of Gossip About People and Attractions in the Field

PATTERSON SHOW NOTES.

Jackson, Mo., during the week of August 7, and Houma, Mo., during the week of August 11, both gave the Patterson Shows a large amount of business. At both places the crowd increased up to the last day of the week. The weather during these two weeks was the hottest that has ever been recorded in the state for that length of time.

The Patterson Traveling Animal Show is packing them in at every performance. J. Wm. Coghlan is talking on the front of the show and twelve big acts on the inside make a performance that always pleases.

The Annex (Seven-in-One), under the management of J. J. Bejano and with Arthur M. (Doc) Graham as lecturer, is drawing large business. The features are: Mme. Devere, the bearded lady; Happy Mamie Seltz, the fat girl, and Marvin, the ossified boy.

John H. Johnson's "Nomin" show continues to be as strong a draw as ever. Large business is the rule at all times and has been during the entire season. Dolly Lyova is handling the front of the show and there are 25 people on the stage.

M. R. Coste joined at Laurium, Mich., with his International Vaudeville Show and has been having a most successful run.

Backman's Glass Blowers, under the management of Will Z. Smith, are working seven days and business is uniformly good at all times.

Brainerd's Snakoidat Show and Bejano's Tiny Mite Show are two pit shows that are probably getting more money than has ever been taken in with attractions of this kind. The former is under the management of Bud Boyer and the latter is managed by Valley Durham.

The Girl in the Moon, managed by George Hawk and the Squeezers, handled by J. Preston Everett and Will Harris, two grind shows, are getting good money at all stands.

The Diving Girls, an attraction new to the carnival field, joined at Taylorville, and is making a decided hit. It is owned and managed by David C. Whitaker.

George C. Davis joined at Jackson, Mo., with his minstrel company of twenty people. The show is getting big money. Mr. Davis has his own private car.

J. H. Johnson also has his Penny Arcade with the Patterson Shows.

Brainerd and Bissler's Ferris Wheel, under the management of Steve Engham, assisted by W. R. Patterson, is as popular as ever.

The Patterson Steeplechase, the largest riding device that has ever been carried by a carnival company, is still doing the same large business that it always has done. John E. Manning has the management and C. N. Kiasler is checker.

Several new shows will join during the next two weeks and before the Lincoln, Neb., State Fair.

The feature free acts with the Patterson Shows are: Hayea and Beatrice Wernitz, in their double trapeze act, and the performing elephant, Modoc, handled by Trainer Sacastan.

Coghlan and Johnson have five concessions with the show and report good business with all of them. Among the other concession people with the show are: Nagayama, with his vase wheels; Dick Mitchell, C. L. Nogle, Ben (Spot) Schuberl, Maud Jameson, A. B. Eastman, A. T. Brainerd, Mrs. J. P. (Slim) Suttle, Charles Sharp, who has the dining car and also the big cook house, and W. A. Edmonds.

Fraace Dixie, who handles the lion act in the trained animal show, lost her pet baby lion during the Chicago Heights engagement a few weeks ago, the beast choking to death. It was a treasured pet and the loss was keenly felt by the owner.

PARKER SHOW NOTES.

The Parker Shows, Eastern Company, Ned Stoughton, manager, the past two months have been playing Illinois and Iowa. Business while no record-breaker has been good. Everybody getting a piece of money. Davenport was a big surprise, made one think of old times. Was located on the streets and they just naturally spent their money, and didn't seem to care where they spent it. Last week, Dixon, Ill., with the exception of two rainy nights, was far above the average. Under the auspices of the State Militia. There two thousand soldiers and certain numbers were granted leave of absence each night. We were located along the banks of Rock River, a beautiful and picturesque stream that abounded with fish, and the company, especially the lady members, certainly had a time landing hulk-heads, yellow bellies and channel cats. Manager Stoughton made several fishing trips up the river. Mrs. Spike Wagner entertained a company of friends with a moonlight party, giving a chicken fry and the usual equipment that goes with it.

Billy Dyer has the animal show, consisting of a troupe of six lions, handled by Ernest Lalloue (Mrs. Dyer), a troupe of leopards and panthers by Captain Dyer, a bear act by Prof. Snyder, who also handles the educated dog and ponies, featuring Queen Dixie. A new group of bears are expected from headquarters next week.

H. F. Polson, managing Edwards' two pit shows claims that this is the best season the show has ever had. His big snakes, Long Tom and Satan, both being good feeders, have been a great help to the box-office. At Dixon both of these feeding during the same week caused quite an excitement, big Safas devouring a big weighing almost fifty pounds.

John J. Stock, with his Four-in-One, Equine and Bovine collection of oddities has just purchased a pair of boxing kangaroos, which will add greatly to his already strong exhibition.

Pharaoh's Daughter, under the management of Jack Pollock, is as usual, laying away a new bank-roll. There has been an extraordinary large number of visiting professional friends this week. Hatch's Water Carnival is playing at Rock Falls, twelve miles from Dixon, and the members of the companies have been exchanging visits.

Several members of the show took advantage of the short jump to Chicago and attended the aviation meet at that city. E. O. Talbert, general agent of the Parker Shows, spent the week with the company, and predicts a clean-up for the last part of the season.

GREAT EMPIRE SHOW NOTES.

The Great Empire Shows have just finished a very successful tour of fifteen weeks in Pennsylvania, and are now in its second week in Ohio. Last week at Wellsville, under the auspices of the Firemen, doing a great business; this week at Uhrichsville, with the weather as an opposition. The shows and concessions have no complaint.

The company has added another show to its long string of feature shows, a one-ring circus, one of the largest traveling with any carnival company. The line-up of the circus is: Doc Hastings, manager and producing clown, with the following assistants: Ed. Wilson, Fred Bonle, Ed. Melchor, Kirke Adams, equestrian director; Prof. Garvic with his performing Ponies and Dogs; Ling Ho Foo, Japanese juggler; Wilson, contortionist; The Three Adams, revolving breakaway ladder and knife throwers; Martin and Martin, comedy bar performers; and the feature act of Madame Bonle, the queen of the air. Other paid attractions carried by this company are as follows: Tom Hasson's Streets of Cairo, with Doc Sloman in charge of the front; S. J. Oliver, with his troupe of wrestling girls, headed by Lottie Oliver, Doc Ennis, manager; George Eagle's Five-in-One; Smithy and Knight's Big Vaudeville Shows, of seven big acts; Electrica, the lady who defies electricity; Hampton's Crazy House; Jim Cary's Fun Factory, Katzenjammer's Kastle; Jerry Widow Swings; Doc Swimmer's Working World; Clyde Gierth's Plantation Show, with seventeen people, including ten muscians; Copple's Ferris Wheel; Beard's Jumping Horse Carry-all; Hampton's Human Rolette; Wheel, twenty-six concessions and Michaels Paduano's Famous Italian Band of sixteen pieces, featuring Miss Olive Walters, the girl who sings to beat the band. While the show was playing New Castle, Pa., Mr. Hampton purchased a 60-foot sleeping car, and had it delivered to his long string of cars, fourteen in number, at Wellsville, O.

CARNIVAL NOTES.

The first complete blowdown in the history of Mier's Olympic Shows occurred August 21, at Marshfield, Mo. With two exceptions the canvas of all the big shows was pretty near torn to pieces. The Five-in-One, Jungle Show, was the worst sufferer; about $150 worth of small animals were drowned, in addition to the damage done to the tent and banner. The storm started early Monday morning with plenty of rain, but all shows were ready to open for the evening performance, but did not do so on account of the rain continuing. The wind was not so bad until about 10 P. M., when the tents started to go down. The shows were lucky enough to have several extra tops on hand, so will not be compelled to cancel any engagements. New tops have already been ordered for all shows. It is still raining and the outlook for the week looks very poor, although the town is a good one.

The Krane Greater Shows enjoyed the best work of the season, at Monongahela City, Pa., at the Firemen's Convention week of Aug. 7. Monday night a county official stopped some of the concessions, so Manager Krane closed the entire show down until the matter could be adjusted, which was done in a very quick order. Shows and concessions then opened and were not bothered in any way for the balance of the week. The shows all did capacity business. The best of satisfaction was given by the free acts which were Coleman's balloon ascension and Elma Meler, la her trick and high-diving act.

The Business Men's Association and the local lodge of Elks of Shelbyville, Ill., are preparing for a big fall festival and home-coming. Over $2,000 will be spent for decorating, attractions and prizes, and during the last three days of the home-coming $1,000 in gold will be given away on a plan that will allow every person trading in Shelbyville an equal opportunity to secure one of the prizes. All the shows will be on the streets, which are 60 feet wide, and paved.

The Famous Winslow Shows have contracted to furnish all the shows for the fifty-fifth annual Richland County Fair, Sept. 5-8, at Olney, Ill. A strong line of free attractions have also been booked, including aeroplane flights. The fair will run day and night, and with good weather the Winslows look for the best week of the season.

The engagement at Rieker, W. Va., was one of the banner weeks with the Adams Amusement Co. A supper was given by Manager O. L. Adams at the Hull Hotel, Aug. 15 in honor of Prof. S. Battiatos, of the Royal Italian Band. It was one good time.

Adams & Stahl United Shows report best of weather and playing to good business. Another show has been added to the company. The Lagarta Family, in vaudeville. The management is well pleased with this show and they are drawing big crowds. Everybody well and smiling.

C. G. Dodson, manager of Dodson's Lady Minstrel, is some lucky person. Manager Dodson was the winner of a five-passenger automobile offered in a watermelon seed guessing contest at the Lawrenceburg (Ind.) Fair. His guess was 912, while the melon contained 915.

CORN CARNIVAL.

Austin, Tex., Aug. 26 (Special to The Billboard).—Extensive arrangements are being made for the Austin (Tex.) Corn Carnival and Country Fair, beginning October 9, and lasting one week, including Sunday. The corn palace will be in charge of J. C. Randolph, president of the National Corn Growers' Association, and this alone is a guarantee of the success of the enterprise. The amusements will be in charge of James L. Glass and F. Gail Wallace, with E. H. Vance as secretary of the company.

Among the attractions will be the Corn Palace, Trades Display, Threering Circus, Poultry Show, Baby Show, Balloon Ascensions, Electric Theatre, Oriental Show, Plantation Show, Variety Theatre, Darkness and Dawn, Creation Show, Shepp's Dog and Pony Circus, Holmes' Dancing Girls, and twenty other standard attractions.

Dates will also be played in Lockhart and Taylor, Texas.

CURTISS BIPLANE AT FAIR.

Worcester, Mass., Aug. 26 (Special to The Billboard).—Clayton and Craig of Boston, have signed a contract for a Curtiss biplane to make two flights each afternoon of the New England Fair here, Sept. 4 to 7.

AIR RACES AT DANVILLE, ILL.

Danville, Ill., Aug. 19 (Special to The Billboard).—A special committee has been appointed to arrange for aeroplane races as a feature of Danville's big "Home-Coming Week" and Fall Festival, to be held here Sept. 11 to 14, inclusive.

TO FLY AT W. VA., STATE FAIR.

Wheeling, W. Va., Aug. 19 (Special to The Billboard).—The Curtiss Company will furnish the aviators for the West Virginia State Fair at Wheeling, September 4-8.

The Free Street Fair and Home-Coming, to be held at Newcomerstown, O., October 2-8, promises to be the largest and best that has ever been held at that place. Three of the best free acts on the road have been secured. All shows and concessions will be placed on the streets. Crop conditions in the Tuscarawas Valley are good. Excursions are being arranged on the Pennsylvania Railroad.

FAIR NOTES.

The ninety-first annual fair of the Worcester Agricultural Society will be held at Greendale, Worcester, Mass., September 4 to 7, inclusive. The list of attractions this year are more numerous than ever before. Elaborate plans have been made in regard to the vaudeville show, which will be offered every afternoon and evening. It has been announced that both the biplane and monoplane inter-state aeroplane races of the Harvard-Boston aviation meet, will be held September 4. Instead of separately on September 2 and 3, as first intended. This change will enable the fair management to show Worcester both the biplane and the regular fair attractions on the opening day. A fine list of racing events are on the program, as well as a number of other sporting events. The boardwalk concessions have all been taken. This year is expected to be the banner one in the history of the Worcester Agricultural Society.

The premium list for the Thumb District Fair, which will be held at Port Huron, Mich., September 12, 13 and 14, will be sent out within a few days. The list has been revised and premiums will be offered for many farm products which were not included in last year's list. This feature will be of interest to agriculturists in general. From the many inquiries received by Secretary John S. Wittfin, the indications are that the exhibits will be larger and more numerous than ever before. In addition to the fair exhibits there will be races every day, with the three-year-old trotting futurity as a special feature.

In point of attendance, attractions, exhibits and racing, the fair of the Boone County Agricultural Society at Lebanon, Ind., August 8 to 12, inclusive, was the greatest ever. The total attendance was over 50,000. There were a large number of concessions, and all reported that they made money. The Mazepa Carnival Company furnished all the attractions. The free acts were: The Sherwoods, The Warwicks, and The Six Flying Moores. It is the intention of the society to spend a large sum for free acts next season, as Secretary Len Titus states they are great crowd-getters.

The Nemaha County Fair Association will hold a three days' fair and festival, October 11, 12 and 13, at Seneca, Kan. The directors are trying to make this the largest county fair in northeast Kansas, and want the concessioners to come and help them entertain. The Manhattan Agricultural College is to occupy a wall space of 100 feet. The exhibits and premiums will be better and larger than ever before, which means additional interest from the surrounding territory.

Secretary B. H. Alexander of the Bushnell, (Ill.) Fair Association, reports their 1911 event, held August 8 to 11, inclusive, to have been very successful. Despite a windstorm on the second day, and rain on the third day, the total attendance was over 22,000. All the concessions did a good business. Among the attractions were Big Steer, Russian Wonder, Snake Show, Big Mule, Vandeville Show and Curtiss Aeroplane, with Crissie Trio as a free act.

L. B. Walker's Fairground Shows open at Worcester, Mass., Labor Day. Among the shows are: Superbe, the show, beautiful, Beautiful Orient, Walker's Diving Girls Show, etc. Mr. Van Andeen, the well known orator, will be with him. The Shows play all the big Eastern fairs, including Worcester, Rochester, Brockton, A Southern trip will also be made.

The first real carnival in Livonia, N. Y., was held August 7-12. Livonia is a thriving small country town in agricultural and milk producing territory, and thickly settled. The fair will continue yearly. First-class attractions only were used. Next year's dates will fall on the second week in August.

Patrick Conway's Band of 60 musicians will be a feature of the Minnesota Fair at Minneapolis, September 4-9. The fair opens September 4, but the band will give a Sunday concert on the 3rd, and will play every afternoon and evening at the State Fair grounds the balance of the week.

The Huntington Agricultural Society, Division A, Huntington, Quebec, Canada, will be held September 7 and 8. The fair will have a splendid exhibit of poultry, vegetables, fruit, industrial and decorative art. Excellent music and taking sports will be in evidence.

The speed program will be one of the big features of the Jefferson County Fair at Brookville, Pa., September 12, 13, 14 and 15. About $4,000 will be offered in stakes and prizes, and National Trotting Association rules will govern all races. Entries close September 8.

M. Fields, one of the cleverest white stone men in the business, is covering the Indiana fairs this season with a crew of six men, selling his famous Arizona crystals.

President Taft has accepted an invitation to attend the State Fair at Charter Oak Park, Hartford, Conn., September 4 to 9.

Wolden, (N. Y.) Farmers' Old-Home Week, Fair and Carnival will be held there September 12, 13 and 14.

NO AGREEMENT

Circus Men Deny that Any Adjustment of the Associated Billposters' Circus Committee's Demands for Tickets Has Been Effected—Other Circus News

NO BILLPOSTING AGREEMENT.

There appears to be no foundation in truth for the report published in the last edition of the official organ of the Associated Billposters to the effect that the circus men and the billposters' association had reached an understanding with regard to the issuance of tickets to billposters and that all differences had been patched up at the Asbury Park Convention in July.

If such an agreement had been reached, the Billposting Committee for the Showmen's Association would know something about it, but no member of that committee has had the slightest intimation of an adjustment.

Furthermore neither the terms of the agreement nor the names of the circus men participating in it have been promulgated as has heretofore always been the custom when such agreements were effected.

No doubt the wish of the Associated Billposters has constituted itself father to the thought as disseminated by their official organ.

So far, however, Herbert Duce seems to be the goat.

COL. JAS. T. INKES DEAD.

Colonel James T. Inkes, who died at his home in Cheltenham, Pa., August 2, was born about 1843 in Pittsburgh, in a locality called Hard-scrabble, near where the municipal buildings now stand. When James T. was a baby the family embarked on a flat boat and drifted down to what is now Covington, Ky. At that time this part of the country was wild. When only a lad he went to Richmond, Ind., to enlist in the army as a drummer boy. He was later made drum major and soon after was made second lieutenant of the 67th Indiana Regiment.

He and his brother, Wesley Inkes, were with the late P. T. Barnum for many years. Inkes' show career covered a period of over forty years. He was owner of several large museums in his time, one in St. Louis, Mo., and another in Brooklyn, N. Y. He was associated with Mr. Hutchinson, of the Barnum & Bailey Show and H. P. Harris, Stewart Craven, Geo. Bunnell, Add Nathans and a host of others. During the past ten years he has been a partner of Findley Braden, with the exception of one season when he was with H. Wilson of the Buffalo Bill Show.

As a man he was retiring and scrupulously honest, never descending to anything questionable. He was a gentleman of the old school and was an artist in glass manipulation. His body was laid to rest in Northwood Cemetery.

BOYD BURROWES SHOW BURNED

A car containing the entire tent outfit, scenery and property of Boyd Burrowes Show, all the performers' trunks, costumes and instruments and Ivy's troop of dogs, was destroyed by fire while in transit between Mason City and Litchfield, Neb., August 16. As it is not insurable the loss is heavy. Every effort will be made to replace the outfit and resume business at an early date.

TWO BILLS' ADVANCE NOTES.

During the past four weeks, while running through the Middle West, the men of advertising car No. 2, Buffalo Bill-Pawnee Bill Combined Exhibitions, have had opportunities to exchange social calls and courtesies with friends connected with tented organizations touring through that territory.

While the Barnum & Bailey Show was at Davenport, Iowa, on Sunday, July 23, Jim Drucker, Al Estelet and Lew Brownell of car No. 2, were royally entertained by the Hart Brothers, James Powers and the Everetts of the Barnum & Bailey Circus. They had dinner in the cook tent, were escorted through the various departments, and given every attention.

At the evening performance, the day following, Victor B. Cooke, manager of car No. 2, his brother, Vulcan Cooke, Peter S. McNally, press representative; Jack Beardon, boss billposter, and others, were the guests of Mr. Sam McCracken and Treasurer Charles Hutchinson and Auditor Fred De Wolfe.

Mr. Thomas Evans, for a great many years

ALBERT DAVENPORT,

with the Forepaugh-Sells Circus, and who is now with the Barnum & Bailey outfit, had a very pleasant meeting with Mr. McNally, who some years ago was press agent with that organization.

Peter S. McNally, press agent with the Buffalo Bill-Pawnee Bill Combined Exhibitions, was the guest of Mr. David Leahy, private secretary to Governor Stubbs of Kansas, on his recent visit to Topeka. Mr. McNally was escorted over the State Capital, was dined by Mr. Leahy and also by Editor Keeney of the State Journal.

In almost every city and town visited by advertising car No. 2 of the Two Bills' Shows, some swimming pool, natatorium or some public bathing beach has been found and everybody has taken the opportunity to indulge in a swim. Mr. McNally, the press agent, who has been for years the champion long-distance swimmer of the world, and who has an unexcelled record as a life-saver, has given the boys his personal attention and has developed several natatorial wonders. The boys have created a sensation everywhere they have appeared by their excellence in feats of natation.

Car No. 2 was attacked for a night at Newton, Kan., while en route to Hutchinson, and during the evening a number of the boys attended a moving picture show. While the show was in progress a film caught fire and the audience was seized with panic. There might have been serious results had it not been for the presence of mind of Victor B. Cooke, "Pud" Johnson, Lew Brownell, Earl Johnson and Ed. Decker, who, realizing the situation, jumped into the breach and by persuasive words and, even the exercise of physical force, compelled the audience to file out of the doors of the theatre in good order. As a consequence nobody was injured, yet there were many persons there who were late over the rough handling meted out to them by the boys of car No. 2.

Millard Walton, who is secretary to Victor B. Cooke, and who, by the way, is a nephew of Mr. W. D. Coxey, one of the leading publicity promoters of the country, is writing an interesting story of his first year's experience on the road, which he purposes publishing on his return to his home at Philadelphia this fall. Mr. Walton is a very bright young man, and very popular with his associates.

KEYSTONE SHOW NOTES.

The Great Keystone Shows are now in their 29th successive week touring South Carolina, Virginia, West Virginia and Maryland. We are playing to very large audiences, and while there are no turn-aways, a number of capacities have been recorded. The outfit has been enlarged in every department since the opening. We have been following another show for the past ten days, but can not see any decrease in our receipts.

The big show is featuring 14 acts, and has the natives talking at every stand. The side show, or wild animal department, is doing very well, and constantly adding new features.

A Milburn Lighting System has been installed and is making them all take notice.

Fourteen wagons, 30 head of draft stock and a troupe of ponies are carried.

Big show roster: Dock and Russell, managers; Bob Russell, treasurer; Sam Dock, front door; R. E. Robertson, adjuster; Prof. Geo. Blythe, handmaster; Howard Blythe, supt. of privileges; Geo. Ayers, supt. of canvas; Performers; Andy King, Ambrose Hockenberry, Geo. Gregory, Mr. and Mrs. Pete Thompson, The Miller Trio, Bob Russell and Sam Dock, trained ponies, dogs bears and monkeys. Side show; Bob Russell and R. E. Robertson, ticket sellers; Keller Iseminger, ticket taker; Prof. Deltino; Ambrose the South Sea Wounder; Mlle. Monzetta, Snake Enchantress; Electra, the Electric Lady; Lee's Royal Circus and Judy and Mlle. Fayette; Mind Reader, and four cages of wild animals.

MY CIRCUS GENEALOGY.

By TOM NORTH.

Had an interesting interview recently with G. F. Holland, the old-time circus man and bare-back rider, who informed me that my grand-father, Levi J. North, was the peer of all bare-back riders of the '50's and '60's; that Levi J. North was the first man to do a somersault on a horse and that he also did 100 somersaults on a vaulting board which record still holds good; that the Levi J. North Great National Amphitheatre and circus played to immense business in Chicago for six months during 1856; that the Amphitheatre was situated on Monroe Street in Chicago "in a very respectable and retired part of the city," and that the Majestic Theatre is now on that location. The Amphitheatre was to Chicago in those days what the Hippodrome is to New York City today.

Tony Pastor was a clown and Wm. Kennedy was a leaper. When in later years Tony Pastor opened his own theatre, Mr. Kennedy was his door man and remained in that capacity until Mr. Pastor's death.

Victoria North, my aunt, was Vesta Victoria's mother. My father, George L. North, was a six-year-old rider.

Last Wednesday the first advance car of the Hagenbeck-Wallace Shows was attached to the rear of a C. & E. I. train and on the same car was the private car "Wisconsin" owned by Mr. John Ringling. The two cars were connected with each other. This incident seemed to be too much for the Baraboo showman, for at Chaffee his elephant car jumped the track. Mr. Ringling was en route to Birmingham, Ala., and the Wallace advance car was going to Cape Girardeau, Mo.

The Yankee Robinson Show recently suffered a severe loss by the burning of one of its coaches. Another coach was rented from the railroad company and the show proceeded without any delay or serious inconvenience.

NEWARK I. A. B. P. & B. NOTES.

Newark, N. J., Local No. 18, I. A. B. P. and B. held their regular meeting Sunday, August 13, and had a large attendance. Several important matters were brought up and action taken on same. The local is in a good financial condition.

F. E. Jacobs of Local No. 18, will be business manager of Cherry Blossom Company the coming season.

Brother Barosa Nat Golden of Local No. 2, and Harry Marion of Local No. 7, are in Newark, booming Dave Marlow's Dreamlanders, and Tom Mauer is here with Royal Sam. Bro. Fred Finsdresu of this local, is running the center route for Jersey City Billposting Co.

Newark Billposting Co. is strictly a union shop, employing members of Local No. 18, and the following men are in charge of route: Center of city, A. J. Walters; helper, L. Davis; railroad, Gus Price; helper, P. Gaynor; hill, Gus Albright; helper, S. Gaynor; Orange route, James Corcoran; Elizabeth, Tom Cunningham; Perth Amboy, Mike Bergen; Plainfield, John Since mortal man did not dare attend, the writer can not give an accurate description of the pranks played by this bunch of Eveas as they frolicked in the woods and on the river bank near Old Vincennes. The jealous men are inclined to circulate certain stories that would indicate that the ladies took advantage of their opportunity to ape a day unusually close to nature and the water in the river with the exception of a few cases of pop, buttermilk, lemonade and something stronger for those who relished it. More than sixty members of the female contingent of the circus attended the outing and all reported a most delightful time, it probably being the first event of the kind in the history of circensdom. Mrs. Sadie Lichtell and Mrs. A. E. Bennett were guests of honor.

May God bless the Sardonyx Club and their friends.

CIRCUS GOSSIP.

It is a positive fact that at least one and possibly two animal circuses that are at present on the Pacific Coast, will winter at Zapp's to winter-quarters. It is currently reported that the Sells-Floto Show will close October 14 and it has been announced by the Ringling forces at Fayetteville, Ark., that that show will disband in that city on October 31, and ship direct from there to Baraboo.

The present administration of Little Rock, Ark., is of the progressive sort, not in the least hostile to amusement interests. The circus ordinance in that city has been practically prohibitive but the present administration headed by Mayor Charles E. Taylor, has secured most liberal reductions and consequently at least two of the big shows will exhibit in that city this season instead of being forced across the river to Argenta.

Lawrence P. Wall and his dancing kids, Loretta Newman and Jimmie Van, visited the Two Bills Show August 19, which was given on Col. W. F. Cody's ranch at his home town, North Platte, Neb. Buffalo Bill was given a royal welcome by the people of North Platte. The mayor presented him with a loving cup, which he said was a token of love from his life-long friends, comrades and admirers.

THE SARDONYX CLUB PICNIC.

Eight women with the Hagenbeck-Wallace Shows all born in the same month form a club and give a picnic "for women only."

Richardson; snipe routes, C. Berger and W. Freyer.

Al. Robinson and Phil Cohen have returned from 101 Ranch and Buffalo Bill Show.

John Fitzgerald has returned from Detroit, and is employed at Hillside Park.

M. J. CULLEN.

SARDONYX CLUB PICNIC.

The social side of circus life received a novel impetus with the Hagenbeck-Wallace Shows recently when the ladies of that enterprise conceived the idea of enjoying an exclusive "Hen party." Saturday night dances and "stag parties" have been frequent with that show but never before had the ladies insisted on the privilege of giving an exclusive affair.

There are eight ladies with the show who were born in the same month and they have organized a club called the Sardonyx Club, and only women who were born in that month can become members.

The following is a copy of the invitation issued to the sixty ladies and score of children with the show:

Dear Lady:

The Sardonyx (exclusive) Club

(With the Hagenbeck & Wallace Shows) consisting of

Adele Nelson, Juanita Cole, Maera Moore,

Blossie Sutton, Nellie Aurora,

Maude Hayward, Eula McGee and Nellie Brown cordially invite you to attend their first social outing and "Hen Party" to be held on Sunday, August 21st, 1911, at Vincennes, Indiana

Yours most truly,

The Committee

Ladies, a pleasant day you'll spend, As merry men dare not attend.

Park, Fresno, Cal. The climate at Fresno is the most desirable for animals during the winter months and Zapp's Park has room and permanent cages enough to house hundreds of wild beasts. The park is the home of James A. Morrow, an animal show and circus manager for years, also Leota Zapp and her string of six menage horses, troupe of ponies, dogs and monkeys and John Zapp, a man of park and theatrical experience. Leota Zapp is at present presenting free acts at the big Western Fair. John Zapp is at the park managing the amusements, and James A. Morrow is handling the animal circus with the Great Parker Shows.

Mrs. Frank A. Robbins celebrated her birthday at Grand Lodge, Mich., August 16, and was the recipient of many beautiful presents. Among those received were some beautiful cut-glass pieces given by Frank A. Robbins, Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Anders, J. E. Ogden, J. H. Hughes, La Belle Asia, also embroidered center-piece, hand-crocheted table-cover, hand-embroidered silk kimono, crocheted coin purse and handkerchiefs, toilet set, sterling vanity box, olive set, and numerous books, toilet articles, etc., from various friends. Besides the above-mentioned, the following were present: Mrs. J. E. Ogden, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Besford, Wm. Cavanaugh, Misses Marie Devere and Hilda Foster, Miltona Robbins, J. E. Gordon, Francis Friend and Marguerite Still.

Vincennes (Ind.) continues to be loyal to the Hagenbeck-Wallace Shows. The Wallace Show has played in that city nine times in the last seven years and each time it does great business. On the 22d it exhibited there again and did the biggest business it has ever done there, and that, too, in spite of the fact that the Sells-Floto Show opened the season there and the 101 Ranch was there very recently. On Sunday the elephants of the show were taken out to the park and attracted thousands of Sunday visitors to the park. Mr. A. B. Bennett, one of the 24-hour men with the show, lives in Vincennes and he was elated with the way his home town treated his employer.

It is generally conceded that this has been an off year in the circus business, but it seems that the Hagenbeck-Wallace Show is the one exception among the larger shows that makes the report true, for that aggregation has been playing to exceptionally good houses on the average and being of an optimistic nature Mr. Wallace has decided to keep his show out usually late and the Peru show will probably be the last one of the big circuses to return

Bert Lafayette of the Two Lafayettes, left the Forepaugh-Sells Bros. Circus at LeMars, Ia., Aug. 17, and repaired to the Samaritan Hospital at Sioux City, Ia., in order to undergo an operation for appendicitis. Reports from the hospital directed to Dr. Ellet with the show, indicate that Bert is improving nicely and is expected to rejoin the show within a few weeks.

The Bartono Wild Animal Shows are now playing fairs. Bartono has a carload of animals collected from all parts of the world. He has a few more fair dates in Missouri, at the conclusion of which he goes South for the winter.

Mr. and Mrs. Al Ringling rejoined the Forepaugh-Sells Show at Independence, Ia., Aug. 22. They motored from Baraboo, Wis.

of the Arenic World

The New York Hippodrome has sounded the bugle call to arms. It's now three-year superintendent, E. J. Holland, the past summer 24-hour man with the Young Buffalo Wild West and of much former circus experience, was one of the first to answer, arriving in New York on Sunday, August 20, from Mt. Vernon, Ind., where he left the Seaver attraction in a very prosperous condition. On his way East, he stopped over to greet his brother, George F. Holland, who had installed the circus at the all-week carnival in Richmond, Ind., under the auspices of the United Carnival Company of Chicago. Big Otto's Trained Animals are a distinct feature of the circus, and of the carnival which played to upwards of 15,000 people on Saturday last, alone.

The crew of the No. 1 car of the 101 Ranch consists of P. W. Harrell, manager; Mark Wiesbart, boss hippo; Bert Babcock, second brush; Joe Betwiler, Frank Reese, G. Becker, R. J. Layden, W. Carey, G. Blodgett, W. Jackson, W. Mocer, Jim Robinson, L. Burton, J. Ellington, hippo; G. H. Philpott, boss litho; H. C. Watt and L. McDonald, assistants; Harry Kaley, chauffeur; Andy DuFrane, paste maker; A. J. Bateman, stenographer; H. C. Adams, program solicitor. It is claimed that this is the only advertising car of today that carries an auto, which is used for hilling the city.

During the exhibition of the Kit Carson Buffalo Ranch Show at Dodgeville, Wis., August 18, Chief Medicine Cloud and his squaw, Mary, lost their one-year-old son, after a short illness. The corpse was buried at Dodgeville. The death of the little fellow had so preyed on the mind of the mother, that she attempted suicide by hanging herself by a shawl from the rafters overhead in the car. Her husband arrived just in time to save her, and in a short while she had fully recovered. Manager J. C. Kelly stated that she would not be able to take part in the show for some time to come.

On the No. 2 car of the Forepaugh-Sells Show are: Tom Dransfield, manager; Wm. H. Smith, boss hippo; H. Itkin, second brush; T. Keating, lithographer; J. P. Shelleross, W. Scott, H. R. Stover, Bert Ellsworth, Frank Foster, W. S. Hoover, W. Westberg, Boh Linwood, Jas. Bateman, Frank Hartwell, H. Smith, Jas. Gillick, J. Perkins, E. O. Denninger, Moss Beller and Chas. Douglas, hippo; Peter Hurd, porter; D. F. Worth, assistant porter.

Advertising Car No. 2, of the Young Buffalo Show, has the following roster: I. C. Admire, manager; A. W. Holland, boss hippo; assisted by F. Butler, O. Ahlemeyer, Jno. Admire, Slim MacClare, O. Jones, Laag VanAmburg, Shorty Stevens and Buster White; Whitey Taylor, Taylor Hall, Bob Delroy and Billy Long, bannermen; H. J. Halero, lithographer; D. J. Bevington and Sleepy Anderson, programmers; L. Cairns, porter.

After an unsuccessful season of eight weeks with the Masterson Railroad Shows, which closed in Harper's Ferry, W. Va., Merritt Belew, equestrian, joined the Young Buffalo Wild West Show. He is doing a new act, that of an inebriated cowboy, finishing the act with regular principal riding on a broncho in an open arena. He is also putting on a high school act.

Included in the roster of the No. 3 car of the Sells-Floto Show are: Fred McMann, manager; Frank Rossman, boss hippo; Al Butler, lithographer; Ed. McKeand, Bert Stites, Paul Barnes, Bud Berger, Henry Lamb, Jess M. Hartman and Bert Wad, hippo; Wm. Baxter is advance agent. The car has been out twenty weeks, and not a day has been lost.

The roster of working men with Jones Bros. Buffalo Ranch and Wild West, follows: Joe (Deafy) Kesser, superintendent of canvas; Whittie Morgan, in charge of seats; Sam Fortney, in charge of sidebow canvas; Roy Buffalo, in charge of animals; Joe Allen (Brooklyn Joe), in charge of stock; Sam Patten, assistant on seats.

Wm. Mocer, who has been with the John Robinson Ten Big Shows for the past twelve seasons, doing excursion work on Car No. 2, is no longer connected with the Ten Big. He is now doing special excursion work for the 101 Ranch Show on P. W. Harrell's Car No. 1.

Deacon Delmore, of Erie, Pa., the well known announcer, formerly with the Cole Bros. and the Famous Robinson Shows, has been engaged by Samuel Haller for the Monitor and Merrimac attraction at Riverview Park, Chicago.

Brigade No 1 of the Young Buffalo Wild West has the following roster: L. H. Egan, agent; D. J. Bevington, boss hippo; assisted by Homer Hall, Jack Egan, Smyth MacGnire, H. J. Halero and Billy McKinder.

Atterbury Bros. Shows are going South for the winter. The outfit will be enlarged for the tour. All people with the show have signed for the winter season.

Miss Aimee Cowden is meeting with great success with her dog and pony act with the Chas. N. Harris Show, now playing New York State.

Newport and Stirk, with the John Robinson Shows, are having special scenery built for their vaudeville act by the Timm Scenic Company, Timm, O.

Reports from Campbell Bros. Shows say that business for them in the upper peninsula of Michigan has been beyond expectations.

Capt. G. Georgron and his troupe of four Cossacks, joined the Young Buffalo Wild West Show at LaPorte, Ind., August 14.

Frank G. Mutton, not Fred Mutton, has the privileges on Campbell Bros. Shows. He has been with the show for nine years.

Harry Lyons has left Gollmar Bros. Shows to accept a responsible position with the Young Buffalo Wild West Show.

The Gollmar Show, after playing Lake Geneva, Wis., will have played, thirty-six stands in their home state.

Gollmar Bros. experienced phenomenal business during their last week for this season in Wisconsin.

The Wallat Family are presenting a number of unique riding acts with Gollmar Bros. Shows.

Al. Clarkson and his band of house wreckers visited Wheeler's brigade while in Paducah, Ky.

James Duval, clown, and the Murphy Brothers, recently joined Frank A. Robbins' Show.

Napoleon DeRemont joined the Circle C Ranch Wild West Show, August 14.

"Everyone wants your Mexican Stiletto and Pistol Watch Fob," wrote a customer last week. That's what they all tell us. We can hardly keep up with the demand. These attractive Watch Fobs are made of good leather, embossed design, metal Stiletto and Pistol.

Novelty Stores, Fairs, Carnivals, Street Stands.

They are just the thing for the "coatless" man. Much neater, a little smaller, and twice as attractive as any now on the market. You can sell two to the other man's one, and not half try. Let us send you a trial order, two dozen assorted, at $3.50, expressage paid. If they are not better in every way than any you have ever seen, return them to us. The money is yours, less expressage. You'll never make money any easier than you will with this novelty. Order now—today—while they are new on the market.

FILM SYNOPSSES

Brief Outlines of Stories Told in the Latest Productions of the Patents and Sales Companies—Release Dates and Lengths of Subjects Are Given

PATENTS COMPANY.

EDISON.

THE DECLARATION OF INDEPENDENCE (Drama—Educational; released September 1. Length 1,000 feet).—The first pictures show the first Continental Congress held in Carpenters' Hall—John Adams speech for independence—a petition sent King George—the King's answer. Then follows the next meeting of Congress in Independence Hall, in Philadelphia, and Adams' speech advocating independence. Jefferson writes the famous document, which is adopted by Congress the next morning, while John Adams' son, afterwards the sixth President of the United States, has stationed himself at the door to listen for news, that he may notify the bell-ringer in the tower to send the news broadcast with the old liberty bell.

NEW YORK STATE BARGE CANALS (Scenic—Educational; released September 2; length 1,000 feet).—Showing the building of a barge canal from the Hudson River near Albany, to Lake Erie near Buffalo. The total length with branches will be 460 miles. The work was begun in 1905, and approaches the importance of the Panama Canal. The massive and complicated machinery is shown, many of the views at close range. The sub-titles throughout the film are made explanatory in detail, thus enabling the non-technical mind to grasp the nature of the work.

THE THREE MUSKETEERS (Drama; release September 5; length 1,000 feet. Part 1).—D'Artagan leaves home to seek his fortune. He arrives in Paris and determines to become a Musketeer. A series of blunders on his part causes him to be challenged to duels by the famous "Three Musketeers," Athos, Porthos and Aramis. Their meeting is interrupted by the Cardinal's guard, who attempt to arrest them. D'Artagan fights on the side of the musketeers, and although the odds are against them, they vanquish the guard, and D'Artagan becomes their sworn friend. When the King hears the story, he not only rewards them, but promises to make D'Artagan a Musketeer. D'Artagan's gratification is shared by Constance, a young lady he had rescued from the Cardinal's guard.

THE THREE MUSKETEERS (Drama; release September 6; length 1,000 feet. Part 2).—D'Artagan becomes better acquainted with Constance, whom he learns is none other than the Queen's confidante. Richelieu sets a trap for the Queen, who has a love affair with the Duke of Buckingham. The Queen needs a messenger to go to Buckingham for some jewels she has entrusted to him, and D'Artagan, through Constance, volunteers to go. Richelieu's spy attempts to prevent his reaching Buckingham, and disables his three friends, who had accompanied him. The Cardinal had sent Milady to steal the jewels, but D'Artagan succeeds in outwitting her, and delivers the jewels to the Queen, who generously rewards him with a valuable ring and his heart's desire, Constance.

AT JONES' FERRY (Drama; release September 8; length 1,000 feet).—Jones' ferry has kept the Jones family in funds for years, until John, the son, grew up and learned the lumberman's trade, while Nellie stayed at home and took care of the house. Dick, a son of Big Morton, had won her favor, and John was in love with Dolly, Morton's daughter. A quarrel between Big Morton and John started a feud between the two families. Old Jones was revengeful and awaited his chance to get back at Morton. One day Dolly Morton slipped and fell on some logs in the river, and in a moment was in the rapids and drifting rapidly down the stream. Big Morton and Dick were unable to help her, but Dick remembered by cutting across the country to South Fork he might be able to catch her on the logs at Two Mile Bend. After a desperate ride, he reaches Jones' ferry at South Fork, but old Jones sees his chance to get even, and refuses to unlock the ferry. Nellie takes the keys from her father and unlocks the ferry just in time for Dick to save Dolly. Through Nellie, old Jones and Big Morton become friends again, and the four young people look forward to a bright future.

THE CALL OF THE WILDERNESS (Drama; release August 31; length 1,000 feet).—John Stuart, a young Londoner, goes to America to buy a mine. While searching for a suitable location in a lonely spot in Colorado, he finds Starlight, an Indian girl, mourning at the grave of her dead father, White Buffalo. The girl was exhausted and ill, so he took her to his cabin. The girl refused to return to her tribe, and as Stuart awoke to the fact that he loved her, they were married. All went well until Stuart received word from London that he was sole heir to a large estate, and to come at once. Stuart left Colorado secretly, not having courage to bid Starlight farewell. In England a grand reception awaited the heir, but he could not get his mind off of the little cabin in the woods and his little Indian bride. It was the call of the wilderness. He returned to the little Colorado cabin, but it was empty. After a search he found Starlight at the grave of father, almost gone. He clasped her to his breast, and with a last effort she kissed him, and sank to her eternal rest.

THE HAUNTED HOUSE (Comedy-drama; release September 4; length — feet).—An old miser holds a mortgage on the empty house of an old man. In order to ruin his value for tenant purposes, he makes nocturnal visits to the house and impersonates a ghost, terrifying the simple-minded village residents. A young man comes to the village in the capacity of station agent, and traps the old skindint nicely, exposing him on the roof of the shunned dwelling. He is rewarded by winning the heart and hand of the handsome daughter of the owner of the property. Copyrighted, 1911, by Independent Moving Picture Company.

DUTY (Drama; release September 7; length — feet).—A large vessel is about to be dashed to pieces on a rocky coast, when the beacon light flashes forth in time to save the ship, and the captain puts the ship about in the nick of time. The mechanism that propels the revolving lights had become disabled during the absence of the keeper of the lighthouse, and his wife and son come to the rescue, the woman by sheer strength keeping the lights reflecting on the sea to enable the mariners to steer clear of the shoals. The son, a small boy, displays the heroism that is expected in the son of a daring father. The keeper is rewarded by the captain of the vessel with a medal, which he gives to his wife for her heroism. Copyrighted, 1911, by Independent Moving Picture Company.

NESTOR.

MUTT AND JEFF AND THE GERMAN BAND (Comedy; release September 2; length — feet).—Mutt and Jeff, as usual, when on the eve of some great plan, take a stroll, this time into the path of a strolling German band. The miscellaneous brass noise makers are seen and heard, and attract a volley of pennies and nickels. This looks pretty easy to Mutt and Jeff, with the result that Mutt tackles an old silding trombone and Jeff struggles with a dilapidated bass horn. Thus equipped, they make a bid for the people's small change. Alas! their music is of the high-browed variety and the ignorant rabble fails to appreciate it. Jeff spies a blind man turning the crank of an organ, and sees the coin going in that direction. They do not see the money coming, but the blind man's change "goes" the same way that Mutt and Jeff go, making a climax that even the blind will see.

THE FLOWER OF THE TRIBE (Drama; release September 6; length — feet).—Silver Star, the chief's daughter, is stolen by two white renegades. They are pursued and one of them wounded. They take shelter in Dan Spencer's shack. When Spencer finds the true state of affairs, they are driven out at the point of a gun. The maiden is sent back to her tribe, but finds her father dead, and the Indians preparing for an attack on the settlers. They do not believe Silver Star's story, and she is placed under guard. Escaping, she mounts a horse and succeeds in notifying Spencer's before the Indians creep into sight. The son, Roy, is sent for help, and Dan Spencer, with his old mother and little daughter defend their shack until Roy and the other settlers dash up to his rescue and drive the Redskins away. Silver Star has paid her debt of gratitude—she saved her friend's lives, even at the cost of her own people.

THANHOUSER.

THE MOTH (Comedy-drama; release August 29; length — feet).—A "city chap" on his vacation, makes a bit with the folks of the village, as well as with her mother, who was a housekeeper of the old school, keeping her house so clean that it was a hardship to go into it. One day "ma" discovers that a moth had been dining on some of her winter clothes. She secures some "moth candles," and after lighting them, closed the doors and windows, and paid a visit to a neighbor while the moth was being exterminated. The city chap happens along and sees smoke curling from under the door. The young man immediately became a "hero," and with the assistance of the villagers, threw many gallons of water on the structure, smashed in the doors, saved the furniture by throwing it out of the window, and then modestly awaited a few words of praise when "ma" came home. What she said was a plenty. He never saw the girl again; in fact, he did not even remain to bid her good-bye.

ROMEO AND JULIET (drama; release September 1; length — feet. Part One).—Romeo and Juliet are the son and daughter of two noble families that have been foes for generations. They meet and love, and are secretly wed. Romeo is banished for dueling, and during his absence, Juliet's father endeavors to force her to marry a nobleman he has chosen for her. In her distress, Juliet turns to the Friar who had secretly married them. He gives her a sleeping potion, which, after taking, will make her seem dead. He intends to then take the supposedly dead Juliet from the tomb and reunite her to her husband. He sends a message to Romeo, telling him of the plan, but the news of Juliet's death reached Romeo before the message. Romeo

IMPS ARE COPIED UNsuccessfully

They copy Imp plots. They copy Imp posters. They copy Imp ads. They copy Imp lobby displays. But they CAN'T copy that indescribable SOMETHING that MAKES an Imp AN IMP. You've noticed it scores of times. You've talked about it. All of which is proof that you can't get Imp quality unless you get Imp films. If you can't get Imps any other way, PAY A LITTLE MORE FILM RENTAL and get a CONTRACT specifying that your service will include TWO IMPS A WEEK WITHOUT FAIL. Tell your exchange you're willing to pay a little extra to be sure of getting TWO IMPS EVERY WEEK. You'll get quick action. And you'll get big returns! Try it!

SOLAX.

THE PATCHED SHOE (Comedy; released August 30; length — feet).—Andy Noodles, an adventure-craving rustic, reads the advertisement of a bogus detective agency where for the sum of $10 they will make him a "member of their force." After receiving his "Commission" and "Star," he sallies forth in search of adventure. He sees John Martin climbing out of his own window, having been locked out by his little daughter. Andy takes him for a thief, examines his footsteps, and discovers one of his shoes has a patched sole, and follows the trail. Then follows a series of funny incidents, in which several people wear the patched shoe, and Andy follows them all. He ends up in the Martin home, and is finally thrown out, to the amusement of all but Andy, who leaves, swearing never again.

THE HOLD-UP (Drama; released September 1; length — feet).—Lieut. Harris and Mr. Drake are in love with Col. Barnes' daughter Ethel, but Harris is the favored one and Drake swears vengeance. Harris and some brother officers conspire to hold up the ambulance, as a joke. Drake overhears and informs the Colonel, but falls to tell him it is a joke or who the "hand-its" really are. The Colonel sends a troop of cavalry to stop the hold-up with orders to shoot to kill. They are about to fire on the supposed brigands when Kitty, a friend of Ethel's, who knows Drake's intentions, arrives on the scene and prevents a tragedy. The Colonel likes the lieutenant and his comrades and realizing that they mean no real harm, lets them go with a reprimand. Everyone is delighted but Drake, who is rightly ostracized for his malevolent intentions.

POWERS.

BLACK CLOUD'S DEBT (Drama; released Aug. 22; length, — feet).—Black Cloud is saved from drowning by Little Crow. Black Cloud takes him as a brother. Both fall in love with the same squaw. Little Crow is chosen by the tribe to perform a certain duty, but he is afraid, and Black Cloud takes his place. He is wounded, but successfully performs the mission, allowing the tribe to think Little Crow had done it. Running Fawn, thinking Little Crow is the hero, agrees to be his squaw. The deception is found out, and Little Crow is sentenced to the wolf pit. Again Black Cloud takes his place and comes out unscathed. Running Fawn realizes that he is the hero, and she loves him. Little Crow attempts to kill Black Cloud, but Black Cloud disarms him and, satisfied that he had paid his debt, lets him go.

AN INDIAN'S LOVE (Drama; released Aug. 5; length, — feet).—Young Oak, a Shawnee Indian, deeply loves Blue Bird, a Choctaw maiden. She is also loved by a half-breed hunter. The half-breed wins the girl from her father in a game of cards, and takes her with him. Young Oak pursues and overtakes the half-breed on a fallen log across a deep chasm. In the fierce fight he plunges his knife into the half-breed's chest, and the gambler falls to his death. Blue Bird gladly allows Young Oak to lead her to the tents of his people.

WHAT IS ORTHO?

The new Ortho (accurate) process of film projection as applied to second-hand films submitted to the Ortho and Educational Film Company of New York City is without doubt the most scientific and in all probability the most effective method of renovating rainy and faded films known to the business. The action of the process lies in removing the silver from the films. Silver is always to be found in a film, either left unchanged in a new film, or as a result of static electric charges caused by friction in rewinding or in running film through the projecting machine. If after printing the intense light of the projector is sure to change the character of the less developed parts and spoil the continuity of the film. The static electricity will produce light flashes or flicker in a film as it appears. The Ortho process is out as it were, all the undeveloped and thus there is none left to be burnt by projector, and a uniform appearance results on the screen, which is a treat to the eyes as a pleasure to view. The process of removing the scratches is by melting together the emulsion on the surface of the scratch. This can only be done if the scratch has not penetrated clear

As the Operator Looks at it

As the Operator Looks at It

Just notice how easy this operator takes it. He doesn't have to work over a dangerous juice consuming rheostat at furnace heat any more since the

was installed.

He can control the machine perfectly now with one hand—gets a clearer, whiter, steadier light and can adjust it to any of the three intensities without even the faintest flicker.

When we sold this machine we guaranteed it would absolutely

Cut 2-3 from the Monthly Lighting Bill

That sounded almost too good to be true, but they put one in on our 30 day free trial plan.

Did the machine "make good?" Well, the first month it reduced the bill from $22.70 to $9.24 and they operated more hours and got better light than ever before.

We can do just as well for you regardless of what voltage you are using and if you will send for our little free booklet, we'll explain how we do it.

Remember you are paying the Lighting Company 66 2-3 per cent more than you need to every day you wait.

A REMINDER!

Have you not been bumped against the walls of experience in the motion picture field often enough to have learned the important lesson?

It Pays to Get Your Films From a Reliable Source!
It Pays to Reject All Dubious Offerings!

A short review of your previous experiences and you will agree we are right. You will remember the fifty-two Independent brands that were advertised available, etc. The Sales Company at that time secured the best of those manufactures of film, foreign and domestic, and have since secured numerous other manufactures of the highest class.

We stand on sure foundation that can not be shattered.

When you are approached by promoters with alluring propositions, inspect the possibilities of their future compared with past adventures.

Beware of inferior productions and be none other than the aforesaid Grand Opera House. Mr. Murphy and Mr. Taft are close personal and business associates, and the assumption is that Murphy will be the active head of the organization, backed by the millions of Taft. If such is the case, Murphy would, no doubt, become one of the most important factors in the theatrical world, as he is a man of aggressive personality and considerable ability and enjoys the unlimited confidence of Mr. Taft, who can command practically unlimited capital.

C. P. Taft is a half-brother of the President.

All the members of the various companies which are to go out under the Baker & Castle banner this season occupied boxes. THE APPALACHIAN EXPOSITION.

President Tyson, Secretary and Treasurer Spence and Colonel Sandford H. Cohen, assistant to the president, have accomplished the seemingly impossible in gathering so vast an array of interesting exhibitional properties and perfecting the plans for their installing to the best advantage.

This year the midway, under the able direction of E. G. Barkoot, will team with popular high-grade amusements, and no matter in what part of the city of fun the visitor may be, he will be kept enjoying himself every moment. Mr. Barkoot has had his agents East and West, North and South, seeking for new ideas in the amusement field and annexing all that were deemed suitable and that would tend to outdo all the previous efforts of others in catering to the tastes of the great American public. He has so nearly accomplished his aims, that he feels, in offering his great variety of amusements, he has succeeded in securing those that will not only make the midway popular, but also will gain for it a fame, placing it well up toward that of the famous midway for the World's Fair in Chicago.

Mr. Barkoot has insisted that every attraction, every act and every feature must be of the highest order, clean-cut and first-class in presentation, beyond question of a doubt, able to deliver the goods, presenting its patrons something which they can not find anywhere else under like conditions.

It is the director's intention to get away as much as possible from the old worn-out, hackneyed midway shows that have traveled up and down through and across the land for a decade, and he deserves much credit for his earnest endeavor to improve the standing of midway. As a matter of fact, his idea has been to collect a series of entertainments embodying quality and class, and this idea applies to all minor concessions as well. Old dilapidated canvases and fronts are barred, every concession must be outfitted in an attractive manner, to be in keeping with the cleanly, handsome appearance presented by other concessions.

The exposition headquarters are the scene of intense activity these days, but officers and employees alike all seem to enjoy the work and excitement for every face wears a smile "that won't come off."

Manager Barkoot is expected here Thursday night, to overlook the improvements made in the midway grounds and to give final instructions to his agents.

SELLS-FLOTO CIRCUS VISITS CHICAGO.

collection of baby animals. There are twin baby elephants, bear cubs, lion cubs, a baby hippopotamus, and young tigers among the kindergarten features.

The program is especially strong in equestrian acts and great applause accorded the horsemanship of Mrs. Rhoda Royal and Miss Arline, the latter riding the airship horse, Omar, one of Rhoda Royal's equine pupils.

Homer Hobson and Alec Lowande also excelled in feats of agility on horseback, and the Hobsons in a combination hurdle, jockey and carrying act, and Bedini and Lowande in bareback feats, held the rapt attention of the spectators.

The grand introductory cavalcade and pageant, which was a mass of kaleidoscopic colorings, was headed by Colonel LaVelle, who "looks more like Buffalo Bill than William Cody himself," as has waggishly been said. The displays which took place in two rings and central platform, ran as follows:

Display No. 2.—Fancy riding by Black Hussars gathering the garlands and threading the needle.

Display No. 3.—De La Mead Family, in classic poses in marble, artistic and surprising for its quick changes.

Display No. 4.—Grand clown entry, comprising some of the funniest and drollest mountebanks in the world of foolery. An especially good number in this division was the funny boxing match between Miss Clara Buel and Shorty Maynard. The latter, attired as Little Jeff of Bnd Fisher's cartoons, accompanied by Mutt of the same ilk, insults a stylish-dressed young lady (Miss Buel) who apparently is one of the audience seeking her seat. The damsel resents the familiarity in fine pugilistic fashion, to the delight of the crowd.

Display No. 5 showed the skillful riding of Miss Hobson and Miss Rooney, in Rings Nos. 1 and 2, respectively.

Display No. 6 showed two of the best trained herds of elephants in the world. In Ring No. 1, six elephants, directed by Prof. Fred Alls-paw, performed the hooche chooche, danced clogs, and performed a variety of almost human tricks. In Ring No. 2, the twin elephants, driven tandem by Miss Zora, walked on rows of bottles without throwing them over, stood on their heads, and did other remarkable stunts.

Display No. 7.—Bert Morphy, the man who slugs to beat the band, attired in a natty white uniform, sang above the Sells-Floto band of forty pieces, a marvelous exhibition of voice culture.

Display No. 8.—Ring No. 1, Garlinetti Bros. on bounding table;—Mennotte on unsupported ladder. Stage, The Great Picardo in superb feats of juggling. Ring No. 2, Miss Maud Kelly and Mme. Lucky, queens of the rolling globes; Biscanni on the unsupported ladder.

Display No. 9.—The Wonderful Liberty Horses, in Ring No. 1; trained by William Barrett, troupe of ante dogs and ponies, with Snowball, most intelligent trained donkey, presented by Madame Royal, on the stage; Capt. John Carroll, with his troupe of trained Arabian horses, in Ring No. 2.

Display No. 10.—Ring No. 1, revolving ladder with Horace Weh and single trapeze with Miss Viola Stick, stage, Miss Johnnie, the Lafayette aerial ladder, Miss Johnnie, Ring No. 2, single trapeze, Miss Irene Hall, revolving breakaway ladder, the Kelly Brothers.

Display No. 11.—Omar, the equine aviator, ascending to the top of the tent on a platform, to the accompaniment of a magnificent display of fireworks; ridden by Miss Arline, trained by Rhoda Royal.

Display No. 12.—A wonderful high-wheel bicycle act, wherein the Martell Family perform some of the most feats of skill and balance, especially novel stunt is the manipulation by the two men of common wagon wheels as means of locomotion, by removing some of the spokes and thrusting their bodies through the spaces.

Display No. 13.—Jim Butherford and associate clowns in a riot of fun. Fighting the Flames; a real fire engine and patrol wagon adds to the realism.

Display No. 14.—On the hippodrome track and in the rings, Rhoda Royal's wonderful high-school horses perform marvels of equine grace and speed.

Display No. 15.—Ring No. 1, Homer Hobson in graceful equestrian act; stage, Baynor's Troupe of Comedy Ponies and Undrivable Mules; Ring No. 2, Alec Lowande in superb horsemanship.

Display No. 16.—Ring No. 1, the Melnottes, high wire marvels; stage, Mesdames Johnson and Lucky, queens of the air; Ring No. 2, Lowande, bounding rope magician.

Display No. 17.—Clowns in Aviation Blindfold; Ring No. 1, Horace Weh in his airship demonstration; Ring No. 2, J. Butherford in the demon flying machine Calamity.

Display No. 18.—The Grace Troupe in astounding feats of skill on the flying swings, high in the air; the Monahan Troupe in fearless aerial acts.

Display No. 19.—The Hobsons, combination hurdle, jockey and carrying act; Bedini and Lowande, America's star riders in jockey act.

Display No. 20.—The Six Galarme Sisters, aerialists supreme, on beautiful revolving trapeze apparatus.

Display No. 21.—Ring No. 1, Ab Johnson with mule January; Ring No. 2, Billy Jameson with mule February; World's Congress of Fools, on skates on stage.

Display No. 22.—Hippodrome races; trials of speed and endurance in regular racing fashion; Roman standing races, chariot races, gentlemen jockey races, ladies' races, cowgirl races, clown mule races, tandem races.

The sidshow features are unusually good, and one nickel admits one to as complete a show as is ordinarily shown for a dime. The attractions comprise: Thomas Brockman, Nubian giant; Bayroty Troupe, Turkish gun-spinners; Reid and Haverly's Minstrels; Prince Mungo from the Philippines, in fortune dances; Mylla, queen of serpents; blind reader and pianist, Prof. Melitran, tattooed man; Prof. McNulty, ventriloquist and Punch and Judy show.

Foresight plays as important a part in the Park business as in other enterprises. The merchant buys spring goods in the fall and fall goods in the summer. Park Managers see the advantages of installing their riding devices in the fall to avoid the usual haste and waste of spring months when they have tried to do everything at once.
THE FROLIC has made a REPUTATION for itself. Frederick Thompson calls it "THE HIT OF LUNA PARK." One will be installed in Central Park, Allentown, Pa., this September. Let us build a FROLIC or CIRCLE SWING for you after Labor Day.

role of a colored servant in the play. The troupe will leave New York Sunday, August 27, and will spend the remainder of their time until the opening in working it into condition on the Chicago Opera House stage.

Three Loop theatres will open on Saturday night, September 2, viz., The Garrick, with Holbrook Blinn and Mande Fealy in The Boss; the Grand Opera House, with William Hodge in The Man from Home; and the Angelina Opera House (formerly the Globe), with Colonel Wil-lam Thompson's Opera Company in a revival of Wang. On the following evening the Olympic Theatre will commence the fall season with John Barrymore and Thomas Wise in Uncle Sam, and the La Salle Opera House, which has been closed all summer, will resume with Harry Askin's Louisiana Lon, which opens in Milwau-kee Monday night for a week's tryout.

On Monday night, September 4, the autumn season at the College Theatre will be inaugu-rated with a revival of George M. Cohan's The Yankee Prince. Manager T. C. Gleason has retained most of last season's favorites in his stock company, the personnel comprising Rodney Banous and Marie Nelson, leading people, Camille D'Arcy, Charles Pitt, Thomas Swift, Jay Quigley, C. Milford Giffin, Arling Al-cine and Vera Wadsworth.

September 4 is also the inaugural night of the new season at the Colonial Theatre, where The Follies of 1911, rechristened Ziegfeld's Fol-lies, will hold forth for a long time to come.

It is expected that the Lyric Theatre will reopen on September 10 with Gertrude Hoffman and her Russian Ballet, and on September 18 the Blackstone and Powers' Theatre will open their portals with James K. Hackett in The Grain of Dust and Kyrie Bellew in The Mollusc, respectively.

UP AND DOWN BROADWAY NOTES

Eddie Foy is to appear in The Pet of Petticoats after all. The involved complications, which were the cause of the obstinacy of the comedian in refusing to appear under the man-agership of A. H. Woods have been adjusted, and Charles Dillingham and F. Ziegfeld Jr., now hold possession of the rights. Under the new auspices Foy and his company are scheduled for a September 4 premiere. The transaction was made for $20,000. Harry Fox will remain under the Woods management, having signed his name to a five years' contract.

K. & E. NOTES.

Not until a year ago was the play brought to New York, where it remained during its second year, charming thousands with its simplicity, humor and heart tugs. Edith Tallaferro will play the role of Rebecca when the play opens at the Illinois Theatre in Chicago in October. Rebecca will be seen in all the leading cities of the South and West. Joseph Brooks will direct the tour.

They will make a production of The Count of Luxembourg, the new Franz Lehar opera, early in the season. This opera is a sensation of the current London year. Its first performance was attended by England's king and queen. So much attention has been devoted to the waltz number with its staircase dance that the audiences are only beginning to realize that two numbers in the first act are the best compositions Lehar has ever written. The scenes are laid in Paris at Carnival time and at a reception of a Russian grand duke, which offers the opportunity for glorious stage pictures and gowns over which women may rave.

The producers will produce Edward Knoblanche's Kismet, under the direction of Harrison Grey Fiske, with Otis Skinner in the leading role, that of a beggar. Its scenes are laid in Bagdad at the height of that city's greatness. Mr. Knoblanche drew his ideas from the Arabian Nights. The result is an interesting plot, which is developed amid scenes of Oriental splendor, with glorious pageants, marriage processions, dancing girls, glimpses of life in the harem, with a wealth of color and detail that holds the attention from the rise to the fall of the curtain.

They will present Miss Charlotte Walker early in October in a dramatization of John Fox Jr.'s popular novel, The Trail of the Lonesome Pine, by Eugene Walter. Miss Walker will play the role of June, the heroine of the tale of the Kentucky mountains. The play will be in four acts. The first act takes place on the trail; the second in the town which John Hale is attempting to develop; the third in June's home in the mountains; and the last in again on the trail in the open. Mr. Walter has made an intensely interesting play, which will lend itself to the big and artistic production that Klaw & Erlanger will give it.

Henry Miller, who has been playing on the Pacific Coast under the direction of Klaw & Erlanger, has had a very successful season in The Haroc, by Edward Sheldon. Mr. Miller returns to the East in November to appear on Broadway in a series of new and old plays.

One of the most successful musical comedies in the last decade of the theatre is Klaw & Erlanger's The Pink Lady, now in its seventh month at the New Amsterdam Theatre, New York, but a production of which will be seen in other cities later in the season.

The firm will open their new Atlanta theatre, the Atlanta, in September, with George Behan, who will appear under the firm's management this season in his own play, The Sign of the Rose, a drama of current life in New York City, in which Behan gives a character study of an Italian street laborer.

Robert Hilliard, under the direction of Klaw & Erlanger, begins his fourth and final season in A Fool There Was—a coast to coast tour—in Atlantic City September 28. Remarkable, and in some respects unprecedented, is Mr. Hilliard's record of achievement in the episodic play, inspired by Kipling's bitterly satirical play of the vampire woman, who, stripped of hypnotic allurements, was "only a rag and a bone and a hank of hair." He is acclaimed as one of the most distinguished of American players. He has filled a round dozen of engagements in the theatres of Greater New York and has revived the curiously fascinating drama again and again before undiminished audiences in all the large cities of the East and Middle West. During the coming season he will present it for the final times upon the Pacific Coast. In the early spring he will return to New York for the production of a new, modern play. Supporting Mr. Hilliard in A Fool There Was will be Alphonse Ethier, George Clare, Reginald Barker, Frank Russell, George Nichols, Harvey T. Clark, S. L. Richardson, C. W. Haskins, Virginia Pearson, Stella Archer, Edna Conroy, Ida Desmond, little "Boots" Wuster and others.

Persons desiring to avail themselves of The Billboard's facilities for forwarding mail matter to members of the amusement profession, are requested to bear in mind that the headquarters for this gratuitous distribution of mail are at the CINCINNATI offices, where all correspondence should be addressed, unless it is known that it will be more convenient for addressee to receive it through the New York, Chicago or St. Louis bureaus. In Cincinnati a corps of experienced clerks is employed for the sole purpose of recording the whereabouts of transients and handling mail addressed to them in care of The Billboard.

The post offices adjacent of the New York, Chicago and St. Louis bureaus of The Bill-board is maintained only for the accommodation of those who can prepare quicker service by having mail sent to the branch offices where they can get in a prepaid or franked which it may be remailed to them with greater despatch than from the publication offices at Cincinnati. No attempt is made to handle mail addressed to the branch offices without specific instructions, while thousands of pieces of mail matter pass through the Cincinnati offices every week and are remailed to addressees from information at hand without the delay of holding and advertising these names in this list.

All mail advertised in this list is being held at the Cincinnati offices unless otherwise indicated by the characters * (New York),  (Chicago),  (St. Louis).

HAMILTON TO RACE IN CHICAGO.

Clarence Hamilton of Boston, Mass., winner of three world's championship races, arrived in Chicago last week, having finished up his racing throughout the western country. His first will be with Henry Becker, and will be a series of three one mile matches. The races will be skated at Riverview rink, the first heat being skated August 9.

CIRCUIT FOR PROFESSIONAL ROLLER SKATERS.

Now that professional races are becoming more prominent during the past year, and the skaters are putting up a better grade of racing, wouldn't it be great if a circuit of professional races for the larger cities was formed? This has been mentioned several times by different skaters, who say they can not afford to put in their time for the few and far-between races where the real coin is handed out. There are several cities that promote professional races during the season, and why not get together, you rink managers, and agree upon your dates and form a circuit. You will have plenty of assistance from the many professional skaters, who are only too willing to travel if such a circuit were formed. There are scores of crack skaters throughout the United States who have never met the skaters from the other parts of the country, and for that reason we have never been able to tell who really is the best skater in the States.

AMERICA'S LONG DISTANCE SKATER AND HIS RECORDS.

J. E. Eckford of Robinson, Ill., who is at present in Los Angeles, Cal., preparing for his winter skating, has quite a record for an endurance skater. He first came to my notice when he skated 326 miles and 2 laps in 24 hours at the Grand Skating Rink, Robinson, Ill. His next performance of note was his 48-hour grind at Danville, Ill., November 9, 10 and 11, 1910, at the Coliseum Rink, by skating 528 miles and 6 laps, while on March 6, 7, 8 and 9, at Washington Rink, Gary, Ind., he registered 769 miles and 1 lap in 72 hours. He claimed that in some of his races he has not been pushed hard enough for him to have to extend himself. Now, we can't just vouch for the exactness in the measurement of the tracks that he skated on, but he has the backing of the managers, who will swear to the exact times that he skated in these races, and he is willing to meet any skater in the world in a long distance race of this character. I have heard from Eckford several times this year, and from the tone of his letters judge that he is a very good enthusiast and means just what he says.

BECKER WINS FIRST OF MATCH RACES WITH HAMILTON.

Henry Becker, champion of Chicago, won the first race of a series of three match races, when he defeated Clarence Hamilton of Boston in the first time of 2:37, the best time ever made in a mile match race. The race was skated at Riverview Rink, Chicago, Wednesday night, August 2. Becker, being a little nervous at the start of the race, sprang into the lead and held his position for five laps, then giving away to Hamilton, who set the pace until the last lap, when Becker broke loose with one of the best sprints ever witnessed at Riverview Rink, and beat the Boston flyer down the stretch, winning by only inches. The victory meant much for Becker, for it gives him the advantage over Hamilton, and more confidence to win the series.

POLO AND PUSH BALL GAMES TO BE REVIVED BY SEVERAL RINKS THIS WINTER.

The games of polo and push ball got quite a start in several of the skating rinks in Iowa, Illinois, Michigan and Indiana last year, and a circuit was formed at Sioux City, Ia., two years ago and proved to be quite successful. The game of polo is a very interesting game, and I believe it managers of rinks in small towns would form a polo league between their neighboring rinks. It would help keep the roller game to quite an extent. Indiana and Illinois were to have a league last year, but I have heard nothing further from that quarter.

sanctity of the offering and refrain from many of their petty conceits. It is only because such men as the critic of the New York American feels the support of the modern crudely informed and limited learned that they entertain the public with such irrelevant facetiae as are foisted upon the readers of the American.

"Of all the thoroughfares in New York City—barring perhaps West 116th Street—East 14th Street is the least likely to wallow in Hellenic tragedy."

The New York Tribune finds much not to its approval in the presentation of the Sophocles drama, but directs its criticisms at the proper places—the loss of intrinsic quality of effect—and the misconception of the depth of the play as brought out by the shortcomings of its Irving Place interpreters. The complaint against the performers is that their rendition was too academic and too unrelieved by the natural. This error can be contributed to their earnestness on the commendable grounds that they recognize the gravity and sobriety of the work and worked anxiously though not quite successfully to portray these qualities. The Tribune discusses these points which have been above enumerated concerning the production of the drama at the Irving Place Theatre, Monday, August 21, as follows:

There is But One BEST—These Made by

WELDON, WILLIAMS & LICK
FORT SMITH, ARK.

San Francisco, Cal. Minneapolis, Minn.

"The idea of destiny inseparable to the Greek tragedy is strongly emphasized in Oedipus Rex, the depth and intensity of emotion in which it lived and moved, and the element of unrelieved vindictiveness which marked all of Sophocles' plays."

Oedipus Rex is carried steadily along to its culmination. There is no looking to the right or to the left, no useless wanderings into byways. The more elaborately each scene is wrought, or any single speech, the more it contributes to make stronger, to bring out more powerfully, the main emotion. In it Sophocles shows in perhaps greater degree than in any of his other dramas his wonderful power of concentration; in it he shows a wonderful notion of the greatest complexity with the greatest simplicity, of grandeur with harmony and of largeness of design with perfect finish.

"The movement is not retarded by superfluities. These are thrown off with much skill that any apparent effort is unnoticeable. The spectator is informed at the outset of the circumstances of the supreme crisis of the individual destiny of King Oedipus and sees it later portrayed with supreme emotional intensity."

"Mr. Keller failed to take full advantage of the opportunity to show in all its fullness and greatness the lacerated innocence of Oedipus, who is destined by the gods to murder his father and wed his own mother, bringing children into the world through the union. Lillian Kingsbury, at times, as Jocasta, wife of Oedipus, mistook raving for intense feeling and emotion. Mayne Lynton, as a priest of Zeus, showed skill, and Charles Jamea played Teiresias well."

The good business that has attended the opening week's performances presages a long run at the Gort.

Dear Old Billy, with William Hawtreys in the chief comedy role, is another play that has scored a big success, and bids fair to run at the Whitney Opera House for a long time to come. It is a clean farce, splendidly acted, and reflects great credit both upon its impresario, Mr. A. G. Delamater, and the excellent company that presents it.

The Princess is presenting a moving picture drama based upon Dante's Inferno. It is said to be one of the most ambitious film shows ever projected, with thirty-six scenes, in the making of which over 300 actors were employed.

The Coronation pictures shown by the Kinemacolor Company continue to attract big audiences to the Garrick, and will continue all next week until next Friday night.

The Russian Symphony Orchestra will give final concerts at the Studebaker Sunday afternoon and evening and then that house will remain dark until the advent of Elsie Janis later in September.

Nearly all of the outlying theatres are now in commission. At the Haymarket, Thomas E. Shea will finish his engagement tonight, making way for Merry Mary, the musical farce which was seen here at the Whitney last season. An all-star cast and the famous Taxicab Chorus are promised by the Charles M. Baker Amusement Company which is presenting it.

Graustark, dramatized for the stage by George D. Baker from the popular novel by George Barr McCutcheon, will be the offering for the week commencing Sunday matinee at the beautiful Imperial Theatre, the musical farce which the veteran Atkins Lawrence is in the cast.

At the Bijou, the popular Halstead Street playhouse, the management of which has been assumed by Ralph T. Ketterling, Lincoln J. Carter's evergreen melodrama, The Heart of Chicago, will hold forth for the next seven days.

The Convict's Daughter is scheduled for the Alhambra, and the National, which plays The Goddess of Liberty tonight for the last time, will have George Sidney and Carrie Webber and a large chorus in Betsy Izzy.

The Marlowe Theatre opens its stock season under the management of Charles B. Marvin on Monday night, August 28, with The Charity Fall as the offering. Albert Phillips and Lella Shaw will have the leading roles.

The Miles Theatre in Minneapolis will increase its seating capacity to 2,400.

Dodo Randall tried out a new act at the Monarch Theatre this week, which promises to be a success.

Minnie E. Emer, manager of the Three Marx Brothers & Co., is planning to send out several more new acts. The Three Marx Brothers are meeting with great success on the Pantages' Time.

The Linden Theatre opens this week with booking from J. C. Matthews' office.

The Plaza Theatre will open next week. The first bill will include the Five Musical Lassies, Three Navarros, Carter, Stanley and Lewis, and Marie Sparrow.

Jack Taylor will be one of the feature attractions on the Wilson Avenue and Willard hills week of August 21.

THE BILL AT HAMMERSTEIN'S.

numbers that bears the ear-marks of a big winner: is Love Dear, rendered by Miss Walker and Bobby Kemp. The words and music of the song are exceptionally good and it would not be hazardous to venture the opinion that it will not be long before the number becomes popular.

Hickey's Comedy Circus, seen at the Roof only a few weeks ago, returned to the Corner only to score a hit more pronounced than on the occasion of the first engagement. Hickey has his ponies exceptionally well trained. His nubile mules create the laughter.

One of the solid bits of the show was registered by Bella Blanche, the singing comedienne, who is another of the Roof's frequent visitors. She sang Day Dreams, I'm Falling in Love, gave imitations of Irene Franklin, Jack Norworth, Lella McIntyre and Madame Treadwell with much credit to herself.

Collins and Hart, the burlesque strog men, repeated this week the success attending them last week at the Fifth Avenue.

The chery repertory of Stella Maybaw and Billie Taylor and the clever songs of the pair, elicited much deserved applause. Stella Maybaw headlined the program.

Paris by Night, Molasso's pantomime, with Mlle. Mario Corio, Mario Molasso, Edward Crawford, Alice Tojetti and Y. Yamakura, sustained interest. Bedini and Arthur closed the show, giving a burlesque on Paris by Night.

THE MAJESTIC BILL.

find a new one, then you'll have your fingers crossed as far as critics are concerned.

Dorothy Rogers and Company appear in a comedy playlet. They are reviewed under New Acts.

Chick Sale, the character change artist, presents an offering, called A Country School Entertainment. Mr. Sale enacts all the characters, from the old maid teacher to the pupils and board of directors. His act proves to be one of the best comedy offerings where real art is essential. His first impersonation is that of the mild, every-body-loves-me old maid teacher. His conception of this part places him high on the pedestal of confidence with the audience, and with each succeeding impersonation he further proves his ability as a real character artist.

Mr. Sale's conception of the country kid part in recitations and song proved a genuine riot. His changes are all made on the stage, and consume about twenty seconds. His final characters, depicting members of the school board, is exceedingly clever and genuinely funny. No doubt when the time comes for good old Bert Davis to give on the game, Chick Sale could take his place, and no one he the wiser.

Bowers, Walter and Crocker, the three rubes, offer a novelty in comedy acrobatic acts. A feature of their offering is the swiftness with which they work. Evidently experience has taught them that an act of this nature can not let an audience get "cold" and away with it. Their feats are original and new, and a great many of them difficult. The comedy is clean and wholesome, and was received very nicely. The boys have a clever manner of closing the act. They lay head to foot all in a line, and have the audience guessing as to the nature of the stunt to be pulled. At a given signal the drop is raised about a foot, and with a yell the three rubes roll under and out of sight. The success of the act was gratifying, and made a decided hit. The boys took several bows.

The Temple Quartet offers a refined singing act. The boys appear in full dress, and carry it well. There is a noticeable elimination of all attempts at low comedy, which some of the straight singing fours seem to think essential. As far as refinement is concerned, no small amount of credit is due the Temple Quartet. Their singing is carried in close harmony with all harshness and suggestiveness left for the so-called comedy quartets. The solos, both bass and tenor, made a great hit, and were rendered in a self-assured manner that the result was inevitable. They responded to several encores, and made a number of friends through their splendid entertainment.

Victor Moore and Emma Littlefield submit a rehearsal sketch, called Back to the Farm. It can hardly be said that this sketch is worthy of the artists playing it, but it is funny. Their conception of world-be vanderbilts is very commendable, and the laughs throughout the act are frequent. The idea is old, making the rough-neck stage hard and working in here. However, in closing the act, the burlesque is dropped, and some very clever dancing introduced. Miss Littlefield's dance especially won great approval. Mr. Moore was Victor Moore, "nuff ced."

Bessie Wynn appeared next to closing, and in her first two numbers (previously mentioned), fell flat. Her third number, a popular song, introducing a medley of operatic airs in the chorus, went very big, and this in itself should have shown Miss Wynn that efforts on the first-class of songs were wasted talent. Her costume was pleasing and conservative, but were it not for her great popularity with Chicago audiences, she would have been a dismal failure.

The Four Regals close the show in feats of strength and endurance, and have a novel setting and vehicle for their work, showing the interior of a blacksmith shop. This vehicle for the offering proves ideal, as the weights are necessarily a part of the setting. The act went very big, and took several bows.

End Fisher, the famous cartoonist and creator of the famous comedy characters, Munt and Jeff, is featured on the bill for the week of the twenty-eighth, and will undoubtedly prove one of the greatest box office magnets the Majestic has ever known.

NEW ACTS THIS WEEK.

 comedy situations are introduced wherein he makes love to the old maid, Lucinda, and promises to marry her. The Rev. Arthur returns and Lucinda claims him. After some controversy it develops that Joe was really the girl in the pink mask. He returns Hiram's watch and ring; he gets Cherry; the Rev. Arthur gets Lucinda, and Hiram is reunited to his loving spouse. The act went very big and is worthy of a spot on a more pretentious bill.
DOROTHY ROGERS & COMPANY. Comedy Playlet: Majestic; third in nine-act show; time, sixteen minutes, working in full stage.
 Help! Another one of those inevitable race-horse-girl plays where the name of the girl and the horse are the same. Why is it that real people will always insist on using old ideas for their vehicles? Here's an idea in a sketch which has been rebashed so often that it really needs embalming. Dorothy Rogers is supported by three very clever men, one of whom is a clever blackface comedian who could easily win his daily bread (and cake, too) doing a single. The plot tells of a young man who has been calling frequently on the paternal pocketbook for assistance toward the support of Helen, who papa thinks is son's wife, but as it happens is son's favorite girl. Son gets a wire from papa; he's coming to town; son must produce wife; calls on old friend whose name happens to be Helen; son confused and flustered, can't explain; Helen thinks him crazy; F. locked up for safekeeping pending papa's return; colored valet explains; Helen understands; married son; papa arrives; valet borrows neighbor's baby; the bluff goes, and there you are.

Intimate Sketches of the Careers and Personalities of Men Powerful in the World of Amusement, Whether or Not Prominent in the Public Eye

GEO. M. COHAN.

No producer enjoys so distinctly an international and thoroughly American popularity as Geo. M. Cohan, the hustling young Irish American, whose songs and sayings are repeated in all the sections of the globe where civilization has progressed far enough to appreciate the spice of wit and song. Up to the present, Cohan has furnished the dramatic and lyric stage with no less than fourteen plays that have found favor on the American Stage.

Probably no name in the world of histrionic art is better or more favorable known. Not only for the genuine satisfaction his songs and plays have given the amusement world, but to the fact that at no time in his career has he stooped to salacious and vulgar methods to create an appeal for his wares.

To this, an everlasting credit to Geo. M. Cohan, may be attributed the vogue this author, actor, composer, playwright manager and producer, have come to have.

Jerry J. Cohan, the father of the Yankee Doodle Boy, as he is affectionately called, was the first of a long line of American Celts to adopt the stage as a profession, which he did by accepting the first important engagement with the Morris Bros. Minstrels, at Providence, R. I. This was in 1867. An old Philadelphia programme, supplied by Frank Dumont, sets forth the fact that Jerry J. Cohan was a member of La Rue's Carnival Minstrels from December, 1868 to June, 1869. During the season of 1869-1870, the elder Cohan became identified with the McEvoy Hibernians, and created the character of Barney, the guide, in that then famous organization.

In 1872, the elder Cohan organized Haley and Cohan Hibernian and Irish Minstrel troupe, but left that branch of the business to sit on the opposite end to Sam Sharpley in Sharpley's Minstrels in 1873.

Jerry J. Cohan was married to Helen F. Costigan in Providence, R. I., September, 1874. The two children, George M. and Josephine, were both born in Providence.

George Michael Cohan first saw the light of day in the Rhode Island Capital, on July 4, 1878, a day since revered by him in story and song. The theatrical season previous to his arrival had not been a monetary triumph with the Cohan family, and the arrival of its heir apparent was not accompanied with too many luxuries, nor was there any great popular demonstration to signalize the important event.

George M. Cohan made his first professional appearance with his family, The Four Cohans's in 1886, when he played second fiddle in the orchestra for Peckerm Farsmans Daniel Boone Company. He also sold song books and otherwise made himself generally useful.

GEORGE M. COHAN.

Capt. Jack Crawford, the "poet scout," was the star of the organization, and he promoted little George to the important role of the Boy Violinist.

As a lad of five years, a violin was one of his Christmas offerings the elder Cohan presented to his son, George M., and before he had reached the age of seven years, he was a remarkably proficient performer on it.

In 1887, Geo. M. Cohan essayed his first real part, that of a fly kid, in his father's production, of The Two Barneys.

It was in 1889 that the Four Cohans toured the country as the Cohan Family of Mirth Makers, in a playlet written by Jerry J. Cohan, called Four of a Kind. The performance consisted of a piano solo by Josephine Cohan, that was followed by the sketch, Four of a Kind, then came a violin solo by "the world's greatest virtuoso," Master Geo. M. Cohan. Sister Josephine had a dance, and then came another piano solo by daughter Josephine, after which came the piece de resistance, The Alarming Sacrifice, another sketch from the pen of Jerry J.

In 1891, when scarcely thirteen years of age, Geo. M. Cohan made a long independent tour as the boy in Peck's Bad Boy.

The sketch team, known as The Four Cohans, was formed in 1892. They immediately jumped into prominence, and their dramas and farces were in much demand.

When Geo. M. Cohan was fifteen years old, he finished and presented his first independent pen product. It was called Money to Burn. It proved a very funny sketch, and imbued with its success, Mr. Cohan wrote another, called Goggle's Doll House, and a third under the title of The Professor's Wife. Not content with furnishing the sketch for his family, George, who has inherited an ear for music, began composing songs and incidental music to accompany the chatter. A Hot Old Time, I Guess I'll Have to Telegraph My Baby, Venus, My Shining Star, Why Did Nellie Leave Her Home, and Underneath the Blankets in a Folding Bed, were all written before he had attained his sixteenth year.

The Governor's Son was written and produced as a sketch when George was eighteen years old. This was followed by Running for Office, also a twenty minute sketch. Both of these little playlets were afterwards lengthened into three act plays, with music, and it may be said that it really was these two plays that made the public sit up and pay some attention to the "Cohan kid," as vaudeville folk called Geo. M. in those days. The Cohans had now established themselves, and were strong favorites in the popular priced theatres throughout the country, as well as Tony Pastor's old theatre in 14th Street, New York City, and at Keith's vaudeville house. But the big theatres of New York knew them not at all, and when that musical melodrama, Little Johnny Jones, was booked for the Liberty Theatre, New York City, there were many that underestimated the ability and genius of this quadri-membered family.

Little Johnny Jones, at the Liberty Theatre, did not score such a tremendous triumph. There was something lacking in the third act, and Mr. Cohan booked it on tour for a few weeks out of town, during which time he rewrote the final act, and came back to Gotham, this time at the big New York Theatre, when Little Johnny Jones scored the biggest hit of its time.

Forty-five Minutes from Broadway, a satire on the village of New Rochelle, N. Y., was written and produced with Miss Fay Templeton as the star in 1905. It had a long and successful run, and is even now being presented in stock from coast to coast. Mr. Cohan followed this play with George Washington, Jr., The Talk of New York, Fifty Miles From Boston, The American Idea, The Man Who Owns Broadway, and The Yankee Prince.

UP-TO-DATE AMUSE

Description of the Features that have of Successful Open-Air

RIVERVIEW EXPOSITION IN RE-VIEW.

ATLANTIC BEACH.

The most scientifically-built swimming pool in the world is Atlantic Beach, the great open-air natatorium in the south end of the park. It is 300 feet in length and 200 feet wide, built of solid concrete throughout, and with clear lake sand strewn over its graduated depth, ranging from three inches to twelve feet. Its capacity is 3,000,000 gallons of pure, filtered lake water, always kept at a temperature of 72 degrees Fahrenheit, and there are locker accommodations for 5,000 bathers. There is a special building for women and children, with maids in attendance. Competent instructors are always on hand to instruct in the art of swimming, and the equipment, which is unsurpassed by any beach west of the Atlantic Coast, comprises a 76-foot diving tower, water chutes, springboards at heights of 5, 10, 20, 30, 45 and 70 feet, rolling logs, turning bars and outdoor gymnasium apparatus. P. T. Harmon, Nell Murray and Ed Smith are the proprietors, and their enterprise is yielding them a handsome revenue at twenty-five cents a head.

An attraction that has proven a great magnet during the summer, is Onup, which is housed in a specially-constructed building adjoining the Monitor and Merrimac Show on the riverfront. A wonderfully skilled performer on the piano, seemingly defies the laws of gravitation and plays the instrument at every angle, while revolving rapidly, and even upside down. This was a sensational feature of the New York Hippodrome for an entire season, and was a big attraction when presented at the Coliseum, Chicago, a year or two ago. William Moore is the manager. The price of admission is ten cents.

WRESTLING ARENA.

One of the largest shows on the Bowery is the Wrestling Arena of Charles Cutler and Sylvie Ferretti, well-known Chicago sporting men and amusement promoters. Charles Cutler, who is something of a wrestler himself, being out with an offer of $100 to anybody who can stay fifteen minutes with him, has gathered a stable of athletes that embraces almost every element in Chicago's mixed population. There are Turks, Austrians, Germans, Irish, Lithuanians, Bulgarians, Dutch, Servians and Germanized colored men in the outfit, and the show is full of life and ginger. An admission fee of only ten cents is charged. The personnel of the show is covered in the roster.

LIBERTY BELLES.

This is a combined vaudeville and singing show, the entertainment being furnished by a bevy of pretty girls. C. V. Blum is the proprietor. He is also the owner of Pietureland, a moving picture show that adjoins it. Admission to the shows is five cents each.

FLEA CIRCUS.

Prof. Wilhelm Fricke's Imperial Flea Circus, from Hamburg, Germany, and Mabel, the Strangest Girl Alive, occupy a booth on the Bowery. The price of admission to both shows being ten cents. The flea, of which there are over 300, perform a wonderful variety of stunts, including the drawing of carriages, automobiles, fire wagons, juggling a ball, presenting a ballet in costume, walking a tight rope, jumping through a hoop, and other wonderful acts. It is most entertaining and instructive. Mabel, the Strangest Girl Alive, earns her title from her fearlessness in handling all kinds of venomous serpents, among them the dreaded diamond-back near the main entrance. The other two are rattler and the copperhead. The show makes a good combination and its patronage has been big.

GERMAN BEER GARDEN.

Free vaudeville is the attraction offered by the German Beer Garden at the south end of the park. Here, under an attractive canopy of varicolored lights, one may sit and drink Altes beer and other beverages while he is listening to a diverting program of variety. William J. Welbasky, who from his 357 pounds of adipose tissue has earned the sobriquet of Big Bill, is in charge, while Carleton King, formerly of the La Salle Theatre, is stage director.

SHOOTING GALLERIES.

There are three shooting galleries on the grounds. J. Mannix is proprietor of the one owned by Belden & Stratton and are located on ese hall game of S. Maeyama, operating ten boards, and importing his own prizes from Japan. Other Japanese games are operated by G. Miyada and T. Tanaka, both of whom are supplied by Takito, Ogawa & Co. Hoopla stands are very popular, there being five, operated by the following persons: P. C. Smith, N. M. Ploher, A. Yamada and Fred Hentzer. The game consists in ringing various prizes by miniature hoops. Similar is the game Jingle Mingle, operated by Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Hudson, the player ringing small numbered medals in a contest for prizes. Tubla is still another game of skill. The idea is to bounce rubber balls into a tub and make them stay there, the winner being accorded various prizes. Cutler & Ferretti operate one of these devices on the Bowery. Louis Hoeckner has a ball game on to this game in Riverview, and all of them are doing the proverbial land-office business. The Old Pike Building at the north entrance of the grounds contains a flourishing stand equipped by the Mexican Armadillo Carlo Company, Cambridge Building, Chicago. This is surrounded afternoon and evening by an eager crowd, throwing at the little dial that makes the swing or staircase collapse, thus precipitating the negro who acts as the target into a tub of water. The coons are the best possible ballyhoo, with their funny remarks and droll antics when "dipped." A Doerr is proprietor of a stand on the North Thoroughfare; Melman and Shapiro own two dips and two collapsible awnings in the north part of the grounds; Harry Lasker operates one in connection with two knife racks, and under the name of the Original Chocolate Drops, Bert Cluny operates four tanks and dips on the Bowery. All of them are big money-makers.

PENNY ARCADES.

Charles Browning operates several penny arcades in Riverview, which supply the kiddies' demand for recreation.

STRIKER GAME.

Henry Belden is proprietor of a striking device, the old sledge, whereby he gathers many nickels from the young men who would show their lusty prowess as wielders of the mallet.

POCKET BALL BOWLING.

Harry S. Richmond, who has been identified until recently with the Parker Shows, is operating a pocket bowling game on the North Thoroughfare, in connection with a glass engraving and steln store, handling souvenir goods.

SILK WEAVING.

Margaret and Katherine, the Fearn Sisters, Englishwomen, who have made every exposition of note since the World's Fair in Chicago, are located on the North Thoroughfare with a booth wherein they weave while you wait souvenir silk handkerchiefs.

PALMISTS.

Those who would peer into the future, will find a multitude of adepts in palmistry who will satisfy their curiosity for a nominal sum. Princess Flying Bird or Mrs. Sanderson, as she is in private life, is the only native American Indian palmist in the business. She has been in the grounds every season for the past seven years, and has many patrons who return regularly to listen to her oracular wisdom. Mme. Setra conducts a College of Science on the North Thoroughfare, Mohamed Sulamin has a Temple of Hindoo Palmistry at the south end of the park, and Mme. Zingra, scientific palmist, who has been in the park since it first opened, holds forth on the Middle Walk next to the Scenic Railway.

SCALE CONCESSION.

Fred. C. Wright is the proprietor of the scale concession, and three of his young men are stationed in various parts of the grounds guessing the weight of the passers-by. The Chatillon Scale Company of New York supply the equipment. The weigher is supposed to guess the weight of the visitor within three pounds, or else it costs the latter nothing. If he does so, it costs the visitor five cents. It is marvelous how expert the young men become in weight-guessing.

RESTAURANTS AND REFRESHMENTS.

Riverview possesses in the Casino Restaurant one of the best cafes in Chicago, wherein the best viands obtainable are prepared in a manner that would appeal to any epicure. In addition to this cafe, there are the Hungarian Restaurant, under the management of D. L. Frank, and the Dairy, the proprietor of which is M. Lohle. In both of these places, good substantial food, ap-the North Main Thoroughfare. That at the beginning of the walk is decorated in rustic effect, and has a pond, across the surface of which ducks and swans swim as an endless target. Water balls, moving pipe racks and automata constitute other targets that invite the shots of the passing visitor. The other gallery is at the intersection of the River Walk, opposite the Chutes, and is built in the shape of a fortress. Fred Knetsch is in charge.

THROWING GAMES.

J. Mannix also runs a baby rack, cane rack and zigzag in connection with the shooting gallery before mentioned. Near him is the Japan-the North Thoroughfare, in which flowers are the prizes. Curley's Flats is another throwing game, which caters to the inborn love of the male sex to throw at a target. In this case it is a miniature house full of glass windows, which you break and get various prizes according to your skill. Arthur Terrell and Ray Hlekey are the proprietors, the former being the originator of the idea. They intend to manufacture them for the trade.

AFRICAN DIPS.

Beyond doubt, the most popular throwing game extant is the African Dip, or Chocolate Drop, as it is called. There are several stands devoted petizingly cooked, may be obtained at reasonable prices. John H. Hall operates twelve refreshment stands in various parts of the grounds, and manufactures ice cream cones under the U. S. Serial number 33,302, in compliance with the Pure Food laws. He has been a concessionaire for the past seven years.

PHOTOGRAPHIC GALLERIES.

The photographic concession is in the hands of John M. Foster and W. J. Coulter, who operate three galleries, two in the north part of the park, and the other on the Bowery.

AIRDOME.

All during the early part of the season, the Airdome, a pleasant enclosed grove on the North Thoroughfare, has been devoted to high-class vaudeville. Recently it has been secured by Uncle Dan Boyington, late of 101 Ranch, who has put in an animal show comprising twenty-two trained mules, a pair of trained horses and a couple of educated buffaloes. Uncle Dan comes direct from Brighton Beach, Coney Island, New York, where his show attracted the enthusiastic attention of the Easterners, and won page after page in the New York magazines and Sunday papers. The show affords a liberal education in the part kindness and humanity plays in the training of dumb animals. Uncle Dan never using the whip.

FOUR-IN-ONE SHOW.

Mrs. Jennie Ackley and her son, A. B. Ackley, have an interesting show on the River Walk, which comprises four animal freaks, admission to which is only a dime. The first is the famous half-deer, half-horse, which Mrs. Ackley brought all the way from Nome, Alaska, where it was born. One side of the beast resembles a deer, and the other side is equine. The hoofs of the animal have grown out in such a manner that it appears to rest on skis, probably an attempt of generous Nature to provide it with proper means of locomotion over the Alaskan tundra. There is a little pig with two bodies and one head; a midget horse, and a Mexican sheep with a coat of seven colors. An Alaskan fish-bear acts as the hallyho.

ARMSTRONG'S WORLD FAMOUS WONDERS.

C. H. Armstrong has gathered a collection of human freaks that is getting the money at only five cents a throw. These are: Artie Atherton, the skeleton dude, weight 35 pounds; Mary Peters, fat woman, weighing 683 pounds, and Millie Long, giantess, whose height is said to be 7 feet 8 inches. These people give a cake walk and Salome dance every half hour.

MISCELLANEOUS ATTRACTIONS.

Dr. F. C. Mayer, late of the Sella-Floto Shows, has a pit show, called the Siamese Twins, an apparently fossilized mummy of twin males, joined by a ligament. The admission is ten cents.

The Mystic Top is a walk-around show, owned by the Keystone Amusement Company, and located on the Bowery. It is under the management of P. Meany. Admission is five cents, and it gives the visitors the requisite number of thrills, usual to shows of this class. Castle Katzenjammer is another attraction of the same class. It is a big laugh-inducer. Mac L. Smith is the manager. Next door is a two-in-one show, a midget and a bearded lady, which is under the proprietorship of midget Baron Nicodemus Barsky. The Magnet, three shows in one, comprise an electric novelty; Princess from the Spirit World, and House-Upside-Down. Ten cents admits to all. J. D. Waggoner is the general manager. The Wild Anna Snake Show is a pit show on the River Walk, under the proprietorship of Charles Ross. During the early part of the season, Shiek Ali Deh conducted his Oriental Theatre on the Bowery, but is now on the fair circuits. There are a number of minor shows, which come and go according to the season, and a large dancing pavilion with a splendid floor is an attraction that is in great favor with the young people.

HILLSIDE PLEASURE PARK.

As stated in last week's issue, Newark, N. J., is "thrice blessed" in the matter of amusement parks—Hillside, Electric and Olympic. The latter two were given a review in the preceding issue, while Hillside was reserved until this week. Hillside is a restful and attractive name for a park that fulfills in every detail the va-single five cent fare rate to about 800,000 persons.

As one enters the park he is immediately greeted by the hum of the bustling concessioners, who skirt the entrance on all sides and in all directions. At a little distance to the right the official office is located, secreted in a corner of a lunch casino. To the left as one enters the big building used as a dance floor and skating rink attracts the attention. This floor is of ample area, and of very durable material, so that the devotees of the skating art rally most strongly to the Hillside gathering place.

At a little distance from this building is the large arena in which Mr. Thaller's own wild west performances, under the supervision of Barney Demarest, are held every afternoon and evening. A short walk across the bridge which spans the lake brings us to the menagerie en-the Hillside collection. In fact, there are too many animals to mention individually, and we might dismiss the discussion of the menagerie by saying that there is no reason for any resident of Newark not being familiar with all the animals that he used to read about in his story book when a child.

The Wild West Show is under the direction of Barney Demarest, who has supporting him a collection of about twenty-five, together with about three dozen to forty horses. The ensemble includes Wyoming Jack and wife, Mason and wife, Bert Rawlins and wife, Charles Aldridge and wife, George Barton and wife, John Frantz, Mildred Von der Heide, Miss Deershamer, Charles Hessinger, familiarly known as Hinds, the rider; Slack and wife, Mrs. Hoffman, Harry Jennicke, Pete Roberts, Mathew T. Frantz, Ernest Shesner, Harry McLean, Johnny Hughes and others, including eight Indians. The program that they offer has several distinct features and several of the members stand out for special praise.

The concessionaire roster is as follows: Soda, ice cream, milk, fruit, pea nuts, ice cream cones, lemon and orangeade, under the control of Nicholas Ballias, assisted by his many relatives; Carousal, Mrs. Emma Smith, proprietor; Mr. Smith, manager; Cane Boards, Jack Silberger, assisted by his wife and daughter; Four Ball Tivoli, Herman Silberger; Striker, Ball Game and Razzle Dazzle, John Huber; Shooting Gallery, August Wesch; Japanese Ball Game, Electric Light Game and Novelty Stand, Curkin Yoon; Fish Pond, Rosa Neary; Wizard Ball Game, Charles Klein; Photo Gallery, Simon Isakovitch; Knife Palsce, James Wright; Hoop-la Game, Hyman Berger; Frankfurter Stand, Peter Dominick Elonomar; Restaurant, Emil Merkle; Magic Wand, Baker and Shelley; the small Roller Coaster, William Krug; the large Roller Coaster, W. E. H. Thaller, manager; crew: Ed Bohn, John Mal, John Bennett and Bob Smith; the Dart Game (new ball device), G. Engelberg; the Flat Wheel, Abe Steinman; Skating Rink, Lew Spinning; Candy Stand and Prize Wheel, Nathan Schwartz; Hot Waffle Stand, J. E. Johnston; Moving Picture Theatre (The Electric), Dominick Maglio; Gypsy Camp, Edwin Smith; Boats, Andrew Salzger; Swings, J. McDonald; Balloon Man, Tom Moore; Dirigible Airship, Frank Seyfang. Tom Moore is the man that gained such commendable publicity for Manager Thaller's resort last week by having his balloon escape most fittingly and land in the heart of New York City, at 42d Street and Broadway, Times Square. The management expect to feel the fruit of Mr. Moore's cleverness on Labor Day, at which time they will have several new features to offer the public.

COOK'S ELECTRIC PARK, EVANSVILLE, IND.

Evansville's beautiful summer resort, Cook's Electric Park, the largest and most picturesque park in the entire Middle West, is now in full operation, and is admired by the thousands who visit it daily. The grounds cover seventeen acres and with an ideal location at the edge of the city, and a one minute and a half street car service, the park is the Mecca of the citizens of Evansville and the strangers visiting here. It is one of the few parks in the country whose avenues are entirely shaded, and all through the hottest days, the visitor is protected from the rays of a hot and blazing sun; all the main avenues are macadamized, lined with hundreds of benches and rustic seats, and every day sees picnic parties taking ad-rious associations that the name applies—rolling contour—verdure on all sides—tall trees and cool shade.

The management have been most careful in their provisions for their patrons' comfort and entertainment, the grounds being studded with restful nooks, cool retreats, engaging devices, a very commendable menagerie, and an alluring lake with plenty of rowboats. Even a cursory glimpse of the offerings convinces that W. E. H. Thaller has carefully devised every means of making his guests enjoy themselves. The Hillside Pleasure Park Company has the following official staff: Chas Thaller, president; J. Marshall, vice-president; T. W. Crowley, secretary, and W. E. H. Thaller, treasurer and general manager. Their capital stock is quoted at $125,000. The grounds comprise seventy-six acres in Belleville, a twenty-two minute ride from the heart of Newark, attainable at the closure. The stock is the property of William Bartels Co., whose offices are located on Cortland Street in New York City. The selection of animals presented is most felicitous and altogether unexpected for a park in a town so close to the Bronx Zoological Garden in New York City. Many animals of equally as rare a species are on exhibition at Manager Thaller's resort. We can gain some appreciation of the animals displayed when we learn that Mr. Bartels uses this park for his live stock headquarters and has erected a very attractive little cottage for himself in its vicinity. In the jungle cages, lions, tigers, jaguars, leopards, etc., are on display. At a little distance from their cages is a large enclosure in which quite a herd of buffaloes disport. Then there is the enclosure for bears of various kinds and cages supplied with water troughs and bath tubs for bears of all descriptions. Many ornate birds are in

AMUSEMENT EVENTS OF THE

HIPPODROME OPENS

1911 Season Opened with a Series of Superb Spectacles—Around the World, The Ballet of Butterflies and Fairies Glen, Remarkable Scenic Productions

New York, September 2 (Special to The Billboard).—The 1911 season of the Hippodrome opened tonight in a blaze of glory with Shubert's gorgeous production entitled Around the World. This season's production, in wealth of conception, costume and music, far exceeds that of last year.

The play is a series of superb spectacles, in two acts and twelve scenes. In the opening scene, Jason Burlingham, an eccentric American millionaire, purchases, at an enormous price, what is said to be one of the largest and finest diamonds in the world. The jewel is delivered to Burlingham on the eve of his and his daughter's departure for a tour of the world on his palatial steam yacht, accompanied by a number of guests. Among these latter is a mysterious Swami of India, who recognizes the diamond as having been stolen from a powerful rajah in his native country by a band of thieves, the stone being known as the Star of India.

A peculiar fact about the jewel, according to the Swami, is that it brings nothing but ill-luck to its owner, and he urges Burlingham to dispose of it at the first opportunity. The millionaire is skeptical, but some color of truth is given the yogi's story when the handsome young widow to whom the diamond's new owner is engaged, suddenly informs him that she has changed her mind. Still unconvinced, Burlingham and his friends board his yacht and sail for England.

Through the evil influence of the diamond some of the party are felled on a false charge, trumped up by English crooks, who steal the jewel and escape to Switzerland. In spite of the seeming confirmation of the wise man's warning, Burlingham continues his journey, meeting with mishaps in each country he visits, endangering his own and the lives of his companions.

Finally convinced that the diamond is the cause of all his trouble, he presents it to an old servant, McShane, whose Irish wit comes to his rescue in time to save him from the total loss of his savings, and the Star of India finds a resting place at the bottom of the Fairies' Wall.

Once rid of the diamond's evil influence, the dashing young widow again changes her mind, and at the same time the obstacle which separated the millionaire's daughter from the man of her choice is swept away forever.

The second part of the program presents the beautiful Ballet of the Butterflies, in two tableaux.

ANOTHER AVIATOR KILLED

John J. Frisbie, Popular Birdman, Falls to His Death at Norton, Kansas—Had Doubted Strength of Machine,
But was Ordered to Fly by Managers

Norton, Kan., Sept. 1 (Special to The Billboard).—John J. Frisbie, a Missouri aviator, was killed by a fall at the Norton County Fair. Frisbie had been giving exhibitions at Elmwood Park for several days. Yesterday his machine acted badly and he had a fall of about forty feet, but beyond being bruised he was not injured.

Frisbie doubted the ability of his machine to stand another flight today, and announced that he would not take the air this afternoon. The spectators, however, were not satisfied with the explanations, and it is thought that rather than make any refunders, Frisbie's managers sent him up. He ascended from the track without difficulty and attained a height of about 100 feet, but in attempting to make a turn the plane tipped and Frisbie lost control. The machine came crashing to the earth, one of the wings striking a barn and the biplane glancing off, struck the earth with Frisbie underneath. Frisbie's wife, son and little girl were witnesses of the accident.

New York, Sept. 2 (Special to The Billboard).—Tilly Winks is the title of a new comedy playlet, written by Oliver White, that Lorimer Johnstone and Caroline Frances Cooke and Company, including B. F. Clifton, are "breaking in" for vaudeville. At the Proctor houses here where the act has been shown, Mr. Johnstone and his company have done exceedingly well with the piece.

Two Killed On Roller Coaster

New York, Sept. 3 (Special to The Billboard).—Two women were killed and two other women and one man seriously injured when a three-car train on the Giant Roller Coaster at Coney Island jumped the track this evening, hurling the occupants of one car over the side of the coaster, 80 feet to the ground. Mrs. Alice Provost, aged 38, of Jersey City, N. J., and Miss Mary Halligan, aged 35, of Scranton, Pa., were the unfortunate victims.

OPERA HOUSE FOR DECATUR.

Loses Houses; Obtains Others

Chicago, September 2 (Special to The Billboard).—A step long contemplated by Jonea, Linick & Schaefer, was brought to a head this week when all their Chicago houses, including the Wilson, Willard and Orphenus, were taken from Frank Q. Doyle, and turned over to the W. V. M. A. This will probably have some bearing on the future of the American Music Hall, although to date this has not been decided, although a rumor is current that Lew Fields will open the house at the end of September. Under the present arrangement Mr. Doyle will book the above-mentioned houses until the week of September 11, and some of the feature acts until the 18th. It was rumored about the Rialto that Mr. Doyle was offered a desk in the Association and refused to accept it, preferring to go his way single handed. However, this has not been confirmed. Among the more important houses which will use Mr. Doyle's booking are included Frank Tabbott's new St. Louis house, the Hippodrome, which will be completed about October 15. The house is located on Sixth and Market Streets, and will have a seating capacity of 3,000. The Gaiety Theatre at Springfield, the Bijou at Kankakee, and the Gem Theatre in St. Louis, are also included in the houses to be booked by

A True Wagnerian Pianist

New York, Sept. 2 (Special to The Billboard).—The sensation of Sullivan & Considine feature acts is Vilmos Westony, who has just begun his second tour of the S. & C. chain of houses. Westony is billed as the "Only Wagnerian pianist in the world." It is claimed that when a boy Westony was "discovered" by Richard Wagner. The great master was astonished when he first heard the little Hungarian at the technique, tone and versatility Westony possessed. Wagner encouraged him in every way and from that time Westony has been steadily going forward.

Westony was a pupil of the genius D'Vornik. He studied music since five years of age. His repertoire is extensive, but for his vaudeville engagements he has prepared a series of spectacular features, including an imitation on the piano of a complete orchestra and a marvelous melody of French, German, English and American anthems which he plays simultaneously. Upon his last visit to the theatres comprising the Sullivan & Considine Circuit, Westony was a phenomenal success. In every house he was featured and to almost all of the houses on the circuit he drew record-breaking audiences. His second tour, which has just been started, promises to be a far greater success than his first.

OHIO STATE FAIR

Rivals Proverbial Donnybrook in its Belligerent 1911 Meeting, Concessioners, Exhibitors and Privilege People Incensed—Attendance Below Last Normal Year

Columbus, O., Sept. 2 (Special to The Billboard).—The Ohio State Fair for the first time in its history, closed amid a storm of discontent. For many years the Ohio State Fair has been a splendid exposition reflecting the greatness of the state and the contented prosperity of its people living peacefully amid an abundance of agricultural and manufacturing wealth. This year in most respects the fair was a disgrace. From its opening day to its close, it was a continued and constant source of hickering.

On account of the abolition of the complimentary or pass system, all the exhibitors, horsemen and concessioners were compelled to pay cash and every time they entered the grounds.

To "break even," the exhibitors and privilege people who had wares to sell were compelled to increase the prices. The public, as usual, suffered financially by reason of the policy of the fair management.

Another unpleasant feature of the fair was the presence of the National Guardmen as policemen, who arrested people without warrant, subjected them to "man handling" and undertook to punish them without trial.

An illustration of these fresh boys' lack of experience and desire to be over-zealous was the treatment accorded Postmaster Harry Krumm, who, on delivering stamps for the temporary post-office, refused to pay entrance money and was very roughly treated. On appealing to the powers that be to right such actions he was given no attention whatever. Regular policemen were refused admittance, so were city health officers who called in the regular per-

BRIGHTON BEACH SEASON ENDS.

New York, Sept. 2 (Special to The Billboard).—The third season at the New Brighton Theatre closed Sunday night, September 10. Business at the house throughout the summer term was most satisfactory.

Another Fake Agent Caught

The accompanying illustration is taken from a photograph of a grafter who was put to grief in Meridian, Miss., last week. This party went by the name of H. Spaulding and represented that he was a purchasing agent and advertising solicitor for Barnum & Bailey's Circus. After purchasing a big bill of groceries, meat, flour, feed and ice from a merchant, he proceeded to sell the merchant an advertisement in the program or on the elephants' back, collecting $3.00, $4.00, $5.00, $6.00 or $10.00 for the ad, according to the victim upon whom he was working. Last Tuesday he blew into Meridian, Miss., and contracted with a local coffee house for about $100.00 worth of coffee and peanuts to be delivered to the show grounds in Meridian on September 30, and collected $3.00 in advance. He also contracted for $200 worth of meat from a local butcher and collected $5.00, $250.00 in groceries and collected $4.00, $150.00 worth of bread and collected $1.00. The victimized merchants became suspicious about 4 p. m. and telephoned the city billposter, Fred Roy Ziller, for information. The billposter, knowing the Ringlings never showed Meridian with either the Ringling or the Barnum & Bailey show prior to November 1 to 15, immediately denounced Spaulding as a crook and thief and ordered Spaulding to produce his credentials. Spaulding walked one of the victimized merchants, a policeman, and the billposter about four blocks to a local hotel, ostentatiously showing his credentials. Spaulding boldly walked up to the hotel clerk and asked for key to room 463 and the clerk promptly replied they had no such numbered room in their hotel. The local folks insisted that he go to jail, but Spaulding insisted that the local party accompany him to the Union formance of duty to protect visitors from insurrection.

A. P. Sandles, the secretary, refused to be interviewed by newspaper men and his side of the difficulty could not be learned. There is no doubt that it will take several state fairs in the future to eliminate the taste from the exhibitors, privilege people and the public's mouths, that the high-handed method that those in charge used in handling this fair.

The attendance was 19,000 short of the last normal year, 1909. Last year, this city at fair time, was in the throes of a street-car strike. This year's attendance to be exact was 118,294 paid admissions, as against 127,422 for 1909, the last normal year.

LEW SIMMONS KILLED

Oldest Active Black-Face Performer in the World Crushed to Death by Loaded Auto Truck—Started Career as an Amateur in 1849

Reading, Pa., Sept. 2 (Special to The Billboard).—Lew Simmons, one of the best-known minstrels on the American stage, who was appearing in vaudeville here this week, was run over and crushed by a loaded auto truck today and sustained injuries which caused his death a few minutes after being admitted to the hospital.

Simmons' body will be shipped to his late home at Allentown, on Monday, the funeral to take place from there on Tuesday or Wednesday.

Lew Simmons had the distinction of being the oldest active black-face performer in the world. He was born in New Castle, Pa., Aug. 27, 1838, and commenced his career as an amateur at Warren, O., in 1849. In December, 1859, he made his first New York appearance at the Melodeon. In 1861 he joined Hooley and Campbell's Minstrels, and early in 1863, in conjunction with Bob Hart, organized a minstrel company bearing their names. He played with Carnaross and Dixey's Minstrels in Philadelphia from 1864 until the opening of Simmons and Slocum's Minstrels at the Arch Street Opera House, in Philadelphia (which was built for them), in 1870. Mr. Simmons continued at this house until 1876. In 1875 Billy Swadnam was admitted as a partner, and in 1876 Simmons and Slocum withdrew. In 1886, Simmons and Slocum's Minstrels again opened at their old home in Philadelphia.

He left the profession in the 80's, vowing never to return, but he did, in the early 90's. Mr. Simmons was one of the owners of the Athletic Club of the American Association Base Ball League, which won the championship in 1883.

NEW BROOKLYN THEATRE.

Brooklyn, N. Y., August 31 (Special to The Billboard).—The new Linden Theatre, at Flatbush and Linden Avenues, Brooklyn, opened Monday, August 28, showing vaudeville and motion pictures. The house is one of the best of Brooklyn picture houses, showing at from ten to fifty cents. Four reels of pictures of recent release and four vaudeville acts will comprise the bill.

NEW THEATRE FOR ALEXANDRIA

Alexandria, La., Sept. 2 (Special to The Billboard).—Negotiations are being made for another theatre for the coming season. If the deal can be put through for the site, interested parties will erect a handsome building, 45x116, on a lot opposite the Rapids Theatre. This house will be devoted to moving pictures and probably high-class vaudeville. The parties expect to arrange all details during the next few days.

Theatrical Man Breaks Neck

Cleveland, O., Sept. 3 (Special to The Billboard).—Leaping from an automobile to recover his hat, which had blown off, Harry E. Saywell, secretary-treasurer of the Colonial Theatre, fell to the street and broke his neck early this morning.

Saywell came to Cleveland from Albany, where he managed a theatre. He was known by theatrical men throughout the United States.

ROSSKAM LEASES THEATRE.

Fremont, O., Sept. 2 (Special to The Billboard).—The Fremont Opera House has been leased for a term of years to Charles H. Rosskam, owner of the Chicago Stock Company. Several changes and improvements in the theatre will be made and the best line of attractions obtainable will hold forth. Mr. Rosskam contemplates making Fremont his future home and headquarters.

LEW SIMMONS,

Oldest minstrel in the world, was killed at Reading, Pa., Sept. 2, by an auto truck.

JANET BEECHER,

Appearing in The Concert.

Fred Niblo's New Home

New York, Sept. 1 (Special to The Billboard).—Specimens of all the animals of the different countries he has visited in the last decade are being collected by Fred Niblo, star of The Fortune Hunter, for the purpose of placing them on his estate at Mattituck, Long Island, N. Y. Twenty acres of the place are wooded and here the animals will be allowed to roam at will.

Plans of the buildings have been accepted by Mr. and Mrs. Niblo and it is their expectation to occupy the place next summer. The dwelling will be an exact copy of a famous chateau at Touraine, France.

There is a natural lake on the estate which is situated on the highest point of Long Island. The place will be named Storm Cliff. There is 1,000 feet of shore front and on a clear day anyone may see the Connecticut shore line twenty miles away without the aid of field glasses.

The new home of Mr. and Mrs. Niblo is perhaps one of the most picturesque on Long Island and when all the plans have been carried out, it will be an ideal place in which to live.

SOUTH NORWALK HOUSE OPENS.

New York, Sept. 2 (Special to The Billboard).—Having undergone a complete renovation, the Music Hall at South Norwalk, Conn., will be opened for the season September 2 with The Girl in the Taxi. Other New York successes have been booked for the house.

Changes in Kohl Management

Chicago, Aug. 29 (Special to The Billboard).—Mrs. Caroline Kohl's purchase of the controlling stock of the firm of Kohl & Castle, from George Middleton and George Castle, makes many changes in the management of the theatres controlled by that firm. Col. William Roche assumes the position of general manager for Mrs. Kohl, with entire control of the Haymarket, Bijou and Academy Theatres, in addition to his Alhambra and Marlowe holdings.

Ralph T. Ketterling, for the past two years press representative of all of the theatres in which Col. Roche is interested, has been appointed assistant general manager. Mr. Ketterling also becomes resident manager of the Bijou, playing Stair & Havlin attractions.

Tom Carmody has been re-engaged as resident manager of the Academy, which will continue to house vaudeville. A. Kaufman continues as acting manager and treasurer at the Haymarket. Joseph Meyers is advertising agent with Mr. Joseph Smith as assistant, and George McFarland holds a similar position at the Bijou. By the new change, Abe Cohen returns to the Bijou as treasurer after an absence of a year. The publicity of the Haymarket, Alhambra, Bijou, Academy and Marlowe will remain in the hands of Mr. Ketterling, with Arthur H. Wallace as secretary to him.

The change makes Col. Roche the managerial magnate of Chicago, being the only individual in the Western metropolis directing the policy of five theatres.

New York, August 30 (Special to The Billboard).—The exact theatrical center of New York on the evening of August 28, 1911, was located at 38th Street and Broadway, and to this place—or more exactly, to the Knickerbocker Theatre—came taxis, motors and vehicles of all descriptions, unloading premier society in wondrous numbers. This host of beings were paying homage to Chas. Frohman's season-initiative production, The Siren, in which Donald Brian occupies the stellar capacity, assisted by none other than Julia Sanderson. The assembled audience had come prepared to marvel at the terpsichorean levity of the new star, who dances and kissed his way to notice in The Merry Widow. EMMA WEHLEN.

Liebler & Co., in selecting Miss Wehlen for the principal female role in Marriage A La Carte, gave another evidence of their propensity for choosing the right person for the right place.

Hassan Ben Ali's Season

New York, Aug. 31 (Special to The Billboard).—Whether it was engendered by the impending international war in Morocco or was merely a reflex of the prevailing habit of the girls in carrying Arabian shoulder bags is a matter of small moment. The fact remains that this is to be a no uncertain measure, so far as theatricals are concerned, a Morocco year.

Though Hassan Ben Ali has been a figure in the amusement world for over twenty years, and has been busy enough to have acquired a comfortable fortune from it, neither he nor his acrobats have ever been so much in demand as at the present time. He will have one troupe in each of the two Bohemian Girl companies that the Aborns are putting out. He has been asked by Liebler & Co. to furnish fifty Arabs and a Zwawa dancing girl for The Garden of Allah and has already cabled for Hohna, the most famous dancer in Tangier. But the most important immediate task that Hassan has assumed is that of putting on a big Eastern scene in the Hippodrome in which a caravan encamps in front of the Sphinx.

There are two other Arabian plays scheduled thus far. Edgar Selwyn's play, The Arab, which Henry B. Harris will produce in Rochester, this week, and Kismet, a Klaw & Erlanger production, which promises to be one of the spectacles of the season.

SEVEN DAYS PLEASES.

New York, Aug. 31 (Special to The Billboard).—Seven days returned to its original home, the Astor Theatre, Monday night, August 28, for a brief stay, pending the production of a new Wagenhals & Kemper play. The audience seemed to find the experiences of the quarantined household as funny as before. The cast was as follows: James Wilson, Willard Louis, Dallas Brown, James Manley, Tom Harrison, William S. Lyon, Officer Flannigan, T. J. McMahon, Tubby McGirk, the burglar, William Eville, Robbs, F. C. Butler, Bella Knowles, Mary Land, Anne Brown, Irma LaPierre, Kit McNair, Winona Shannon, and Aunt Selina, Marie Haynes.

ETHEL BARRYMORE REHEARSING

New York, Sept. 1 (Special to The Billboard).—Ethel Barrymore returned to New York August 28, to begin rehearsals of her new play, The Witness for the Defense. The author of the play, A. E. W. Mason, has written to Charles Frohman that he intends to come to the United States in time for the final rehearsals.

SCRIBES ATTEND REHEARSAL.

New York, Sept. 2 (Special to The Billboard).—The dress rehearsal of the new Hippodrome performance, Around the World, took place on Friday evening, September 1. The representative newspaper men and fellow producers were on hand to pay homage to this Shubert mastodon.

UP AND DOWN BROADWAY

New York, Sept. 2 (Special to The Billboard).—Liebler & Co. have fixed Friday evening, September 15, as the date for the opening of the amended version of The Blue Bird, at the Century Theatre. Hugh Ford, general stage producer for the firm, promises a number of innovations, suggested by the European productions, which he witnessed during his absence from New York.

Miss Faddma, in her own Biskra, the most famed exponent of the Algerian national dance, has been engaged, it has just been announced by Liebler & Co., for the forthcoming production of The Garden of Allah, at the Century Theatre. One scene of the Robert Hichens play will be laid in the street in Bent-More (Biskra), given over to the Ouled Nalla, and here, in the largest of the dance halls, it was that the man and the woman, figuring in the book, witnessed the spectacular contortionate movements of the entertainers.

Hugh Ford, who is staging The Garden of Allah, said of this specialty for which Faddma has been engaged: "We are going to show the Algerian dance as it is, not as it has been exaggerated by performers at World's Fairs, but as it really exists today in the countries. We visited this summer for the purpose of transferring actual conditions in Africa to the stage of America. The dance is purely muscular, and is cultivated in certain families from almost the infancy of the dancers.

Max Hirschfeld, for the past five years musical director of Victor Herbert operas, has been engaged by Werha and Luescher as director for Lina Glaser's starring season in Miss Dodelsack, with an orchestra of thirty musicians. Since closing with The Girl in the Train company, Mr. Hirschfeld has almost completed the score of a new comedy opera in two acts, which Werha and Luescher have under consideration for a production next season. It is a Dutch opera, with the scene laid in Scheveningen, Holland.

Robert E. Graham has been engaged for one of the important characters in Henry W. Savage's forthcoming production of Little Bay Bine, the American adaptation by A. E. Thomas and Edward Paulm, of Henri Berdy's Viennese success, Lord Piccolo. For the past three seasons, Mr. Graham attained a distinctive success as Popoff, the Marsavian Ambassador, in Mr. Savage's production of The Merry Widow. At the termination of last season's tour of the Lehar operetta, he was especially engaged for the role of Sir Joseph Porter in the Casino, All Star revival of Pinafore.

—The Harris Theatre (so named in honor of Wm. R. Harris) formerly known as the Hackett, opened its doors to a very curious and enthusiastic audience for a Thursday night, August 31, premiere, anxious to inspect the remodeled playhouse, enthusiastic to pay plauditory homage to Rose Stahl, an acknowledged mistress of vernacular wit among all actresses. Henry H. Harris has changed the interior of the theatre materially, and has improved it wonderfully in both ornamentation and acoustics. So much for Mr. Harris; his part was nobly done.

No criticism of the popular star, Rose Stahl, could be registered. She rose to the full opportunities in moments of wit, wisdom and genuine pathos. What dramatic requirements were called for the actress met with credit. Needless to remark, her conception of the humor in her lines was delightfully keen, and many the line of dull monotony or meaning that was made to bristle with personality when interpreted by the former "Chorus Lady." As the ranting critic of the American phrased it (after dissecting the drama and plot itself) "he convinced himself that Charles Klein failed to produce a pen story as majestic, meritorious and consummate as his masterful dramatic plays." But Rose Stahl herself soared above her play. She left it, like Lord Illin's daughter, "tapering." She is a uniquely clever woman, full of splendid possibilities, some of which emerged in Maggie Pepper.

Another Revival of Pinafore

New York, Sept. 3 (Special to The Billboard).

—The star revival of Pinafore, which created a sensation early in the summer, and which was discontinued only because of the excessive heat, reopens with a Labor Day matinee. Miss Fay Templeton, who has been absent from the stage for several seasons, has joined this organization to play the role of Little Buttercup. Her return to the stage in this presentation makes the reopening an event no less important than the first night of the revival. The Pinafore revival was originally announced for four weeks and was continued for six. The present engagement will be limited to two weeks only and will be immediately followed by a revival of Gilbert and Sullivan's masterpiece, The Pirates of Penzance, with a cast composed of the same players. The complete Pinafore Company includes DeWolf Hopper, Fay Templeton, George J. MacFarlane, Viola Gillette, E. E. Graham, Edith Deck, Arthur Aldridge, Eugene Cowles and Alice Brady.

D'ORSAY RETURNS.

New York, Sept. 1 (Special to The Billboard).—Lawrence D'Orsay returned to New York on the Atlantic Transport Liner Minneapolis, Monday, August 28, after two months spent at his home in Shoreham near Brighton, England. He is in town to begin rehearsals of The Earl of Pawlucket. Immediate Mabel Taliferro was another passenger on the Minneapolis. She said she had no theatrical plans at present.

JANE CORCORAN CHANGES PLANS

New York, Sept. 2 (Special to The Billboard).—Jane Corcoran has been engaged by William A. Brady to play principal roles with Grace George and the Pinafore Company, and will not appear in Mollie. Miss George will open at the Astor Theatre, beginning on Labor Day, and will come to New York in October with a repertoire made up of Just to Get Married, The Earth and Much Ado About Nothing.

TY COBB'S VEHICLE.

New York, Aug. 31 (Special to The Billboard).—The arrangements for Ty Cobb's debut behind the footlights have been completed and the contract signed, it was announced today. Vaughan Glaser, a personal friend of Cobb, will produce the play, which will be The College Widow, revamped into a baseball drama, so that Ty can come to bat with the bases loaded and make a clean up.

A complete list of attractions at New York Theatres appears on page 61.

WEEK IN NEW YORK CITY

HAMMERSTEIN'S BIG BILL

Program Offered for Last Week of Season at Roof of "Corner" Theatre Replete with Sterling Numbers—New Pantomimic Production Makes Big Hit

New York, Sept. 2 (Special to The Billboard).—For the last week of the season of roof varieties at Hammerstein's "Corner" theatre a corking bill has been arranged. The length of the program and the roof itself were the headlines as per custom to the opening and closing acts, but those artists in secure spots made the best of their opportunities, and the result was, as we have just said, a bill replete with entertaining qualities.

LaBelle Amila and Paul had a most difficult position—opening the show—but succeeded in arresting the attention of the tardy ones by some startling gymnastic feats. The early spot also effected Alfredo, the violinist, a new act, and reviewed a number that began.

Hugh Lloyd has the real opportunity of the evening, for at the time of his entrance the house was fairly well filled. Lloyd does eleven minutes work on the bounding rope, and does his work well, too. He has an assistant, a woman, who other than whistling a solo, does nothing but look pretty. The "topsy turvy dancer," Louis Stone, held over from the second week, was appreciated.

A new pantomimic production (reviewed under New Acts), called The Apple of Paris, was presented by Coccia and Amato, assisted by a company of competent pantomimists. The piece went big. Tompat and Saubias, who have just finished an engagement at the Winter Garden; Bert Levy, giving his "pictorial idea of famous men and women," and Aldo Overton Walker, assisted by Bobby Kemp and eight dusky maids, followed in the order named. Miss Walker and her company closed the first half of the show.

A new comedy musical act, Williams and Donn, gave the second half of the show a splendid start. Howard and Howard, who followed them, were a near riot.

Consul the Great is back at the roof for another week. At every week's engagement in Hammerstein's Consul has a few new tricks that have been added to the routine since the simian's previous appearance at the Corner. He now has several additional feats that are clever.

Even Bill at 5th Avenue

New York, Sept. 2 (Special to The Billboard).—Aside from one or two turns of fluctuating tendency, the Fifth Avenue bill this week runs pretty well on a general tenor of merit. Emma Carus is the show's headliner, but it must be said that several other artists at the bill finished in a tie with her in the race for the honor of the "hit of the bill."

Joe Fanton and his Awakening Athletes, an act that has been unusually successful in the West, opened the show. On account of the fact that this is the first appearance of Joe Fanton and his athletes in New York their number is reviewed under New Acts. Second and third positions were filled by Tim Cronin and Porter J. White and Company, respectively, the last named company presenting one of Oliver White's dramatic playlets called The Beggar.

Just Landed, the skit in which Walter and Georgia Laurence, regaled Fifth Avenue audiences, is a clever conception in which is embodied some original witty dialogue and one or two good song numbers. A detailed description of the vehicle is given under New Acts.

Salerno is billed as Europe's greatest juggler, which means the greatest in the world. The billing is not an exaggeration. Salerno is the best juggler on the stage today. Many may attempt to duplicate the juggling feat performed by Salerno but never have they succeeded in doing the work as Salerno does it.

Following Salerno in a hard spot, George W. Jones and Bea N. Deely registered a solid hit with their hilariously funny skit, Hotel St. Reckless. Deely has a song which struck popular fancy and the audience insisted upon encore after encore.

To follow such successes as those rung up by the two acts preceding them on the bill meant hard work for Mr. and Mrs. Allison to keep up the pace, but at the finish they breezed home a winner. Minnie from Minnesota, which is the title of their offering, is a piece from which the Allison extract the best that is in it.

Emma Carus was compelled to sing six songs before she was permitted to retire. This gives evidence of the manner in which Miss Carus was received.

With some slight changes in the frame-up, Will Boehm's Athletic Girls gave exhibitions of fencing, boxing, wrestling and bag punching. That no one left the house while the act was on and that the audience remained seated long enough to shower approbation upon the performers is a pretty good recommendation for the act. Pathe's weekly pictures of a series of current events were interesting.

CURRENT VAUDEVILLE BILLS.

New York, September 2 (Special to The Billboard).—Bills at local vaudeville theatres next week are:

Alhambra—Princess Rajah, Jack Wilson Trio, Charles Richmond and Co., Great Lester, Roscoe Willets, Middleloia and Spellmeyer, Fred Watson, the Kratoas.

The liveness of their appearance on the bill hindered Stepp, Mehlinger and Klag, the Rathskeller Trio, from scoring as heavily as they are wont to do when the spot is favorable. The Lambert Brothers, in posing numbers and acrobatic tests, closed the show and showed to mostly empty chairs.

CARRIE REYNOLDS.

The cleverness and dulthness of Miss Reynolds contributes largely to the success of the Red Rose, now running at the Globe Theatre, New York City.

PERTINENT PATTEN

New York, Sept. 2 (Special to The Billboard).—Maude Rockwell has signed contracts to appear in Lew Fields' forthcoming production, called The Never Homes.

About December 1, Eddie Leonard will minstrel, will begin rehearsals with one of the Lew Fields productions.

Norma Thomas has joined The Follies of 1911 at the New York Roof.

Alie, Aud Hill and Harry Hill arrived in New York this week from the Coast, and are now resting on their farm at Smithtown.

Sydney Nelson, who bore the name of Sydney Rody until recently, has signed to go out with Valeska Suratt in The Red Rose.

Edith Hutton, who last season did a single act in vaudeville, will this season do a two act with one of her former partners.

The Woodwells, acrobats, have opened on the Keith & Proctor Time.

Ben Jackson has succeeded Lep Solomon as treasurer of the City Theatre. Solomon has been transferred to the Nemo Theatre. Both houses are operated by William Fox.

Hubert Deveau, the cartoonist, is scoring a success over the Keith & Proctor Circuit.

JOE FANTON AND HIS AWAKENING ATHLETES; Fifth Avenue; ten minutes; fall stage.

The fine team work, as well as the splendid individual efforts, of Joe Fanton and His Awakening Athletes gives to the number a finish rarely to be found in acrobatic turns. Fanton has worked out an excellent frame-up. With the rise of the curtain the spotlight is played upon Fanton, who is in the roman rings, and his two assistants, who stand on pedestals beside him. Fanton goes into a "pull-up" feat, which is far more difficult than it is showy. He then relinquishes the limelight to his partners, one of whom does a series of revolutions with the use of the rings, and the other follows with a shoulder dislocation feat. The feature trick of the act is announced as "a daring feat by Joe Fanton." Fanton is blindfolded. He swings with the rings, momentarily dispenses with his hold, turns a somersault, and regains the use of the rings on the same swing. It is a corking trick and at the Fifth Avenue brought much applause. Fanton has an act that is more than good all the way through.

WALTER AND GEORGIE LAURENCE, in a comedy skit, Just Landed; Fifth Avenue Theatre; sixteen minutes; special drop, in one.

Walter and Georgie Laurence have an act in one through which runs the semblance of a story. Miss Laurence has just landed from Ireland. She was to have been met at the dock by her Tom O'Callahan, but Tom is late. Miss Laurence is seated upon her trunk, when a customs officer comes upon the scene and plies her with questions. The dialogue that is injected at this time is excellent indeed. The customs officer, becoming disgusted at Miss Laurence's hopelessness in answering his questions, makes his exit. Miss Laurence then goes into a song. Mr. Laurence returns, this time as Tom O'Callahan, and after some badinage and song claims his Mary. Just Landed is an act away above par, and Walter and Georgie Laurence handle it in the best of style.

ALFREDO, Violinist; Hammerstein's; eleven minutes; in one.

This week at Hammerstein's, Alfredo is given his first opportunity to demonstrate in faster company his ability as a violinist. Until this

They will show an entire new series of the Coronation views, taking in the best-known quarters in London, including the King and Queen leaving Buckingham Palace on Coronation Day; the royal progress over London Bridge; the greatest naval review ever taken, entitled Watch Dogs of the World, and will continue to show the Richmond Horse Show in which Judge Harmon Moore of Chicago, and A. G. Vanderbilt of New York, held up the honors so nobly.

AMUSEMENT EVENTS OF

The action passes in Virginia, in the closing months of the Civil War.

Chicago, Sept. 2 (Special to The Billboard).—September the first possessed a three-fold importance to Chicagoans this year. Besides ushering in the first of the "oyster months" and sounding the knell of the straw hat, it marked the formal opening of the fall theatrical season with a notable premiere, that of the Farnum Brothers, Dustin and William, in Edward Peple's latest melodrama, The Littlest Rebel. In this stirring story of the American Civil War, the critics find a worthy successor to the laurels so long held by Shandosh and Field by the Emory, observe the Farnums at their best, and discover a child actress of remarkable talent in Miss Mary Miles Minter. From all indications, The Littlest Rebel promises to be one of the season's successes.

The scenes are laid in Virginia in the closing days of the great internecine struggle, and involve the heroic effort of a Southern father to succor his little girl, who is left all alone on a devastated plantation, at the risk of his life. William Farnum is the devoted father, and little Miss Minter is his daughter Virgie Cary.

In one of the clandestine visits, the father, who is a scout in the Confederate Army, is surprised by a body of Federal troops under the command of Lieut. Col. Morrison (Dustin Farnum) and is secreted by his child in the attic of the house, which is reached through a

SAID AND SEEN IN CHICAGO

Items of Personal Gossip and Brief Bits of News of Interest to the Amusement Profession Picked Up in the Vicinity of Randolph, Dearborn and Clark Streets

Chicago, September 2 (Special to The Billboard).—Father Dearborn, after a summer of theatrical famine, will have an opportunity to gorge himself from now on. Last night the Chicago Opera House opened its new season with Dustin and William Farnum and company in The Littlest Rebel. Tonight, the Garrick, with Holbrook Blinn in The Boss, the Grand, with William Hode in The Man from Home, and the new-christened Angelus, formerly the Globe, with a pretentious revival of Wang, all blossom forth. Sunday night witnesses the premiere of Louisiana Lou at the La Salle Opera House and the first metropolitan presentation of Uncle Sam at the Olympic, in which Thomas Wise and John Barrymore jointly star. On Monday night, the Colonist, which has been dark ever since early June, will resume with Ziegfeld's Follies, the re-christened Follies of 1911.

GARRICK.—Holbrook Blinn will be seen in the leading role of Michael Regan in Edward Sheldon's latest play of American modern life, with which the Garrick reopens. Behind the craft and unscrupulous business methods of Regan lies a sturdy manliness and nobility that requires the test of love and suffering to bring it out, and as such it offers an interesting psychological study. Maude Fealey plays the role of the wife in the Chicago production.

ANGELUS.—Colonel William A. Thompson, formerly manager of the American Music Hall, opens his season of comic opera at the Angelus (formerly the Globe), Wabash Avenue and Peck Court, on Saturday night with the great De Wolf Hopper success, Wang, as the initial offering. New scenery, property and costumes and an excellent company are promised. William F. Glover, director of the Castle Square and Drury Lane productions, is musical director. The chorus contains thirty-four picked ambitious operatic performers, and the principals comprise Vira Ethelia, Dorothy Vaughn, Anna Hoffman, Dena Juliana, Veia Melcom, Arthur Deans, George Kunkel, Charles Huntington, Francis J. Abbott, Le Roy S. Pilcher and E. H. Kruiske.

LA SALLE.—Louisiana Lou, Harry Askin's new musical comedy production, will have its Chicago premiere tomorrow evening. Highly favorable reports have preceded it from Milwaukee, where it had its tryout last week. The librettists are Addison Burkhardt and Frederick Donaghey, and the composer of the score is Ben Jerome. Frank Smithson staged the

Lyric Theatre
Opens Sept. 11

Chicago, Sept. 2 (Special to The Billboard).—The Lyric will open on September 11, with a single week's engagement of Gertrude Hoffman's Saison de Ballets Russes (Season of Russian Ballets). This large organization comes intact to Chicago from the Winter Garden, New York, where it will close on September 9. A special train of four Pullmans and three baggage cars will convey the performers and their paraphernalia and a special stage is being laid at the Lyric, so that there may be no splinters in the bare feet of the dancers.

CHICAGO BURLESQUE NOTES.

Chicago, Sept. 2 (Special to The Billboard).—This week's business in every one of the Chicago burlesque houses was surprising. In each of the houses of both wheels, business was reported as exceptionally good. Gallagher and Shean's Big Banner Show was the attraction at the Columbia. The show was clean and full of good comedy, and offers an exceptionally fine olio. The Columbia is the only burlesque house in the loop and has things pretty much its own way. From present indications it will be a financial winner this season.

At the Empire Theatre, I. N. Herk presents The Pacemakers, featuring the Totola Glide. The songs are the feature of this show which played to the best business it has known this season.

At the Folly the Jardin de Paris Girls hold forth and played to packed houses.

At the Star and Garter the Bon-Tons held the week. There is a great improvement over the show in comparison to when seen here last. The costumes are all new and bright and the chorus exceptionally good looking. Several good comedians are carried with the show, also a number of good singers. Manager Moe of the Star and Garter, reports the outlook this season to be far better than that of last.

S. & C. GET ANOTHER HOUSE.

Chicago, Sept. 2 (Special to The Billboard).—Ben Ross' new house at Fort William, Ont., which will open September 4, with a preliminary bill, will start regular vaudeville performances on the 11th, with five acts and two reels of pictures. It will be booked through the Sullivan & Considine offices. The house will be called the Corona and was built at a cost of $70,000.

PRICE VISITS CHICAGO.

Chicago, Sept. 2 (Special to The Billboard).—J. B. Price, manager of a circuit of theatres in Missouri, with headquarters at Hannibal, was in Chicago the special guest of the Kinemacolor Picture Co. Mr. Price has under contemplation the playing of Kinemacolor photos in his theatres, but so far nothing definite has been decided upon.

Bob Saborn has joined a stock company at Elwood, Ind., to play heavy roles.

Excellent Attractions Scheduled

Chicago, Sept. 1 (Special to The Billboard).—Some excellent attractions are scheduled for the coming week at the outlying houses. Manager T. C. Gleason's Stock Company opens its new season at the College Theatre on Labor Day, September 4, with George M. Cohan's The Yankee Prince. The company this season comprises Marie Nelson and Rodney Ranous in the leading places, and Camille D'Arcy, Martha Boucher, Vera Wadsworth, Arling Alcuie, Tom Swift, C. Milford Gilpin, Jay Quigley, Harry Manners and Charles P. Pitt.

The largest single order of printing in the history of theatricals was contracted for by Gus Hill, for his Mutt and Jeff Companies. In all there will be over eighty different varieties. The contract has been divided among four printing firms, who are working night and day to complete the complement in time for the opening of the season. Such well-known artists as Bud Fisher, George McManus and Otto Hughtaff have furnished the sketches.

The Man From Home at Grand

Chicago, Sept. 4 (Special to The Billboard).—After an absence of four seasons, William Hodge returns to the Grand Opera House in The Man From Home, which was originally produced at the Studebaker Theatre, Chicago, in the early autumn of 1907, and was later transferred to the Chicago Opera House, where it ran into the warm weather. Now after unobscuring the longest runs in the theatrical history of New York, Boston and Philadelphia, the play and star returns to the city of its inception, where another enthusiastic season is sure to await it. Hodge brings back with him Henry Harmon, Echlin P. Gayer and Ida Vernon, and will have new players Harold Russell, Arthur Bell, Helen Harvest and Lenora Von Ottinger.

John Rely, treasurer of the Lyric Theatre, Chicago, is back in town with a fine coat of tan accumulated while fishing and swimming at his uncle's farm at Lake Villa, Ill.

Follies Begin
Chicago Run

Chicago, Sept. 3 (Special to The Billboard).—Ziegfeld's Follies, the fifth of the series of musical reviews produced by Florence Ziegfeld Jr., begins a limited engagement on Monday evening, at the Colonial. The book in two acts and sixteen scenes, is by George V. Hart, while Raymond Hobbell and Maurice Levi are responsible for the music. The work was staged by Julian Mitchell, while Jack Mason and Gus Sohler arranged the ensemble numbers. Features of the performance which will be practically as given in New York, will be a travesty on Everywoman, called Everywife, a burlesque on The Pink Lady, and a satire on H. M. S. Pinafore, called H. M. S. Vaudeville. New Year's Eve on the Barbary Coast, depicting slum life in San Francisco, is a novelty. The one hundred and fifty players include: Bessie McCoy, Fannie Brice, Clara Palmer, the Dolly Twins, Vera Maxwell, Three Gorman Sisters, Stella Chatelaine, Arline Boley, Katherine Smythe, Lottie Vernon, Beth Randolph, Harry Watson Jr. (formerly of Bickel and Watson), Leon Erroll, Walter Percival, William J. Kelly, Charles A. Mason, Brown and Blyler, Tom Dingle, Peter Swift, Charles Hessons, Bert Williams and seventy-five Anna Held girls.

PERFITT GOES TO GRAND RAPIDS

Chicago, Aug. 29 (Special to The Billboard).—Clarence Perfitt, who has been connected with Mr. Picken and the Riverview Motordrome for several months, will depart for Grand Rapids this week to resume his old duties of press representative and treasurer under William V. Newkirk, who is manager of the Tempus Theatre in that city. Mr. Newkirk was formerly with the Kohl & Castle interests in Chicago, until his connection with the Grand Rapids house last season. Mr. Perfitt is well-known in connection with Riverview Park, having served two seasons with that enterprise as assistant to Col. Jim Hutton, then director of publicity. Clarence served in the Chicago office of The Billboard, and has a wide acquaintance among theatrical people.

"Who really makes Thanksgiving Day?" is the fine question raised at the White House, and there is ground for the answer that while the President of the United States issues the proclamation he has considerable assistance in making the selections. Thanksgiving Day this year will be celebrated on November 30. That the date is tentatively fixed so early is due to theatrical and other managers. The announcement was precipitated by a telegram from Gus Hill, of a theatrical producing association in New York, who referred to the report that November 23 might be selected, and argued for the 30th. Mr. Hill said:—"Should Thanksgiving Day be changed from the last Thursday to the fourth Thursday the holidays of the holiday would involve changes throughout the entire country and precipitate a distressing condition on both local and traveling managers. If you will kindly set us at rest on the issue you would oblige."

THE WEEK IN CHICAGO

NEW PLAZA THEATRE OPEN

New Family Vaudeville House Begins Season With First Class Performance and has Record Breaking Attendance for the Week—Bookings in Charge of W. V. M. A.

Chicago, Ill., September 2 (Special to The Billboard).—The new Plaza Theatre, located near Lincoln Park on North Avenue, opened its season with W. V. M. A. bookings and started off with a good show. From the first performance the business was fine and the nature of this week's offering will undoubtedly bring them all back next week. This house is one of the largest family vaudeville houses in Chicago. It has a large balcony and boxes. The house is under the very capable management of H. C. Miller and is conducted by the Middle West Amusement Company. The theatre is booked in conjunction with the Interstate Amusement Company. Levanon and Geddis, comedy har artists, open the show. The comedy introduced is awful, amateurish and poorly put over. That any artists should resort to the old slapstick to obtain laughs seems to demand sympathy instead of criticism. Their har work is of a very ordinary type and not over-praiseworthy. Wake up! Look who's here! Marie Sparrow, the Irish cyclone. Great billing, Miss Sparrow. You're a "bird," that's all. Marie Sparrow makes an entrance befitting her billing. She's alive and controls a bunch of the richest Irish brogue that elicits real screams. After her opening song, Miss Sparrow follows with a monologue of Irish character stories. In this she scores heavily. She closes in songs and proved one of the big hits of the bill. The Five Musical Lassies offer a great novelty musical act with special settings. Their renditions in brass go very big. Each of the five girls is fully competent as a soloist. The DeGUERRE & ROSS COMPANIES.

Commencing September 18, DeGuerre and Ross have two companies on the road, playing one and two-night stands. Mr. DeGuerre will head the No. 1 company and will be surrounded by an excellent company, supporting Florence Thompson. Home from College, that comedy by Will Bingham, has been selected for the No. 2 company. Mr. Bingham will appear in the leading role.

Bill at Wilson Avenue Theatre

Chicago, Sept. 2 (Special to The Billboard).—Gennaro and his Venetian Gondolier Band is the headline attraction at the Wilson Avenue Theatre this week and scores heavily. The stage setting is very elaborate, and depicts a street in Venice. The opening is very unique. Gennaro makes his entrance in a gondola and is given an enthusiastic ovation. The entire program of the offering is good, and each selection made good. However, Gennaro ruins one of the prettiest and best acts of its kind by concluding with sympathetic applause numbers; that is, national airs. When an act is really good, and is so throughout, why is it that almost every one of this nature spoils the entire effect by "ringing in" national airs? This has been the stumbling block to more good acts than any other single feature. Probably, though, some day the profession will "wise up" to the fact that this is not essential to success; at least it is hoped so. The show is opened by The Six Juggling Roses. These are six girls, all in their teens, who work very well together, but the act needs something out to make it desirable for better-class houses. Hamilton Bros., knockabout comedians, submit a lot of the real old-fashioned slap-stick stuff, but they get the laughs and make good. They are very rough with each other and it seems some very substantial pads would be necessary to protect them in some of the bumps they receive. Siebert, Lindley and Company present a comedy sketch called A Shrewd Business Man. The laughs are plentiful throughout the act, and the plot is well carried by all the members of the company. They proved the laugh hit of the bill and responded to several encores. Leora Vennet, singing comedienne and mimic, gave imitations, some of which were good and some—well, there's hope that she may improve. She is a clever little girl and if she did all her impersonations as well as that of Eva Tanguay, she would be more of a success. Gennaro and his band close the show, and about all that can be said of them is carried out in the first part of this report.

NOTES OF THE ROAD.

Heine and His Little German Band is a new vaudeville act which has originated at Leavenworth, Kansas, now having rehearsals. The act is owned and managed by H. L. Carpenter, and besides himself consists of M. C. Buhlalt, D. D. Webster, Ora Cranford and F. H. Hedrix. It is a hand or comedy musical act, opening and closing in one, full of good music and comedy, and lasting fourteen minutes. They will open in about ten days at the People's Theatre in Chicago, from where they go on Pantages' Time. The indications are that the act will make a hit and will be one of the best new offerings of this year.

Col. J. A. Pattee and his company of Old Soldier Fiddlers are booked ahead with United Booking Office on the big time until the close of next season, amounting to forty weeks without an open week.

act is costumed very nicely and makes a rich and refined appearance.

Carter, Stanley and Willis, a trio of boys appearing in neat street suits and singing in harmony, proved to be the hit of the bill. The boys have a repertoire of popular songs right up to the minute and understand just how to render them to best advantage. The comedy throughout the act is clean and well put over.

The Three Nevares close the show in pantomime comedy. Their work is well done and was well liked.

CARSON FROS., Athletes; Majestic, Chicago; first in nine-act show; time, nine minutes, working in full stage.

Carson Bros. open their act in exhibition posing. Both gentlemen are fine appearing and perfect models of manhood. They are not clumsy as some artists in this line, but seem to carry out each feat of strength with perfect ease and grace. They do not allow their work to lag for an instant but perform one feat of real strength after another. It takes something very clever in this channel to hold the

Clark Theatre Changes Hands

Chicago, Sept. 2 (Special to The Billboard).—Through a deal with Joseph Grein this week, Jones, Linick & Schaefer, owners of the Wilson Avenue Theatre, obtained control of the Clark Theatre at Clark Street and Wilson Avenue. This matter has been under consideration for some time, but owing to the high figure held out by Mr. Grein, the deal could not be completed. This house is just four blocks from the Wilson Avenue Theatre and in order to avoid their own competition Jones, Linick & Schaefer have decided to run pictures. The house was booked last season by J. C. Matthews, but owing to its close proximity to the Wilson proved a losing proposition.

Edwin T. Emery's latest production, a wordless drama, embellished with an elaborate musical setting, entitled The Awakening of Buddha, and headed by Gertrude Ja Rend, the pantomime, and Hazel Harris, the danseuse and cantatrice, with a supporting company of six, opened on the Pantages time at Spokane, August 20, as the headline feature. The act will tour the circuit, coming eastward via Denver and Chicago.

NEW VAUDEVILLE ACTS

Five Acts that Chicagoans Have Never Seen Make Up this List—Suggestions Offered for Improvement Based Upon Remarks of Audience and Upon Personal Opinion

Interest of the Majestic audience, and that this duo is really exceptionally so, was evidenced by the enthusiastic applause accorded them on Monday night. However, as an act of this kind tends to bore any audience if it be of too long duration, the Carson Bros. have shown good judgment in cutting the time of the offering to nine minutes, with gratifying result.

MAUD RONAIR and JOE WARD, Patter in One; Majestic, Chicago; second in nine-act show; time, fifteen minutes.

Here's one of those song and dance teams with all that tiresome "something" eliminated. Not one popular song is submitted in the entire offering; each of the songs used is well chosen for an act of this nature. It is not the fact that there are not popular songs worthy of the best artist, but when a song is really popular, one hears it in the smallest picture show one day and the largest vaudeville show the next. Then, to hear a well-written song of an original sort and one that you never have heard before, is refreshing, to say the least. Miss Ronair and Mr. Ward have chosen a little summer flirtation as the vehicle for their songs and dances, and have added to the appearance of their act with a special drop depicting the seashore. The flirtation is worked in a true boy and girl manner and is just full of clean, well-put comedy. The dancing of the duo is graceful and well done. This feature made a great hit with the audience, who heartily applauded one of the prettiest little patter acts seen in Chicago this season.

THE GREAT PIROSCOFFIS, Jugglers; Majestic, Chicago; third in nine-act show; time, fifteen minutes; number of people, five; full stage.

A new and novel juggling offering is submitted by the Piroscoffs, but, before the act is over, one readily realizes that there's something amiss. It's the time of the act (a

Opening of Parkway Theatre

Chicago, Ill., Sept. 2 (Special to The Billboard).—With one of the best balanced bills seen in family vaudeville theatres around Chicago, The Parkway opened its season on last Monday evening, under the management of Mr. A. H. Lewis. There has been some change in the booking this season, as they are furnished by Frank Q. Doyle, and last season were furnished by the W. V. M. A. If Mr. Doyle continues to place bills of this kind at The Parkway it is certain that last year's occurrence, the closing of the house before the end of the season, will not be repeated. Manager Lewis is an old showman, having been in the business about thirty years, and is capable of handling both performer and audience. The house is located on North Clark Street and Diversey Boulevard, away from any immediate competition. This fact in itself is a great factor in favor of the house. The show for the first half is opened by Courtney and Janett, comedy jugglers. They worked fast and well, and scored heavily for an act of this nature.

Lopez & Lopez appear in a musical offering, called The Act Beautiful. The stage setting is very artistic; the costumes neat and conservative. They use the same instruments as those seen in the ordinary musical act, but their work on the musical glasses is a decided novelty, and made a big hit.

Curtis Sisters, a duo of pretty girls in stunning costumes, offer a singing and talking sketch in one. They close their act in a Yama number, and with their dancing went big.

Foster and Foster appear in a little patter sketch, wherein trick and eccentric piano playing is introduced. The act, full of good comedy situations, with the aid of some good singing, carried them to success.

Dixon, Bowers and Dixon closed the show in a comedy offering, called The Arkansas Fiddler. Some work on the wire is introduced here, which seems entirely out of place with the rest of the act. The act was reviewed more fully in these columns two weeks ago.

VAUDEVILLE NOTES.

Omar, the human top and Spanish dancer, who has created a sensation in Europe and America, will be the headline at the vaudeville performance to be given at Luna Park, Scranton, Pa., on the open-air stage.

Caroline E. Nichols and her orchestra, the Fadettes of Boston, are on their way East from playing the Pantages Circuit. They report a most delightful summer season on the Pacific Coast.

Ethel Kirk, prima donna soprano, has produced her new act of high-class and popular songs and pianology, making four complete changes of gowns. Assisting her is Lillian Kent, pianist and vocalist.

Nat Cross, the song and dance comedian, left the Franklin Stock Company at Winfield, Kan., and has joined the Fay Sisters' Vaudeville Show, which opened at Ottawa, Kan., August 23.

A Scarcity of Feature Acts

Chicago, Sept. 2 (Special to The Billboard).—The various theatrical agents throughout Chicago report the greatest scarcity of feature acts in the history of vaudeville. It seems that these feature acts obtainable are all signed up by the various ten per cent agents and while most of the managers and agents are averse to booking acts through this channel it seems to be a case of taking them or doing without. Norman Friedenwald has signed up some of the biggest acts from the East and is placing them on some of the big time. He sent three acts on to the United Time this week, several over the Western Circuit and a score or more over the Pantages.

A. H. Woods has added another comedian to his splendid list of fun makers that will support Marguerita Sylva in the new Frans Lehman comic opera, Gypsy Love. George Bickel, formerly of Bickel and Watson, has been engaged to play the part of a German innkeeper with Henry E. Dixey, Albert Hart, Harry McDonough and George Bickel, the fun interest will be kept up at a rapid rate in the Sylva production.

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 2 (Special to The Billboard).—Contracts are let for a new $25,000 vaudeville house at the intersection of Grand River, Myrtle and Trumbull Avenues. The plans call for a fireproof theatre with about 1,000 seats balcony and boxes. The house is being built by the Globe Theatre Co., who intend to handle a chain of ten-cent houses. Dean & Brooks will manage the new play house. Mr. Dean is well known in the amusement business, as in the past he has managed large food shows and expositions with great success from coast to coast. They have established offices at 302 Sun Bldg., Detroit, Mich., until the building is completed.

STOCK COMPANY NOTES.

The Spence Theatre Company, which has been touring Texas and Oklahoma this summer, playing the Turner Airline Circuit, will close the summer season at Tyler, Texas, September 9, and open the regular season at Sulphur Springs, Texas, September 11. The Spence Company will offer two productions the coming season. Slaves of the Orient and The Land of the Sky, each play being staged with special scenery throughout. An entire new line of three and four color paper sixteen styles has been gotten out by the Russell-Morgan Show Print, and the Home Printing House. The roster of the company, which will be practically the same as last season, includes: Sohns & Davis, managers; Miss Loraine Spence, Miss Edie Dalrymple, Miss Lulu Nethaway, Frank L. Reiner, Norval Mayo, Miles O'Connell, Monte Myers, Norval V. Walker, Hermann Hann, Jim Davis and Harry Sohns. Norval V. Walker joined the Spence Theatre Company at Greenville, Texas, September 1, to do the advance. This is Mr. Walker's second season with the Spence Company. Monte Myers, pianist, has signed with the Spence Theatre Company for the coming season.

Robert H. Kane's Manhattan Opera Company closes the summer season at Brandywine Springs, Del., after a long and pleasant engagement in light and grand opera. Some bad weather was experienced at the beginning of the season, but as soon as the weather cleared and the people found out there was a real opera company at the park business changed, and for the last six weeks the company has been playing to capacity four or five nights out of the week. The road season of Mr. Kane's Manhattan commences Monday, Sept. 11, at Roanoke Rapids, N. C., after which they tour the South as far as Florida, where Mr. Kane's company has won a name for itself. The following cast has been selected for the company this season: Miss Nella Brown, prima donna contralto; Miss Lella Burton, soprano; Mr. Chas. Fulton, tenor; Mr. Geo. Nathanson, baritone; Mr. John Mundiger and Mr. Wilber Cox, comedians; Mr. Lawrence Blughman, bass; Mr. Clifford Meech, musical director.

Oscar Eagle has been appointed stage manager of the Poll Players for the extended season at Hartford, Conn.

Cincinnati Wearer of the Cloth Delivers Scathing Sermon to Members of the Knocker Club—Attends Theatres Regularly and Suggests that His Parishioners do Likewise

The Reverend Benjamin Hynes, pastor of the Riverside Methodist Church, Cincinnati, O., in a sermon there a few nights ago, said: "I have been in theatres many a time and fully expect, the Lord permitting, to go into many more. If some of my congregation had gone more to theatres and less to their little knocking fests, they would be a whole lot better off right now. I went to the theatres for a pure and moral purpose—entertainment. Why should all theatrical people and all plays be condemned just because some of the attractions are vile? Why should they be contaminated by having all this talk against them by people who are too ignorant and too selfish to think?" Dr. Hynes has requested the Cincinnati Conference to give him work in another section of Cincinnati. The above statements were made in the course of his farewell sermon.

HUDSON OPENS LABOR DAY.

New York, Sept. 1 (Special to The Billboard).—Henry B. Harris opens the ninth season of the Hudson Theatre by presenting Frank McIntyre as a star in Snobs, a satirical farce by George Broadson-Howard, on Monday, September 4. New York, Sept. 1 (Special to The Billboard).—With the appearance of John Drew in the new comedy, A Single Man, the Empire Theatre began its 21st season under the management of Charles Frohman, Labor Day night. NEGRO WILL SUE.

Chicago, Ill., Sept. 2 (Special to The Billboard).—Civil and criminal action is planned by John Guy, a negro butler, who was denied a seat on the first floor of the new Evanston Theatre. Eltinge Begins Season Atlantic City, Aug. 29 (Special to The Billboard).—Julian Eltinge began his season at the Apollo Theatre, Atlantic City, N. J., Monday night, August 28, in The Fascinating Widow, a three-act comedy written by Otto Harbach, with music by Kerry Mills. Included in his supporting company were Carrie F. Perkins, Wilbena Winter, June Mathis, Natalie Alt, James Spottiswood, Lionel Walsh, Charles W. Butler, James E. Sullivan, and Frank Wentworth.

PLAYHOUSE NOTES.

At present Jackson, Tenn., is witnessing a friendly theatrical war between the managers of the Marlowe Theatre and the owner of the Elite Theatre. Each one seems to endeavor to place the best show before the patrons, and in boosting his show as THE one, with the result that the people of Jackson have had the entire season, the best line of plays to be seen in vaudeville. Both houses have been playing to S. R. O., three shows each night during the entire summer. The managers of the Marlowe Theatre announce that they will continue vaudeville at the Marlowe until November 1, at which time their new vaudeville house will be completed, when they will open with their regular booking of big plays.

Mr. Charles A. Feinler, manager of the Virginia Theatre, Wheeling, W. Va., will assume the management of the Court of the same city. September 1. Mr. E. L. Moore, the former manager of the Court, will book the attractions for Mr. Feinler in conjunction with the bookings for the Moore Circuit. At present the Virginia will be conducted as a moving picture house and at the Court both big-class and popular-priced attractions will be presented.

The Lyric Theatre, Sulphur Springs, Texas, M. L. Moore, manager, vaudeville and motion pictures, will be one of the latest little houses of its kind in the state when completed. It is the intention of the management to run this house the year round, playing the best vaudeville. The house will have a main floor and balcony with a seating capacity of 1,000, with all modern conveniences.

During the past two months many very convenient repairs have been made to the Grand, Greenville, S. C., adding much to the comfort of the patrons of this popular amusement house. Manager Whitmore personally overlooked all work, which includes new retiring rooms for ladies, two new fire-escapes, added doors of exits, beautiful decorations and paneling on walls and ceilings, etc.

The entire management at the Empire Theatre, Glens Falls, N. Y., has been changed. The new officials are: E. J. Lynch, manager; H. B. Parle, secretary-treasurer, and Neil Bucklee, head doorkeeper.

D. Leo Donelson has succeeded Chas. W. Miller as manager of the Nixon Theatre at Washington, Pa.; Mr. Miller was forced to retire on account of ill health.

Power's Theatre, Decatur, Ill., opened August 20, with The Heart-Breakers as the attraction.

DOROTHY SHOEMAKER.

The play will be produced at the Criterion Theatre with Richard Bennett, Ernest Lawford, Julian Royce, Loolse Rutter and Rosalie Toller in the chief parts.

Ty Cobb Becomes Actor

It is said that Ty Cobb, the ball player, will join Lew Dockstader's Minstrels at the end of the present baseball season, doing a monologue stunt. It is hardly probable that Cobb will be as successful on the stage as on the diamond, but he will pull down a nice "bunch" of coin for the act, and anyway, that is the main thing.

ACTOR COMMITS SUICIDE.

Mr. William Bruns, a German comedian and singer of Cincinnati, O., committed suicide on August 29 by shooting himself through the right temple. He was visiting his brother-in-law, George Kioster, marshal of Wyoming, a suburb of Cincinnati, and finding the marshal's revolver lying on a dresser, fired the fatal shot. Bruns, who is known on the stage as William Burns, has been 'despondent' because his wife recently secured a divorce, and this coupled with the fact that he has been unable to secure an engagement for the coming season, prompted the act.

THE WEEK THROUGHOUT THE WORLD

ATWOOD IN VAUDEVILLE

Renowned Birdman is Reported to Have Accepted an Offer from Martin Beck for a Tour of the Orpheum Circuit — $50,000 is Mentioned as Salary

New York, Sept. 2 (Special to The Billboard).—It is said that Harry Atwood, the aviator, has accepted an offer of $50,000 from Martin Beck of the Orpheum Circuit, for a tour of the houses of that circuit. The aviator's "act" will consist of a twenty-minute talk on aviation and his adventures in the air, with an exhibition of one or two of his machines. It is planned to have the aviator play the Orpheum houses in the cities that he will touch in his contemplated cross-country trip, and after the trip is completed play the rest of the circuit.

LOUIS N. PARKER HERE.

New York, Sept. 1 (Special to The Billboard).—Louis N. Parker arrived in port Aug. 30. The only regret expressed by him as he stepped from the steamer was that custom does not sanction the presentation of gifts to arriving as well as departing travelers. It may be recalled that last spring, when he was ready to return to London, Mr. Parker missed every steamer that sailed from this city during a period of two weeks. With each announcement of his departure came an instalment of bou voyage gifts, and Mr. Parker decided that the business of steamer missing was more profitable than writing plays or any of the common callings.

Accompanying Mr. Parker was his daughter, Dorothy Parker, who will continue to take from Lichner & Co. the remaining receipts of Pomander Walk, under the guise of salary. Mr. Parker came primarily to put on the new play which he has written for Viola Allen, and which is based on the legend of Lady Godiva, the Sutherland Sisters of romance.

New York, N. Y., Sept. 2 (Special to The Billboard).—Ex-Lieutenant Governor Timothy L. Woodruff is arranging an aviation meet to be held at Nassau Boulevard, L. I., Sept. 23 to 30, under the joint auspices of the Aero Club

A course of more than 1,300 miles is contemplated, starting at St. Louis and passing through Cincinnati, Cleveland, Sandusky, Toledo, Chicago and other cities.

Boston, Sept. 2 (Special to The Billboard).—Prof. William Street Hutchings, for more than 50 years a famous figure in the American show world, died here August 26, aged 80 years. He was with P. T. Barnum for many years, and was known as the lightning calculator. For the last thirty years he has been a lecturer in Anstin & Stone's Museum in this city.

Philadelphia, Pa., Sept. 2 (Special to The Billboard).—Walter Sanford, formerly employed as manager of the Lyric Theatre here, has been appointed business manager of the Olympic Theatre, St. Louis. He received the appointment from Klaw & Erlanger, August 11.

PLAYHOUSE NOTES.

With the opening of the theatrical season in Michigan City, Ind., comes the announcement that Allardt Brothers, booking agents for the Grand Opera House, of which Horace Genge is manager, will institute the plan of giving one first-class road show during the week, and have vaudeville on the other nights. The Grand opened the season August 22, with Graustark.

The Grand Opera House, Peterborough, Ont., owned and managed by the Messrs. J. J. Turner & Sons, opened its season August 23 with The County Sheriff to excellent returns. Mr. A. J. Small, booking agent for Peterborough, says that the theatregoers of this city will see a better grade of shows than has ever been seen in the city before.

The Wilkey, at Edwardsville, Ill., which was managed last season by Wm. Savage of Alton, is now under the management of the Wilkey Theatre Co. This season's schedule calls for one-a-week on Sunday. The house is also equipped with a motion picture machine, which will operate on dark nights.

J. B. Swafford, who has had the Pavilion Theatre Co. in the New England States during the summer months, returns to Findlay, O., as manager of the Majestic Theatre, booked by the Reiss Circuit. Frank Glick will again be treasurer. The house opens September 4, with Tempest and Sunshine.

The Jefferson Theatre at Sulphur Springs, Texas, already one of the handsomest playhouses in Northeast Texas, is undergoing some extra improvements. It has published its 1911-12 bookings, covering the best attractions visiting the state this season. W. W. Williamson is manager.

The Grand, at Circleville, O., will be under new management this season, Walter Baughtman, having assumed charge. Improvements to the house and stage that will admit of giving the biggest road attractions, are being made under the supervision of the new manager.

The Family Theatre, Lancaster, Pa., opened August 28 with vaudeville and moving pictures. Charles Howell, late manager of the Roof Garden, will manage the Family, and the entire staff of old employees will be retained.

Louis Strick, owner of the Lyric Theatre at Uniontown, Pa., has leased the Mithler Theatre at Morgantown, W. Va., for a term of 5 years, and will run road shows.

J. J. Turner & Sons opened the Grand Opera House at Peterborough, Ont., Canada, Aug. 23, with The County Sheriff. The show pleased a large audience.

Ernest Rich, manager of the Opera House, Yorkum, Texas, has returned after a trip East, where he went to arrange bookings for his theatre.

The Elks' Theatre at Taylorville, Ill., will open the season of 1911-12 on September 18, with The Goddess of Liberty.

New Empire Theatre Opens

Rock Island, Ill., August 29 (Special to The Billboard).—The New Empire Theatre at Rock Island, Ill., termed one of the safest theatres in the world, was formally opened Monday evening, August 28. The Empire represents new ideas in theatre building and is the latest work in sanitary and fireproof houses. The theatre has no balcony or gallery and yet seats 1,328, all within easy seeing and hearing of the stage. The ground floor dimensions are 82 by 156 feet, making it a house of unusual size. The floor is of concrete, with an area of 8,000 square feet. The house has nine exits and they are so arranged that the entire house can be emptied in not more than three minutes.

The stage is large and can accommodate the largest of acts. The dressing rooms, which are large, convenient, sanitary and comfortable, are cut off from the stage by a heavy fire wall and are accessible from an entrance which does not connect with the stage. The scenery equipment is most complete. The decorations of the house are ample but attractive. Old rose walls, set off by ivory and gold borders, with a large center dome lighted by the newest in electric chandeliers; the boxes made in the form of a grape arbor and decorated with tiny electric bulbs, form the general decorative scheme, while incidental and detail decoration is done in dark green and brass. A fine bill was provided at the opening.

The house staff is as follows: Edward T. Dolly, owner and manager; Conrad Meenan, assistant manager; Roy Charles, treasurer; Menter Meyers, electrician; Martin Sage, head usher; George Nichols, stage manager; Harry Fitzsimmons, assistant manager.

All acts for the Empire will be booked through the J. C. Matthews Booking Agency.

TO FLY TO NEW ORLEANS.

Minneapolis, Minn., Sept. 2 (Special to The Billboard).—Details are being perfected for the hydroaeroplane trip from Minneapolis to New Orleans. The date for the start of the trip has been set as September 20.

For three seasons she played ingénue roles with the Chestnut Street Theatre Stock Company, Philadelphia, and is now playing the ingenue part with Mrs. Flake.

T. M. A.

Notes

In the edition of The Billboard bearing date of August 28, an item appearing under the T. M. A. Notes, referring to the placing of a marker on the grave of John Hoffman, member of Newark Lodge No. 28, by members of the Cincinnati lodge, it was erroneously stated that this was the first marker ever used by a T. M. A. Lodge. The writer of the note intended to say that the marker placed on the grave of Mr. Hoffman was the first ever used by the Cincinnati lodge. To the Cleveland lodge No. 9 belongs the credit of having first used the marker, four years ago, and to the Cleveland lodge at the Wheeling Convention, Henry E. Witt, is due the credit of having suggested the marker for use by all T. M. A. Lodges. After the Convention had adopted the marker, Newark Lodge No. 28 placed the first order, and is the first lodge excepting Cleveland to use the marker.

The Lyceum Theatre, Meadville, Pa., Charles E. Schatz, manager, opened August 28. The house has undergone extensive repairs and everything has been made modern and up-to-date.

A Happy Birthday Party

On the evening of August 29 at Greensville, Ind., occurred an enjoyable birthday anniversary as could be had with any circus, the occasion being the 38th birthday of Mrs. Lotta Brown, the owner and manager of the "up-town wagon" with the Hagenbeck-Wallace Shows.

This unusual social event with a circus had for its stage setting the dining car of the circus train, which had been generously and beautifully decorated with flowers and it was here that the scores of friends assembled after the night performance to assist the popular hostess to properly celebrate her anniversary. Mrs. Brown was remembered by practically every one with the combined shows, the tokens of friendship left by the well-wishers aggregating at least three hundred dollars in value. The Sardonx Club, of which Mrs. Brown is a charter member, presented her with a beautiful gold handled silk umbrella. The evening was spent in songs, stories, instrumental music and social chat.

QUILL STARTS SOMETHING

Success of the Crusaders, Released by The World's Best Film Company, Sets the Pace for Enterprising Manufacturers—Several Religious Pictures Being Made in Chicago

Chicago, August 31 (Special to The Billboard).—The extraordinary success that has attended the efforts of Tom Quill, manager of the World's Best Film Company, in disposing of the state rights of The Crusaders, has stimulated many other firms to action in the same field. A prominent local firm of film manufacturers is taking a series of pictures calculated to make similar appeal to the latent spirit of religious devotion, and the leading educators and clergymen in Boston are endorsing Mr. Quill's romantic and historical picture. In Kansas City, too, the picture has been received with enthusiasm. Julius Stern, who is handling the Crusaders of Jerusalem Delivered for the Missouri State Rights Company in that city, reporting 18,000 paid admissions in six days for the film.

The offices of the World's Best Film Company, in the Boyce Building in Dearborn Street, are crowded daily with exhibitors from all over the country. Tom is busy shaking hands with all of them and getting the money. He has already sold the rights to Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, Missouri, Wisconsin, Arkansas, Washington, Colorado, Oregon and the Philippine Islands, and has several deposits on other states that may be sold at any hour. Mr. Quill confidently believes that, by the first of October, every state in the Union and every province in Canada will be disposed of, as the state right buyers up to this time announce his profits on their investments. Every one now hinging The Crusaders will have first option on all of his coming feature films.

PRESS AGENTS ILL.

New York, September 1 (Special to The Billboard).—The increase in business incident to the coming of the winter season is to be carried on in the absence of two of the best pluggers in the game and those to whose efforts the increase in the business of their respective companies is largely due. Mr. Bert Adler of the Thnshouser Company has been taken seriously ill with typhoid fever and on Monday, August 28, was taken to Lebanon Hospital, with a temperature of 106 degrees. Toward the end of the week his condition was reported as still serious.

Mr. Chas. Simone, dope shoveler for the Nestor Film Company and recently appointed right-hand man to Mr. David Horsley, was absent from his office several days this week on account of illness resulting from overwork and a severe cold.

The Red Devils Exhibited

On Thursday, August 31, the much-talked-of Champion release after the story by Sidney Drew, was exhibited for the first time. Despite the fact that the devils themselves appeared extremely black on the screen, as must be the case, the photography is of the highest order, being clear and mellow and free from blemishes of all kinds, even in the sample print. The staging of the play has been well done, and the name of the author has not been relied upon to make the film go. Some very special scenery has been obtained, as well as special people, and in all an energetic attempt to produce a successful film is apparent throughout its entire course.

While many thrilling scenes have been attempted, the character of the production is far removed from the ordinary blood and thunder type, and many actors who should by this time be so accustomed to "laying it on" as to be unable to get away from it, here seem to play their parts with much understanding and a great desire to gain dramatic effect and put action into their work without any horseplay.

The story itself is of a much different char-

Imp Director Sprains Ankle

New York, Aug. 31 (Special to The Billboard).—Mr. Thomas Ince, director for the Imp Motion Picture Company, and well-known legitimate actor, is suffering from a sprained ankle which he received Sunday, August 27. Mr. Ince was absent from the studio during the week following the accident and his work with one of the companies was temporarily taken up by Mr. Willat, general manager of the Imp factory and studio.

KINEMACOLOR LONG PROGRAM.

The Kinemacolor Company has now completed the printing of enough Coronation films and their photographers have taken enough different subjects to last one house twenty-four weeks, program changing every week. The Kinemacolor Company, having been especially chartered to photograph the Coronation festivities, has obtained many films which other companies were unable to photograph, and when running a two-hour show, as they are doing at the several houses throughout the country, are able to show different films every week for twenty-four weeks. All the Kinemacolor houses are doing capacity business and next week will see a raise in prices in nearly all the houses throughout the East.

TOGO'S TRIP FILMED

"Every Little Movement" of the Admiral's Trip is Watched and Sedulously Recorded on Celluloid by Enterprising American Manufacturer—Oriental Poses for Picture

New York, Sept. 2 (Special to The Billboard).—Mr. Jack Reed has obtained some sixteen hundred feet of film picturing Admiral Togo's trip in the United States, as the guest of the Department of State. The film covers the admiral's trip from New York to Baltimore, Washington, West Point and Niagara Falls. Mr. Reed experienced a great deal of trouble in obtaining permission to take the pictures but he has agreed to show the films in Japan so that the friendship between this country and Japan, which was the object of bringing the admiral over, might be instilled into the minds of the Japanese people outside diplomatic circles as well as within. Admiral Togo readily consented to having the pictures taken after the Department of State at Washington had granted the permission. He posed for a special still picture at Niagara Falls with the Horse-Shoe Falls as a background.

ARC REFLECTOR INVENTED.

One of the greatest difficulties confronting the moving picture machine operator is the adjustment of his carbons within the lamp house while he is turning the pictures. He has not a choice of two ways to remedy the flickering light produced by his falling carbons—one by peering through a red glass which indistinctly shows the interior of the lamp house—the other by gazing into the electrodes themselves thereby subjecting the operator to the contraction of electric ophthalmia, commonly termed snow-blindness.

However, Sydney J. Jacobson of Washington, D. C., has invented and patented a reflector which by being attached opposite an aperture made in the lamp house just where the illumination arc is located, reflects the interior on the wall before the operator, enabling him to adjust the carbons without stopping the picture and without harming his eye-sight. So perfect is this lens that the image is perfect and the readjustment of carbons a pleasure, and no longer the bane of the operator. The Jacobson Arc Reflector has not yet been placed upon the market, but will soon be exploited by a St. Louis concern.

GARWOOD SHIFTS.

William Garwood, one of the four leading men of the Thnshouser Film Company, left that organization to work in stock at Columbus, Ohio, Tuesday, August 29. He has been with the Thnshouser organization for almost a half-year, having previously played stock before posing in front of the camera. He is to be replaced by Joseph Carews.

Kalem Engages Hal Chase

New York, August 31 (Special to The Billboard).—The latest entry on the Motion Picture Sheet has been made by none other than the famous first-baseman, Hal Chase, manager of the New York American League team. Mr. Chase has been engaged by the Kalem Company to appear in a comedy sketch on baseball life. The picture will be called "Hal Chase's Home Run," from which name it can readily be seen that Hal will play an important part. It will be released September 27, after which several more pictures of the same character and played with the same hero in the title role, will be released.

THOMAS H. INCE,

Director of the Imp Stock Company. He has been incapacitated by a sprained ankle and his place has been taken by Mr. Willatt, general manager of the Imp factory and studio.

Engages New Scenario Editor

New York, Sept. 2 (Special to The Billboard).—The Reliance Co. has engaged as its Scenario Editor, the former manager of the Motion Picture Department of a daily paper which for some time has been looking with envious eyes at the motion picture business. Mr. Terwilliger has been a friend of the motion picture manufacturers and the haslaeas and is well fitted for his new position as scenario editor. He will take up the work on the new job as soon as someone can be found to fill his old position.

NEW BOOKING OFFICE.

Chicago, Sept. 2 (Special to The Billboard).—O. C. Phillips, who has been associated in the booking business for the past twenty years, has been elected as a general manager for the Columbia Theatrical Exchange. The firm will adhere for the most part to supplying managers with illustrated singers and machines on short notice. They now have the booking of about one hundred houses through Chicago, the South and the Southwest.

IN PUBLISHERS' ROW

M. Witmark and Sons Celebrate this Season the Twenty-Fifth Anniversary of the Founding of Their Music Firm—Music Notes

The internationally renowned and universally looked-up-to publishing house, M. Witmark & Sons, this season celebrates the twenty-fifth anniversary of its existence.

This statement, simple as it is, will be read with startled surprise, even by those who know the members of the firm best, and who are best known to them, so rapidly does time pass when one is engrossed in one's own pursuits that important chronological facts are often overlooked. Astonishing as it may appear, it is nevertheless an absolute and important fact that M. Witmark & Sons, publishers, will not only celebrate their Silver Jubilee, this season, but—and this is still more remarkable—the year 1911 marks the twenty-eighth milestone in the commercial existence of the Witmarks themselves, separate and distinct from their history as a business institution. As twenty-five years is a quarter of a century, and one would naturally imagine that the members of a concern which has piled up behind it a sufficient number of years to justify a silver jubilee celebration must themselves be creeping on into the "sere and yellow" of sixty years old or so, yet the members of the house of Witmark are known from ocean to ocean—yes, and across—as "The Witmark Boys."

Although this great concern has "come of age," speaking commercially, its plucky and enterprising members have never for a moment relaxed in vigilance or vigor. On the contrary, instead of resting comfortably upon their laurels won during the years of steady, persistent toil and unremitting energy and brain work for which they have ever been distinguished, "The Witmark Boys" are still "in harness"—even more so than when they were "boys" indeed, and began business with a toy hand press. At that period of their existence not one of the Witmark youngsters was cut of his teens, so, to insure legal responsibility, the brothers pressed their father, the late Marcus Witmark, into partnership. They seem,

WROTE FOY SHOW.

New York, Sept. 2 (Special to The Billboard).—E. Ray Goetz, Irving Berlin and Ted Snyder are the authors of the book and music of Eddie Foy's Show, The Pet of Petticoats. Foy will this season go out under the management of Charles B. Dillingham, who bought the production this week from A. H. Woods.

GRESSETT SONG POPULAR.

In publishing in thematic form the song, "I Ain't Nobody's Fool," the address of J. B. Gressett, the publisher, was given in The Billboard as Meriden, Conn., when it should have been Meridian, Miss.

Mr. Gressett writes that he has received many inquiries for copies of the song, due to the publicity given it by The Billboard, but that the requests have been delayed owing to the mistake in the address. Those desiring copies of the song should address A. Gressett Music House, Meridian, Miss.

THOMPSON & CO.

George Austin Moore has been spending his afternoons during the past week in the offices of Thompson & Co. learning that Honky Tonky Monkey Rag, which he will feature in his act. Mr. Moore required a good rag number for his act and was quick to grasp the possibilities in this song.

Majorie O'Rourke (The Little Girl with the Big Voice) is featuring the Monkey Rag at the U. S. Music Hall, where there is musical comedy. Miss O'Rourke represented Thompson & Co. at the song contest at White City, and more than pleased the large audience.

Ray Samuels, Tower Brothers and Darrow, Lizzie Wallace and Ray Howard are among the others making a hit with this song.

KENDIS AND PALEY NUMBERS.

New York, Sept. 2 (Special to The Billboard).—You'll Want Me Back, by Nelson W. Greenhut, a song of the same style as Some of These Days, is claimed by the publishers, Kendis and Paley, to show bright prospects for a big sale. Another number, loaned by the same firm, called Liza, which is termed a sister song of the now famous Billy, also seems to be springing into popular favor.

STERN & COMPANY.

George B. Alexander, the "tramp" comedian and character artist, has selected Stern's new novelty comedy song, On the R. A. R., for his feature number during the coming tour which begins next Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Reynolds have signed contracts for a number of weeks of Western time and open their engagement in Chicago immediately. Mrs. Reynolds is singing Oppenheim and Cooper's new song, Child Love.

"That party from the South," Billy Beard, is in New Orleans at the present time having exceptional success with Henry and Bryan's new hit, I Like the Hat. I Like the Dress, a number which he has been singing for the last three weeks. Billy Beard is also singing McDonald and Walker's Mississippi Dippy Dip, being the first black-face comedian to introduce this song. Holmes and Buchanan, the "singers who sing," are singing Krouse and Goodall's new high-class ballad, I'll Go With You to the End of the World.

Mabel Howard and Jack Lawrence, who are hooked over the Sullivan and Considine Time for the coming season, are using the flirtation version of Henry & Bryan's I Like the Hat,

WILL ROSSITER GOSSIP.

When I Woke Up This Morning, Let's Make Love While the Moon Shines, and That Carolina Rag are the big hits with Jeannette Adler. May Wentworth is using Kelly's Gone to Kingdom Come, Signor Creator and I'd Love to Live in Loveland with a Girl Like You.

Nonette, the singing violinist, has three Will Rossiter numbers in her act, namely: Let's Make Love While the Moon Shines, Love Me, Let the World Go By, and I'd Love to Live in Loveland with a Girl Like You.

ALESSANDRO LIBERATI

Celebrated Band Master, and artist of superlative ability.

The Great Stockton, Illusionist, has just returned to his home in Cincinnati after playing some important dates in Indiana and Kentucky with his company. His act created a favorable impression wherever he appeared, and managers in whose theatres he played have expressed their desire to have him play return engagements. He is now figuring with Gus Sun and may play the Sun Circuit if they can come to terms, otherwise he will continue to play dates booked by himself. Mail addressed to him in care of The Billboard will reach him.

Word comes from St. Petersburg, Russia, that the Two Vivians, sharpshooters, gave a special performance before His Imperial Majesty, the Czar of Russia, at the Royal command. Both Mr. and Miss Vivian were presented with diamond-studded medals, as an appreciation of their excellent work. They are now playing at the Aquarium Garden, St. Petersburg, and are being advertised as the Two American Sharpshooters that appeared by special request before the Czar.

Art Adair, "That eccentric musical comique," erstwhile old clown in circuses, also acrobat gymnast and "fiddler," has about weaned himself away from the "white tops" and now claims "vode-ville." Having very good success playing all the W. V. A. Interstate and S. & C. Circuits, this being Art's second trip to the coast over the S. & C. Time in the past two years.

Blanche Aldrich, rapid change artist and male impersonator, has entirely recovered from the serious operation performed upon her throat at the Lowell (Mass.) Hospital on July 8. Miss Aldrich was confined to the hospital for four weeks, but is entirely well now. She has resumed her bookings on the Seaside Circuit in the New England States.

N-well and Nihlo, who have been enjoying the swimming, boating, fishing, etc., at Paw-Paw Lake, Mich., the past two months, will again be seen on the S. & C. circuit, opening with the road show at Cincinnati, September 10.

Stickton, travestier and Illusionist, has just returned from a trip through Indiana and Kentucky, where his act was very well received. He states that acts of his kind are scarce and that he has a busy season ahead of him.

Will F. Herbert and The Langweid Sisters, in their feast of fun, will revel over the W. V. A. Time, opening at the Temple Theatre, Ft. Wayne, Ind., Sept. 4, to the tune of fourteen weeks, composed by A. E. Meyers.

Anna Gould, the coon shouter, is making a big hit down South, touring the Hopkins Circuit. George B. Greenwood has signed her for a two years' engagement and will give her a New York opening October 15.

Three Zechs, novelty aerialists, have been resting for a few weeks at Lake Orion, Mich. The trio will start their second season over the Gns Sun Circuit, September 4.

Jack Donahoe and Alice M. Stewart, character comedians and eccentric dancers, scored big in Chicago last week.

Baby Esmond, the Child Wonder, is resting at Long Branch, N. J., and will resume work in September.

VAUDEVILLE BREVITIES

Paraphrased Items of Late Developments in the World of Variety Throughout the Country—Personal Notes of Performers and Their Acts

OFFER TO HODGDON.

New York, September 2 (Special to The Billboard).—Manager Robt. E. Irwin of the Fifth Avenue Theatre will have another oldtimers' bill at his house during the course of this month. For one of the features of the program he is endeavoring to secure Sam Hodgdon, who is now connected with the U. S. O. The following is a copy of the letter Manager Irwin sent to Mr. Hodgdon. It is self-explanatory.

August 23, 1911.

Dear Mr. Hodgdon: In order to make our oldtimers' week a grander success than ever, it struck me that we should have you on the bill. If you would consider an offer to play a part in the after-piece, I should be very glad to hear from you, and can assure you that we will give you the best billing possible and see that you have a good dressing room and are featured in the electric signs. There will be only two shows a day and no doubling in brass.

We sincerely hope you will seriously consider this offer and it will be to your advantage to do so, as nearly every performer who has opened at the Fifth Avenue, and made good, has always had an abundance of future bookings, and we feel sure that your appearance here for a week would result in having your entire season booked up at once.

Kindly state your lowest terms in first letter. Awaiting your reply, I am,

Yours very truly,
(Signed) ROBERT E. IRWIN, Mgr.

WILLIE HALE BOOKED ABROAD.

New York, Sept. 2 (Special to The Billboard).—On October 15, Willie Hale and brother will sail on the Minnehaha for London, where they are booked to open at the Hippodrome, October 30. Hale will do his original double hoop rolling act with his wife under the name of Hale and Frances, while the other male member of the present act will do a single juggling number. The two acts, after their London Hippodrome engagement will play thirty-five weeks for Moss & Stoll, and then will fill several months' engagements in theatres on the Continent.

KITAMURAS ON WILLIAMS TIME.

The Kitamura Family of Japanese acrobats and jugglers have been spending a summer vacation in Japan and will return to this country shortly and open on Percy Williams' Time. This troupe is one of the best acts of its kind on the road. Mr. F. Kitamura, manager of the company, recently arrived in New York to arrange details for the coming season. He states that the troupe has secured a new $5,000 silk drop stage setting, a beautiful piece of hand work. The curtain will be used for the first time when the troupe opens here.

REEVES BACK IN STATES.

New York, Sept. 2 (Special to The Billboard).—Billie Reeves' Comedy Company arrived in New York from London Sunday. The company is booked to open on the Percy G. Williams Circuit early this month in a new version of a Night in a London Music Hall. Billie Reeves heads the aggregation and is assisted by Johnny Doyle, George Hoare, Jimmy Berresford, Dan Ryner, Imy Forrest, Flo Russell and Frank O'Neil.

GET GOOD START.

New York, Sept. 2 (Special to The Billboard).—A team new to the East is Robinson and Thompson, a pair of singing and talking comedians, who have just opened on the Proctor Time. Since their opening here they have been duplicating their success in the West.

OVER S. & C. CIRCUIT.

New York, Sept. 2 (Special to The Billboard).—On Monday Warren and Seymour, in the travesty called Quo Vadis Up Side Down, open on the Sullivan & Considine Circuit at Chicago for a season of 25 weeks. The act will have a feature position on all bills.

NEW OAKLAND THEATRE.

Oakland, Cal., Sept. 2 (Special to The Billboard).—Work has been started on the raising of a number of buildings at the corner of Franklin and Twelfth Streets, to enable the construction of a new theatre, which will be opened to the public about the first of the coming year. The theatre will complete the Pantages Circuit.

NEW THEATRE IN VANDALIA.

Vandalia, Ill., Sept. 2 (Special to The Billboard).—The season at the Dixie Theatre opens September 5 with Rowland & Clifford's production, The Rosary. The Dixie is a new theatre, being erected by the I. O. O. F. Lodge at a cost of $27,000. It is situated on the ground floor and is thoroughly modern and up-to-date in every respect. The house has a seating capacity of 670. Sharrock and Sharrock are the lessees and managers. The Dixie is listed with the Affiliated Theatres.

BEN-HUR ON THREE CONTINENTS

Messrs. Klaw & Erlanger signed contracts with the managers of the Theatre Royal, Drury Lane, for the production of General Lew Wallace's Ben Hur in the Drury Lane theatre on April 6, 1912. The play will be revived with an English company.

At the conclusion of its prospective run at Drury Lane it will make a tour of the provinces of England, as it has never been seen outside of London.

It is interesting to note that Ben Hur will also be produced in the autumn of next year in Australia by Mr. Williamson, who negotiated for it while he was in America last month, and as Klaw & Erlanger are arranging for a big production for this coming season in New York and elsewhere, the play will have the distinction of simultaneous productions on three continents, an event rarely recorded in the history of contemporaneous theatricals.

FIRE.

Fire! How small, insignificant, inconsequential, this monosyllabic appears in print; how awful and with what terror it strikes the heart when uttered in alarm. This sinister word breathed in fear, and yelled in fright, epitomizes countless stories of grief, shattered fortunes and death. It is almost synonymous with sepulchre:
it is more dreadful to the ear than any other word or phrase in the English language. Its use, or, in fact, its misapplication, has sent to join the ranks of the silent majority a number so great as to startle the most blase statistician. Last week the universe was awed by a cataclysm wrought by the little word, fire. At Cannonsburg, Pa., during a moving picture show, the film exploded, and while the damage done by the fire was very slight, twenty-six persons were killed almost instantly and two-score more injured seriously in the panic which resulted when some thin-blooded craven yelled "Fire!" It is true that the operator allowed smoke to enter the auditorium by opening the door of the booth, but it would have been possible for all persons to leave the building in perfect safety, and the fire could have been confined to the cabinet, had not the fatal word inspired terror into the audience, the majority of whom were women and children. In this particular case the picture theatre was located on the second floor and hasty and safe egress was therefore rendered difficult. Second-story picture theatres are criminal and should not be suffered by the authorities. The concentrated imprecations of public and press should be brought to bear against the establishment of such places of amusement on the second floor, or such precautionary measures as the erection of fire-proof buildings should be adopted and coerced by legislation. Other means of preventing panics could also be devised. While it is, of course, unwise to arouse an audience's uneasiness by even suggesting the possibilities of a fire, a sense of security could be instilled into spectators of moving picture theatres, by projecting, at the beginning of each show, a slide explaining that, even though a film should explode or a flash be visible on the screen, there is no danger, as the curtain is of asbestos and the moving picture cabinet fireproof. If a slide of this nature were shown at each performance, the people would soon become accustomed to its use, their fears would be dispelled and, in case of fire, they would leave the theatre in a calm, unexcited manner. The Can-nonsburg catastrophe is certain to result in some stringent precautionary measures being adopted. Enterprising managers might forestall stricter regulations by taking the initiative.

STAGING NOTORIOUS CHAR- ACTERS.

It is said that a large offer has been made to a certain young woman who is now the central figure in a Virginia murder case, to appear on the stage.
If such an offer has been made, we hope it was by some speculator not connected with the stage, as we do not want to think that any theatrical manager or anyone connected with the dramatic profession would be so low or unscrupulous as to attempt to stage something that would only appeal to the indecent curiosity of a depraved or weak-minded person, and thus bring criticism and ridicule upon a profession that has long had to contend with prejudice and narrow-mindedness. If any theatrical man allows himself to be connected in any way with the attempt to exploit this young woman's depravity in a commercial way, he deserves to be ostracized by the whole profession, as there is positively no room in the profession for anyone that would be a party to casting such a stigma upon it.

An effort is also being made to put on the market a moving picture film that purports to give the details of the murder and the disgusting incidents that led up to the brutal crime.
The picture will, no doubt, be prohibited in nearly every city and town in the country, but, even if it is not, let the moving picture exhibitor shun such a film, for, while it may bring him temporary profit, it is just such things that "kill the goose that lays the golden eggs." The moving picture business is gaining favor and growing right along, but if such films as this one, or others that outrage public decency, are exhibited, it will not take long to put the business in the same condition as the proverbial
"mackerel."

under the direction of Louis F. Werba, will open Sept. 11. The following people have been engaged: Clara Greenwood, Pearl G. Hart, Ada
L. Bishour, C. W. Finney, F. C. Larson, J. W.
Whall, Clinton P. Ferry and Bernard Johnson.

A motion picture house at Laverne, Minn., has adopted an innovation in the shape of numbered metal cigar holders in the lobby, so patrons that have started a "smoker" do not have to throw it away on entering the theatre, but can deposit it in the holder and secure it again after the show.

Advertising Talks

The Billboard is always busily engaged furnishing surprise parties to advertisers. As an illustration of this, note what the Niagara Slide Company has to say in a letter dated August 24:

"We don't think it advisable to run any more ads in The Billboard until we have an increased force in operation, as we have been literally swamped with inquiries from the one you run last week. We didn't suppose it possible that you reach so many people in the moving picture business, as your paper is supposed to be more of a theatrical number. However, we are glad that it does, and we wish to state that we are filling an order received from New Zealand, which we find was in your issue of May 13. That's going some and coming back."

Kindly note that this advertiser was surprised to learn that The Billboard covers the motion picture theatre field so thoroughly. The majority of our advertisers found out long ago that managers of picture theatres all read The Billboard, because, in addition to printing the film news, releases and reviews,
The Billboard gives them all the current theatrical and vaudeville news, and, as theatre managers, they are naturally interested in this.

Years ago, J. H. Hallberg, Nicholas Power, P. P. Craft, the American Moving Picture Machine Co. and others who blazed the way for the motion picture business, learned that The Billboard gave them the best advertising results, and they now think nothing of using page ads in it.

Weeks ago, when we first spoke of issuing an Autumn THEATRICAL NUMBER on September 12, Mr. Power said, "Be sure to save me the back cover for my ad." He will have it, and will pay more than $100 more than the regular rate for it, because it's a preferred position. Price does not stop a good advertiser—only results count in advertising. P. P. Craft was quick to reserve another cover page in the THE-ATRICAL NUMBER, and there are more to follow. Don't think for an instant that these pioneers would use this amount of space in The Billboard if they did not KNOW The Billboard reaches the motion picture theatre Sentiment is an unknown quantity in advertising.

Letters like that received from the Niagara Slide Company are almost daily arrivals. Advertisers desiring to reach the theatres, try an advertisement in The Billboard, largely as an experiment. Being agreeably surprised at the excellent results secured, their comment is: "I received hundreds of answers, which is surprising, because I thought The Billboard was a 'circus paper.'" Secretaries of fairs, advertise for attractions,—and get them; repertoire companies advertise for players—and get them; general advertisers offer their products—and sell them, each thinking that The Billboard covers one particular field, when the fact is it covers the ENTIRE amusement field, completely, thoroughly and satisfactorily. As it is the only publication doing this, there is no occasion to be surprised that advertisers desiring to reach any branch of the amusement business get sure and substantial results.

In this department THE BILLBOARD will print each week the choruses of late songs especially recommended by their publishers for use on the stage. Artists who find these numbers suitable for their act can obtain complete professional copies by addressing the publisher. This department constitutes a valuable aid for professionals, as only songs that have intrinsic merit and are especially adapted for use on the stage will be produced. Performers will, by consulting this department, be spared the time and trouble of trying numerous songs that have no particular value, or give no evidence of attaining longevity.

FOREIGN AMUSEMENT NEWS

PARIS NEWS LETTER

Brief Resume of the Parisian Theatrical Season of 1911 with Statistics Showing Cost of Maintaining Grand Opera. Bontoc Princess Born at Magic City

Now that the season of 1910-11 is dead and done for and the new one is tuning up for an overture, one can get a fair idea of the business done during the last year. In a report made by M. Gustave Rivet, chairman of the Budget Committee for Fine Arts, for perusal by the Senate, some interesting figures are brought out. They deal with the four principal amusement houses in France: The Comedie-Francaise, the Odeon, the Opera and the Opera-Comique.

The average cost of each performance at the Opera is $3,360. The largest part of this amount, of course, goes to performers and employees, of whom there are no fewer than 3,000. As will be seen, the average pay of these is but a trifle over one dollar. After the salaries of the stars are paid, the chiefs of the various departments, the directors of the Opera themselves, the average for the petty performer would be far under the dollar.

There are 7,000 electric lights at the Opera, which burn at each performance at a cost of $150. Sweeping out the Opera daily costs $30.

The most expensive production during the year was that of Hippolyte and Aricie. This cost exactly $22,200. Le Crepuscule des Dieux was the second most expensive, for which there was an outlay of $18,500.

The highest receipts of the year came when Richard Strauss' Salome, with Mary Gardier singing the title part, was the program. Twenty performances brought in $85,000. This more than made up for the loss of $28,000 which the Opera lost during the floods the early part of last year.

There is another interesting fact brought out. Native composers are growing in popularity. Comparing the total number of performances for the years 1902 and 1909. It was seen that in the former year 86 French operas were sung as against 103 foreign operas. In 1909, French operas were sung 109 times as compared to 83 times for all foreign operas combined.

In looking over the cost of management at the Opera-Comique, it is seen that the insurance of performers against death or accident amounts to no small sum. Much money is being spent on the chorus also, the amount for the last year doubling that for the year preceding. The orchestra is getting a considerably higher appropriation than ever before. The annual upkeep of the chorus amounts to $48,000.

As usual there is a large deficit in the budgets of these two houses, in spite of the large subsidies bestowed upon them by the Government. One can not help wondering why.

On the other hand the Comedie-Francaise is prospering, and its outgo shows up considerably under the income. The Odeon, also, in spite of many caustic remarks made in the spring by certain members of the Chamber of Deputies on the manner in which M. Antoine directs its policy, is making money, though not so much as the Comedie-Francaise, its big brother. This, however, is quite natural and to be expected. The price of seats is less at the Odeon and it gives popular matinees at reduced prices.

M. Rivet makes the interesting suggestion in his report that during the next season the Comedie-Francaise should stage some of Shakespeare's plays—translations, of course.

PIG FEAST.

The Igorrotes at Magic City, J. Calvin Brown's American park, are in mourning this week. A child was born to one of the couples, and its death plunged the people from the Philippines into something like a panic.

According to Frank A. Small, press representative of the park, the natives have the custom of observing trial marriages. The couple who believe they are intended for each other live together for a year. If, at the end of this time there is no issue, they part company and the match is called off. On the contrary, the birth of a child is considered a sign that the gods will the two to be man and wife, and so they are forever after.

The baby was born to one of the trial-marriage couples. But the baby died. The superstitious Igorrotes do not consider the death due to any misdeed of the pair, but to the fact that the ground on which the child was born had not been properly consecrated. The religious feast on dog meat was forbidden by the French authorities when the Igorrotes first came to Paris, and the dusky people now are sure the death of the infant is due to this restriction. Physicians declare, however, that change of climatic conditions and the extreme heat of the last few weeks in Paris caused the death.

At any rate, Sunday the Igorrotes are to sacrifice a pig and go through their religious ceremony in order that the departed infant may not be hungry on its way to heaven. The event takes place in the morning before the gates are opened to the public, but Small has arranged to have newspaper representatives there in case they wish to observe what goes on.

SHOW IN ACCIDENT.

The Billboard readers are familiar with the Theatre Train of M. Genter—the theatre which tours the country by road, showing in a canvas and steel theatre. Part of the show came near being totally destroyed this week at Bonlogne.

There are several road engines, each pulling from three to five cars. One of these "trains" started down a steep hill at Bonlogne, though the engineer in charge had been warned against trying to make the descent there. His string of cars got away from him and went thundering to the foot of the hill, where they brought up with a rending smash. Considerable material damage was done but no lives lost. Several injuries had to be canceled while repairs were being made.

The hot weather is not proving one form of theatre at least: the open-air ones. The French are far ahead of the United States on this kind of thing. They are to be found all over the country, near all the larger cities.

At Marnes-la-Coquette, the theatre under the trees is doing a tremendous business. Polycenta is the bill this week. Mlle. Jeanne Remy of the Comedie Francaise, interprets the role of L'annee. The bill ends with a one-act piece, a new one, by Alexandre Mennanier, entitled La Mort d'Hylas.

MME. REJANE,

Celebrated actress, now convalescing in the Mountains of Southeastern France.

At Provins the open-air place will put on a mixed program this week. Le Balser, a one-act piece, and a four-act drama, called Les Pheniciens, are the plays. The Comedie-Francaise and the Porte Saint-Martin theatres and other playhouses in Paris lend the artists.

The outdoor theatre at Enghein is doing a good business, it is said. Jndas Iscariot, a mystery play by Maurice Pottecher, will be put on the latter part of the week at Bussang.

Les Esclaves is the title of a lyric tragedy which the outdoor theatre, the Arenas, at Beziers, will stage the latter part of August.

GOSSIP.

The Gymnase reopens Saturday of this week with a revival of Papa, the de Fiera-de Callavet piece.

The Theatre Antoine shortly opens with a revival of two plays: Le Vagabond, taken from the German, and Perdreaux, a little comedy.

The Opera-Comique artists have just returned from a tour of the Argentine Republic. They met with great success.

Henry M. Ziegler, the American theatrical man, is spending a month at Trouville, the Atlantic City of France. Mrs. Ziegler is with him, and together they have made several long excursions in their automobile through Normandy and Brittany.

AUSTRALIAN LETTER

Theatres in the Land of Kangaroo and Bushman Doing Good Business—Plan for Establishment of World-Wide Theatrical Association Involves Capital of $10,000,000

All of the theatres are doing good business, and Mr. H. S. Irving's season at Her Majesty's Theatre has been a great success. At the present time The Lyons Mail is the production here, having replaced the opening piece of Hamlet, but as his season is positively limited to four more weeks, this will be replaced on Saturday, the 5th prox., by Louis XI. So far Messrs. J. C. Williamson have no cause to regret the venture of placing what is supposed

With a view to arranging details for the Australian section and to secure the latest scientific improvements for photoplays, Mr. Williams is now on a visit to America, England, France, Germany and Austria, returning again via America, five months hence.

A feature of the tour is the prominence which will be given to Australia in all the advertisements for which spaces have been secured in the American papers. Mr. Williams intends to advertise Australia in the Republic, and to that end has secured a splendid collection of Australian photographs, which will be judiciously placed in the big centers of America.

BUILD MAGNIFICENT THEATRE.

The New Columbia Theatre and Crystal Palace is now being built in Melbourne on the property purchased by them for no less a sum than $105,000, and soon there will be the finest place of amusement opened by them on this side of the Equator. At the present time, the New Crystal Palace is being pushed in this city as fast as possible to have it ready to open in time for the Christmas and New Year trade. During Mr. Williams' absence, his brother, Charles Williams, will look after Mr. Williams' interests. Bud Atkinson will look after the building and erecting and planning of the Crystal Palace.

Moving pictures are going, if anything, better than ever, and new places are going up all the time. There is coming a change over the scene here, however, and soon the American cowboy films, in which too much disregard for human life and too much beating and whipping of horses are shown, are going to come in for the disapproval of the hands of the censors. There is too much of the killing and utter disregard of human life shown in some of these films, and it makes the people of this country think that all of the Americans are a set of savages.

DR. WM. H. H. LANE.

VANCOUVER, B. C.

Negotiations are about completed whereby Signor Pereira and his company will tour the Pantages Circuit, offering a repertoire of high-class and popular selections. The Signor is one of the foremost musical directors in the Northwest, and his supporting company are all first-class musicians. The act will carry its own special setting and is expected to make a big hit over the circuit. The only objection is the salary and it is expected that the parties will come to terms in the course of a few days.

The Avenna Theatre reopened August 28 with George B. Howard and Associate Players, in The Gentleman From Mississippi. This makes Mr. Howard's fourth season in Vancouver, having been two seasons at the Lyric Theatre, previous to opening the Avenue Theatre last winter.

The company has been re-organized and its roster contains some of the best stock people on the coast. The complete roster of the company is as follows: George B. Howard, manager; Frank Ishotson, business manager; Oliver D. Bailey, stage director; William C. Dowling, Frank Armstrong, Guy Hiltner, Leo Lindhard, William Le Moine, James B. Norton, Hiram Blyden, Arthur Elton, William Bush, Misses Charlotte Mindorf, Inez Ragan, Laura Helmlich, Erna Robeson, Violet Gray and Marie Van Tassel.

J. M. McLEAN.

Franz Lehar's coming to America will be an important event in musical and theatrical circles. A. H. Woods, who presided upon the famous composer to make his first visit to the United States to conduct the initial performance of what he considers his best opera, Gypsy Love, which Marguerite Sylva will present at the Globe Theatre on Monday, October 30. Such important composers and musicians as Victor Herbert, Reginald De Koven and Frank Damrosch will be on the reception committee, and Manager A. H. Woods is arranging with Arthur Pryor and his band to escort Lehar from the ship's landing to his hotel. A novel feature of the escort will be the playing of airs from Lehar's operas, Gypsy Love, The Count of Luxembourg and The Merry Widow. Marc Klaw, Harry W. Savage and A. H. Woods, who control three of Lehar's big musical works in America, will give the composer a banquet on Tuesday, October 31, following the opening of Gypsy Love, to which all the important managers and musicians will be invited. The advent of Lehar's arrival in this country will be made the most important as well as the gala event in theatre and music history. In a recent letter to A. H. Woods, Mr. Lehar said that he considers Gypsy Love his masterpiece, and it is for that reason he wished to come to America and conduct the orchestra.

to spell ruin—that is, Shakespeare—before his patrons. Messrs. Clarke & Maynell, Prop. Limited, at the Criterion are presenting Sergeant Brue to their patrons, but their season will close on Friday, 4th prox., and Mr. William Anderson will then take the theatre for a season. Business is capacity. At the Royal, The Balkan Princess holds the boards, but will be replaced on the 12th prox. by The Merry Widow, and here, too, the same remark applies, business is capacity. Hugh J. Ward, an American star, who is well-known in the States, now occupies the place of managing director.

WORLD-WIDE THEATRE SCHEME.

Probably the greatest association of its kind in the world is now in process of formation, the capital being ten million dollars, and the scenes of operation scattered over Canada, the United States, England, Australia and South Africa. The Australian side of the business is in the hands of Mr. J. D. Williams. The necessary capital has already been promised. The Australian theatres of the present J. D. Williams Company will be run in conjunction with the new enterprise. A board of censors will inspect and pass all the pictures which are to be exhibited, as is done for the Edison Company in New York. Mr. Williams points out that he was the first to institute the censor idea in Australia, having gotten the educational authorities to approve of his pictures before projection.

Joseph N. Galtes claims to have made Mary Garden one of the highest salary offers on record, to abandon the operatic stage and play Thais in his production of that drama. Galtes alleges that he offered a contract calling for $50,000 services during the next two years at $3,000 per week, extra remuneration for matinees and 20 per cent of the gross receipts besides. The offer was considered a few days and turned down.

Frank A. Salisbury, manager of the Rapid Theatre, Alexandria, La., has just returned from a tour of the Northwest, where he has been traveling for the past two months. He reports the attractions at his house will be exceptionally good this season. The outlook for this season bids very fair as the crops around here are better than they have been for the past four years.

Resume of the Week's Important Amuse

BALTIMORE, MD.

The Auditorium Theatre has a very novel attraction in the Kinemacolor films which are on exhibition. The pictures show in detail the coronation of King George. The fact the films show in its natural color aroused keen interest and the house was crowded.

Eugene L. Perry, the new manager at the Auditorium Theatre, is now at liberty to roam at large, having been granted the privileges and freedom of the city by the Mayor and Chief of Police. On August 23 by special appointment, Mr. Perry visited the City Hall and had an audience with Mayor James H. Preston. Later he went to the Court House, where he was introduced to Marshal Farnam, who explained the workings of the police department. The following morning Mr. Perry visited the executive offices of Governor Austin Crothers in the Union Trust Building.

Manager J. Albert Young, of the Albion's Theatre, has closed a contract with the Columbia Players of Washington, D. C. to appear for a short season, beginning September 11. This theatre has not had any regular attractions for several years. The house was formerly a popular stock theatre. Percy Haswell first came into prominence as the leading woman with a stock company which played here for many seasons, and she became a great favorite. Mrs. Mabel Murphy, widow of Fitzgerald Murphy, the playwright, is critically ill at the University Hospital here. It is said that she is in straitened circumstances and requires financial assistance. Her whereabouts became known through the efforts of Deputy Marshal Manning. The police department searched for the woman in response to a telegram from Mrs. J. M. Nelson, of San Francisco, who requested that she be located.

Artie Jones, of Waynesboro, Pa., who came to town with a party of home folks to enjoy the pleasures of River View Park, narrowly escaped being killed by falling from a car on the racer dip. He became excited and stood up while the car was rounding a curve and he was thrown to the ground but was only bruised. The soft ground saved him from being killed.

Many rumors are afloat concerning the future of the Lyric, and it is said that the lease will be taken up by new interests. Grand opera and the Boston Symphony concerts will be presented there this season.

The Western Maryland Railroad arranged a special program for the 36th birthday of this famous park. There are daily excursions to the park during the summer and large crowds from the city visit this famous mountain resort.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Ford have been summering at Atlantic City. They gave a box party in honor of the premier of The Siren at the Apollo Theatre. Irene Bentley and Julia Frary, both Baltimore girls, and other prominent thespians were present. The Siren has been hooked to play the Academy of Music at an early date.

SYLVAN SCHENTHAL.

TORONTO, ONT., CAN.

The Strand, formerly Shea's old house on Yonge Street, which the present owners practically rebuilt and improved at a cost of $80,000, was recently opened and patronage has been at capacity figures right along. The handsome interior seen by the spectator when the lights are on presents a most charming view. The handsome front is also a model of beauty. The policy of the proprietors and manager is the very best in motion picture and a high-class and popular program of vocal and instrumental music.

The Toronto Theatre Co. Ltd., is the owner and R. S. Marvin of New York, the courteous and up-to-date manager.

The big exhibition is drawing big crowds to the city and the various places of amusement are doing fine. Thank you.

Peter F. Griffin, booking manager of the big Griffin Circuit, is back in town after a most enjoyable fishing trip up North. Pete will have an up-to-date houseboat to entertain his friends next year.

JOSEPH GIMSON.

PHILADELPHIA, PA.

The musical comedy season in Philadelphia was opened August 26 at the Lyric Theatre, with Bathwell Browne, a female impersonator, in Miss Jack, a comedy with both plot and music. Browne, who heretofore has been considered a vaudeville, has surrounded himself with an excellent cast and although fault might be found with the production, the initial performance was welcomed despite the downpour of rain which accompanied it, and before the second act was over the audience had developed a mid-season degree of enthusiasm.

One of the most successful stock productions ever presented here was the A Gentleman From Mississippi, as given by the Orpheum Players at the Chestnut Street Theatre the week of August 28. Box-office records were broken and the play was the most pleasing vehicle presented this season.

J. M. Colton, musical director with Hurtig & Seamon's Taxi Girls Company, celebrated his fifty-first anniversary as a wielder of the baton while playing here last week. The veteran leader demonstrated his youth by doing some acrobatic stunts at a dinner given in his honor by members of the organization.

Murray Whiteman of the F. B. Haviland musical forces, spent the week in town plugging for the new one, entitled We All Fall and Murray can put it across, too.

The second attraction at the Garrick Theatre which opens October 2, with Robert Hilliard, in A Fool There Was, will be the London musical comedy success, The Quaker Girl.

September 4 will mark the opening of the new and beautiful Alhambra Theatre, located in the southern section of the city. More than $100,000 is being expended by a syndicate to make the house a model of the picture and vaudeville class. The building is fireproof, with a seating capacity of 2,400.

Considerable interest is being shown in the coming of the new Viennese operetta in two acts. The Kiss Waltz, which opens at the Lyric Theatre, September 4. The operetta is by C. M. Ziehrer, composer of Mlle. Mischief, with additional numbers by Jerome Kern and Frank Tours. American version by Edgar Smith, lyrics by Matthew Woodward, staged by J. C. Huffma, William J. Wilson and Gus Schliker. The cast of sixty people includes Charles Bigelow, Eva Davenport, Robert Warwick, Elsa Ryan, Adele Rowland, Flora Zaballe, William Pruette, Martin Brown and Oscar Schwarz.

One of the most important announcements in vaudeville is the first presentation of a condensed version of Sheridan's immortal play, The Rivals, which will be given at the B. K. Keith Theatre during Labor Day week with a cast including Sidney Drew, Lionel Barrymore and S. Rankin Drew. The tabloid edition of the play is entitled Bob Acres.

A. D. Hotelling, a director with the Luhn producing forces, has become one of the speed kings with a racing automobile and is trying for records between here and Atlantic City. Three of the Luhn companies are at home and hard at work in the studio. Bob Trimble and W. C. Carr, Arthur Johnson and Little Miss Florence Lawrence and a host of others are working every day on the thrillers.

STANLEY RUSHTON.

LOUISVILLE, KY.

The beautiful Walnut Street Theatre opened up Sunday, August 27, with St. Elmo. C. A. Shaw, who has charge of the little house this season, has secured the following shows to appear at this theatre, the Family, Thomas E. Shea, Beniah Poyater and The White Slave. Walter Roberts, who was treasurer last season, and his assistant, Andy Biggs, are again at their same old places in the box-office.

Martin Shaw of the Avenue, announces that his house will open up Sunday, September 3, with melodrama, the first show being the Denver Express.

The Gayety opened the season Sunday, August 27, with Vanity Fair. Charles T. Taylor, a theatrical man of long experience, has been selected by the Columbia Amusement Co. to have charge of the house this season.

Beautiful Fontaine Perry Park will close its gates for the season on September 10. Mr. Harry Bilger announces that on the last day of the season he will present in the theatre instead of the regular vaudeville show, an amateur carnival, using ten of the best local talent acts that can be had in the city. Gregg's Band has again been engaged by the park to finish out the season.

The Buckingham opened up for the season Sunday, August 27, with the Cozy Corner Girls as the attraction. Haywood Allen is again the treasurer of this house and can always be seen with his smiling face in the box-office.

The Macaulay's Theatre will open as usual with Al Field's Minstrels as the first attraction.

The Shubert Masonic is still running the Kinemacolor pictures and is attracting large audiences.

Miss Margaret Foster of Lexington, Ky., a talented prima donna, left last week for Jacksonville, Fla., where she was married to Mr. William Wlogate Acosta, a well-known business man of that city. Miss Foster, two years ago, was with Fritz Scheff. She is also well-known in Louisville.

The Elks' aviation meet at Churchill Downs, had some of the best aviators in the business there. Four of them were McCurdy, Willard, Ward and Dougherty. It was held for the Elks' Christmas Charity Fund.

The Kentucky State Fair is doing some big advertising this year and is expected to be the highest ever held here.

ARTHUR V. SHECKLER.

COLUMBUS, O.

This is the biggest week in the year from an amusement standpoint that Columbus has, it being the week of the sixty-first annual State Fair. All the houses not already open will do so and a great week's business is looked for.

Al Field's Minstrels, as usual, opens the Southern Theatre and, by the way it is the last attraction the present management, (The Valentine Circuit) will play, their lease having expired. The house will be the permanent abode of a stock company under the management of J. W. Densberry and Harry O. Stubbis. Mr. Densberry is the lessee of the leading park here, Olentangy, while Mr. Stubbis is well and favorably known through his several seasons able directing of the Stubbis-Wilson Players at Olentangy Park. There is no doubt that Messrs. Densberry and Stubbis will make a decided go of their new venture.

The B. F. Keith Theatre, after a two weeks' general overhauling, opened its regular vaudeville season with "big time" acts to capacity business. W. W. Brown retains the resident management, he having been in charge since the house opened under the Keith banner. The staff in the box office and front of the house as well as the rear remain the same.

Manager Harper of the High Street Theatre, when he booked in the ever-popular Haulon's Fantasma for state fair week, knew precisely what he was doing as the engagement opened with a rush Monday matinee, and bids fair to continue all week. This is the last week of the Stubbis-Wilson Players at Olentangy Park. The company will leave at once for New York, where most of them have secured engagements with road companies for the coming season.

Nothing has so far been announced as to when the magnificent New Hartman Theatre, which will be occupied with K. & E. attractions will be ready for occupancy, nor who will have the honor of dedicating it. From an inside source I learn that October 15 will be about the time that Columbus theatregoers will first feast their eyes on what promises to be the most elegant playhouse in the Middle West.

Sells-Floto, with their big aggregation, are supposed to include Columbus in their itinerary. However, no paper is up nor have any contracts been signed.

W. W. Freeman, otherwise to his army of friends known as "Doc," has been spending a few days here, the city of his nativity. He left here for Chicago, where last season he had the management of the Garrick Theatre.

WILLIAM H. CAMPBELL.

NASHVILLE, TENN.

Never has Nashville seen such a realistic and artistically staged picture as the one which is being shown at the Bijou Theatre this week, Dante's Inferno.

The Crescent Amusement Company of Nashville, has made application in the County Register's office for an amendment to its charter so that the capitalization of $40,000 may be increased to $75,000. This Amusement Company has taken over the Albion Theatre, a new motion picture house which was recently completed. The Elite, Nashville's $10,000 picture house, is now nearing completion. A $7,500 musical instrument has recently been purchased in Germany for this house.

The matter of selling tickets for the All-Star Music Course will be taken up by the Music Committee of the Board of Trade during the coming week. James M. Frank is chairman of the Music Committee, and sub-committees have been appointed to begin work. The Board of Trade will undertake to assist in making the All-Star Music Course a permanent institution in Nashville.

Harry Sadekum of Nashville, was awarded a pretty silver loving cup offered by the Fair Association Auto Contest which was held at the Gallatin Fair, August 26. Mr. Sadekum's car was the handsomest ever seen here, and was the most admired by all.

Messrs. Arnold and Petway, a team of successful song writers of Nashville, recently closed a contract with Scott Leslie, who is summering in Tampa, to write an exclusive song for his act next season, the title of which will be I Think That You're An Awful Pretty Girl. Mr. Arnold while away on his vacation in New Orleans wrote a new song of the "hoose" order, entitled Let's Go Home. Mr. Petway, Mr. Arnold's partner, will at once get to work on the music for their new number.

If you have occasion these days to go about any of the Nashville theatres, beware of fresh paint; for this is the season of renovating and refurbishing up, of "putting on a shine" preparatory to opening of the season, which is now drawing near.

"Has anybody here seen Cassidy?" Manager Cassidy will be manager of the Orpheum during the coming season, which will open Labor Day, September 4, with vaudeville.

Manager W. A. Sheets is a very busy man these days, seeing to the work of re-painting and tidying up generally of his theatre, The Vendome, which will open its season of 1911-1912, September 13. The season's opening bill will be The Girl in the Train. Manager Sheets predicts a great season of high-class attractions for his house.

Manager F. P. Furlong of the Fifth Avenue Theatre, is putting on a most worthy bill of high-class vaudeville this week. Every act on the program is a headliner in itself. This popular playhouse still continues to display the S. R. O. sign from week to week.

J. A. Stoner, orchestra leader of the Fifth Avenue Theatre, leaves very shortly on a vacation trip, and while away will visit the following cities on the other side of the water: Paris, France; London, England, and Sydney, Australia. Mr. Stoner will have as company the following gentlemen who compose the Fifth Avenue orchestra: Mr. William Green, trap drummer, and Mr. Tony Petrucci, violinist, who will visit Baden Baden in Germany.

All the motion picture theatres are having a big run of business in spite of the hot days.

After playing a number of successful weeks engagement out at Glendale Park, the popular Nashville Military Band has closed its season. The concerts attracted thousands of music lovers to Glendale during the summer months. This band has made such a great impression on the public of Nashville that a contract has already been made with them for next season at Glendale Park.

SEATTLE, WASH.

The Saengerfest, which was held in Seattle week of August 20, was a great success. Walla Walla, Wash., secured the next year's convention. Ringling Brothers' Circus showed here August 23-24, and did the largest business for four performances ever experienced in the west. The weather being perfect taxed the capacity of their enormous tent.

The opening date of the handsome new Metropolitan Theatre is not yet decided as Manager McKendle has not as yet definitely announced his opening attraction. Klaw & Erlanger book the Metropolitan.

Manager John Cort left Seattle, August 16 for San Francisco to personally bury along the work on the new Cort Theatre, which will be formerly opened September 3, with Baby Mine. From California Mr. Cort will go directly East to stage and produce Sadie, and his several other road attractions. It will be some time before he returns to Seattle.

The larger picture houses are doing an immense business in Seattle. It has, however, been rather quiet with some of the smaller ones, but as soon as the cool weather sets in they will undoubtedly resume their normal good business.

LEM A. SHORTIDGE.

SPOKANE, WASH.

The fourth annual Spokane Apple Show will be held November 23-31, when the King of all fruits will reign. The greatest street carnival that ever appeared in Spokane is planned as the big feature of the event; $25,000 is practically assured to start the fund, $23,000 of this amount being subscribed at a meeting of the business men here.

Mose Openheimer, vice-president of the Sullivan-Cosidine Circuit, has returned from a trip in the East.

Charles Quinn, stage carpenter at the Auditorium Theatre, was operated on, at Sacred Heart Hospital, August 24. He is reported to be doing nicely.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles S. Albert will make their home in Spokane. Mrs. Albert was Miss Sarah Truax before her marriage. Mr. Albert has been chosen local attorney for the Great Northern Railroad Co.

Hugh P. Pace has been engaged as treasurer of the American Theatre and will succeed Percy McMahon.

B. AXELSON.

KANSAS CITY, MO.

The theatres are now all open and the park season is at a close. The 1911-12 theatrical season really commenced Sunday, September 3, although some of the theatres had been open a week or two in August. September 3 marked the opening of the Willis-Wood, the Shubert and the Orpheum Theatres.

The Willis-Wood, "the theatre beautiful," is well worthy of its name this season, for everything is fresh, clean and attractive about this theatre. O. D. Woodward is manager of a chain of theatres, among which is the Willis-Wood, with Frank Woodward in active management of the house. O. H. Backley is business manager. The opening play was The Country Boy, which was the bill for four nights and two matinees, commencing Sunday night, September 3.

O. D. Woodward announced, August 25, on the eve of his departure for New York City, that he had leased the Auditorium for at least two years, and would open it September 16 as a stock house at popular prices and with a first-class company. Mr. Woodward's trip to New York is to engage players for this stock company. The Auditorium was formerly the home of the Woodward and Stock company, and many successes and splendid companies and stars have come from there. In the last two years the house has chanced hands several times and stock and vaudeville, etc., have been seen there. Kansas City theatre public will be very glad to see Mr. Woodward in charge again of the Auditorium and to have a Woodward Stock company there.

The Sam S. Shubert Theatre opened Sunday, September 3, with Mother. This sweet appealing little play was seen last season at the Shubert.

Miss Ruth Peebles is "the girl" in The Heart-Breakers the week of September 3 at the Grand Opera House. She is a native Kansas City girl. George Damcarl, last seen here as "The Prince," in The Merry Widow, is the principal "heart-breaker."

The Orpheum Theatre opened Sunday matinee, September 3. The Orpheum, and the big-class of vaudeville it presents here, are prime favorites with every one and each year it seems that the patronage gets larger. Martin Leamon, resident manager of the Orpheum, in speaking of the good vaudeville presented, said that while he was in California on his summer vacation he saw a great deal of the bookings for the Orpheum this season, and he could "assure every one of new and novel and feature acts, most of them entirely new to Kansas City and others not seen here in the past five years."

The personnel of the Gillis Theatre is about the same as last season, with the exception that the orchestra, formerly in charge of Prof. Berry for the past ten or twelve years, now is conducted by Mr. Peterson. E. S. Brigham is manager, with Leroy Simonds as business manager and J. K. Sherlock as treasurer. An innovation at the Gillis is having the programs done in book form, whereas heretofore they were simply sheets. This is very pleasant and in this way can be retained as souvenirs.

Both burlesque houses report excellent business. The Gayety opened August 26 and now is in its second week. The Century was opened August 13 and has gotten into its stride. The week of August 26 was "Carnival Week" at Electric Park. Each evening of that week there was "something doing." There were dancing contests, beauty contests and music, radio and confetti. Every one had a good time and the park had record-breaking crowds, being the largest it seemed, of the season. Electric Park closed good old 1911 season in a blaze of glory and good times. Electric will open again the last week in September for two weeks for the Third Annual Missouri Valley Fair.

The week of August 26 was the final one for Forest Park, and there were special events each evening there, dancing contests and ball games.

The showboat, "Wonderland," is reported from St. Louis as on her way from Wackliffe, Ky., and is to come from St. Louis to Kansas City via the Missouri River. This will be the first marine theatre ever to invade the Missouri River, and will give shows at all the cities and towns along the river as far as Kansas City. Show boats have been coming along the Mississippi from St. Paul to New Orleans, and Missouri and vaudeville on the river are well-known along the Mississippi, but men actively engaged on the river say that no marine theatre has been seen on the Missouri for fifty years. It would seem that at last the Missouri is going to come into its own.

At last the controversy in regard to Buffalo Bill's showing here on Labor Day has been settled, and according to schedule there will be two performances of the Two Rills' Show Monday night, August 28, the two houses of the council passed a special ordinance authorizing this. There was an old ordinance to the effect that no circuses could show on July 4, Labor Day and Christmas Day. Several weeks ago when the advance agent for Buffalo Bill was in town and applied for a license he was granted one for his show for reason that an assistant city counselor ruled that the Buffalo Bill Show was not a circus but a Wild West show. Then the labor unions and others got wanting a show here Labor Day protested against it, and dug up the old ordinance to sustain their position and the city counselor held that the Buffalo Bill Show, a Wild West show, is a circus, and on this ground said there "should be no show Labor Day." The show at first thought to have an injunction forbidding the city to interfere with their show on Labor Day, but decided on the coun of a special ordinance and this was passed by both houses, and so Kansas City will see the farewell performances of Buffalo Bill on Labor Day. This ordinance was secured

ment Events in Big American Cities

on the ground that Kansas City differentiates in the scale of license fees. Fees for Wild West shows being one hundred dollars a day straight and for circuses the license fee is charged according to the number of cars carried.

Major John M. Burke, general advance agent for Buffalo Bill Show, came to Kansas City Monday, August 28 and stayed that week here. It is said to say that the tents will be jam crowded, September 4 for both performances of the Two Bills' Show.

WILLIAM W. SHELLEY.

SAN FRANCISCO, CAL.

October 15 will be another big day in San Francisco. The breaking of ground for the Panama Pacific Exposition will take place, and President Taft will be here to turn the first spadeful of dirt. The committee are hard at work framing up a program of festivities. The President has been tendered an invitation engraved on a gold plate and he has accepted. A very large attendance is anticipated, as excursions will be run from all directions.

Everything is in readiness for the premiere of the New Court Theatre, September 2. First bill will be "The Girl of the Year." For week of September 9 comes Miss Nobody from Starland, with Olive Vada in the title role; for the third week, commencing September 16, Harry Bulger in "The Filting Princess"; after which comes H. B. Warner for a two weeks' stay in "Allas Jimmie Valentine."

Blaglag Brothers' Circus is heavily billed for their four days' stay here, September 8-11. They play Oakland on the 7th.

Max Dill opened his season at the Savoy Theatre Sunday, August 20, and to say he received an ovation is putting it mildly. For his entrance the applause continued for fully three minutes, forcing him to make a speech, and when the curtain was rung down on the first act, aural offering were passed up to him that literally covered the big stage. The Rieh Mr. Hoggendelmer was the offering, with a capable cast composed of Lillian Coleman, Marta Golden, Cecil Cowles, Myrtle Alzona, Lucille Palmer, Phil Abbott, Melvin Stokes, Fritz Hamlin, James Barry, Robert Carmen, W. J. Rau, Grover Frankl, Alf Gonsdag, Ray Bennett, Lou Chaney, twenty chorus girls and twelve chorus men. Scenery and wardrobe looked fresh and new, and a splendid week's business was the result.

Under the management of Ernest Shipman, Florence Roberts, Thurlow Bergen and Theodore Roberts opened their season at the Savoy Theatre Sunday, August 27. Jim the Penman, elaborately produced, was presented. A tour of the Coast will follow.

The many Coast friends of Hugh Emmett, the vaudeville star, will be pleased to learn he is making the hit of his career. He is now featured at Keith & Proctor's Fifth Avenue Theatre, New York, and the electric sign in front of the theatre carries his name.

McGe and Reeco, formerly known as Foley and Earl, a singing and dancing team, write they are playing a successful engagement on the Brennan Circuit through Australia.

Ground was broken August 20 for the new theatre at the corner of Eddy and Mason Streets, to be known as the California Theatre. Grace Wilson, of the well-known Wilson Sisters, is now playing an extended engagement at the Apollo Theatre, Manila.

The staff of the Savoy for the coming season is as follows: Charles H. Muehlman, lessee and manager; Philip Hastings, press representative; John S. Mackenzie, treasurer; Robert White, assistant treasurer; John Joseph, musical director; William Finley, master mechanic; James Cook, electrician; Ben Simons, property man, and A. A. Blachl, advertising agent.

The new Berkeley Theatre opened Wednesday, August 23, under the management of Turner & Dahnen, as a 10 and 20-cent vaudeville theatre. The house was packed to the doors and the prospects for a steady business look very rosy.

The staff of the New Court Theatre, which opens in September, will be made up of the following well-known people: Homer B. Curran, manager; Charles Newman, treasurer; Zoe Shopp, assistant treasurer; Barnett Franklin, press agent; Harry Richards, stage carpenter; Arthur Uglow, electrician; Boh Wakeman, property man, and Tony Bianchi, advertising agent.

The big film exchange of Turner & Dahnen is reported to have passed into the hands of the General Film Company. A few weeks ago this same company acquired the Novelty Moving Picture Company.

"If you're an Eagle, you sure are a bird," was sung during the Eagles' convention at the Portola-Louvre Cafe. It was written especially for the Four Black Diamonds, both words and music by Jack McCellan, a Frisco composer. It was one of the big successes of the program, and nightly the big audience joined in the chorus.

The Girl of the Golden West, a dramatic company with a brass band, under the personal direction of Mrs. Leslie McDonald, is touring California playing under canvas. The company, all told, comprise thirty people and travel in two special cars. Backward is general agent. They report satisfactory business since they left their starting point, Kansas City.

The following are underlined to appear at the Portola-Louvre Cafe: Milan Trio, Gerald Thorne and Miss Vera Farndale, Waldo Henderson and Fields, and Mme. Elsie Marloe. Alton Bond and Company played his fourth return engagement within twelve months at the Wigwag this week, after which he leaves for Honolulu, departing on steamer August 30.

The new company, the American Musical Comedy Company, which opened August 20 at the Gayety Theatre, showed to very marked improvement in the attendance at this house, and from the outlook, it will prove a profitable engagement. The opening bill, "The Gay Mrs. Dollar," produced by Boh Hughes, the well-known musical director, formerly with Kolb & Dill, seemed to be just what the public desired. The company includes Bert La Plante, Paul Stanhope, C. O. Lydston, Miss Phoebe Edwards, Miss Fritzie Guy, Florence Sherlock, Rose Roberts, Paul Mahr, Selma du Forest, and chorus. Latest singing numbers, clever comedy and elaborate wardrobe, was a big factor.

The advance sale for Richard Carle and Company in Jumping Jupiter at the Columbia, beginning week of 29, opened big, and the prospects are bright for a very profitable engagement.

Nance O'Neil was accorded an ovation on her initial appearance as stock star at the Alcazar. She appeared in "The Sorceress" and scored heavily.

There were three distinctly English vaudeville turns at the Orpheum this week—too much for one program. They were: Boh Pender's Glants, doing a slapstick pantomime, which created much laughter; Gariton, the skeleton-shaped comedy magician; and Moray Cash, an English character singer.

OAKLAND.

The Lamhard Grand Italian Opera Company opened its season Sunday, August 20, at Idora Park Opera House and met with instant approval. The house, both day and night, was packed to the doors, and all the stars were cordially welcomed. Impresario Mario Lamhard brought a company of real high-class singers this time, each principal being a star in their particular roles. The first week's repertoire included Cavalleria Rusticana, I Pagliacci, Rigoletto and Traviata, which served to introduce a company of singing actors that brought applause and bravos that almost lifted the roof. All the Frisco papers devoted columns praising the company and production, and especial mention is due Lidia Levy, who is heralded as "the little Tetrastini," whose singing created such storms of applause as to interfere with the performance. Manuel Salazar, the South American tenor, also registered an immense hit. In fact, all the company is far above the average, and, judging from the attendance and reception accorded the past week and the immense amount of press that has been done, the six weeks' engagement will be a record season.

Ferullo's Italian Band continues to be a very strong outdoor attraction at Idora Park. Henry Ohlmeyer and his band is scheduled to follow, opening September 9.

Sousa's Band of 50 players are booked to give two concerts at the Greek Theatre, Berkeley. This will be the first big professional attraction at the Greek Theatre this season. The two concerts will be given on the afternoon and evening of Thursday, October 5.

RUBE COHEN.

CINCINNATI, O.

The local park season is drawing to a close. Concy will be the first to close its gates, and will be followed within a week of two by the other resorts. The Zoo, of course, is open the year round, but the concert season ends there on Labor Day.

The managers of the various parks have no complaint to make over the past season, and, without exception, it has been the best for a number of years. In establishing the Cincinnati Summer Orchestra at the Zoo, instead of the hand attractions that have played there heretofore, the Zoo management attempted a daring innovation, which for a time looked to be a failure; but as the season wore on the Summer Orchestra gained in popularity, and, taking the season as a whole, was probably a better drawing card than the old order of hand attractions would have been.

The opening of Keith's Columbia and the Auditorium with vaudeville, and the Grand Opera House with Little Miss Fix-it, September 3, leaves but two theatres off the active list. One of them, the Lyric, will open September 10 with Lou Dockstader's Minarela.

That leaves only the Olympic to be accounted for. For a while it looked as though this theatre would be dark this season, but it has been announced that Harry W. Davis, the Pittsburgh theatrical man, has secured a lease and will install a high-class stock company. In the meantime the Kinemacolor Company will show the colored pictures of the Coronation and other scenes there for one week, starting September 3.

Lyman Howe's Travelogues continue to draw well at the Lyric.

Dante's Inferno pictures two weeks' engagement at the Grand was successful even beyond the most sanguine expectations of Managers Oiler & Erb. Messrs. Oiler & Erb have the state's rights to the pictures and are now hooking them.

The Cincinnati German Theatre Company gave a special performance at the Lagoon September 3, the occasion being the state convention of the German-American Alliance of Kentucky. Der Herr Senator was the bill. The regular season will open at the Grand Sunday night, October 1.

Miss Merritt, of the team of Merritt and Phillips, and in private life the wife of Phillips, met with a painful accident at the Empress Theatre August 27. While doing her turn she slipped and fell to the floor. She was assisted to rise and a physician called, who, after an examination, stated that she feared a small bone in her ankle was broken and that she would be laid up for some time.

Frank E. Edwards, formerly manager of the Cincinnati Symphony Orchestra, whose romantic marriage in May surprised his friends, will return early in September for a prolonged honeymoon. Mrs. Edwards is an accomplished reader and will appear in a number of engagements under the management of Mr. Edwards during the coming season.

R. V. Matthews is the composer of two new patriotic songs, which he hopes to have sung during the coming civic celebration in honor of the Fernbank Dam and Home-Coming Day. The titles of the songs are "The Land We Love Best" and "The Home We Love Best."

Manager Sol-Stephen of the Zoo arrived home last week from New York with the new hippopotamus, and Miss Minnehaha, as the yokas lately has been christened, has been as high an attraction as the Summer Orchestra or Elavanna.

Manager Penneaux, with his wife, is expected home from French Lick Springs in time for the opening of the regular season at the Lyric, September 10.

Julius Hurlig of the theatrical firm of Hurlig & Seamon is visiting his brother-in-law, Henry Cohn, at the latter's residence in Avondale. Manager Hurlig has just returned from a summer trip to Europe.

The building inspector states that it would be almost impossible for any such horror as the Cannonsburg (Pa.) fire to occur in a Cincinnati theatre, although, he said, there is no telling what a crowd will do in a panic. The chief of police here, however, will take no chances, and patroims have been ordered to make inspection of all houses used for motion picture shows on their beats at least once a week, and report if any carelessness exists relative to the observance of the laws regarding exits, etc.

Everything is in readiness for the start of the Fernbank Dam Celebration and Home-Coming, September 5. The entries are all in for the various contests that will be held, and some exciting times are looked for. 100,000 visitors are expected in Cincinnati during the week.

Morton Stern, advance agent for Merry Mary, was a caller at the office of The Billboard last week. His show opened an engagement at the Walnut Theatre, Cincinnati, Sunday, under favorable conditions. Merry Mary is a bright, up-to-the-minute song comedy, under management of the Baker Amusement Co. Presented by a clever company, it promises to be one of the real successes of the season on the Stair & Havlin Circuit. Chas. Baker gave the show his personal attention during the Cincinnati engagement.

ST. LOUIS, MO.

This week in St. Louis is most delightful for the witnessing of town shows, and almost too cool for the summer gardens, although most of them are still hanging on, and will until Labor Day. The attractions in this city for the week consist of vaudeville at the Columbia Theatre, Forest Park Highlands, Mannion's Park and Suburban Garden, not mentioning the many aridomes. The two vaudeville theatres, the Standard and the Gayety, are both open and doing nice early business. The only dramatic house that is open at this date is the American Theatre, and Manager Russell is testing his capacity this week with "The Third Degree" as his attraction. This is the first time it has been here at popular prices and everybody is going to see it.

The Sells-Floto Circus is billed here for three days commencing on September 11. This is the first appearance of this combination in this city as long as this generation can remember. It is also at 25 cents, which will be looked upon with interest, as to whether this reduction will be any more popular than the regulation 50 cents that we have always been accustomed to paying. They should do a capacity business these three days if September is a good circus month in this town. All other shows have seen fit to play St. Louis in the early spring, fearing that the fall is not good time, and the success of this visit of Sells-Floto will again be a means of establishing history. At the same time that the Sells-Floto Shows is playing St. Louis, we will have the Barnum-Bailey Shows within trolley ride of the city, and I am wondering if this will not hurt the excursion business that always seems necessary to the stay of a big circus.

The Managers Oppenheims of the Suburban Garden, began their few weeks of vaudeville this week, and are putting on three reels of pictures and ten acts of vaudeville, giving a full hour's entertainment for the price of ten cents. The ads. have read with one slogan, "Now Go To It," and although the weather has been against them, a splendid portion of the population have taken their words. It is the biggest 10 cents' worth ever given in this city.

The annual parade of the Velled Propheta will take place in this city on October 3. Besides this event there will be balloon races and aeroplane flights for the rounding out of our annual festival week. Next year we are to have the revival of the great St. Louis Fair, and the annual festivities in greater form than ever before.

Dante's Inferno is showing at the Garrick Theatre here and to his highest. They are pronounced by all to be the greatest thing yet shown in the moving picture line.

The American Gypsy Girls are a tremendous hit at Mannion's Park this week. Always favorites in St. Louis they have succeeded in making this week one of the best of the season at this resort, and the weather entirely against them. Their act has harmony and beauty that is most liked by the playgoer and their visits here have always drawn big.

The American Band of Providence, E. I., which was to all two weeks at Delmar Garden here, closed after one week's engagement owing to the lack of patronage. The closing of this garden's regular season, and the extremely cool weather made the attendance fall much below a profit, and the band pulled out for Providence Sunday night.

Lyman H. Howe's Travel Festival will play a two weeks' preliminary season at the Century Theatre here, beginning on September 4.

It is now decided that St. Louis will have another show this year, and it will take place in the Coliseum, either the first or second week in November. No horse show has been held here for two years and the committee that is collecting some $5,000 for its financial success, state that it will be the best ever held in this city.

Charles Williams has broken into the aviation field and is booking W. I. Baker at the fair, in an aeroplane of his own make. The flight at Windsor, Ill., proved successful and profitable as well. Mr. Baker made his machine himself last year, and it is patterned after the Berghoff Plane.

The Atlas Film Manufacturing Co. of this city, who are now exhibiting their first production, The James Boys in Missouri, have made a wonderful production of this interesting subject. The scenery being correct in all its details, having been taken on the actual spot where these crimes were done, have a most thrilling picture besides one that is excellent in its photography. If this first picture is any criterion of its next productions, then St. Louis can feel proud of numbering this new enterprise among its many accomplishments as a center.

It looks as though Edward & Clifford have another big winner in Rowland E. Rose's play, Rock of Ages. This play opened the American Theatre's season last Sunday afternoon and despite the summer weather, and manifold outdoor attractions, the week's receipts will closely approach The Roxy record at this house, which was made later in the season. All five of the St. Louis critics voiced a future for Rock of Ages in the popular-price houses. The theme of the play bears on the white slave traffic, with the moral lessons predominating at every climax.

All records for lithographing St. Louis were smashed this week by Frank Dailey, advertising agent for the American Theatre, with the attraction of Rock of Ages. Three hundred and fifty-three sheets of paper graced the views of all who patronized Olive Street. Dailey was connected with the Imperial Theatre forces last season, but went over to the American this season with the advent of Dave Russell's management at the latter house.

Manager Harry Wallace was unable to open Havlin's Theatre here on last Sunday, owing to the non-completion of the extensive improvements being made. But the contractors promise that his opening will take place on September 4 without mishap. The Convict's Daughter will be the opening attraction. The theatre has gone into almost a rebuilding state and will make one of St. Louis' prettiest playhouses when it is opened. A new feature will be the omitting of the orchestra, something that St. Louis will have to get used to. But the lack of the orchestra will be made up by the many other features of comfort that are being installed.

WILL J. FARLEY.

TOLEDO, O.

One of our old boys of theatricals that has made the circuit is Howard Leese; he has charge of Snyder's cigar stand and news-stand on Superior Street. He has promised to handle The Billboard. Good ink for the agents and managers to make out their advices and next year's contracts.

Joe Hawley, one of the old billers, is now holding a car-manager's job with the John Robinson's Shows in the South.

Edward Channell is back from his summer vacation and work-out at Cedar Point. Ed. will again say how many and when at the American that is about to open its doors with high-class melodramas.

The two Mikes are now operating the theatrical hotel Relato.

Harry Ketchum, one of the old-timers, will be the agent at the Valentine this year.

The Lyman Twins was here and he was all the Lyman family. Ask Lou at the Arcade about his brothers.

George Hauser, the stage manager of the New Keith's and his summer kirk, Bonnie Patoski, went fishing the other night at the Toledo Beach and it was so dark that the young men could not see. After several hours' fishing when they discovered that they were on sand and the water had left them.

Arthur Roach is here with Salvation Nell Company. Arthur is the carpenter and plays in the bar-room scene of the play. He carries two cards, Bartenders' and Stage Craft.

Patrick Gysse, general manager for Vaughan Glaser, was in the city for the season's opening of one of their attractions, Salvation Nell, which made its initial appearance at the Lyceum. Pat is one of the popular fellows and his attraction and company proved to be a big card. Pat says that they will have seven attractions under the Vaughan Glaser management. Among them will be Tyrns Cobb, the great hall player of the Detroit team. It will be The College Widow rewritten for a baseball part for the Georgia Peach.

Arthur Windish, who made the tour of Lena Rivers, is in with a car load of small stuff for the coming of Rosalind at Red Gate. Arthur is some biller and the town looks like the coming of a circus.

Kid Burns, the Dayton (Ohio) wonder, called upon us en route to the fair dates at St. Paul-Minneapolis. Kid is doing stunts in the air for the Wright Brothers. Kid is a wonder; will be selling agents the aeroplanes for advance jumps.

The Bowery Burlesquers opened the Empire for the present season and proved to be one of the biggest opening events that the local house has had in years.

Arthur Jarvis, one of the cut-up clowns of the Barnum Shows, came here from Port Huron, Mich., last Sunday, to say how do you do to all the boys. The white top had a big harvest in Canada.

JACK TIERNEY.

OMAHA, NEB.

The theatrical season of 1911-12 opened in three theatres on August 27, the Gayety, the Orpheum and the Krug. The Brandels opened August 31 with The Filting Princess. The American, with the Woodward Stock Company, will begin business September 29, and the Boyd under the Shubert management, opens about September 15.

The weather was ideal, being quite cool and many attended the openings who would have, under less favorable conditions, visited the amusement parks.

If the attendance at the theatres at the openings is anything to go by, the season just started will be a very prosperous one for all the houses.

C. A. Bird, general manager for the Shuberts, who recently visited this city, denies the report that the Shuberts had sublet the Boyd to Sullivan & Considine. He states that the Shubert attractions will be installed in the Boyd as soon as the improvements are completed.

If the plans outlined by the Shuberts are carried out, the Boyd when completed will practically be a new theatre. The plans call for refurbishing and redecorating the entire house, including new chairs and carpets; an entire new stage will be built and additions to the dressing rooms. The color scheme will be mahogany and gray. It is said the cost of the improvements will be about $25,000, and when finished this theatre will be one of the most attractive in the city.

SKATING AND RINK NEWS

Al Flath Offers Pertinent Suggestions for the Institution of a Professional Skaters' Circuit—Current News Letter and Hints for the General Aggrandizement of Skating

By JULIAN T. FITZGERALD

I think I have stirred up a long-felt want in the roller game. In a recent issue of The Billboard, rink managers were urged to look into the forming of a circuit for professional skaters. In a letter from Al Flath, one of the best known skating fans in the country, and a promoter and manager of great ability, he had the following to say: "I noticed your article in The Billboard regarding the starting of a circuit for professional skaters. I think this move one of the best that has been proposed in many a day, for the professionals surely would welcome something of this kind. Professional racers are the ones that put up good strong races when there is anything in sight, but there are not enough race meets to keep them on the go, and a circuit such as a proposed by secretary Fitzgerald, would fill a long-felt want. I would like to see such men as Mr. Sol. Waterman of Kansas City, who has operated a number of successful rinks, get in the harness and assist in this latest move for the betterment of roller racing. There are several rinks throughout the United States which could get into a circuit of this kind, and make it just as important as any other sport." Mr. Flath has had many years' experience in the handling of both ice and roller skaters, and has the reputation of bringing out some of the stars in both classes, who have been holders of world's records. Flath, who at present is assistant manager of Ravenna Park, Milwaukee, Wis., has done perhaps more for the roller skating game in Milwaukee, where he managed the Hippodrome for one year, than any other person. He is known as a straight man in the business, and as a developer of talent he occupies the foremost position in the skating world. He will sever his connection with the amusement park shortly, and will be at liberty to take up this professional circuit proposition. Managers who are interested in bettering the receipts of their rinks will think this thing over carefully.

FALL MARS CONTEST.

The final of the onemile professional roller race was won by Fred Martin of Onkland, Cal., at the Riverview Rink, Sunday night, August 20, by less than six inches, from Al Krueger, who skated in the second professional race. The race was marred by a bad spill, in which five racers were thrown along the south end of the track for a distance of twenty feet. Harry Mikkelsen was so severely injured that he was removed to the emergency hospital in the amusement park grounds. Frank Neul was the cause of the accident. Being in the lead he started sprinting around the turn and accidentally tripped, causing Mikkelsen, Anderson, Lowry and Genske to fall in a heap. Frank Hennesey, who was right behind him, escaped the fall by doing the hurdle act. The event was won by Martin, who sprinted the last three laps, finishing only six inches ahead of Krueger. The time for the distance was 2:37 3-5. Frank Hennesey finished third.

SUGGESTIONS WANTED.

Since I have been writing skating news in The Billboard's skating page, I have noticed numerous communications from rink managers of the different parts of the country. In several of these short letters as we may call them, there has been some very interesting news, as well as suggestions for booming the roller business. Now it stands to reason that there are a great many enterprising rink managers throughout the country, who have ideas of their own as to how to please their patrons, by getting up special features, and many of these features have not reached the outside skating world. Just for example, when Al Flath managed the Hippodrome at Milwaukee, he had special features booked for weeks ahead, and things that were never heard of before, still they were tried out and proved to be great drawing cards. Now if the rink managers will take the time and send me one of their programs for any of their special feature nights, I will from time to time write on this subject and no doubt but that many of you will derive some benefit through this method. Madison Garden, Chicago, one of the best conducted rinks in the country, has one or two special features each week, and each is a new one, and they play to packed houses on these nights. The same can be said of Sans Souci Rink, Chicago, and Riverview Rink, Milwaukee, the Carnival Casino, Buffalo, N. Y., and many other was the champion of the Northwest at Chicago in 1867, at the old Wabash Avenue Rink, the first covered rink built in the United States.

Mr. Pratt was known as the "Spread Eagle Wave." He began all his exhibitions with this spectacular movement in an inimitable style that has never been equaled. He and Mr. Crocker took up roller skating and traveled with Hermann, the wizard, for years. They have long since retired from the profession.

too numerous to mention. Probably the same can be said about your rink after you have tried some of these good advertising stunts. I will be pleased to hear from all managers and skaters who have anything to offer for the good of skating.

A GREAT SKATING CITY.

Winnipeg, Manitoba, boasts of seven ice skating rinks. That is quite a reputation for a city of less than 200,000. The following compose the best of the rinks: The Amphitheatre, Winnipeg, Auditorium, Arena. The four herein mentioned are some of the best rinks in Canada. Not like many other cities, Winnipeg society folks and different clubs have their special nights. Of course hockey is the supreme ruler in that part of the country, but there are nights besides hockey. The Winnipeg Skating Club holds forth every Tuesday night at the Amphitheatre, while the Presbyterian and Methodist churches, having a large membership at one dollar a member, have their separate nights at the Winnipeg. The Auditorium Rink is devoted mostly to the great hockey games, and the Arena is devoted to general skating. The rinks in Winnipeg run from November to April. It is nothing unusual to see a thousand people on the surface at one time in the large rinks. Several big carnivals and other skating attractions will be promoted there this winter.

MILWAUKEE SEASON OPENS.

From all reports from Milwaukee, Wis., the home of roller skating for the state of Wisconsin, there is going to be another big season in store for the popular manager, Mr. Joseph Munch. The Riverview Skating Palace (for Palace it is), opens to the skating public Saturday evening, September 2. Advertising novelties have been distributed all over the city, announcing the opening date, and Mr. Munch will be on hand to take care of the big crowd on the opening night, after his trip to the Coast, which has put him in good shape for another hard season's work. Riverview rink is one of the most popular and well conducted rinks in the United States. Several good races and special attractions have been booked, and the skating fans will be treated just as they have been in the past, if not better.

SKATING NOTES.

Fred Tyrrell of Chicago, who was the sensation in the roller game a couple of years ago, has come back, and will be heard from in races at Riverview Rink, Chicago. Henry Becker, champion professional skater of Chicago, has been in the past week, which has kept him from competing against the great field of stars now camping at Riverview Rink. Jesse Carey, Harley Davidson, C. E. Weather, Albert Ackerman, H. W. English, Paul E. Naffin, A. M. Oviatt, let me hear from you. The Billboard, America's leading amusement weekly, published at Cincinnati, O., is the official skating newspaper of the United States and Canada. All skating news should be mailed to this paper or Julian T. Fitzgerald, secretary Western Skating Association, 2858 W. Madison st., Chicago, so as to reach the skating world.

CARNIVAL NEWS

K. G. Barkoot Appointed Midway Director at Appalachian Exposition—First Brood of Pythons Born in America Create Much Interest Among Animal Men

Knoxville, Tenn., Aug. 31 (Special to The Billboard).—K. G. Barkoot has been appointed director of the Midway for the great Appalachian Exposition, to be held here September 11 to October 1. Mr. Barkoot has two of his assistants, one visiting the Eastern and the other the Western amusement resorts. The Midway and amusement features promise to be the largest of the kind held for some time. Applications for concessions are coming in daily.

FIRST AMERICAN BORN PYTHONS

A brood of snakes is the latest acquisition to the Southern Amusement Co., the young reptiles having been born while the shows were exhibiting in Texas. C. Bascom Faulkner, one of the proprietors of the Southern Amusement Co. and the owner of Toby, the mother of the thirteen pythons, is elated over what he considers a phenomena, for, according to all accounts, this is the first brood of genuine python snakes ever hatched in America. At the time the mother of the young snakes first conceived the idea of raising a family by laying eighteen eggs, Mr. Faulkner communicated with Bartels of New York, Fred Mitchell and other well-known authorities on zoology, and the consensus of opinion among these experts was that it would be impossible to hatch the eggs in this country. It is therefore no matter of small importance to be the sole owner of the only collection of sacred snakes in America. Expert naturalists have expressed their amazement at the hatch. Mr. Faulkner is an oldtimer in the amusement business, and has shown famous snakes with amusement companies for a number of years.

BARKOOT CARNIVAL NOTES.

A welcome caller to our show at Antigo, Wis., was our general representative, A. F. Gorman, for the first time in three months he has come back to the show. Everything was in full blast, the band was playing, and it happened that we were having big business. We went from Antigo to Appleton, Wis., where we furnished attractions for a big Moose Festival. Business was very good. We played our first enclosure and found everybody was satisfied with our big free acts.

K. G. Barkoot has been in Chicago and New York, arranging some feature attractions for the coming Appalachian Exposition at Knoxville, Tenn. We furnish all attractions for same. Our secretary has been busy with correspondence for requests for concessions and attractions, but Bennie Killen is a good fellow and considers it a pleasure to work night and day answering these inquiries. We wish to state that our representative has found a list of very good towns to follow the big exposition. Atlanta Ga., Columbus, Ga., and the big State Fair and Exposition at Montgomery, Ala.; Selma, Ala., and Trussville, Ala., is on the list.

Mr. Barkoot purchased three new camels while in New York for his attraction, known as "The Beautiful Orient." Mrs. K. G. Barkoot has purchased a new 60-ft. baggage car, as she will transport her new Penny Arcade. Mr. Gorman has arranged to put on a big musical comedy attraction consisting of fifteen experienced music talented young ladies. He has also engaged a five-piece, full-dressed orchestra to furnish music for the same. He has arranged with costume concerns in Chicago to furnish the latest and most up-to-date costumes, change to be made once a week. Sam Aeb, special agent is at Wanagan, Ill., and reports that he will have one of the largest Queen's Contest and programs he has ever promoted in all his experience. Shows will be located on the principal streets of Wanagan. The city officials and business men of the city are taking great interest in the coming Eagle's Festival.

Bobby Burns, noted concession man, has consented to erect one of the most up-to-date Five-in-Arches Shows, known with any amusement company. Morris Miller, who was away from our company for two weeks attending the celebration at London, Canada, has returned to the company and will remain the rest of the season. Charlie Williams, of the Jesse James Show, has ordered a new up-to-date wagon front for his attraction. B. Lylo has taken charge of the Ebony Bell Minstrel and has a new front and twenty performers.

The Second Annual Street Fair to be held at Lakeside, Ind., September 15 and 16, promises to have great things in store for its many patrons. Among the attractions will be balloon ascensions, carnivals, baseball games, band concerts, etc., for which the committee is now arranging. Premiums and prizes will be given for exhibits, contests and races. The first fair was held a year ago, and far exceeded the most sanguine expectations of the promoters. Fully 2,000 people were present, notwithstanding the inclement weather. This year, 10,000 visitors is figured to be a conservative estimate. The association is now engaged in an advertising campaign covering a wide range. Lakeside is a live, hustling town, and always has the goods. B. F. Houser is secretary of the Lakeside B. M. A., in charge of the affair.

Prof. James G. Wright, the aeronaut, has closed his season with the Manappa Show and is now following fair with his mammoth balloon Cloudburst. He showed the last week of August at Crawfordsville, Ind., after which he went to Kentucky.

Frank Jay King has closed with Brown's International Show, and with George Madden will operate a number of selling concessions on the State Fair Circuit. In April, 1912, they will take out the Majestic Shows.

FERRARI ACTIVITIES.

Col. Francis Ferrari has landed Sixtieth Street and Market, Philadelphia, Pa., for his big show, week of September 11. He is to install the carnival for the Merchants' Association in the locality of Sixtieth Street. He is to take his entire show with him, including Harry Six and his meritorious diving girl show. This week the entire troupe is at Rutland, Vt. The week of October 9, Ferrari is going to put on a monstrous carnival at Norfolk, Va., which will surpass the big carnival he supplied for them two years ago.

CARNIVAL WEEK PLANNED.

Chester, Pa., September 2 (Special to The Billboard).—The city of Chester will give a carnival week starting October 8 and winding up October 14. The carnival will open in the churches on Sunday with sermons on the needs of Chester. Monday will be devoted to the crowning of the king and queen of the carnival, a floral parade and other amusements. Tuesday will be a military, firemen and fraternal parade; Wednesday, an industrial parade; Thursday, masquerade carnival and sports; Friday, baby parade; to wind up Saturday with a big regatta on the Delaware River.

The intention is to have a large park with the diversified class of amusements and also to have some of the city streets vacated during the week for concessions and shows of various descriptions to furnish amusement to the people.

FRANCIS FERRARI'S TRAINED WILD ANIMAL ARENA.

The new show offered by the enterprising showman is the last word in up-to-date carnival construction. None but the most complimentary expressions from public and the Colonel's contemporaries have been made since the show took the road.

nal parade; Wednesday, an industrial parade; Thursday, masquerade carnival and sports; Friday, baby parade; to wind up Saturday with a big regatta on the Delaware River.

HATCH WATER CIRCUS NOTES.

The J. Frank Hatch Water Circus, after a successful preliminary season at carnivals, is now all ready for the big State Fairs, opening at the Iowa State Fair, at Des Moines, Ia., Aug. 26. The show has been provided with an entire new equipment. A Wild West canopy, three hundred feet in length, has just been received from the U. S. Tent & Awning Co. Seventy-five lengths of seats, with a capacity of 3,000 people, are used, and the new front, one hundred feet in length, is a beauty.

Prof. Antonio Passafiume's Italian Band of twenty pieces, will furnish the music for the show, and the program is given by forty-two artists, well known in the aquatic world. Kearney P. Speedy, the best known and most famous high diver in America, and wife, joined yesterday, bringing a number of aquatic performers, including Miss Irene Anderson, champion lady swimmer of the West.

NOTES FROM THE HATCH SHOWS.

Everything is now fixed for the big State Fairs. Our first show is Des Moines, Ia., and good business is expected by all at these banner events.

The lumber and paint people have been doing a big business with the various managers of the Hatch Shows for the past two or three weeks, as well as the U. S. Tent & Awning Co., who have supplied a number of new tops and banners.

The following shows have enlarged and added new features:

Big Water Circus; new top, canopy, banners and hally. There will be fifty people on this show, doing Fair dates, featuring some of the greatest male and female swimmers and divers in the business. This show should do a record-breaking business at the Fairs.

La Rose Electric Fountain has new banners, lighting effects, a new line of feature poses, and the strongest hally with any carnival. This attraction will carry twenty-five people, and will put on a day show in a black top, which will be entirely different from the electric fountain proper, but using some of the same people.

Irish Dore, 10-in-1, new tops, banners, etc. Irish now has a cook house for his people, and it's some cook house with "Moxie," presiding as chef.

Murphy's Siberian Giant, whose show is framed up in a silver wagon, has enlarged the front of his show, and has a new line of banners.

DeKreko's Oriental Show, new top and 100 gallons of paint on everything else. This show will have sleeping quarters for a number of its people on the lot.

G. W. Allen's Electrica, new hally and a bunch of paint.

Among the new shows to join in this town was: Lyttel, Powers and Company, in Ye Old District School. The first offense Powers committed after joining our shows was to marry his leading lady, but we'll forgive him if he never does it again and sets up the bunch.

The Roulette Wheel has been practically re-hallit, and is now in charge of Tom Allen.

The Crazy House, under the management of Arthur Ramsey and his charming wife, Mary, received a new coat of paint and a general over-

SMITH SHOW NOTES.

The John B. Smith Shows' engagement at Camden, Ohio, week of August 28, under the auspices of the merchants, was a big success. Week of August 14 the shows were at Mayaville, Ky., under the auspices of the Owls; week of August 21 at Eaton, Ohio, under the auspices of the Eaton fire department. At Eaton the streets were not large enough to put up the tops to the best advantage. The following shows and concessions are now under the banner of the John B. Smith Shows & Buffalo Ranch Wild West: H. C. McIntyre, manager; Dave Noxon's Old Plantation; Wild Animal Show, J. Showalter, manager; London Ghost Show, C. H. Enkly, manager; snake show, Lewis Knight, manager; Ferris wheel and merry-go-round, J. E. Gooding, manager. Staff: Jno. B. Smith, owner and general manager; W. F. Lee, in advance; J. Doring, billposter; J. Current, electrician; Tom Aldrich, master of transportation; J. W. Morrison, treasurer. The Smith Shows carry about eighteen concessions and privileges.

MINNESOTA STATE FAIR OPENS.

Minneapolis, Minn., Sept. 4 (Special to The Billboard).—Today the fifty-second Minnesota State Fair opened its gates to thousands of eager patrons. About $30,000 was expended in improving the grounds and beautifying the buildings and as a result they present a more attractive appearance than ever before in the history of the state fair. About 100,000 plants and shrubs have been set out, streets have been widened, graded and oiled, new sidewalks laid and old ones widened. All buildings have been repainted and the three main entrances entirely rebuilt.

There is a new art gallery on the grounds and the old St. Louis exposition building has been converted into a rear cottage for women and children. Many new benches have been placed in shady spots, sanitary drinking fountains have been installed and several modern toilet pails. Three new barns have been added to the live stock department to accommodate the increased exhibits of this year, and there are thirty-six county exhibits in the agricultural building besides other features. In the agricultural building is a novel exhibit in the way of a display of soils from each of the thirty-six counties represented, these samples of soils being enclosed in large glass tubes and marked with the names of the counties from which they came.

There are also exhibits of improved machinery, flowers, fruit, vegetables, grain, art, fancy work, educational methods and manufactured goods from all portions of the state and the Wright aeroplanes give thrilling flights four times every day. A horse show is held every afternoon and evening in the live stock pavilion, and high-grade bands are located in every section of the grounds, rendering selected concert programs.

Before the grandstand there is an afternoon and evening program of vaudeville acts, horse races and automobile races, and every evening Paine's magnificent pyrotechnic spectacle, "The Battle in the Clouds," concluding with an elaborate display of fireworks and set pieces. On the midway are countless other minor features all of entertainment and interest. It is a notable fact that Dan Patch, the world's champion harness horse, will make his last public appearance this week at the Minnesota State Fair. Dan Patch is now fifteen years old and after this exhibition, he will retire to live a life of ease and comfort at his home on the Savage estate in Savage, Minn., leaving his son, Minor Heir, who will also be upon exhibition at the fair, to keep up the record he has established.

The program of the week may be summarized as follows: Sunday, September 3, Music Day; Monday, September 4, Labor Day; Tuesday, September 5, Minneapolis Day; Wednesday, September 6, Farmers' Day; Thursday, September 7, St. Paul Day; Friday, September 8, Pioneer and Soldiers' Day; Saturday, September 9, Children's Day.

CANADIAN EXHIBITION OPENS.

Toronto, Ont., Aug. 29 (Special to The Billboard).—The great Canadian National Exhibition at Toronto, Can., was formally opened by Earl Grey, Governor General of Canada, Monday afternoon, August 28. There was a big crowd present and judging from indications this year's Fair will break all records in exhibits and HARRY S. MITCHELL.

As one of the organizers of the Ozark Interstate Exposition and general manager of Schifferdecker Electric Park, Joplin, Mo., Mr. Mitchell ranks pre-eminent as one of the most conspicuous amusement figures in his locality. At Electric Park, the 1911 season of which is now drawing to a close, a most prosperous year has been experienced. The Ozark Interstate Exposition will be held at Joplin, Mo., October 16-17, under the auspices of the Commercial Club, and board of directors of Electric Park. Last year attendance at the Exposition numbered 82,179 paid admissions, and it is believed by those interested in this year's event, that even a greater number will attend during the ten days of the Exposition.

shows. The same will continue until September 11.

While the Coronation Procession, Festival of Empire and the Coldstream Guard Band loom large among the attractions at the Canadian National it must not be thought that the circus and vaudeville are being overlooked. On the contrary, the list of thrillers, gymnasts, comedians and trained animal performances will be bigger than ever. Four staves and a Roman arena will be kept going all the time. Of course, this looks like a big contract but it must be remembered that the show in front of the big grand stand plays to audiences of from 20,000 to 30,000—the population of a good-sized city.

FAIR SECRETARIES' REPORTS.

The Cornish Agricultural Association, Cornish, Me., through its secretary, Wm. R. Copp, reports that more favorable weather conditions could not have been expected as during the three days of the fair, August 15-17, the sun shone splendidly and the weather was ideal. The third day's attendance was the best, 5,000 having passed through the fair gates. The first day 1,000 persons were on hand, and the concluding day 2,000 came, saw and were pleased. Industrial conditions were good. Tompkins' Wild West, and Wm. H. Hatch, fancy rifle shot, constituted the attractions. Merry-go-round, photograph gallery, and clean fair games comprised the privileges. A dancin' horse and rider were featured as a free attraction, and platform comedians were also employed. The fair, which enjoys a reputation of being one of the cleanest and most progressive in the state, is owned by an association composed of twelve business men of the town. Next season greater improvements will be made, a new automobile road and new ball grounds being the most important.

The Rensselaer County Agricultural and Horticultural Association Fair at Troy, N. Y., Aug. 15, 16, 17 and 18 would have been the biggest in the history of the association had the weather been right, as the exhibitors were the largest and most complete the society has ever had. The fair was open day and night, and the usual line of privileges and attractions did a fair business. The attendance and weather conditions were as follows: First day, 2,257, hard rain; second day, 18,058, fair; third day, 23,042, fair; fourth day, 4,025, rain.

Fair weather and good crowds made up a successful fair for the Wicomico Fair Association at Salisbury, Md., August 15, 16, 17 and 18. Races of all kinds were the principal feature, with Curtiss aeroplanes and Woomer's Lady Relay Race riders as the big free attractions. The various privileges and shows were well patronized, and report a total business of about $25,000. The attendance was as follows: First day, 8,000; second day, 10,000; third day, 16,000; fourth day, 15,000.

The annual Valde County Agricultural Society Fair at Belfast, Maine, August 16, 17 and 18, was a decided success, in spite of the fact that a heavy rain Wednesday caused a postponement. The exhibits in the agricultural and live stock department were large and varied, while the woman's department was better worth seeing than ever before. The baby show also attracted considerable attention. The racing was very interesting, a number of heats being closely contested. The midway contained a number of good, clean shows and concessions and was especially patronized. The Belfast Band and the Banquet Comedy Company, colored singers and dancers, were among the other attractions, with J. J. Gaacon's balloon ascensions and parachute jumps as the big free attraction.

The Baraboo Valley Agricultural Society's Fair at Reedburg, Wis., August 8-11, was fairly well attended despite the fact of bad weather on two of the days. In addition to the agricultural and stock exhibits, there was a fine "Pike" which was well attended, and a fair list of free acts, including the Four Newsmen, Leo Wilder, Mrs. Ardo and trick horse, hasehail and Woodman drilling teams. Secretary W. A. Stolte is confident that with good weather all records for attendance would have been broken. Secretary R. V. Keenon, of the Mercer County Fair, held at Harrodsburg, Ky., Aug. 8 to 11, inclusive, reports that the recent fair was very successful, good crowds being in attendance. The agricultural and stock exhibits were well up to the average.

The Calgary Industrial Exhibition was held at Calgary, Alberta, Can., June 30 to July 7. Despite the fact that the weather conditions could be called good on only one day of the exhibition the attendance showed an approximate increase of 10,000 over the previous year. The agricultural and stock exhibits were of the highest class, and there was also a fine list of amusement attractions, among them being Abdullah Brothers, Apple's Zoo Circus, Flying Banavards, Lane and O'Donnell, Hardy, high-wire artist, and moving pictures of the Coronation. Secretary and Manager E. T. Richardson states that a horse show building and judging arena is now being erected at a cost of $45,000, and that $20,000 more will be spent to enlarge the accommodations for next year.

Considering the bad weather, the Rockport Fair Association's annual fair at Rockport, Ind., August 23 to 26, inclusive, was very successful. The attendance on the first day was 4,000, second day 12,000, third day 4,000, fourth day 6,000. The various exhibits were up to the mark and the amusement attractions of a high class. The speed program was a good one and had many followers. The midway at the Rockport Fair is always a feature, and the merry-go-round, Ferris wheel, horse show in tent, plantation, two snake shows, two glass blowers, three picture shows, African Pygmy twelve baby racks, recently eating and lemonade booths, were well patronized. The big free acts were: Six Flying Monks, balloon; ville and Montrose, acrobats; Trick Horse, and tub races in the lake.

The Concord Fair Association, held at Concord, Tenn., August 15-18 was the biggest in the history of the association. Industrial conditions were good, the weather for the first three days favorable, and with the exception of farm product displays which were not good, due to the failure in fruit crop, the fair in every way was a success. The attendance was for the first day, 500; second day, 1,000; third day, 1,500; last day, 2,000. The weather was unfavorable the fourth day, but notwithstanding this, attendance was the largest of the meeting. The concessions and privileges were handled by Nash Bros., Knoxville, Tenn. No free acts were given.

Fine weather, big crowds, the best of attraction and high-class racing, contributed to the great success of the Banner Fair Association's event, held at Celina, O., Aug. 14-18. The attendance was as follows: First day, 10,000; second day, 18,000; third day 25,000; fourth day, 15,000.

Good weather prevailed during the four-day Pratt County Fair, Pratt, Kas., held August 15-18, and the attendance was as follows: First day, 1,800; second day, 2,500; third day, 7,000; fourth day, 2,500. The attractions consisted of baseball games in the morning, Frank Miller, aviator, using a Strobel aeroplane, eleven harness races, nine running races, poultry shows, general stock show, etc. The privileges numbered a merry-go-round, Ferris wheel, eight novelty stands, two African Dips, fifteen lunch stands, eight refreshment stands and five varieties of ball games. Frank Miller and Brown's Jumping Dogs were the free acts. Patrons of the Pratt County Fair, states Secretary Walter Pedigo, were unanimous in their appreciation of the fair and said that the present fair offered the biggest show for the price ever put on in that section of the country.

ACHIEVES LIFE'S AMBITION.

Chicago, Aug. 31 (Special to The Billboard).—By the purchase of the property and plant of the Paine Manufacturing Company of New York, the Paine Fireworks and Display Company of Chicago, becomes the largest firework exhibitors in America, if not in the world. The consummation of the deal marks the achievement of the life's ambition of its president, Mr. H. B. Thearle, who has been identified with the Paine and the fireworks business, continuously since 1886. The deal will necessitate the removal to New York of Mr. Thearle and the headquarters after that date will be No. 1 Park Place, New York City. Despite the "same fourth" movement, Mr. Thearle reports a satisfactory season, their four spectacles, Pompeii, Pioneer Days, Battle in the Clouds and Venusburg being in great demand at the larger fairs and expositions. The company is providing the pyrotechnic display at the Appalachian Exposition in Knoxville.

CENTRAL NEBRASKA FESTIVAL.

Hastings, Neb., Aug. 28 (Special to The Billboard).—Plans for the Central Nebraska Fall Festival and Yt-Noce-Smada are going forward with rapid strides toward a certainly of success. The publicity campaign has been inaugurated and will cover the entire Central West. The committee in charge is already booking concessions, free acts and shows. Next to the Ak-Sar-Ben and State Fair, Yt-Noce-Smada is destined to be the most important entertainment event in the Central West, embodying as it does all features of a county fair, street fair, carnival and harvest home celebration.

BIG COLUMBUS RACE MEET.

"Probably the greatest racing meeting ever held by a county fair society" is what the horsemen said of the Franklin County Fair, held at Columbus, O., August 8-11, inclusive. Nearly 300 trotters and pacers scored for the word in various events. The fair was a big success in every way, exhibits, attractions and attendance being much larger than last year. The Franklin Co. Fair for 1911 passed but the cry of "biggest and best ever" in already being raised for next year.

LEGARE SCORES AT FAIR.

Lionel Legare's Mammoth Spiral Tower act was the star sensational feature at the Eastern Maine State Fair, Bangor, Me., last week. The fair offered several free attractions, including an aeroplane. Legare is appearing at Lincoln Park, Worcester, Mass., this week for the Worcester Railway Co.

A CORRECTION.

FAIR NOTES.

The B. & O. Fair Circuit, consisting of Olney (Ill.) Day and Night Fair, the Sixth Annual Fair, Altamont, Ill., and the Clinton County Day and Night Fair, Breese, Ill., have closed contracts with Fred Moreland to give exhibitions with his aeroplanes at each of the fairs in the circuit. Moreland has been making successful flights week of August 21, at Fair-aid, Ill., where he has all three of his machines. On Tuesday, Sept. 5, Moreland is to fly from Fairfield to Olney, arriving there on the opening day of the 55th Annual Richland County Fair, Sept. 11 he flies from Olney to Altamont, and September 19 from Altamont to Breese, arriving at the town on the opening day of the fair, and giving exhibition flights daily during the fair. While this is a new circuit, it is in the hands of men who know how to do things, and will spend the money to have things done right. Contracts have been closed for the entire circuit with the famous Winslow Shows, who have for their feature attraction this year Capt. Dyer's Trained Wild Animal Show. All of the fairs are advertised freely, and if the various exhibits and attractions do not pull in record-breaking crowds, it will be because the weather is such that the people can not get in. A. W. Grunz, of Breese, Ill., is secretary of the circuit.

Never before since the inauguration of the West Tennessee Agricultural and Mechanical Fair Association has the interest been so great and widespread as that manifested this time in the fair to be held at Jackson, Tenn., October 3-7, inclusive. Not only in the city and county, but throughout the entire western part of the state, merchants and farmers, as well as manufacturers are contesting for privilege and space in the exhibition buildings. Mr. W. F. Barry, secretary, advises that this will be the gala year in the history of the association, and that it will comprise more elaborate industrial and agricultural exhibition than ever seen here before. The feature at night will be the horse show, which has always been a big drawing card. Free attractions have been secured, and negotiations are on for aeroplane exhibitions.

For a number of years the New Jersey State Fair has been held in the large enclosure of Olympic Park, Newark, N. J. Last season, proprietor Schmidt and general manager James M. Belden were relieved of the duty of organizing the State Fair by a body of citizens who have expressed no desire of again undertaking the venture this season. In consequence, Mr. Belden is thinking seriously of instituting a four day trot and pacing meet at the half mile race track, which in part of the Olympic Park grounds. Labor Day was the first that the race track has been used for two years owing to the stringency of the New Jersey Racing laws. All legal complications will be avoided, however, by prohibiting hook making.

The sixth annual fair of the Central Arkansas Fair Association will be held at Carlisle, Ark., October 24 to 28. This fair is one of the oldest fairs in the state, as well as one of the best. Indications are that this will be the best year in the history of the association.

The District of Surry Agricultural Association will hold its annual fair at Surry Center, British Columbia, Sept. 26. GRACE LOST BY RIDING ASTRIDE.

Equestrienne Defends the Side Saddle.

BILLBOARD REPORTER TELLS OF HER INTERVIEW WITH NOTED HORSE-WOMAN.

Evergreen Stock Farm, Mendon, Mich., Aug. 24 (Special to The Billboard).—When Lady Godiva took her memorable horseback ride, clothed only in the glorious mantle of her hair, she had, we are taught, a good and sufficient reason for her picturesque but not conventional riding habit.

The women of the present day who are wearing their hair pompadour and their riding habits parted in the middle claim that they have a good and sufficient reason for the latter. Countess Godiva freed the people of her home of a grievous servitude by riding through the streets with her loveliness but partly shrouded by her "crowning glory." But what effect will the spectacle of gentle woman riding man fashion have upon the good citizens of this country. Art is a good thing. It is heaven born, and in its name much can be forgiven. The Lady Godiva, had she done nothing for her oppressed people, did much in giving to poetry, to sculpture and canvas inspiration that has enriched the world and made the name of Coventry a thing of gracious memory. Of it and the fair woman who made it famous men dream and poets sing.

But when art is sacrificed, then it is a thing beyond all others offensive to the nostrils, and the crime merits direct punishment without benefit of clergy.

The most beautiful line of a woman's body is the interrogation point line that begins at the waist and swings in to the ankle. The gentle woman of Coventry rode through the streets like a lily gleaming through untangling seaweed of dead gold. The poets say so, and they ought to know. Now if that awaying lily, for "safety," rode man fashion, the poets would have been in Dunning and the artists in the stock yards business. That interrogation point line would have been twisted into a clock-face attitude at 12:23 p. m. and art would have been face down in the dust, beating her breast and crying aloud to the gods.

To defend their iconoclasm, the women claim that riding astride is "safer" than in the side-saddle. How an ordinary saddle built for men, and without the high pommel of the Mexican make could be called safer than a woman's saddle with the leaping horn to hold her wedged in firmly, is a question.

To solve it, I called upon Mme. Marantette, the clever equestrienne, when at the Carthage Fair Grounds. I sat down on a chair at her stables and Mme. Marantette also made herself comfortable for gossip. The madam is a handsome woman, tall, with prematurely white hair which gives her, with her delicate pale face, an eminently distinguished air. She has the slim figure of the born horsewoman and kicked her whip with a slender hand that had a grip of steel.

"Safer? that is as utterly absurd as it is degradingly untrue," she said. "Put a woman in a properly-made saddle—and I prefer a Whitman to the English—have her leaping horn and stirrup correctly adjusted, and nothing short of a fall and roll of the horse about halodog her. In California I was invited to the Golden Gate Riding Academy, and was asked my opinion of the new fad of riding astride. The Frisco women had just taken it up, and a large number of them had donned the divided skirt. Al first I was too polite to say what I thought, but one day they pressed me for an opinion, and I felt tired, and a bit cross, I gnawed. And I gave my honest opinion. That was, that women were not constructed physically for the man's saddle: where the knee-hold is all that can be depended upon when the horse stumbles, and that women who rode a man's saddle were not modest, to put it mildly, and only did so for notoriety and to make themselves conspicuous.

"Some women of the objectionable class kept up the new style of riding for awhile after that, but in a few weeks, by the time I left, it was noticed that the others had either grown wiser anatomically or were shamed into riding properly."

"And from a physiological standpoint?" I asked.

"The side-saddle, by all means," said the equestrienne emphatically. "I am organically a perfectly strong and healthy woman, but one day during practice hour we were amusing ourselves and I sat my horse astride for the fun of it. My husband gave 'St. Patrick' a light stroke of the whip that sent him tearing down the course, and when I finally reined him in and trotted back I felt strained and uncomfortable, and the next day was worse. It was the only time that riding hurt me in the least. Of course, I have had some bad falls, but when a horse goes down it does not matter much which kind of a saddle you are in. The result is apt to be bad."

Mme. Marantette has been a professional since the early '80's and has traveled all over the world doing her famous hurdle jumping. She has a splendid seat, and lifts her mount with hand and voice in a manner that makes the feat of clearing a 7-ft., 10 1/2-in. barred gate seem an easy one to the uninitiated. She is probably one of the most expert horsewomen in the world. And she reverses the Lockaley Hall condition of affairs.

And so undisputed authority says the side-saddle is by far the safer, and art walls aloud for the last line from the hip to the ankle, and reason asks, in the name of all Olympus and the doctors, what are women riding astride for. They endanger their lives, and their looks, if they have any, which women who affect the outre do not, as a rule. They do not appear comfortable and the "eternal feminine" is horsed and deposed.

CIRCUS AND WILD WEST

Keen Opposition Exists Between Circuses and Wild West Shows in Middle Western States—Gollmar Show Attaches Pay Tribute to Yankee Robinson—Miscellany

Just at present, Iowa is the hot-bed of opposition for the circuses and Wild West shows, and they are well hunched. The Sells-Floto show is making every town that is worthy of consideration, and the routing of the show seems to indicate that they are seeking territory. The 101 Ranch Wild West Show is taking the choice ones irrespective of other aggregations, and thus far their time in that state has been very profitable. Only once since taking Iowa Time has the Ranch slide-stepped, and then it was to take a desirable town in Nebraska. Not only have the larger shows taken Iowa Time with unusual greediness, but the smaller ones have crept in, and it is safe to presume that Iowa has had more shows within its borders this season than at any other time in its history. It seemed to look good to every general agent in the country.

It is pretty generally understood that Kansas and Oklahoma are to be the next battlegrounds, and already the brigades are at it to a finish there. Just how many are to play this time is doubtful, but it is no secret that all of the larger ones have their eyes turned in that direction, with Texas to follow. This is chosen

There are many of the newer and smaller shows that are just tottering, and no one in the game would be surprised to hear of their fall at any time. Only the same desire that keeps a losing poker player in the game keeps them on the road. In their hearts there are many showmen this season who wish that they had their show housed for the winter. There are some who will not be among those who will have their show housed, and this is going to be apparent before many days. This is to be regretted, but it is a fact, nevertheless. The shows that have made money this year can be counted on the fingers of one hand.

TRIBUTE TO DECEASED.

Jefferson, Iowa, Sept. 1 (Special to The Billboard).—Last Sunday about one hundred and fifty members of Gollmar Bros.' Shows, marched to the cemetery, accompanied by Prof. Hollinger's Band, to pay their respects to the dead showman, Yankee Robinson, who is buried here. The principal speaker was Charles Bell, who delivered a most appropriate address, he being

A MODEL ADVANCE CAR BRIGADE

Judging from the records of the advance cars that have chanced to come to our notice, it would seem as if the crowd of men on the first advance car of the Hagenbeck-Wallace Shows can almost be called a model set from any point of view. Every man on the car started with it from Peru, and the conduct of all has been exceptionally good, with one or two exceptions, when the strict rules of the car were quite seriously fractured by one or two men loitering too long at the Shrine of Bacchus. This group of hippsters have demonstrated that there is no good reason why a bunch of men tramping on a hill car should not be as courteous, orderly, industrious, sober and gentlemanly as a group of men in any other avocation. This manager of the car, J. E. Eviston, is proving himself a valuable agent, and is fast establishing an enviable record as a car manager. Up to May 31, Mr. Eviston's home address was Butler, Indiana, but since that date he has not dared to mention that name, and he is considering changing his address this winter. So uniformly good has been the work of every man on the car, that it is hardly fair to mention names. Frank Powers has an average of 797 sheets per route, while Walter Currier did the largest single route, posting 1,045 sheets on a route of Brazil, Ind. The largest double route was done by Harry Vance, with a helper, out of Tulsa, Oklahoma, when they posted just over 1,300 sheets. There are also several bankers on this car as well as on the advance of the Hagenbeck-Wallace Shows, with the other car and the brigades. More than ten men on the advance of these shows do not draw a dollar during the month, but wait until the monthly pay day, and get the full month's salary. The boys are considering the plan of arranging for a department in Mr. Wallace's bank at Peru for their personal benefit. Reading from left to right: James Eviston, car manager; Arthur Eldonour, boss hill poster; Harry Miller, paste maker; Walter Currier, Geo. Beatty, Frank Powers, Harry Vance, Harry Barnes, James McGrath, Edwin Elsasser, Geo. De Sells, Chas. Secor, Wm. Brown, Fred Bussey, hippsters; Steve Lawton, boss lithographer, Rod Renner, assistant lithographer; Al. Eviston, assistant lithographer; Palmer Robinson, programs.

territory for the Sells-Floto show, and they are not going to pass it up. They will find, however, that their utmost dreaded foe, the Ringling Brothers, are not going to give them everything their own way in Texas, and they will be compelled to fight as they have never before fought. Judging from the time that some of the shows will be put in the Lone Star State, the closing of some of them down there may be in order. In some instances the routes taken preclude anything that looks like anything else but closing. One thing is certain, and that is all of the shows that have permitted themselves to become so hunched will not get money. This is out of the question, as some of the towns are to be played by four shows. This will tire an ordinary native of Texas.

It is generally understood that this season 's to be a short one, and about thirty weeks will make the 1911 season complete. There is some talk of the Wallace Show making a longer season than usual, but it lacks confirmation. Uncle Ben has eaten his Thanksgiving Day turkey on the road, but would rather have it served to him in Peru. It tastes better. Taken as a whole, this season has not made the owners of tented aggregations independently wealthy, and fortunate indeed will be the owner, who, after figuring in the wintering expenses, finds the figures on the right side of the ledger. It has been a very peculiar season from a business standpoint, and the decrease in receipts has not been confined to any one section of the country, but has been general. The season opened up with golden promises, but these promises have not been realized by a whole lot, and there is not the first possible chance of them being realized at this late date.

personally acquainted with Mr. Robinson at the time of his death. Mr. Bell spoke very highly of the great generosity of Mr. Robinson to all the employees of his show, an example being that no man was ever refused a favor when in Mr. Robinson's power to grant it. The town people were very much interested in the services and nearly one hundred of them accompanied the show people to the cemetery. No higher respects could be paid to anyone than those tendered by the employees of Gollmar Bros.' Shows.

McCLINTOCK WITH BRADY.

New York, September 2 (Special to The Billboard).—C. W. McClintock, general agent of the Miller Bros. & Arlington's 101 Ranch Wild West Show, returned to New York this week. During the winter months he will be ahead of one of the shows owned by Wm. A. Brady, with whom McClintock has been for the past four years. When the circus season of 1912 opens, McClintock will again take up his duties with the 101 Show.

NO BANNERING IN SIOUX CITY.

Sioux City, Ia., Sept. 1 (Special to The Billboard).—This city has an ordinance against bannering and circuses who make the town should bear it in mind. It is a new one and for that reason is being enforced more than it would if it had been in existence for a little while.

CUMMINS TALKS.

Jersey City, Aug. 23, 1911.
Editor The Billboard:
(Incident), O.
My dear Sir:—Your issue of August 28 contains the impression that I am associated with certain showmen and having had several letters in reference to it, would respectfully ask your good paper to prominently make mention of the fact that I am in no way associated with a business way with any old showmen friends or colleagues. I am thoroughly independent of any one to the present writing and make this statement in answer to several inquiries which I have recently received.
Sincerely yours,
FREDERICK T. CUMMINS.

NEEDS ASSISTANCE.

Mays Landing, N. J., Aug. 30, 1911.
Editor The Billboard:
Will you please insert a plea for assistance in "Old Billyboy?"
I am a circus billposter and in serious trouble. I went to Atlantic City with my wife for a few months and was arrested for vagrancy. I was sentenced to 120 days and fined $60. If I can not pay my fine they only allow 50 cents a day, so you see I will have to do 120 more days.
Now I would like to get some of the boys to give me a little financial aid, which I will repay if they will only send me their names. Some of the shows with which I have been connected are: Sun Bros. Circus, with Ed. Giroux on the Jamestown Publicity Car; Pawnee Bill Show, under Tony Mason; 101 Ranch, under John D. Carey, and with Al. Clarkston; the 101 Ranch. Would be glad to hear from the boys at any rate.

THE YOUNG BUFFALO WILD WEST

By F. C. COOPER.

In conversation with Colonel Vernon C. Seaver a few days ago, he remarked: "If business averages anything like what it has done up to date with the Young Buffalo Show, we will go into winter-quarters in November a big winner; in fact," he continued, "I believe we will be one of the biggest winners of any tented enterprise this season."—and this notwithstanding the fact that circus managers are insisting that receipts have fallen off twenty per cent from last year.
It has been a pet superstition with showmen that some towns are "chronic bloomers" and therefore to be religiously avoided. However, after careful investigation of conditions, we concluded that some of the "chronic bloomers" were ripe enough to be good picking for Young Buffalo—for instance—Windsor, Ont. (a far-famed bloomer) our last stand in Canada, gave us turn-away business at the matinee, and capacity house at night; Ypsilanti, Mich., the same thing, while Plymouth, Ind., was the surprise of the season; capacity both shows.
In South Bend, Ind., also in Lima, O., we had strong opposition with a 25-cent circus, which did not interfere with our receipts to any noticeable extent. Business in both places big at matinee. Capacity at night. The billing in both towns was our heaviest this season, considering their size.
The Young Buffalo Show has come in contact this year with every tented exhibition of any consequence on the road, with the exception of Yankee Robinson and Gollum Bros., and it can be safely said without fear of contradiction that in no single instance has the show got the worst of it, either in the advance showing or in the business done.
Colonel Seaver has assuredly made the Young Buffalo Show, both known and felt in the amusement field, and has proven himself a horu organizer, a keen observer, and a live advertiser, and it is safe to predict, that at no far distant era, the Colonel will prove an authority that will have to be reckoned with in the largest field of amusement endeavor.
After a tour of the South the show will go into winter-quarters at Peoria, Ill., about November 30. L. B. Williams, general agent, is now in that territory fastening up the fences.

OLNEY A GOOD CIRCUS TOWN.

Olney, Ill., Sept. 1 (Special to The Billboard).
—After four years without a circus, Olney turned out a record-breaking crowd to the Hagenebeck-Wallace Shows. Owing to the high license charged this city has been passed up during that period. This year, after a change of administration, the city officials reduced the license fee. The result was that one of the largest crowds in the history of Olney was present on Circus Day.
Olney has a population of six thousand and is located near the rich oil fields of Southern Illinois. A circus playing here does not have to depend upon the crop conditions. It is situated on the B. & O., L. C. and C. H. & D. railroads. Facilities are excellent—short haul to the lot and paved streets covering the entire city.

101 RANCH WILD WEST.

By VIRGIL BARNETT.

After making a run of 180 miles from Marshall, Wis., to Minneapolis, the 101 Ranch arrived at 9 o'clock Sunday morning, August 20. While the flats were being switched for unloading, two of the cars jumped the track which caused a delay of about three hours in getting the wagons on the lot. Monday, the rain commenced to pour in torrents at noon and did not stop until three o'clock. However, the big tent was more than three-quarters filled.
The haul only being five miles between Minneapolis and St. Paul, the show for one night was a road show. The cars were taken around on the train and the wagons and stock all went overland and made much better time than had we loaded in the usual way. We had the usual big business in St. Paul, and met many of our friends whom we had seen on our former two visits. Dr. B. J. Warner opened two days visiting friends in St. Paul, and overtook the show in Superior. Mr. Angus Campbell, the chief bugler, was so highly entertained by friends that he stayed over and caught the show at Rice Lake, Wis. J. C. Miller bought several fine baggage horses and traded some that were crippled to Baird and Zimmermann. With these new horses, the baggage stock is second to none on the road and is greatly admired by all who see them. Mr. Miller, while the show was in Indiana, also purchased some very handsome thoroughbred saddle horses, some of which will be turned out as high-school horses at the ranch during the winter.

Miss Olive Swan and her troupe of educated mules, which have been showing in New York the first part of the season, have joined the show and are making a big hit in the concert.

Prof. Dan Boyington, who has been associated with the 101 Ranch for several years handling the troupe of trained mules, has severed his connections. He has purchased six of the mules and one of the educated horses and is now on the road with Kirche's Circle D. Ranch.

On account of the long run from Rice Lake to Superior, only the afternoon show was given. We now turn southward and will soon be down in the country where we will be again meeting our old friends and acquaintances.

TWO BILLS' SHOW.

By F. AL PEARCE

It was deliberate on my part omitting my letter the past week, that I might thoroughly cover the events of the past eight days and at the same time bring my letters regularly each week.

Friday, August 18, Grand Island, Neb., where we were but a few days after the Ragling Show but to an excellent business. At night, shortly after the big show had started, a very high wind commenced to blow, followed by a terrific downpour of rain, which most thoroughly drenched every one. The officials here were very hostile for some reason best known to themselves.

Saturday, North Platte, Col. Cody's home town. Though the Colonel has for some time devoted the greater part of his winter season to his property interests in and about Cody, Wyoming, Mrs. Cody still makes her residence at the Platte, however, when not accompanying the Colonel on the road. The local paper here issued a special edition devoted exclusively to the affairs of the show, and stated among other things that the largest crowd in the history of the town was present on that date, estimating the total number at about 40,000. Our business was great, especially at the afternoon performance, and here the Colonel was presented with another magnificent loving-cup, which he accepted with an appropriate and very humorous speech, which was greatly appreciated by the populace assembled.

Our next stand was Sterling, Col., where we spent Sunday and such a lonesome day. The town itself is very small, and the inhabitants apparently were all hibernating, though they, with the assistance of the out-of-town visitors, managed to give us a good afternoon house, and for such a little town, a satisfactory house at night. A man hunt was the interesting event of the day, at least as far as the show people were concerned. The night before the ammunition wagon had been broken into and some of the weapons stolen. It was discovered that two former employees who had been trailing the show were implicated, and a hunt was instituted for them. They were located just as the big show was letting out in the afternoon, and foolishly they started to get away toward a clump of brush a little distance across the prairie. In less time than it takes to tell it a crowd of the show attaches to the number of two hundred or more, were in pursuit, and it was but the work of a few minutes to capture them, especially after Johnny Baker had placed a few shots in close proximity to their fleeing forms. They were turned over to the local authorities, and have now no doubt been dealt with as their actions deserved. We were loaded and away from here early and made the run to Greeley, our next stand, in good time. Nothing out of the ordinary happened here and business was excellent.

And now for Denver. A short run here but a long haul to the lot. Opened to a very nice afternoon house, and at night a turnaway, though the weather was far from being nice, a drizzling rain and very cold most of the time. Our second day's business was hardly as large as the first though very satisfactory. During the time that we were here the opening of the celebrated Frontier Day celebration at Cheyenne occurred, and as this is an annual event to be reckoned with, it is safe to say that it had a tendency to affect our business. Every one had a most enjoyable time here, however, and some no doubt made up for the many quiet days spent during the past two weeks.

Friday, Colorado Springs. In early and a decided improvement in the weather. Business fine at both performances. Here a great many of the people were busy sightseeing, and no question but what all were well paid for the time and money spent while here in doing so. A number of chartered automobiles were in waiting at the conclusion of the afternoon performance of the big show to convey a large party on a tour of the Garden of the Gods and other points of interest, including a visit to the General Palmer estate, which has recently been opened to the public. A most enjoyable time was had by all who were fortunate enough to take this trip.

Saturday at Pueblo. Located on a lot that reminds one of the lots encountered throughout Arizona and New Mexico; dust and theo some, with the wind blowing small sized hurricanes at apparently regular intervals. Our business, while not phenomenal, was very satisfactory at both performances.

Mrs. W. F. Cody and Cody Roals, nephew of the Colonel, have returned to their home at North Platte, after having spent the greater part of the season here.

Mrs. H. G. Wilson and not Mr. Wilson, was confined to a hospital at Omaha, but I'm pleased to say it was only for a few days, and this charming lady is once more with us, and informs me that she is feeling all right once more.

Through these columns I unintentionally offended my friend, John Devlin (Irish). In what manner I will not take the space to relate, but though I have assured him of my innocence in person I desire to further assure him that it was without intent that I made the statement that caused John to feel that I had no regard for his ability or his friendship.

Mrs. G. W. Little was a visitor during our Denver engagement, and a most welcome one. I may truthfully say, such a charming lady, always so gracious and pleasant, it is a pleasure to have her about, and a decided loss when she leaves.

Mrs. Winch, mother of our Frank, has been visiting him during the past few days, and while I did not have the pleasure of meeting the lady, I did have an opportunity to observe the tenderness and care Frank displayed towards her, and I am sentimental enough to appreciate such attentions to our mothers.

Frank Carey was obliged to enter a Denver hospital for treatment, but is once more with us and looking greatly improved, and says that he feels the part.

The weather conditions through this section remind one very forcibly that a cold winter is not far distant, and should also prove to be a reminder that snow hails us an article of diet are not sufficiently nourishing to be sustaining.

DANNY ROBINSON SHOW QUILTS.

Morganfield, Ky., Sept. 2 (Special to The Billboard).—An assignment was made here Wednesday by the Famous (Danny) Robinson Shows to W. G. Beyland for the benefit of its local creditors and performers to whom salaries are due. The action, it was given out, was partly due to inability of owners to agree as to liquidation indebtedness.

Last week the Robinson Shows were placed in a receiver's hands. This followed the action of Mrs. Robinson in attaching the show property to keep it from being sent into Chicago by Mr. Robinson's partners last week.

It is intended to continue the show on the road while attorneys attend to the legal phases of the assignment.

HERE AND THERE.

By GUY WEADICK.

We closed an engagement at the Jardin d'Acclimatation, Paris, France, August 5th, thereby completing a fourteen weeks' engagement in Paris, where we met with big success. We play in England for four weeks, and then return to America. There are sure a bunch of American acts in London at present. Leicester Square looks like the corner of Broadway and 43rd Street.

The virtuoso expert sharpshooters have left for Russia with a continental tour to follow. They are booked solid over here until June, 1912. Hedges Brothers and Jackson are doing big in the provinces, as are also Vardon Perry and Wilbur. Eva Tanguay was here, but went back to America. Understand when the custom officers wanted to examine her trunks upon her arrival in New York, she said, "I don't care." (?) (But did she).

The Australians who came here to attend the coronation and the festival of the Empire, brought over fifty head of Australian bucking horses, which were ridden in exhibition by the men in flat polo saddles. One of the ladies gave fine exhibition of riding a bucking horse in a side saddle, also on a flat polo saddle. They are also good riders, and also do some great work with the bull-whip and boomerangs.

Regarding an item in one of my former articles stating that Bee Ho Grey was manager of the sideshow with the California Frank Show, and which has since been contradicted, would say I received the information from whom I considered a reliable source. Knowing him as I do and his ability in various lines in show business, it seemed only reasonable that he had been appointed to take charge. However, whoever contradicted the report must probably know us they are no doubt around the show, while I am more than three or four miles from the "lot." Although he may not be sideshow manager, it can not be denied that he is an A-1 roper and expert hanjo player and all around good fellow.

Frank Bostock has an animal show here at the Crystal Palace, that is getting the money. Joe Lynch, the American cowboy, purchased this trick horse owned by Jack Elliot, and has left London to join Jack Joyce in Denmark. Between the two of them, the Danes will sure see some real Wild West.

Jimmy Staley, well known to the boys at the Chicago stock yards, who came over here last season as chief of cowboys for the Wild West Show in Hamburg, put on by Carl Hagenebeck, is here in London at present. He did some work with the Australian outfit here, such as picking up riding bronks and roping. He says London looks good to him, but on how he would like to be at Halstead and 43rd Street, Chicago.

La Belle Adelaide and J. J. Hughes are at the Margery in Paris, in the big Revue, and are some riot. The French people took to the act like a duck takes to water, and the team is cleaning up.

Ferry, the frog man, is here at the Palace Theatre, going big.

Hurry DeMario, the frog man, was especially engaged by Oswald Stoll to play the Coliseum during the coronation ceremonies in London, and secured contracts for the whole Stoll tour to follow. CIRCUS GOSSIP

Personal Items Gathered by Correspondents and Contributed by Circus Attaches in All Departments of the Arenic World

The first serious accident of the season to the Robinson Ten Big Shows occurred at DeSoto, Mo., when a fast St. Louis bound Iron Mountain train crashed into a six horse black team at the circus and killed two of the animals and injured three of the others. A razor-back, name unknown, who attempted to cut the horses loose from the wagon, was struck and thrown quite a distance. He lived but a few minutes after the accident. De Soto citizens who witnessed the accident were so enraged at what they termed the carelessness of the trainmen that they followed the train to the passenger station and threatened to roughly handle the engineer. The arrival of several police officers, it is said, averted serious trouble.

The Tiger Bill Wild West Show, under the management of Col. E. D. Snider, carries one hundred head of horses and twenty-five wagons. The outfit will be enlarged next season. Acts with the show include George Snider, known as the Texas Wonder, who leads the cowboys and does rope spinning and fancy riding, Harold Alchon, broncho buster, Al. Falk, roper and fancy rider, Bronco Ned, black-wire artist, Enke Chaney, Billie Wood, white Smith, clown; Montana Lena, leader of cowgirls; Miss Josephine, aerial rings and Japanese ladder act; Mrs. J. W. Bonham, and son, Joe Clarence Brown and his fifteen-piece band, Broncho Charley, rifle shots. Fifteen Indians are carried.

Car No. 1 of the Two Bills Show, in charge of L. W. Sullivan, has the following crew: Fred Murr, boss hippoester, and Ed Booker, Chas. McBeen, Frank Banaston, E. A. Prosser, Joe Comte, L. Housner, David Miller, Joe Horton, Larry Sullivan, Frank Harvey and W. A. Smith, hippoesters; J. Oaker, horse lithographer, and C. A. Abel, A. Wolf, Harry O'Keefe and Roy Bridgman, assistants; William Willis, reserve seats and cutters; W. M. Coats, pastemaker, porter and programmer; Harry Harvey, secretary and stenographer; and Simmons, program solicitor. Car No. 2 is in charge of Victor R. Cooke and Car No. 3 is in charge of Dave Jawett.

A tip to showmen: Lamar (Mn.) Water Company asked the John Robinson Show $20 and twenty tickets for water for one day. Secretary John T. Croze annulled the contract and quietly secured water from a big stone trough and wind-mill adjoining the lot for the sum of $2. Ancona, Mo., wanted $15 and fifty tickets when Contracting Agent Ab Scott made the town. When the show arrived it was found that a cloudburst had preceded the arrival of the show, and the water superintendent called and offered the Robinson Show all the water they could use Sunday and Monday for $7.

No parade was given at Bay City, Mich., by the Barnum & Bailey Show, due to a late arrival. In making the run from Port Huron to Bay City, over the Pere Marquette Railroad, it was discovered that the bridge near Mayville had been carried away. There was nothing to do but to return to Port Huron. The circus trains were then sent to Bay City by way of Flint over the Grand Trunk, and then over the Pere Marquette.

The management of Lakewood Park at Vincennes, Ind., made arrangements with A. B. Bennett, the twenty-four-hour man with the Hagenbeck-Wallace Show, to take all of the elephants out to Lakewood Park for an exhibition swim on August 21. Great crowds were entertained at the park that day. Monday night Mr. Gosnell entertained the circus folks at a dance in the park after the circus performance.

August 21 the Downie and Wheeler Shows exhibited at Medina, N. Y. Mr. Downie's home town, doing an unusually big business. The performances were given on the grounds owned by Mr. Downie. Mr. and Mrs. Wheeler and family were entertained at the palatial residence of Mr. and Mrs. Downie, while the town folks entertained different members of the show.

General Agent R. M. Harvey and Railroad Contractor J. P. Fagan of the Hagenbeck-Wallace Shows, spent Monday at Vincennes, Ind., back with the show. It was the ninth visit of the Wallace Show in eleven years, and Vincennes did itself proud in giving the shows a thousand dollars more than on any previous visit.

The California Frank Show has added to the parade a monster compressed air calliope, valued at fifteen hundred dollars, built by C. D. Willard in his Temple of Music factory at Palmdale Amusement Park, N. J. Mr. Willard has been a guest of California Frank for several days.

Hillpoesters are now on their good behavior more than at any time during the year. Those who owned at the first call have a $50.00 hold-back due them now. Just imagine all this being forfeited for being naughty. There are some of them who will lose it despite the fact that they know they will if they do not remain good.

William Baker Davis, superintendent of privileges with the John Robinson Show, spent a few days at either Hot Springs, West Baden, Excelsior or Enreka Springs. At any rate, no matter where he went, he has returned, greatly benefited and has plunged into his work with increased vigor.

Mrs. Selma Campbell, who toured with a circus for six years, and was claimed to be the largest colored woman in the world, died in Toronto Can. Aug. 18. At the time she was connected with a circus she weighed 650 pounds, but of late had fallen considerably, weighing only 350 pounds at the time of her death.

It is said that there will be three winter circuses on the road this winter. Last year, about this time, there was a whole lot of talk about putting out a great big one. Further than a few advance notices there was nothing to it. It may be the same again this winter.

Bernard L. Wallace, treasurer of the Hagenbeck-Wallace Shows, transacted business in Peru, Ind., and Chicago, leaving the shows in Bloomington, Ind. Aug. 26, returning to Green-castle. His assistant, John E. Andrew, handled the money wagon during his absence.

While the Frank A. Robinson Shows were in Lindington, Mich., the Order of Moose turned in a bid to attend the evening performance, which all members with the show were invited to participate in the banquet and dance at the Moose headquarters.

Edward Knapp of the John Robinson Show, reports that Colorado and Wyoming have not been "shown to death," as reported. Len Heckman writes from the South that the boll weevil has been banished and that the cotton crop will be the largest in years.

Johnnie Crossett, singing and talking clown, concert and high stilt walker, has closed with the J. E. Henry Wagon Show, and at present is advertising a shoe company in Omaha with his high stilts. He will work in Nebraska, Kansas and Oklahoma.

Business in Missouri for the John Robinson Ten Big Shows has been very big. The opposition stands were really better than those where the paper of other shows did not appear. This applies in particular to Pleasant Hill and Rich Hill.

Oklahoma City is to have three circuses and possibly two Wild West shows this season. Maybe this is not going some when one thinks of what a beautiful piece of prairie land this city was only a few years ago. The present generation knows.

W. G. Yeager, oldtime circus hippoester, joined the No. 2 advance car of the Young Buffalo Wild West at Akron, Ohio. Yeager was with the Hagenbeck-Wallace advance force prior to his engagement with the Young Buffalo Show.

Harry Reid, superintendent of the John Robinson menagerie, is very proud of two litters of healthy lion cubs and a wee Orax antelope. Mr. Reid is also god-father of seven small East Indian calves that are thriving like a green hay tree.

The Parker Carnival is in Iowa and mixed up with the big canvas shows, but is doing well. Connell Bluffs has literally turned the city over to them. They had a close call from being tangled up in a wreck coming into Charles City.

The Barnum & Bailey brigade includes George J. Chocton, agent; Fred Davidson, A. J. McDonough, W. B. Rabarrit, Fred Stewart, Willard Chaslin, F. Heaton, Joe Klinger and Robert Curry.

Silvers Labelle and wife joined the Downie and Wheeler Shows at Albion, N. Y. Silvers to strengthen the clown contingent, and Miss Labelle to do her single trapeze act.

Advance car No. 1, John H. Sparks' Circus, in charge of Frank Stowell, passed through Cincinnati Monday night, August 28, over the P. & O., en route to Brownstown, Ind.

The Buffalo Bill Show sent their cars through Red Oak, Ia., and killed the town and country and ralls only with men sent ahead from the cars. It was done to gain a lost day.

The three cars recently purchased by the Downie and Wheeler Shows at the sale of the Masterson Shows, arrived last week, making fourteen cars now with the show.

Cotnam Speed of the Nevada (Mo.) Mail, and Editors Burgess and Martin of Butler, visited the John Robinson Show at Rich Hill, Mo., and lunched with "Punch" Wheeler.

At Maquoketa, Ia., Mrs. Tom Smith, wife of Tom Smith, of the Acrobatic Smiths, visited the show. Maquoketa is the home of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Smith.

AMUSEMENT PARK NEWS

Arthur F. Turpin, Formerly Connected With Thompson Scenic Railway Co. in Official Capacity, Dies After Lingering Illness—Fag-End News of Summer Resorts

New York, Sept. 2 (Special to The Billboard).—The park fraternity suffered an irreparable loss in the death of Arthur F. Turpin, formerly vice-president of the L. A. Thompson Scenic Railway Co., manufacturers of popular amusement devices, located at 320 Broadway, New York City. Mr. Turpin's death was not altogether unexpected as his growing continual ill health caused his retirement a little over a year ago, from his active duty with the L. A. Thompson Scenic Railway Co., with whom he had spent forty-five years of his life. His end came only after a very straightforward, honest and active life one that was crowned with success. Mr. Turpin was proprietor of many concessions at Coney Island, New York, notable among which are the large racing coaster constructed at the cost of $35,000, a very large carousel, the new Old Mill, erected on the site of the one destroyed by fire last season, and many minor concessions at this amusement resort. He erected these structures at Coney Island after his retirement from the L. A. Thompson Scenic Railway Co. He passed tric lines. It is admirably adapted to pleasure park improvement.

It is expected that the newly incorporated company will commence the improvement of the property and the construction of buildings and attractions at once, so that everything will be in readiness for next season.

NAVAL WARFARE IN MINIATURE.

Manager Weaver of the Lagoon, Cincinnati, O., is having great success with his spectacular shows in Kansas City and Indianapolis. The battle A. D. 2000, which is a connection with the battles of Santiago and Manila Bay, attracted so much attention during the seasons of 1910-1911 at Lagoon Park, is being enthusiastically received by the people of the Western cities.

The same battleships which were operated at Lagoon are being used at Fairmount Park in Kansas City and at Riverside Beach in Indianapolis, and like the people of this vicinity, the population of the Western cities marveled at the Babes on Saturday, when the king and queen will be crowned. George C. Tilton will give prizes to the value of $5,000, embracing grand pianos for the two chief winners, pony rigs, suites of furniture, watches, silver sets, bracelets and a great variety of jewelry. These prizes are now on exhibition at Steeplechase Park. There will be first, second and third awards in each of the ten classes in the baby's contest, these divisions being for the most beautiful babies, twins, the fattest, the smallest, the most strenuous, the cutest and one for babies of other countries, and triplets. The most beautifully decorated carriages, go-carts, doll carriages, novelties and floats will have their inning on other days of the carnival. In addition to a parade of school girls, from the ages of 3 to 14, all to be dressed in white, the wearers of the daintiest costumes being adjudged the winners. The events will start promptly at 3:30 o'clock in the afternoon.

AMUSEMENT PARK BURNS.

Indianapolis, Ind., Aug. 27 (Special to The Billboard).—Wonderland Park early this morning was badly damaged by fire, believed to have had its origin in a discarded cigarette stub. The machinery in the chutes, the flat iron building, the electric maze and a small theatre were damaged beyond repair, while the chutes and incline, the German village and the house of mirth were partially destroyed. E. I. Fisher, president of the Wonderland Amusement Company, which controls the park, estimates the loss between $18,000 and $20,000, with $5,000 insurance.

KILLED ON GIANT COASTER.

Venice, Cal., Sept. 2 (Special to The Billboard).—Mr. G. T. Abbott, a San Diego druggist, fell to his death from the giant racing coaster here, while changing from one seat to another in the cars, which were travelling at the rate of 70 miles an hour, almost ninety feet above ground. Abbott was warned by other occupants of the car to sit down, but ignored the warnings.

PARK NOTES.

Joe Marsh, chief assistant to Sam C. Haller, general manager of the Monitor and Merrimac and Creation at Riverview Park, Chicago, has gone to Pittsburgh to open the battle of the Monitor and Merrimac at the exposition. This is the third season of the naval battle at the Pittsburgh Expo.

Shellpot Park, Wilmington, Del., will remain open longer than usual this season, weather permitting. Manager James E. Henry is well pleased with the season, as the patronage has been fine. The celebration of Children's day each week is quite a drawing card and the "kiddies" have a great time. The vandeville there is one of the big features and continues to offer high-class acts.

Ensa Park, Scranton, Pa., closed Labor Day, with the most successful season it has had since the park opened. Much credit is given to Manager Gibbons and his assistant, Mr. Long. More big days were pulled off than ever before. Mr. Gibbons resumed his duties as manager of the Lyceum Theatre September 1, his second season in that capacity.

Beechwood Park, a new summer amusement resort near Zanesville, has been doing a fair business. Many new attractions are contemplated for the season of 1912.

Moxahala Park, Zanesville, Ohio, closed Labor Day, after a very successful season.

BIG IMPROVEMENT AT PARK.

Evansville, Ind., Sept. 2 (Special to The Billboard).—Cook's Electric Park when opened next season will hardly be able to recognize it, so vast will be the changes made during the coming months. The season of 1911 will close Sept. 30, and immediately thereafter improvements will be started. It is the intention of the management to spend not less than $50,000 in remodeling the resort.

NEW PARK AT WASHINGTON.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 2 (Special to The Billboard).—By a deal closed this week the Lakeside Amusement Park and Amusement Company comes into the ownership of 78 acres of property on the Northeast section of the District, the site secured to be utilized for a big amusement park. Willge, Gibbs and Daniel engineered the deal.

The Lakeside Amusement Park and Amusement Company is a corporation operating under the laws of Maryland and is officered by the following Washington men: James M. Main, president; Edwin H. Pillsbury, secretary, and Douglas and Baker, counsel.

An expenditure of $400,000 will be made to transform the site into an up-to-date amusement resort. It is expected that the park will be ready to throw open to the public next spring.

J. H. Livingstone, manager of Forest Hill Park in Richmond, Va., has been engaged to manage the enterprise.

The property is located near Brightwood and is reached both by the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad and the Washington railway and elec-witnessing the miniature ships on a miniature sea, the perfect maneuvering, the strategy and seamanship with which the little craft gain points of vantage, the storming of the forts and their capitulation by means of pyrotechnical displays. Battleships, cruisers, tenders, torpedo boats and torpedo boat destroyers are all seen in the displays of the perfect models.

Over 14,000 spectators witnessed the battle at Riverside Beach at Indianapolis the first day, and interest increases with each successive performance. In Kansas City Fairmount Park has been crowded nightly since the first performance.

Next season Detroit will have an opportunity of witnessing the display and on account of the splendid aquatic advantages of that city, the production can be put on more elaborately than ever before.

No more interested spectator ever witnessed one of the battles than Colonel Weaver himself, who has spent days of studying to make the panorama more perfectly realistic. Any one who has seen this display, feels that a real battle has been fought within his vision and upon viewing one of Uncle Sam's monsters of naval warfare, will see the same lines and markings that he or she observed in these perfect little models, which maneuvered on the small inland sea.

BABY CARNIVAL AT PARK.

New York, Sept. 1 (Special to The Billboard).—Beginning on Wednesday, September 6, and lasting until Saturday, September 9, Steeplechase Park, Coney Island, N. Y., will have a "Carnival of the Babes" that bids fair to be the biggest affair of its kind ever held in Coney Island. Judging from the number of entries received over a thousand youngsters, ranging in age from 2 years to 14, will participate in the various events which are classified as: Decorated Couch parade on the opening day; Baby Show contests on Thursday; a school-girls' carnival parade on Friday and the Carnival of

FILM SYNOPSSES

Brief Outlines of Stories Told in the Latest Productions of the Patents and Sales Companies—Release Dates and Lengths of Subjects Are Given

SALES COMPANY.

IMP.
BY THE HOUSE THAT JACK BUILT (Drama; release Sept. 11; length, 1,000 feet).—A story in which the mythical characters in the Mother Goose Melodies appear in a drama. Showing the Old Lady of Banbury Cross, Little Bo-Peep, Simple Simon, Taffy, Old King Cole, The Priest all Shaven and Shorn, the Cow with the Crumpled Horn, Twenty Blackbirds haked in a Pie and many others. Scenes described in the mythical tales are produced with elegant and suitable costumes and scenic effects. A film that should prove very popular with the children and interesting to adults, in whose memory the child stories are fresh. Copyrighted 1911 by Independent Moving Pictures Co. of America.

THE BROTHERS (Drama; release Sept. 14; length, 1,000 feet).—The scene of the story is laid in Ireland, and the characters are all typical of the "old sod." Patrick Curran and Dennis O'Day are both in love with Rose O'Grady, who is something of a flirt. Dennis discovers Patrick and Rose in a love scene. An encounter is imminent. When Father Curran, Patrick's brother, appears and makes peace. Father Curran returns home and seated by the fire lights his pipe and dozes. His sleep is disturbed by a horrid dream, in which Patrick throws Dennis over a cliff, then takes refuge in the priest's house, where he is discovered by the villagers, who set fire to the house. Father Curran awakes to find that it is all a dream, but that his pipe has set fire to the newspaper, which probably suggests the firing of the house in his dream. Patrick and Rose come in for his blessing, and then follows an interesting comedy scene with one of the good father's tipsy parishioners. Copyrighted 1911, Independent Moving Pictures Co. of America.

NESTOR.

NESTOR

MUTT AND JEFF AND THE ESCAPED LUNATIC (Comedy; released September 9; length, 1,000 feet).—Mutt and Jeff are in need of a breakfast and Jeff is sent to the grocery with instructions to bring home the eggs, also the "hacon." Jeff succeeds in his mission, but upon his return the discovery is made that the purloined hen fruit is rather ancient, which offends Mutt, and Jeff "gets his." It is up to Mutt to provide the eating, so sallying forth, he succeeds in getting a job in a cafe as a waiter, and Jeff is engaged as a chef. Trouble and fun begin, and things move fast and furious, climaxed by the arrival of a lunatic with an appetite. The lunatic engages the funny fellows as his personal bodyguard, promising Mutt a large sum of money. Unfortunately, the keepers from the asylum arrive, and in the general mix-up that follows Mutt and Jeff are also thought to be crazy and are dragged off to the foolish house.

AT PERRY'S RANCH (Drama; release September 13; length, 1,000 feet).—Jack Roberts, the sole support of his widowed mother, is about down and out when he secures a job on a Western railroad. He arrives in the West, and in an argument with the timekeeper, who ridiculed his size, showed considerable pluck, after which he was given a job by ranchman Perry. Jack likes the work, and within a year sends for his mother. Before her arrival, Jack, on account of his attentions to the ranchman's daughter, is challenged to a duel by the foreman. While practicing at a target, he accidentally shoots the foreman in the leg, and, although the foreman knew the shot was accidental, he accused Jack of attempting to murder him, and he was taken into custody by the sheriff. Upon Mrs. Roberts' arrival, she found her boy under arrest, but, going to the foreman, she succeeded in getting him to tell the truth, and Jack is released.

THANHOUSER.

COUNT IVAN AND THE WAITRESS (Drama; released Sept. 5; length, 1,000 feet).—Count Ivan, a wealthy Russian nobleman, is accused of conspiracy, and although an old man, is forced to flee to America to escape Siberia. He lands practically penniless, and for awhile earns a meagre living as a musician, but loses his place and is forced to pawn his violin. The pawnbroker gives him a bad bill, and he would have been arrested when he tried to pass it at a restaurant where he was in the habit of going, but for the interference of a young waitress, who was the sweetheart of the policeman that had been summoned. Later the Count falls exhausted to the street, and is found by the girl and her sweetheart, who aid him and nurse him back to strength. The Count's friends in Russia finally succeed in proving that he is innocent and secure a pardon for him. His first thought on regaining his wealth is to reward the humble friends who had stood by him. He buys the restaurant where the girl is employed, leaves a fortune in the cash register, and departs for Russia, satisfied that he has safeguarded the future of his friends.

ROMEO AND JULIET (Drama; released Sept. 8; length, 1,000 feet; Part II.).—The second reel shows the clandestine meeting of Romeo and Juliet, after which Romeo breaks the edit against dueling, and is obliged to flee to Mantua at the behest of the Friar, who arranges the plan to send Juliet to him after she has supposedly died after taking a sleeping potion. She is laid in her tomb, and news reaches her lover of her death, the message of the Friar failing to be received. Romeo procures the poison, returns and slays Paris before Juliet's tomb, which he enters and takes his own life. She awakens, discovers his dead body, stabs herself and falls prostrate over his form.

SOLAX.

HECTOR'S INHERITANCE (Comedy; released September 6; length, 1,000 feet).—Hector is a poor dishwasher in Brown's cafe. He is lazy, dirty, and a boy of no account whatever. The cafe owner reads in the paper that Hector's uncle has left him a million dollars, and thinks he will treat Hector pretty well and, perhaps, come in for some of the million. He therefore gives him money, new clothes, etc., and sends him out to enjoy himself, and for several days Hector has the gayest kind of a time with automobiles and pleasant companions. Suddenly Brown, who is reading the paper, discovers that Hector's uncle was insane and only thought he had a million dollars, so Hector is as poor as ever and is thrown out, while Brown reflects on his bad luck and worse judgment.

BEST POLICY (Drama; released September 8; length, 1,000 feet).—The hero is in love with the same girl. Jack, well dressed and gay, seems to have the best of it against his more amiable and plodding brother, who is wrapped up in his work. Jack, however, has a lot of debts and needs money, and steals a large sum which his father has put in the safe without thinking to lock the door. He puts some of the bills in his brother Harry's pocket. He is accused and might have been to jail but for the girl, who suspects that Jack is not the hero she first thought. Her love of justice, as well as a growing love for Harry, helped to set a clever trap for Jack, in which he was caught and most of the money recovered. Of course she marries Harry.

POWERS.

THE WHITE CHIEF (Drama; released August 29; length, 1,000 feet).—Bright Eyes, an Indian maiden, marries a white trapper. He leaves her alone with an infant. Bright Eyes, not knowing what to do, returns to her tribe, but before doing so, hides her babe in the bushes on the bank of the river. She is received back in the tribe, and when the squaws are sent for water the babe is found. She, keeping the secret, asks to be allowed to raise the babe, which is granted. After twenty years, Stalwart Brave, the papoose, contests for the chieftainship in the lariat duel on horseback. He defeats the champion and becomes the White Chief. He falls in love with the old chief's daughter, but is denied her. The brave he defeated for revenge and the old chief lashes him to the back of a large alligator, but he is rescued and eventually wins the girl.

SILVER TAIL AND HIS SQUAW (Drama; released September 2; length, 1,000 feet).—Silver Tail and Panther, both members of the Seminole tribe, are in love with Falling Water. Panther is spurned by the girl and vows re-

THAT WINSOME WINNIE SMILE (Comedy; released Sept. 9; length, 500 feet).—Winsome Winnie deoloes an invitation to go motoring to order to help in the Charity Bazaar, and takes the Particular Young Man with her. With love making and other interruptions the young ladies do not accomplish much toward the decorating of the booth, until Winnie, with her winsome smile, prevails upon the busiest man in the hall to do the decorating for them. Winnie's smile attracts custom to the booth, and they are soon sold out. Winnie then offers to auctioneer off a kiss. Old Col. Dare outbids all others and takes the kiss. The Particular Young Man does not approve of this proceeding, but Winnie's all-conquering smile soon sets things right. On the same reel is:

NO COOKING ALLOWED (Comedy; length, 500 feet).—Two young ladies engage a furnished room and after moving in discover that cooking is not allowed. The girls, however, set to boil a head of cabbage, to the annoyance of a doctor on the floor above. He reports to the landlady, who investigates, and is told by the girls that the odor is caused by some liniment they are using for a case of diphtheria. The landlady hastily retreats and sends the young doctor down. Explanations to the doctor were in order, and he accepts an invitation to join the feast. He found the cabbage was not so bad when served by two charming young ladies, especially when it paved the way to find the girl of his heart.

UNDER THE TROPICAL SUN (Drama; released Sept. 12; length, 735 feet).—Marcadies, a young Cuban girl, working on a plantation, admires the new American foreman, who takes notice that the girl is very good-looking. Morales, the Cuban lover of the girl, takes notice, too, and is troubled. The foreman took Marcadies home from a dance; at the gate she throws her arms around his neck, kisses him, and is gone. The foreman stood still and thought. It wasn't love and he knew it—it was just the romance in the air, and so he walked on with bowed head. The next day Morales wanted to quit, but the foreman realized that he had done the man a great wrong, and he set about to rectify it at once, and brought Marcadies and her true Cuban lover together again. On the same reel is:

OFF THE COAST OF MAINE (Descriptive; length, 265 feet).—Showing glimpses of the rugged coast from the Bay of Fundy to Portland.

THE ESCAPED LUNATIC (Comedy; release Sept. 13; length, 500 feet).—A colored lunatic escapes from an asylum, and the event is the topic of conversation in the neighborhood. Mr. Cobb, assistant to a neighbor to move a stove, gets soot on his hands, which he wipes off on his handkerchief and then absent-mindedly wipes his face with this handkerchief, making him look like a negro. He is attacked by a constable and another man who take him for the lunatic, but fight them off, not knowing the reason of the attack. When he arrives home, he finds his wife and the women of the neighborhood engaged in a galling party, which breaks up at the sight of him. They finally succeed in imprisoning him in the cellar and summon the constable. He is about to be locked up when Mrs. Cobb recognizes her better half, and the scene is quickly converted into a merry one. When Cobb sees his reflection in a mirror he is the merriest of all. On the same reel is:

FOR THE QUEEN (Comedy; length, 500 feet).—A charming little story of a children's May party, showing the brilliant little players of the Edison Company. The story is a sweet and simple, and the play of the children to the same key, nothing at all artificial about the production.

THE LIGHTHOUSE BY THE SEA (Drama; release Sept. 15; length, 1,000 feet).—The old keeper of the lights is the father of two young girls and a son. The girls become engaged to two fisher lads, and are busy with needle and thread getting their trousseaus ready, much to the amusement of the old keeper and their brother. One night during a terrible storm the ship which their sweethearts are on is wrecked on the shoals and some of the crew washed overboard. The little family search along the rockbound shore, hoping to find a survivor. Suddenly a man is seen clinging to the rocks. It is one of the loved ones. Afar out at sea is the form of the other one, the waves beating him to death. The brother realises that he can only save one of them. But which shall it be? Each girl looks with dumb appeal into the eyes of her sister. The reader must see the answer in the picture itself. But there are no tears in the eyes of the audience at its close, nor a pang of regret.

THE HORO COWBOY (Drama; released Sept. 7; length, 1,000 feet).—Happy "Larry," a tramp, is taken sick and is nursed back to health by Bill Smith and his daughter, Gertrude, a child in her teens. Larry decides to quit tramping and gets a job as a cowboy. He soon becomes very popular with the boys, and at the next election they run him for sheriff. He is elected and performs his duties creditably, until, however, one day Bill Smith wounds a saloonkeeper during a quarrel. Bill is captured by a posse headed by the sheriff, who is about to hang him when Gertrude enters and pleads with Happy. He could not resist, and at the point of his revolver he turns the boys back until Smith escaped. He then surrenders.

Some of the boys were for lynching Happy, but after hearing his story of how Bill and his daughter had saved his life they relented. The sheriff, however, would not continue in office; he felt that he had not done his duty, so, doolag his old clothes, he slipped out and hopped the first freight.

Mr. Frank Vanston, Temple Theatre, Elgin, Ill. declares:—"I simply can't say enough in praise of the film service you are giving me. Whether it is Laemmle film, Laemmle service or Laemmle luck, my business has been bully ever since I started to do business with you."

BE A GUN MAN SELL OUR PISTOL SCABBARD WATCH FOB

They ALL want it. Boys and girls simply can't get away from it. A perfect miniature of a SIX-SHOOTER and HOLSTER—typical of the gun-carrying days of the West. Made of splendid quality leather, with metal gun. Made within gunshot distance of the Alamo, cradle of Texas Liberty. Sells strictly on its merits as a novelty.

Okemah, Okla., July 19, 1911.

ALAMO LEATHER & NOVELTY CO., San Antonio, Texas:
 Gentlemen:—Your last shipment of Pistol Scabbard Watch Fobs came in today, and opened with a ready sale. I have been in the souvenir business for the last ten years, and have handled various novelties and souvenirs. I have had success in most every effort, but this new sensation that you have sprung by placing on the market the Fob, beats anything I have tried. The fact that they are constructed of real leather and a Miniature Six-shooter and Scabbard, complete in every respect; also that they are manufactured at San Antonio, near the OLD ALAMO, all tends to help the buying public appreciate the novelty souvenir.

I first bought in small lots, but find to hang one card in window, I must keep a large supply inside, as there are no questions asked. The sale is made on sight. Traveling men, preachers, ladies and children all are anxious to pay the price. You have made a hit, and I wish you much success.

Yours truly, G. H. FARNUM.

A customer at PENDLETON, OREGON, writes, after ordering a quantity: "Sold them all in less than an hour. Please rush five gross."

Send me at once by express, as before, 1/2 gross Novelty Watch Fobs. You said they would sell very fast. WELL! I guess they do sell. I have less than one dozen on hand. I sold five dozen in one week. Respectfully yours, M. D. HUZZA, Books and Stationery, Cleburne, Texas.

Please send us prepaid, 1/2 gross Leather Pistol Scabbard Watch Fobs. This is the best novelty we have ever struck. Sold three dozen today.

Respectfully, BOTTLE BROTHERS, Booksellers, Houston, Texas.

Send Twenty-five Cents (coin) today for sample and prices, or we both lose money. ALAMO LEATHER & NOVELTY CO., 196 Ave. D, San Antonio, Texas. Say "Billyboy" when writing.

HIPPODROME OPENS.

The first scene represents a beautiful woodland glade at dawn. The season is spring, and the butterflies, awakened by the sunbeams, gather on the sward and give expression to the joy of living with a dance.

The butterflies are startled out of their happy mood by the appearance of the black butterfly, who, by their instinctive feel, is the bearer of evil tidings. Their fears are realized when the black butterfly points to the forest depths, in which the red glow of approaching flames is to be discerned.

The black butterfly soars away to warn other denizens of the forest.

As the flames approach nearer and nearer, the butterflies become panic-stricken, but finally under the guidance of some of the braver spirits, they all flutter away to a place of safety.

The second tableau shows the glade after the fire has passed over. All the monarchs of the forest have been laid low by the cruel flames. Again the black butterfly appears, slowly folding her wings before her face, and assumes the attitude of one whose spirit has been crushed by some mighty catastrophe.

The third is a delightful romp of fairies and their ilk, called the Fairies' Glen. In two scenes.

The scenic and electric effects throughout the entire performance are simply marvelous. The music is of the catchy kind, and two of the numbers that are sure to gain an immediate vogue are "It's a Long Lane that Has No Turning" and "Sweet Senorita."

THE LITTLEST REBEL.

trap door in the ceiling of the house. The self-possession of the child disarms the suspicion of the soldiers, who are hot on his trail, but their shrewd commander divines the truth in the absence of the man, and brings the father from his hiding place. The bravery of the child and the nobility of her father appeals to Col. Morrison, who finally gives the Southerner a passport through the Federal lines. A great battle in which the scout is wounded, prevents his escape, but the ultimate intervention of General Grant, "delivered" by William B. Mack, extricates the sire and his child from their new dilemma and gives the play a happy ending. Percy Haswell as a youthful and beautiful Southern matron, George Thatcher as an old-time dandy slave, and Mamie Lincoln as a negro mammy, also had conspicuous parts. One hundred fighting men in lusty battle gave a thrillingly martial atmosphere to the piece.

Some excerpts from the Chicago critics follow: James O'Donnell Bennett, in the Record-Herald: "In 'The Littlest Rebel,' Mr. Pepple proceeds in the traditional manner of war plays, passing from calculated sweetness to carefully fruited turmoil, presenting the soldierly lavishly dandy, and writing in a strain that combines the lachrymose and the oratorical. The play is pictorial on a large scale. It contains all the popular qualities of excessive sentimentality and military bombast, and when that is said nothing worse nor better remains to be said."

Ashton Stevens, in the Chicago Examiner: "The Littlest Rebel is likely to be the biggest success of the season. It is the best battle drama since Secret Service, and that means the next to the best of all the Civil War melodramas before or after Gillette's masterpiece. It has the thrill, the choke and the brain. It is 'sure fire' without being trite; it is a melodrama with a child as a pivot for the incessant action. But such a child! I am going to name Mary Miles Minter before I name William and Dustin Farnum. If there is any excelsior in the Little Rebel, it failed to find it. It is lean melodrama. It is quick and nervous. It makes you eager. It keeps you thirsting for the sequel."

Amy Leslie, in the Chicago Daily News: "The Littlest Rebel is beautifully acted by beautiful people. It is not often such an exquisite little girl with charm and gift and lovely face and form, comes in these cry-baby enchantments, but small Miss Minter has all of these. And where in the world can be located if not in the celebrated Farnum family? They are all handsome in an oak tree kind of solemn physical magnificence. There are more of them, but Dustin and William are the soldiers in 'The Littlest Rebel.' With characters to play so equally matched that they might exchange and neither lose a tithe of opportunity. Both Dustin and William Farnum act with rich action, finishing melodramatic fire and great repose. Applause dragged their gentler moments and a wild kind of infatuation for the story the atmosphere and the action brought the whole house to its feet when the orchestra struck up 'My Country.' 'Tis of Thee, while the soldiers shouted and the Littlest Rebel bowed prettily. "The Minter child is perfectly wonderful. I have not enjoyed more delightful comedy nor more gracious, bewitching dramatic cadency in years than to see this small infant put forth for the service of art. Miss Percy Haswell, rather restricted, became her softly feminine role most completely and even carried some most prattling sentimentality of a birdie-birdie caliber to a comely end. She has only a fragment in the piece. Nobody has much more except the Farnums and Miss Minter."

O. L. Hall, in the Chicago Daily Journal: "Plays having either a military background or foreground, do not always afford the finest opportunity for acting. Necessarily there often is much burrying to and fro of mimic soldiery, and he who would display emotion in the middle of the stage must do it intermittently. So it is with this play. Opportunity came most frequently, among the adults, to William Farnum, player of the rebel—and he gave a vivid picture of that character, cross-weaving, daring manliness and the haggardness of long suffering. Mr. Farnum read his speeches with becoming distinctness, and he gave to his movement something of the manner expected of the character. Dustin Farnum acted as the Union colonel, a character heroic in mold and mild, but offering less opportunity for the display of technical skill, and depending more upon the lure of personality. The wife of the rebel, present in the first act only, was played by Percy Haswell, and here again personal charm was the chief dependence, although at one time, in the denotement of flaring anger at outrageous treatment, and again in a passage of repartee, the acting took on genuineness. Now and then it seemed there was a hit too much of the darling child, but just when I was fearing she was wearying of her duty, she did something or other, that was extraordinarily effective. The pretence of this pet of two armies was Mary Miles Minter, a blonde mite, whose conduct at important times was directed by intelligence and feeling, most particularly so in scenes in which attempt was made to use the child to betray the hiding place of her father.

vantage of this ideal summer resort. Concessions of all kinds are being issued, and office business, and the management has secured some of the most novel devices in the amusement field. Fred Ingersoll's Figure Eight, one of the largest ever built, is packing them in day and night; the McElwee Brothers have a $10,000 Carousal, and a great favorite with all; the largest and longest in trackage miniature railway, owned, built and operated by Frank Snyder, a local man, winds its way around the lake, and covers exactly one solid mile, and is the longest ever put down in any amusement resort. The ice cream concession, soft drinks and all its accessories, are leased to L. L. Huguennard, and with the hot weather prevailing, Louis wears the smile that won't come off. Besides, a number of smaller concessions are making a big bid for public favor, the biggest bit of all being the African Dip, the Hoop-Is, Jap Rolling Game, Photo Gallery, Shooting Gallery, etc. A magnificent club house, with private dining rooms, ball room, cafe and an up-to-date cullinary service, caters to the needs of the visitors, and is under the management of Ralph Stevens. The lighting of every building and the grounds is dazzling, a great sight at night, and turns night into day; every building is ribboned with electric globes, Luxola candelabras illuminate the spacious avenues; in fact, over 22,000 globes are used, ranging from eight to one thousand candle-power.

The new casino theatre, designed by Louis Mettner, has built at an expense of $35,000; the most handsome summer playhouse between Chicago and St. Louis, was opened on June 10, and is up-to-date in every detail, both from the front or on the stage. The seating capacity is 1,300, and a high-class vaudeville performance is given twice daily, the usual rule being full capacity daily, while the S. R. O. is quite often displayed. The stage, one of the largest in the state, is capable of accommodating the largest attractions on the road, and has an opening 33 feet, height to gridiron, 80 feet; from wall to wall, 80 feet; depth, 38 feet. The lighting system installed by the Chicago Lighting Co., is the most complete and up-to-date, while the scenic equipment comes from Sossman and Landis. Besides an asbestos curtain, a water curtain also protects the audience in case of fire, all the wiring being encased in iron conduits. The performers' comfort is taken care of, and fourteen dressing rooms with concrete floors, running water, plenty of lights and ventilation, make the dressing and making up a real pleasure to all.

The auditorium to this cozy playhouse is the real cool spot, the rays of the sun never striking its latticed sides, and while protecting the public from the inclemencies of the weather, it also gives full play to the cooling breeze, so that no matter how hot or stormy, the spectator is always comfortably seated, and to the A. H. Andrews Co. credit is due for furnishing a very ample seat, cushion in mission style, and the latest in chair building.

WIG Real Hair! Crop Wig, $1.00; Negro, 25c; Dress Wig, Import Hair, $2.00; Bobette, $1.50 each; Six yards Crepe Hair (wool), $1.00. Ask catalog. Paper Machine Head, Helmer, etc. Importer, KLIPFFER, Mfrs., 4 Fourth Avenue, New York.

The management of the park is in the able hands of Edw. F. Galligan, the well-known showman, and an expert in park business. Mr. Galligan formerly managed Oak Summit Park here also, while he is well-known in the East, having had charge there of some of the biggest parks and traveling attractions. Edwin Gruzed takes care of the financial end, and the press is looked after by Chas. L. Lynae-Fellon, the well-known advance agent. Fifty thousand dollars were spent this year in renovating and putting up new buildings, and a like amount will be added next season in putting in new amusement devices, making Cook's Electric Park the biggest and best in the entire state of Indiana. ANOTHER FAKE AGENT CAUGHT.

Passenger station, where he had credentials in his hands. After another walk of several blocks Spaulding tried to dodge by fast walking through several crowds of people in the waiting room and tried to get away by going into the nursery room and jumping out of an open window. The policeman who was in the local party pulled a gun on him and after a crowd chased him about a block he was stopped and marched on to the County Jail. He then tried to tear up all of the contracts he had been making which he had in his pocket with New Orleans, Hattiesburg and Meridian merchants. Both Ringling Bros. Chicago office and Barnum & Bailey Show wired that Spaulding was not connected with them, that he was a crook and should be prosecuted in reply to telegrams sent them.

The next morning Justice of Peace Dahney sentenced Spaulding to 120 days hard labor in chains on the county roads and the cost of the case, amounting to $40.

VOGEL'S BIG CITY SHOW.

Mt. Gilead, Ohio, Sept. 2 (Special to The Billboard).—John W. Vogel's Big City Minstrel Insurgated their fifteenth annual tour at Mt. Gilead, Ohio, Monday, August 14, and standing room was at a premium, more than three hundred people having been turned away, being unable to gain admission.

The performance given by this company was said to surpass anything ever presented by this well-known organization. The singers, comedians and specialists engaged with this company this season are leaders in their various lines and the very best capital and brain could procure. While at Mt. Vernon, Ohio the entire company visited the grave of Uncle Sam Emmett during the afternoon, and James L. Finlag, with the minstrel band, played several selections, among them being Dixie, the song that made the deceased famous.

THEIR SILVER JUBILEE.

Indeed, to have partaken of the Elixir of Life, retaining, as they do, all their youthful vigor, and, so still remaining young for their respective ages at which in the ordinary course of human events, others begin to do their life work.

Despite the storm and stress of tremendous competition they have always more than held their own against all comers, distancing others who have tried to pass them on the road to commercial distinction and who are now no more heard of, and maintaining the place in the van of the Army of Industry, which they have held from the start. Thanks to the exercise of inventive and executive ability, backed by keen judgment, the Witmarks have succeeded where others failed, enjoying the satisfaction of being imitated by other firms in many of their own methods and innovations, always exerting to the utmost, their faculty for clinging tenaciously to the business in hand, while, at the same time, keeping closely to their determination to expand, the firm of J. Witmark & Sons is, today, in full and sound possession of the position it has always sought—that of the most prominent music publishing house in America, which controls its own branch in London and Paris, to say nothing of Chicago and San Francisco. One of many advantages possessed by the Witmarks when they began business was the high standing with the theatrical profession enjoyed by one of their number, Julius P. Witmark, who at that time was largely instrumental in popularizing their various successes. Consequently, since its inception, the house of Witmark has had more genuine hits, in the line of both individual, vocal and instrumental numbers and musical productions than any other firm in the music business. But, notwithstanding the quantity, variety and importance of their past triumphs, especially as regards comedies, operas, musical comedies and similar entertainments, it is to J. Witmark & Sons, a most satisfactory and significant fact that their silver anniversary has arrived during a season which has already proven to be the brightest and most prosperous they have ever known, and, look which ever they may, either around them or ahead, naught but prosperity, and continued well-being meets their view. Never before has the house been able to point, any one season, to so many successful musical productions which bear its imprint. Of these no fewer than twenty-eight are, at present, being played in New York or on the road.

SELLS-FLOTO SHOW.

Although this "Pearl of the West" show is never visited Hamilton, O., before, I can't help but make a few remarks about what was seen to my vision upon last Saturday, written by Milton Traber, an old-time Circus man. Mr. James Beck is one of the cleanest and best twenty-four hour men that I have ever seen, and looks at all times to the interests of his employers. He escorted me upon this, the first and last of my visit to the show, and first to meet me was Foster Burns, the treasurer, who is always jolly and good natured, although Saturday was pay-day. Then passing on, Mr. Al S. Conlin, with his imitable and all-piercing array of wondrous, the Kid show, next we reached the front of the show, where Colonel Hutchinson, the legal adviser, and Field Carmichael, press agent back of the show, attend to the handling of all letters, and Colonel Fred Hutchinson, the manager and personal representative of Messrs. H. Tammen and F. G. Bonfils, proprietors of the show, sits back and views everything and sees that all business is strictly attended to, and he certainly has a good corps of able assistants. The cook house and dining tents were inspected and found as neat and clean as a Pullman dining car. The show—well, I can hardly describe the show and performance, as language fails expression and can't do it proper justice. Henry Robertson, superintendent of privileges; William Curtis, the man of many patents; Rhoda Davis, W. P. English, musical director; Rhoda Davis, arena director, and his grand horses; J. Carroll, imitable announcer; clowning and able management of that prince of show makers, James H. Rotherford; Col. Leveille, a man who looks more like Buffalo Bill than Cody does himself. Good night.

SULLIVAN'S NOVEL STUNT.

Chicago, August 31 (Special to The Billboard).—James F. Sullivan, manager for the Monopol Film Company's exhibition of Dante's Inferno at the Princess Theatre, is attracting much attention for his show by sending two girls in vivid Mephistophelean dress, accompanied by a chauffeur in monk's habit and cowl, through the downtown streets in a big touring car. They make their advent at the noon hour and cause much comment.

FILM ACTOR JOINS OPERA CO.

New York, Sept. 2 (Special to The Billboard).—Mr. Arthur Donaldson, who has been playing special character parts with the Kalem company in Ireland and who for some time has been connected with motion picture companies, has signed up for a year's engagement to sing grand opera at the Oscar Theatre at Stockholm, Sweden. Donaldson will be remembered for his work in the Prince of Pilsen. His engagement begins October 1 in the Oscar Theatre, where he will sing in Swedish, his native tongue. His wife leaves August 31 to join him in Sweden.

SELIG FOUR A WEEK.

Starting with the release of Friday, September 8, 1911, The Heart of John Barlow, Selig Polyscope Company will increase their regular weekly program to four reels per week. For the present this new Friday release will be limited to any one class of productions; on the other hand, will be noted for its range of unique subjects. The combined energies of the various departments of Selig's Chicago plant are directed towards the production of what is believed to be the most elaborate and expensive motion picture ever produced.

The history of the discovery of America is the subject from which the most elaborate picture ever produced is being taken. In one of two scenes recently the Selig people used Columbus' three original caravels, which were sent to this country by the Government of Spain during the Chicago World's Fair. They were completely refitted by the Selig Company at an enormous expense and taken many miles out on Lake Michigan, manned by some three hundred actors. In correct Columbus' period costumes, before the picture is completed it is estimated that it will cost somewhere in the neighborhood of $51,000.

The various historical and educational bodies of the country are co-operating with the Selig Company, as are also the Knights of Columbus and many other Catholic orders.

Three years were spent in preparing for the production, and every detail promises to be absolutely correct historically. The subject covered, next to that of Christianity, is the most important in the history of the world.

IN THE LIMELIGHT.

On September 19, 1910, Get-Rich-Quick Wallingford had its initial presentation. George M. Cohan wrote the fascinating comedy from the Wallingford sketches by George Randolph Chester. It has proved its worth as a theatrical offering by remaining on Broadway for a solid year without an intermission. This play already has the distinction of the longest play run of the season 1910-1911, at the George M. Cohan Theatre, where it will conclude a fifty-four weeks' season on September 23. On Monday evening, September 25, Mr. Cohan will return to the stage after an absence of two years, presenting himself at his own theatre in a new musical farce from his own pen, entitled The Little Millionaire. The fact that one of the big song numbers of the piece will bear the patriotic caption of Any Old Place the Old Flag Waves, proves that young Mr. Cohan is still strong for the Stars and Stripes, the emblem of freedom he has conscientiously carried through every play that has emanated from his prolific pen.

Few men of his years (he was thirty-three on July 4 last) have accomplished as much in the field of human endeavor as has George M. Cohan, and few men, who, having become as popular as is the Yankee Doodle Comedian, from so humble a start, but would have suffered unbearable cranial inflation.

This is not the case, however, with George M. Cohan. Modesty is one of his strong attributes. Modesty, charity and a fellow feeling for his associates has ever marked his career. His understanding of the term friendship is of the rarest and most faithful conceivable. This fact explains the pleasantness of the partnership between himself and Henry B. Harris.

KALEM NEWS FROM IRELAND.

New York, Aug. 31 (Special to The Billboard).—While the company of people now taking pictures in Ireland for the Kalem Company can report many pleasing incidents some of the unpleasant ones stand prominently in view. The company has just returned to Beaufort, County Kerry, after spending a week at Dingle and Ballydoyle in the playing of a fishing story. Many scenes had been taken at Hawth, near Dublin, where the company went on a small fishing boat some distance from the main land in order to get suitable scenes for the story which they were completing. Every member of the company to a man (or rather to a woman), became deathly sea-sick, Miss Gauntier alone retaining her usual health and other things. Despite the difficulties in taking this picture the director expects it to be one of the best of the first productions.

DANTE'S INFERNO HELD OVER.

Providence, R. I., Sept. 2 (Special to The Billboard).—After playing to capacity houses all during the week of August 28 in spite of the inclement weather the managers of Dante's Inferno have decided to continue the films at the Providence Opera House, Providence, R. I., for another week beginning September 4. The films have been booked over the Julius Cahn Circuit and will open on this time in Lawrence, Mass. There seems to be no let up in the demand for this striking film, few but large houses being able to secure it and each exhibition being accompanied by enormous attendance.

FRANK SHERIDAN ENGAGED.

Frank Sheridan has just made arrangements to enter the two-day under James S. Devlin's management. Mr. Devlin has secured a sketch which will give Sheridan ample opportunity to create a character that will appeal to the lovers of vaudeville. Mr. Sheridan will be remembered for his wonderful and distinguished characterization of the Archbishop in The Boss, which had a successful run last season at the Astor Theatre.

CARLOS INSKEEP ATTRACTIONS.

In the opening of Company "D" of The Girl and the Tramp, the last of the Carlos Inskeep attractions are on tour, making four The Girl and the Tramp companies and two When A Woman Wills, all of which report record business since opening.

From a firm with one attraction, since the first of last March, the Carlos Inskeep attractions have sprung into one of the largest producing firms in the Middle West.

Under the management of George L. Barton, who is directing its tours this firm has surrounded itself with one of the best executive staffs in the country, and numbers among it some of the best-known people in the theatrical world.

W. H. Denny, an English character comedian, remembered as the rascally solicitor in Madame X, as well as for appearances in important roles in the companies of Richard Mansfield, Edward Terry, and other stars, is to be the Dog in the Liebler & Co. revival of The Blue Bird, at the Century Theatre next month.

Albert Taylor is playing a stock engagement at the Princess Theatre, Ft. Worth, Tex. E. J. Lassarre is manager of the company. Lee Orland has signed with Rowland & Clifford to go with the Eastern Roarers Company. Guy Grafton and wife (Constance Grafton) have signed for the leads with Jones & Crane's production of The Wolf.

SKATING RINK NEWS.

I am in receipt of a book of rules of the Federation des Patineurs a Ronettes de France. Not being much of a Frenchman, although some say Fitzgerald is French, I will have the same interpreted, and see if we can learn anything to our advantage from the French.

What has happened to our Aille Moore? Surely he has recovered from the shock that Davidson handed to him some time back. No word has been received from him in over a year.

President Allen L. Blanchard of the International Skating Union of America, has had a busy time of it this summer, entertaining many of the visiting profession. They have all had a trip around Chicago in his speedy Stoddard-Dayton.

There will be some good racing at the Dea-Moines (la.) rinks this winter. The two rinks there, the Coliseum and the Palace, have a large following among their respective champions, and seems as though the city championships run this spring did not settle the arguments as to the best skater. So there is likely to be some exciting contests this season.

SANS SOUCI OPENS SEPT. 16.

Chicago, Aug. 31 (Special to The Billboard).—Sans Souci Roller Rink, under the management of Miles E. Fried, who has been in charge of this beautiful and well patronized rink for the past two seasons, will be opened for the season of 1911, on Sept. 16, with a complete new equipment of skates, a new maple floor of this best matched and selected flooring, and new decorations throughout. The policy of this rink has always been opposed to old skates and uneven floors, and the excellent condition of the floor and skates at all times is undoubtedly one of the chief factors in the continued popularity of Sans Souci Rink in the face of the reported decrease in the roller skating business of the city. The amateur racing game has always proved popular at Sans Souci, and will be continued during the coming season. The inaugural feature will be a series point race at distances from a half mile to five miles, in which the entrants will include the very best amateur roller speed skaters in the West, among them being H. Beaumont, E. Proctor, O. Carlson, B. Angelica, W. Newfield, L. Kimm, M. Kruse, O. Gullickson, O. Shafer and J. Healey, every one of whom possesses more than a local reputation. In addition to the races, there will be contests of various kinds, it being the aim of the management to have a special feature scheduled for every evening in the week.

As Sans Souci has in this past established a reputation for giving very liberal prizes, these contests will no doubt be well patronized.

ROLLER SKATING IN DULUTH.

The slogan for Duluth, "Always Cool in Duluth," is one of the reasons why roller skating is popular. The Auditorium Rink has been operated all summer. Skating has captured the city and society has taken it up. The women are forming classes in all sets and practice has begun. As soon as the doors are opened at the Auditorium, skates are fastened on and the big North Tonnawanda Military Organ commences with a waltz selection. From then on there is gaiety and grace, dignity and disaster, fun and fantasy, and shouts of laughter greet the maiden efforts of the sober taxpayer who ventures upon the floor for the first time.

The Auditorium is owned and operated by L. Hammel, formerly and managed by W. L. Downer of New York, who successfully conducted the Park Square Rink of Boston, Mass. for L. W. Bowen, later the Auditorium Rink of Pittsburgh, Pa., for the Auditorium Amusement Co. Mr. Downer has been able by years of experience to have the pick of the country for a competent staff to assist him in making the Auditorium one of the finest and best conducted roller rinks in the state.

Instructors, B. F. Thammann, late of Wayne Rink, Detroit; Arthur Swensen of Warren, Pa., and Titusville, Jacq. Seymour of Petersburg, Canada, and Lewis Collingwood of Canada, Warren, Pa., and Jamestown, N. Y.; Frank Berant, champion speed skater at the head of the lakes; Arthur Roy, an exhibition skater of the Northwest, and six skate boys. Fred Abelson, ticket seller; Charles Willis, advertising agent and door tender; Alphon Brown, in charge of the wardrobe with two assistants. With this staff of gentlemanly and competent attaches, is it any wonder that Duluth has the roller craze?

SAM G. GINGOLD.

RINK NOTES.

Jack McCallen and May Carson, the American roller skaters, have arrived in Australia. They have been abroad since May 30, having visited England, France, Italy, Egypt, Arabia, the Isles of Ceylon and Cocos Islands. They opened on Harry Rickard's Circuit August 1 for a nine months' tour, and will return to America sometime in April, 1912, by way of China, Japan and Vancouver. After completing the trip, they will have circled the globe.

NEW VAUDEVILLE ACTS.

great deal of which is consumed by "stalling"). They seem to convey the impression of whirl wind jinglers at first, but it does not take long to discover that most of the "hurry-up" constitutes running about and shouting, an objectionable feature of nearly all foreign acts. The feats of juggling that are performed are really good, and, could the Piroscoffs be convinced that the American vaudeville audience was not made up of "boobs," they might cut the time of their act to about eight or nine minutes and do just the same number of stunts, with far more gratifying results to both themselves and the audience.

ADELE OSWALD, Majestic, Chicago: sixth in nine-act show; time thirteen minutes, in one.

Adele Oswald made a host of friends in Chicago through her excellent work in musical comedy. Those same friends and a number of new ones were loyal in their support and commendation during her first engagement at the Majestic. She opens her act with Twilight, Will Rossiter's ballad, and scores heavily. This is one of those songs which, when properly put over, make an act. This it did for Adele Oswald. Her following numbers were all good, clean songs and nicely rendered. Miss Oswald makes a change of costume for each number. She consumes a trifle too much time in this, but this feature can be easily remedied; when it is, her act will be irreproachable. She has an enviable stage presence and personality and a noticeable elimination of that objectionable feature found in so many angles, that "look-who-I-am" air. Undoubtedly, through her success this week, vaudeville will claim the addition of a very desirable artist, while musical comedy can only mourn the loss.

BUDD FISHER, Cartoonist, Majestic, Chicago: eighth in nine-act show; time, fifteen minutes in one.

As was formerly mentioned in the report of this week's bill at the Majestic, Budd Fisher is a failure as a vaudeville act. It is not by far the same reason that any other big name would. He might have succeeded just as well had he followed Laura Jean Libby's example when she was engaged at the Music Hall here last season. That is, make the appearance, introduce himself to the audience and then "beat it." Mr. Fisher is very nervous while on the stage and entertains the audience with a series of his Mutt and Jeff cartoons. He then looks through the audience and cartoons various people supposed to be in the audience. He makes good in this solely through the admiration of the general public for what are any other cartoonist to do the same work as that done by Mr. Fisher, his failure would be inevitable.

SAID AND SEEN IN CHICAGO.

production. The La Salle is the only house in America devoted exclusively to the production of original musical comedies. The principal comedy role of Louisiana Lon falls to the lot of Alex Carr. It is that of Lidoofski, a Russian refugee, and is said to be more potent in its merry-making opportunities than Potash or Penmanter. Sophie Tucker, a brilliant recruit from vaudeville, will play the part of Jennie Wimp. Others prominently cast are Bernard Granville, Eva Falon, William Riley Hatch, Mary Quive, Robert O'Connor, Dorothy Granville, Paul McCarthy and Joseph Burton. A pretty chorus is a feature.

OLYMPIC—Another Sunday premiere is that of John Barrymore and Thomas A. Wise, in Uncle Sam, presented by Charles Dillingham at the Olympic Theatre, which is vacated tonight by Get-Rich-Quick Wallingford after a record-breaking run. The farce is the joint creation of Ann Caldwell and James O'Dea, and deals with adventures and love affairs of a party of American tourists who are motoring through Europe. In the party is a breezy, irascible, yet lovable, old gentleman, Colonel Sam Gannison, played by Mr. Wise. One object of the trip is to investigate the habits and alleged learning of the Colonel's scapegrace nephew who is a student at Heidelberg, played by John Barrymore. The other company includes Josephine Brown, Juliette Dika, Ida Darling, Pauline Whitson, Louise Muldener, Katherine Blythe (in private life, Mrs. John Barrymore), John J. Scannell, Emmett Whitney, Emil Hohenwort, Hans Hansen, Paul Arnold, Albert Biecardi and Cyril Biddulph.

At the Princess the Monopol motion pictures of Dante's Inferno continue to thrill large audiences twice daily. The success of these pictures has warranted an extension of the engagement.

The prosperous run of Dear Old Billy, with William Hawirey in the leading role, will come to an end on September 9. The farce originally was scheduled for a month's run, but the popularity of the piece caused its tenure of possession to be extended to two, and it is now well into its third month. A. G. Delamater, manager of Dear Old Billy, is expected here from New York on Monday, when the successor to the farce at the Whitney probably will be announced by Frank O'Feen.

Dave Lewis comes to the Imperial for the week of September 3 in Campbell B. Casad's song farce, Don't Lie to Your Wife. He is under the direction of Rowland & Clifford. They have surrounded him with an excellent company which comprises the following: Miriam Shelby, Edna Roland, Gladys Wilcox, Lillian Stanley, Estelle Vernon, Virginia Stewart, Lenore Frost, William C. Hodges, Holworth Stark, Harry Ellis, Benton Garvin, Mart Franklin and Edward Spencer.

Where the Trail Divides, written and starred in by Robert Edson last season, will be the offering of Charles B. Marvin's Stock Company at the Marlowe Theatre in Englewood, commencing Monday.

Charles Klein's The Third Degree will be the offering at the National next week commencing Monday matinee. Sarah Padden, a Chicago girl, continues in the role of Annie Jeffries and will have the support of Joseph B. Garry, Thomas Volle, Arda La Crox, Adele Hughes, Lottie Emmons, Harry Farnham, William J. McCarthy and others.

Daniel Boone on the Trail, a stirring melodrama, in which real Indians and live wolves are a feature, will be the offering for the forthcoming week at the Alhambra.

Busy Izzy, with George Sidney and Carrie Webber in the principal roles, will entertain the patrons of Col. William Roche's Haymarket Theatre. A comely chorus is a feature.

At the Bijou Manager Kettering announces the engagement of Benlah Poynter's comedy-drama of swamp life, The Little Girl that He Forgot. Frank Tobin and Agnes Bilal head the company that will present it for the coming week.

Edward Sheldon's masterpiece, Salvation Nell, with Vaughan Glaser as producer, and with all of the original scenery and effects will occupy the boards at the Crown, Ashland and Division Streets next week. Isabel Randolph plays the title role, supported by Edmund Roberta as Jim Platt.

acter from the general run of Champion films and, in fact, different from the average film story as produced by any company. The film is remarkable in its conception and striking in its originality. Like so many adaptations of literary efforts, the story as presented here is not thickly plotted, but the smoothly-running and even manner in which it unfolds itself has a pleasing and entertaining effect, which takes the place of any effects deeply-laid plot would have; while the novelty of the situations and that of the whole story itself adds to the interest the film holds for its audience.

NEW FILM COMPANY IN ST. LOUIS.

St. Louis, August 31 (Special to The Billboard).—Shamrock Film, manufactured by the St. Louis Motion Picture Company, will shortly be seen in the various motion picture theatres throughout the country.

This company is incorporated under the state laws of Missouri, with substantial capitalization, and its board of directors and executive officials comprise the names of persons of wealth and influence in the business community of St. Louis.

A factory and studio, equipped with every modern device for the manufacture of motion pictures, has been completed. The first release will be announced later.

Mr. G. P. Hamilton, late of the Essanay and American Companies, who has been identified with the motion picture industry in this country since its inception, has been engaged as manager of production; his ability as an organizer is too well known to require comment. An efficient stock company of experienced players are in daily rehearsal for their first dramatic release, which will soon be placed on the market.

REX FOREIGN AGENCIES.

New York, Aug. 23 (Special to The Billboard).—The new project of the Rex Company, to establish agencies in several European cities, has taken material form, three of them having been established within one week's time and four more planned to follow this week. The London Agency was established on the 11th, Copenhagen on the 21st and Vienna on the 19th. This week offices will be opened in Paris, Madrid, Berlin, Rome and Moscow.

Each office will be the headquarters for a camera man who will be prepared to film current events as they occur throughout Europe, the nearest man to the scene of any event catching it.

The Rex Company has never before released films in Europe and the fact that they should begin with the establishment of twelve agencies, twelve being the number when all are started, shows their determination to cover the European market. The enormous reception given each week to Rex films is the cause of the branching out into foreign markets.

NEW GENERAL FILM EXCHANGE.

New York, Sept. 2 (Special to The Billboard).—The film exchange, formerly operated by Messrs. Turner and Dahnen at 135 Eddy Street, San Francisco, Cal., has been taken over directly by the General Film Company and will be operated by them hereafter. The change in management was made on September 4.

On Monday afternoon, September 4, the new Grand Theatre on Hennepin Avenue between Sixth and Seventh Streets opened its doors with a vaudeville performance consisting of five acts and motion pictures secured from the Western Vaudeville Association of Chicago. The theatre is jointly owned by L. Ruben and Mr. Fink, of St. Paul, Minn., the former being the owner of a string of eight theatres or the Ruben Circuit, which books with the Western Vaudeville Association. The theatre has a seating capacity of 1,500 persons and is lavishly decorated.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Baker (Edith Evelyn) left August 28 for their home at Sparkill, N. Y., where they will enjoy a vacation during the balance of the summer. Mr. Baker will then commence rehearsing with the new Edward Sheldon play which will be produced by Wagenhals & Kasper this season. Miss Evelyn's winter plans are not as yet announced.

The Shuberts have again shifted the attractions at their Minneapolis houses, the Lyric and Shubert Theatres, and instead of producing Way Down East at the Shubert Theatre the week of September 3, it is appearing at the Lyric Theatre. H. B. Warner in Alas Jimmy Valentine, is the attraction which the Shuberts are producing at the Shubert Theatre this week.

Friday, September 1 was celebrated in Harvest Home fashion at the big Twin City Wonderland Park, the affair being held under the auspices of the Twelfth Ward Commercial Club. Prizes were given for the best "rube" costume for adding and country dance competition, and everybody attending the park was requested to wear whiskers. There was a program of special features and attractions as well as the regular park attractions which were all well patronized.

The park is doing a big business this week, as the many out-of-town visitors to the Minnesota State Fair are glad to avail themselves of this opportunity to visit the only park of its kind in the Northwest. Wonderland will remain open until September 10, or the Sunday following fair week, unless otherwise announced.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles S. Albert and their daughter, Drusilla Ruth, and Mrs. Albert's mother will leave this month for Spokane, Wash., where they will reside in the future. Mrs. Albert, better known to professionals as Sarah Truax, has been very well liked among the younger society matrons of this city and her departure is the occasion of keen regret among her circle.

Corbett Morris, the popular juvenile of the Lee Baker Stock Company, which recently closed its season of stock at the Shubert Theatre here, is at present in Denver, Colo., enjoying a visit with his mother whom he has not seen for four years. He will proceed to New York and will appear in one of the coming road productions this season.

RODERIC STE. FLEURE.

PROVIDENCE, R. I.

Sam Kaufman, who for nine years has been associated with the Empire Theatre, is now treasurer of the Westminster Theatre, succeeding the late Charles B. Clough.

The opening of the vaudeville season at Keith's Theatre will occur Monday, September 11, one week later than usual, the popularity of the Albee Stock Company this season, causing Mr. Lovenberg to extend the summer season one week, and according to all reports another month would be very acceptable to the many patrons.

J. Fred Lovett, the new manager of the Casino Theatre, is well-known to the theatre-going public in this city, last season being house manager of the Casino Theatre, and before that time being for several years associated with the Empire Theatre.

Harry Hastings' Big Show at the Westminster Theatre last week, was a corker, and his business resulted.

The opening date of the fall and winter season of 1911-12, at the Imperial Theatre, was Monday, August 28, with Harry Clay Blaney in Across the Pacific. George Gray is manager again this season.

Bullock's Theatre, the home of popular-priced vaudeville, and motion pictures, opened its 1911-12 season on Monday, August 28. The bill presented was one of the strongest ever given in this city at popular prices.

Dante's Inferno in vivid motion pictures, at the Providence Opera House last week, proved an excellent attraction. The pictures and the scenic effects are the best ever witnessed in this city, and the show is doing big business.

Miss E. Blanche Vedder, although not a regular member of the Albee Stock Company, has been doing some very clever work in small parts at Keith's Theatre this summer. Miss Vedder is also the possessor of a beautiful contralto voice, which has been heard in several productions, and it is her intention to follow musical comedy.

Mr. Richard Pittman, a member of the Albee Stock Company, closed his engagement Saturday, August 26, much to the regret of the members of the company. Mr. Pittman is now in New York, putting on a new play by Leo Ditrichstein.

W. E. GREENE.

MEMPHIS, TENN.

The theatrical and amusement season has opened with a whirl, the summer amusement season running right into the first of the fall attractions this week, with the opening of the Lyric and Orpheum Theatres. The Lyric's opening bill, on Sunday, September 3, was The Millionaire Kid, with Raymond Payne, a great favorite with popular-price patrons in Memphis.

The Orpheum opened on the following day with a fine bill throughout, headed by Macklyn Arbuckle.

Labor Day was also ushered in by the parade of John Robinson's Circus. Circus people are inclined to boycott Memphis this year, two of the big shows having already cancelled their dat s here on account of the high rate charged them for their privilege license, which amounts to $800 a day, higher than any other city in the South.

East End Park will continue the season for a few weeks, but will soon close. The park gave a special bill for Labor Day, including special features for the final Children's Day of the season, with more than 5,000 prizes, and concluding the bill at night with an immense fireworks display. The vaudeville headliner was Gus Edwards' Kountry Kids, with ten people in the cast.

Preparations are going rapidly forward for the great fall festival and reunion of the Blue and the Gray, which will be given for three days, beginning September 26. A day pageant of several hundred floats illustrating acts and industry will mark the first day. The second day will be devoted to parades incidental to the reunion of the veterans of the two great armies, which took place 65 years ago. The night of the third day will bring the night pageant, of more than fifty illuminated floats, illustrating the life and history of Herando DeSoto. Over six hundred people will participate in this pageant, which, it is promised, will rival the famous Mardi Gras parade given annually in New Orleans.

These three days will also mark the opening of the Tri State Fair and Exposition, which enters its third season September 26. The fair will last ten days, and will be the largest ever given in the South, not even excepting the great Dallas Texas Fair. Additional buildings have been erected and special attractions have been engaged for each day and night, including the famous Marine Band, Frank D. Fuller, secretary and executive officer, states that the success of the fair is indicated by the rush of concessionaires to secure space, hundreds having already been refused, because all the space for their particular attractions has been allotted. The fair includes exhibits from Tennessee, Mississippi and Arkansas, and following the state fairs in those states, will include the best exhibits from all three states. The dates are from September 26 to October 4.

W. E. Dunning, formerly of Cincinnati, has established his vaudeville agency in Memphis, having taken the entire floor over the Star Theatre. He has organized five small musical comedy companies here this season.

The American Aviators, Incorporated, are preparing for a series of exhibition flights to be given at the Tri-State fair grounds soon, and have engaged several of the stars of the Chicago meet to compete for prizes.

Harry Billix, solo cornetist with White's Military Band during the past season, has been selected with the aviation fever and left last week to take lessons in airmanship in New York.

Doc. Hottum is another local enthusiast, who preparing to be a bird man. Mr. Hottum bought an aeroplane a month ago, but unfortunately it was burned in its hangar soon after its arrival. He will have it rebuilt and hopes to be able to present some flights at the fair meet the last of the month.

Mrs. Carrie Graham, who spent the summer with her parents, has gone East to re-enter vaudeville.

Mrs. Dorothy Gerrish of Boston, who has been the guest of Mrs. Harry J. Hasenwinkle during the summer, has returned to her home in Boston. Mrs. Gerrish is well known on the stage as one of the three Mason Sisters. Mrs. Hasenwinkle was also well known as a light opera prima donna before her marriage, having been the star of a number of high-class companies as Isabel Sargent.

ARTHUR J. FORBES.

DENVER, COLO.

The Empress Theatre, under the new management of Bert Pittman, is playing to good crowds, and is putting on some splendid bills.

The Orpheum Theatre is also putting on some fine bills and are receiving in return a splendid patronage, and as the fall opens Denver's people are beginning to look to the theatres for their attractions, instead of the many outdoor amusement now drawing to a close.

The Frontier Celebration at Cheyenne, Wyo., was one of the best ever, and they had record-breaking crowds, many people from distances of days travel. There were many everlastingly present in their machines from states all over the Western territory. The celebration closed Saturday night, August 26, with everybody immersed with that strenuous Western rollicking spirit.

The management of the White City has arranged for a White Dress Parade by Denver girls under the age of sixteen years. Twenty awards will be given for beauty and attractiveness of white costume, grace, neatness and charm of personality. The Queen being the first prize winner, takes a diamond ring. This event will close the season of the White City this summer.

Under the management of Judge Gavin, Denver, there is now exhibiting a Charity Carnival, the proceeds of which go to the Craig Colony for Consumptives and the Denver Orphans. They report good crowds every night.

The management at Luna Park have arranged something new as an inducement to patronage by concealing tin boxes around the park, which will contain an order for money at the office of the park on Labor Day. There will also be a barbecue, steak and fireworks in the evening.

JULIAN HELBER.

THE SIREN PLEASES GOTHAM.

phrases it—perhaps Fall can't compose had music. To hear the musical offerings, many came as well—in this desire they were equally as liberally satisfied. The music was every bit of it lively and snappy, albeit not exceptionally light or gay. Several numbers pleased in particular—The Wallflower and Waltz Caprice. Alan Dale diagnoses the score to be capable of producing intoxication, and when so heartless and playwrecking a critic as he speaks in such dulcet strains, it would be proper for us to expect many of the Leo Fall numbers to gain a whistling vogue in the near future. Dale registers an objection to the abundance of the music-inspired art of dancing and seems to feel that Donald Brian is kept uncomfortably long before the audience in his numerous numbers and their recalled and recycled repetitions. In this, however, he stands without support from the other critics as they concur in unanimity that the Knickerbocker star is on display primarily for his grace and the quality and individuality of same. His staging is not on a par with his dancelag but few of the critics cared to make much of this point. The appreciated his ardor and the success of his endeavors and did not concern themselves with trifles.

The Times says—"Presumably the moral is, Once a siren, always a siren. And a siren, according to the best accounts, is really a very deceiving little cuss."

"In this particular case she happens to be both deceiving and charming—really the two things do go together at times—which probably accounts for the fact that the audience out front, instead of being virtuously shocked at the deception, testified its satisfaction."

"Besides the Siren, who was a demmer, and captivating Julia Sanderson, the other party to the delect was another favorite of Broadway, Donald Brian, whose feet now dance among the stars."

"With such a little as this—The Siren—one has a right to expect something alluring. And the lure is there, first in the freshness and pleasantness of Leo Fall's music, which, though it is of a popular enough sort, is never too hackneyed."

"At several points, indeed, one meets a new idea in tunes, in the orchestration and in the method by means of which the story of the play is borne along on its accompaniment of melody. The most delightful moment of this sort comes in the final act, at a time when the heroic young Marquis, still doubting but still loving, sings of The One Girl, making the number a seeming expression of the thought that is in his mind, as he goes through the ordinary forms of singing and dancing, and a casual accompaniment of illuminating action. Again one gets what almost amounts to a real situation—or would amount to it in what is ordinarily termed drama—in a repetition of the delightful number, Wallflowers, which has served to set the tone of the entertainment shortly after the first curtain."

The World says—"The production has two special interests. It was the first production of real importance of the new dramatic wave, and it also served to launch as a star Donald Brian, who has been steadily singing and dancing his way into wide favor since he emerged, unknown and with little more than his good looks to recommend him, four years ago as Prince Danilo in The Merry Widow."

"The newly-arrived star may be said to have made the best possible use of all his opportunities. His voice is admirably adapted to his new role of the Marquis de Ravalliac, and he has ample chance to display his dancing abilities. Moreover, he has as a partner at his debut Miss Julia Sanderson, whose beauty and daintiness must have been to him an inspiration. Without detracting from the glory of the new young star, it must be admitted that Miss Sanderson was quite the most attractive feature of The Siren."

The first opportunity which came to this clever pair was the song, Wallflower, in the opening act. It took the audience some time to appreciate its purely melodic beauty, but it grew so steadily in its influence, that its recurrence in the later acts brought rounds of applause. Then there was, of course, the waltz. It was down in the synopsis merely as Waltz Caprice, but it brought from Mr. Brian and Miss Sanderson the loveliest duet dancing in which they have yet been seen. Up to this number the operetta had not seemed to advance very rapidly in favor, but with its arrival the success of the entertainment seemed reasonably assured. Mr. Brian's solo number, She Is the One Girl, in the final act, neatly rounded out his musical contributions to the evening."

The Tribune praises unhesitatingly the latest Frohman production, and winds up in the following prophetic fashion: "A packed house, in which not even a wedge would aid in gaining access, seemed to prove that The Siren would live to lure many to the Knickerbocker."

UP AND DOWN BROADWAY.

farce, The Little Millionaire, includes Jerry J. Cohan, Mrs. Helen F. Cohan, Lila Rhodes, Josephine Whitell, Julia Ralph, Tom Lewis, George Parsons, Sydney Jarvis, Donald Crish and Earl Benham.

The role assigned to Tom Lewis in Geo. 31. Cohan's musical farce, The Little Millionaire, is similar to that of the Unknown, a character Mr. Lewis created in Little Johnny Jones, and continued in The Yankee Prince.

William Burress has been engaged for one of the important roles in Leo. Ditrichstein's adaptation, The Million, which Henry W. Savage will produce shortly.

For the title character in Little Boy Blue, Henry W. Savage has engaged Gertrude Bryan, one of the quartette of Merry Widows, under Mr. Savage's management the last three seasons.

David Terrence, last season with Mande Adams in What Every Woman Knows, has been engaged by Werha and Luescher for the role of a Scotchman in Miss Dindelsack.

Campbell B. Casad, last season with the Dollar Princess, and formerly press representative of the Herald Square Theatre and president of The Strollers, has been engaged by Werha and Luescher as business manager to go in advance of Christie MacDonald in The Spring Maid.

Henry W. Savage has engaged Thomas H. Chalmers for the baritone part of Jake Wallace, the traveling camp minstrel in Puccini's grand opera, The Girl of the Golden West, in English. During Mr. Savage's recent visit to Milan he heard Chalmers sing, and immediately saw in the baritone his ideal for the role of the Camp Minstrel, and the contract for his engagement was closed by cable.

cult, doing their novelty song and dance act, making changes in full view of the audience.

Hubert De Veau, the cartoonist, is now playing the Keith & Proctor Circuit in and around New York. In the fall he expects to go to Australia to play dates, later going to England. If his plans materialize, he will be absent from this side for a period of two years.

Dave Lubin & Company have opened on the Keith & Proctor Circuit. They are presenting a Southern playlet, called The Humming Coon. About September 1 the act opens on the Polk Time. Besides Mr. Lubin, the company includes Sid Williams, Will Jaeger and Walter Van Allen.

Rice and Cady, who were featured in burlesque last season, have contracted for a tour of the Sullivan & Considine Circuit, opening August 27.

Fried and Dowling and Gray and Graham left last Wednesday on the Mauretania for Europe to fulfill booking on the other side.

Lee Beggs and Company are on the Keith & Proctor Circuit playing a comedy-dramatic sketch called Old Folks at Home, written by Mr. Beggs. Albee, Weber & Evans are directing the destinies of the act in vaudeville. Three other people comprise the cast appearing in the support of Mr. Beggs, the principal one being Miss Maria Cooke.

Maurice Brooks has severed his connection with the Gus Edwards Music Pub. Co., Inc., to take the position of general manager of Harry Rapf's Telephone Girls.

The Gotham City Four—Lang, Jones, Phillips and Grisdell—have returned to the States after a tour of Europe and are now playing the Keith & Proctor Time. At the completion of this time they go West to play for the W. V. A. and over the Orpheum Circuit.

De Dio's Comedy Animal Circus will, at the expiration of their Keith & Proctor Time, begin the tour of fairs mapped out for them by Henry Meyerboon of the Park Booking Circuit. In the fall the act again goes into vaudeville.

Patrons of the various theatres in Greater New York operated by Percy G. Williams will be supplied this season with a new program published by the Orpheum Company, the corporate title for the Percy G. Williams theatrical enterprises. The new program is smaller in size and neater in every respect than that distributed during past seasons. The Orpheum Company Program Department, of which H. P. Hanford of 1402 Broadway, New York, is the manager, owns, control and publish the program.

C. R. Williams has been engaged to go ahead of The Family Company. The show opens tomorrow in Louisville.

Percy G. Williams will this season enforce a rule which prohibits members of the orchestra in his houses in Greater New York leaving the orchestra pits during the progress of a performance. This rule is believed by Mr. Williams to save the performers and the audience from distraction.

Anita Julius, who has appeared in several musical comedies, including in Panama, opened as a single act in vaudeville this week at Schenectady, N. Y.

ACTS NEW TO NEW YORK.

week Alfredo has been working the smaller circuits with unusual success. His entrance into the more select society was not paved with roses. The Roof is a handicap in itself, but to be placed in Spot No. 2 with only a corporal's guard in the house at the time the second act goes on, makes the task of the performer doubly difficult. Despite the obstacles Alfredo did very nicely.

Alfredo works as an Italian street musician. His selections are mostly topical numbers, which he plays with a vim and dash. With his ability, combined with his ambitious nature, Alfredo should steadily climb the ladder of success.

WILLIAMS AND DONN. Comedy Musical Act: Hammerstein's; fourteen minutes; open full stage, close in one.

With grotesque make-up, and attired in ludicrous frock coats and other equally funny apparel, Williams and Donn make their entrance in a manner that is most laughable. One of the fellows carries a huge drum, which he thumps energetically; makes more noise with a trumpet and still more with a pair of cymbals, which are fascinated around his knees. His partner, in German make-up, tramps about the stage carrying a sign which reads "Sonsa's Band," at the same time attempting to bring music from a trumpet. From these instruments they turn attention to the violin, saxophone, and several musical devices which are of their own construction. One of the men plays the violin in a way that the very words of the ballad he is rendering seem distinct. Williams and Donn should be able to hold their own on any bill.

THE APPLE OF PARIS. Pantomime, with Mlle. Minni Amato and Sig. Aurelio Coccia; two scenes; Hammerstein's; sixteen minutes.

Aurelio Coccia is credited with the authorship of The Apple of Paris, described as a dramatic pantomime in two scenes. Coccia is also the producer. His master hand in arranging pantomime vehicles is strongly in evidence. While the story told during the action of the piece bears no new material, that which it contains, is so well woven together that interest is sustained throughout. The plot is this: Pierrot and Pierrette are lovers. Odette, an adventuress, becomes enamored of Pierrot and endeavors to wean Pierrot away from the affections of Pierrette. The latter discerns Pierrot's attentions to Odette and is enraged. She challenges the adventuress to a duel. While the sword fight is in progress, Pierrot comes upon the scene and steps between the combatants, receiving a fatal thrust from Odette's sword. In his last moment he professes his love for Pierrette, and then effects a reconciliation between the two rivals. Three parts, played by Sig. Coccia, Mlle. Amato and Mlle. Ines Palange, are dominant in the piece, and they are played with intelligence and with fidelity to the characters. At Hammerstein's Coccia and Amato registered a distinct success.

A NEW PLAY CRITICIZED.

The Times pays the actress the following tribute: "It is not improbable that the play will enjoy some popularity, for, in spite of its defects, it contains much to amuse. And Miss Stahl is very popular. But neither playwright nor actress will find their fame augmented by it. Miss Stahl reads the comedy with the dry, incisive, natural inflections which get the meanings over, and she never fails to make a humorous point tell, and tell exceedingly well." The Sun commends Rose Stahl in the following terms: "Miss Stahl, who made herself famous as the immortal chorus lady, returns to the New York public in a play called Maggie Pepper, written by Charles Klein to reveal his actress' unique and delightful talents. His chief task was, of course, to take an accurate measure of her most striking accomplishments, which are by no means confined in a limited vein.

"Her naturalness, her cheery humor, her gentle womanliness and grava sweetness—these are some of the traits which the public will always expect to see. Then without her vivacious expressive glance, the quality of the Rose Stahl that the town has learned to love would be missing. So Charles Klein had to incline that phaso of her talents in fitting her with the sort of part that would keep her in the full affections of the people."

The plot amacks plainly of the melodrama, and elicited comparison to Bertha the Sewing Machine Girl and Nellie the Beautiful Cloak Model, because of its suggestive similarity to this duo of plays, from the press. The plot depicts the story of a youthful wastrel, who did not care in the least about the way his dear father's department store was conducted, but preferred to stop in Europe and spend there the paternal dollars he inherited along with the shop. But after awhile he did come back, and found, among other things in his shop, Maggie Pepper. She had risen from the post of cash girl, and by rights should have passed on up into the vacated place of buyer, but is unjustly deprived of her reward by the avaricious manager.

This is the posture of circumstances when the young owner returns. She does not know him, but Maggie at their first meeting manages to impart to him so much about the way his property is being mismanaged that he decides she must help him save his business from ruin. She becomes his secretary, his adviser in all the steps he takes so successfully to build up the business once again, and, of course, you must have suspected it, gentle reader, from the beginning—he falls in love with her just as if he were not already betrothed to the niece of the hypercritical manager of the business who had almost ruined it.

Of course, Maggie has to suffer just as every heroine must. The attentions of her employer are disapproved, her family, consisting of a thieving sister-in-law, her gambler husband and their child, whom Maggie loves, and the two others use for their own evil purpose—these are a part of the heroine's troubles. These add their greatest interest to the third act, in which Mr. Klein indulges his taste for this kind of drama to a degree which only stops short this side of murder. It is, of course, the wealthy lover who escapes only with a wound, Maggie who saves him, and incidentally keeps her little niece.

It is just as inevitable that the last scene should show the audience the silver—and matrimonial—lining to the heroine's cloud. This serio-comic narration of the plot, taken bodily from a New York paper, shows that they consider it of far less merit than any other that Klein has written. Their unanimous verdict seems to be that as a dramatist Klein possesses much that partakes of the superior, while in the field of melodrama he fails to uphold the standard of his reputation.

THE BILLBOARD MAIL FORWARDING SERVICE

Persons desiring to avail themselves of The Billboard's facilities for forwarding mail matter to members of the amusement profession, are requested to bear in mind that the headquarters for this gratuitous distribution of mail are at the CINCINNATI office, and that all such matter should be addressed; unless it is known that it will be more convenient for address to be changed to New York, Chicago or St. Louis, because of the convenience of the Cincinnati office. The Billboard has a staff of experienced clerks employed for the sole purpose of recording the whereabouts of transients, and handling mail addressed to them in care of The Billboard.

The postoffices adject of the New York, Chicago and St. Louis bureaus of The Billboard is maintained only for the accommodation of those who can procure quicker service by having mail sent to the branch offices where they can mail it in person, or from which it may be remailed to them with greater despatch than from the publication offices at Cincinnati. No attempt is made to handle mail addressed to the branch offices without specific instructions, while thousands of pieces of mail matter pass through the Cincinnati offices every week and are remailed to addresses from information at hand without the delay of holding and advertising these names in this list.

All mail advertised in this list is being held at the Cincinnati office unless otherwise indicated by the characters * (New York),  (Chicago),  (St. Louis).

Parcels at Cincinnati and St. Louis offices, and amounts due:

HENRY W. SAVAGE'S

ATTRACTIONS

SEASON OF 1911-12

"The Girl of the Golden West" Henry Kolker ^{IN} "The Great Name"

Puccini's grand opera, based on David Belasco's famous drama of the same name. To be sung in English and to mark Mr. Savage's re-entry into the field of Grand Opera in English—a field that has already had such notable enterprises as his productions of "L'Arlequin" and "Madame Butterfly." Tour will begin about November first.

A comedy of sentiment from the German of Victor Leon and Leo Feld. Adapted by James Clarence Harvey. Produced originally with remarkable success in Berlin. American premiere last season in Chicago, where it ran for fourteen weeks. Will be presented in New York in October.

"Everywoman"

Walter Browne's great Morality Play of universal experience and appeal. Four months at the Herald Square and Lyric Theatres last season, and still the reigning success of Broadway. TWO COMPANIES—EASTERN AND WESTERN.

"Excuse Me"

Rupert Hughes' Pullman Carnival. Broadway's biggest farcical success, based on the troubles of railway travel. Five months at the Gaiety Theatre last season, and still going strong. THREE COMPANIES—EASTERN, WESTERN AND SOUTHERN.

"The Millio"

A French farce from the Palais Royal, Paris, dealing with the Bohemian artistic colony. American adaptation by Leo Ditrichstein.

"Little Boy Blue"

A romantic operetta with Parisian and Scotch locale. Score by Henri Bereny. Produced in Vienna under the title of "Lord Lincoln." American version by A. E. Thomas and Edward Paulston.

"Somewhere Else"

A fantastical musical comedy, set in the land of Nowhere, by Avery Hopwood and Gustav Lindbergh.

"Madame X"

Alexandre Bisson's supreme drama of mother love, with a specially selected company. Fourth season.

In addition to this list, Mr. Savage has under consideration for early production, "THE GRAPE GIRL," a new romantic musical comedy from the French, by James Clarence Harvey and Gustav Lindbergh; "THE PRINCE'S CHILD," "THE DIVORCE FUND," "BARON GOOD FOR NOTHING," "THE LIEUTENANT'S WARD," and a number of other imported successes, and several unusually promising works of native authors to be announced later. The total will make this season by far the most active in Mr. Savage's career as a producing manager.

Optimism is the Keynote of Success

Just about this time each season everyone contemplating a voyage on the sea of theatricals is casting anxious eyes to the windward and plans being made by pilots who are supposed to be somewhat familiar with the oftentimes treacherous waters are being studied with more than ordinary interest by less experienced voyagers.

The good ship bearing the fond hopes of many an embryonic managerial magnate had a rough passage on its last voyage and encountered much wreckage along the way. Flotsam and jetsam from many wrecks were scattered along the turbulent waters. Plans are being made to escape some of the rocks on the next voyage that were responsible for so many wrecks on the last.

Some of the more timorous will keep close to the shore, but those master mariners who have for many years sailed all sorts of theatrical seas will again sail forth with an honest purpose and brave hearts and sure intents.

Many of the failures of last season can be attributed to the gambling instincts of certain managers who entered the theatrical business purely to take a chance. It is always easy to organize a company of mediocre players with the sole purpose of "running a shoestring into a tannery," in gambling parlance. Such ventures are foredoomed to failure in nine cases out of ten. While anyone who attempts to forecast the taste of the public, is necessarily taking some chance, the gambling element has largely been eliminated by the business men who are the big producing managers of today. The old haphazard manner of doing business is a thing of the past and the business men at the head of theatricals are doing business in a business-like way, with the possibility of the failure of a really worthy production reduced to a minimum.

Such men as Frohman, the Shuberts, Savage, the Lieblers, Wagenhals & Kemper, Brady, Klaw & Erlanger and others who are responsible for the majority of the more important productions, promise to be more active and aggressive this season than ever, reports from certain quarters to the contrary notwithstanding. Having perfect confidence in the willingness of the amusement loving public to liberally patronize productions that are worthy of their patronage, all these producing managers have announced plans for the season that indicate anything else than retrenchment.

Unquestionably a vast amount of money will be spent by managers in presenting attractions that are so high-class, so artistic in their conception and so perfect in production that they should not be regarded as experiments; but as certainties. They all seem to feel that if they can not command success they can do more—they can deserve it.

The indications are that salacious plays will not be much in evidence. Productions of a suggestive, or openly immoral character are fortunately short-lived and even as the stage was flooded with them for a time the pendulum has swung back to the more artistic, the purer and plays of a higher aim would bid for a welcome from the naturally clean-minded American public.

The theatrical season for 1911-12 has opened most auspiciously, despite the fact that the weather has been anything but propitious. We can not see any reason for the coming season to be other than a successful one, both from a financial and an artistic standpoint, notwithstanding the fact that some of the newspapers and even some people connected with the profession have come out as calamity howlers. As to the financial part, the houses that run during the summer season one and all report the best in their history, the summer amusement parks in general had a very good season. Then why should not the coming theatrical season be a good one? Industrial conditions are at least as good as they have been for the past year; in fact, if anything, they are improving right along.

The statement is made that the big Eastern producing managers are looking for a bad season, and that they are holding back to see how things will shape up. A glance over the plans of the various producers will show the fallacy of this assertion. Almost to a man they will produce more new shows than ever before. They, if anyone, are in a position to feel the public pulse on the coming season, and if they felt that business would be other than good, they would hardly go to the elaborate and expensive preparations necessary to the production of high-class attractions.

The Shuberts will produce more new shows than ever in their history. Klaw & Erlanger have also a number of big ones in preparation. Cohan & Harris are making plans on a scale that does not seem to figure on anything but big business. Henry Savage has a lot of new ones, including several European successes. John Cort promises at least three new productions. David Belasco extends the promise of a number of interesting ones. The new firm of Werba & Luescher will see that their gala line of stars are suitably dressed in new togs. And so on down to the most modest producing manager in New York.

Does that look like a bad season is looked for?

Another thing that shows the way the wind is blowing is that there will be more revivals of old favorites than ever before. And everyone knows that revivals are only successful during good seasons. For instance, would the Aborns go to the enormous expense of putting out such a big production as their revival of The Bohemian Girl if they were not most sanguine as to the future? Hardly.

Another interesting feature about the coming season is the apparent revival of the public interest in melodrama. The moving pictures put melodrama down and out, but from the looks of things this class of amusement is coming back, minus, however, some of the lurid blood and thunder features that were always so noticeable.

We venture to predict, that by January 1, 1912, there will have been more new productions made than in any previous year, and we will also add, that collectively, they will be of a higher type.

And that there will be as many theatres playing legitimate attractions than at time in the past few years.

The outlook in the vaudeville field is also most encouraging, as this form of amusement seems to grow more popular with every year, while the burlesque managers have finally realized that the best tonic for their class of amusement is the elimination of anything vulgar or suggestive, and as a result their coming season promises to be the best in their history, as with clean shows, they not only attract more, but a better class of patrons than formerly.

The plans of the prominent vaudeville booking agents are more than ordinarily ambitious and elaborate. The agents and managers who have shown such confidence in the perpetuity of this form of amusement in the past are manifesting by their present activity a spirit that augurs the strongest competition and the most religious seeking after novelty where there is merit to recommend it. Some of the most popular and ablest actors of both sexes, recruited from the legitimate, will spend part, at least, of the season in the houses of protean pretensions, while the big acts are being re-furbished and brightened up for a renewal of conquest in their own essential field.

Managers of vaudeville theatres are already casting curious eyes towards the booking offices, and the reward of their inquiry is a complacency that represents a sort of reflection of the satisfaction with which the agents themselves have been observing the trend of conditions.

Every indication is for greater demand for the big acts and bigger demand for the little acts in at least equal ratio with which vaudeville has been growing increasingly popular during the past decade.

Advertising Talks

Vaudeville singing acts appreciate the action of The Billboard in printing every week not only the words but the music of the chorus, of new songs. By looking over the thematic of these songs, artists can tell whether or not the song is what they desire for their act. This method of bringing songs to the attention of the artists also reverts to the advantage of the song publisher, for what publisher has not said, on receiving a new song fresh from his press: "Ah, if the artists were all familiar with the music and words of this one, it would immediately become the song success of the season."

Some such thought is expressed by the word jugglers who write the ads. for the publishers; but no ad. writer has a corner on the adjective market, and although these song-ad. smiths have long ago used the inadequate supply of descriptive adjectives provided by Webster et al., and have resorted to their own coinage, the claim of one publisher to have the great song hit of the season is offset by the assertion of another that only he has the song for which the world has been waiting.

The result is that the bewildered artist prefers to trust to his own judgment and to make his own selection, assisted materially by the publication of all the new songs in The Billboard.

Assertion has been made that vaudeville artists are not so much interested in The Billboard as they are in publications devoted more exclusively to their interests, instead of being devoted to the entire amusement profession, like The Billboard. Nothing more is needed to refute this statement than to call attention to the number of professional ads. in this issue. Page after page of these ads. are to be found, and it stands to reason that they would not spend their good money for this advertising unless they were interested in The Billboard and familiar with its power to give them publicity that pays.

With the constant broadening of the amusement business, the usefulness of any publication devoted to only one branch of it is limited and its opportunities restricted. It cannot be divided into units, but amusements must be considered as a whole, each branch depending upon another and each bearing a relative importance to the amusement business in its entirety. The circus performer of today is the vaudeville artist of tomorrow; the motion picture singer the embryonic operatic star, and the player in the "legitimate" who now scorns the "two-a-day" may warmly welcome it soon.

So it is that those depending for a livelihood upon the thirst of the public for amusement, belong to one big family, and like the family paper, there must be something printed each week to interest every member of this family. Because The Billboard is the only publication doing this, accounts for its great circulation and consequent certainty of advertising results.

THE PLANS FOR THE SEASON OF SHUBERT BROS. KLAU & ERLANGER & HENRY W. SAVAGE

THE SHUBERTS' PLANS.

Mr. Lee Shubert, following a consultation with his brother, Mr. J. J. Shubert, who has been in charge of the New York office during his absence in Europe, has made a general announcement of the productions for the coming season. The announcement includes the players and attractions acquired during his foreign trip, and also plans that have been matured in New York City.

On his arrival in Europe, Mr. Lee Shubert discovered that it would not be possible for him to enjoy a genuine rest, much as he would have liked to do so, and found himself plunged into a maelstrom of activity. Though the month of July is the "dull" season in England, France and Germany, he saw a number of new plays and productions, which he secured as attractions for his theatres in this country. In several Continental cities, managers showed him the exceptional courtesy of changing repertories and giving special performances in order that he might witness a particular play or operetta. While abroad Mr. Shubert met and conferred with Mr. Henry W. Savage, Mr. George Tyler and other closely allied independent managers who were also in Europe. Incidentally, Mr. Shubert expresses the opinion that Little Boy Blue, which Mr. Savage is soon to produce in this country, is one of the very best things he saw and should be a sequel in success to The Merry Widow. Mr. Lee Fields accompanied Mr. Shubert throughout the journey and returned on the same ship with his family.

GABY DESLYS ENGAGED FOR THE WINTER GARDEN.

The very first contract which Mr. Shubert closed, almost immediately on arriving in London, was with Gaby Deslys, the famous French dancer and pantomimist. Ever since the newspapers last winter credited this beautiful woman with being a factor in the Portuguese revolution which resulted in the banishment of the young King Manuel to London, various New York managers have been making repeated efforts to sign her for an American tour. It remained for Mr. Shubert to succeed, and the most-talked-of woman in Europe today will make her first American appearance at the Winter Garden, New York City, on September 29.

Mlle. Deslys will be seen here in Les Dehute de Chichine, a one-act sketch in which she has recently appeared with remarkable success at the Alhambra Music Hall, London. In justice to Mlle. Deslys, it should be understood she does not by any means rely solely upon the world-wide publicity she has received during the past six months, as she has been one of the most popular music hall attractions in London, Vienna, Berlin and Paris for the last five years. In fact, her sketch has been the veritable sensation of the summer season in the English metropolis. She will come to America accompanied by a troupe of five people and will arrive in New York one week prior to her American debut.

A NEW BERNARD SHAW PLAY AND A SCOTCH COMEDY HIT.

One of the most important contracts which Mr. Shubert closed in London was for the latest play from the pen of George Bernard Shaw, entitled Fanny's First Play. This is said to be one of the wittiest and also the most humorous play ever written by the brilliant Irishman.

Mr. Shubert attended the first special performance at The Playhouse of a new Scotch play called Bunty Pulla the Stringer, and the very next day, made an arrangement with the author, Graham Moffat, for the American rights to the piece. Moreover, he made provisions for the entire original company to come to New York. This organization is a Scotch one, which Cyril Maud brought to London to "try out."

WM. A. BRADY Attractions

It is a kind of family party, for it includes four Moffats, the author among them. It is said to be one of the best Scotch plays produced in England since the days of The Little Minister and What Every Woman Knows. Scotch traits of character are shown in a laughable and humorous manner. The period of the play is sixty years ago and the quaint hoop-skirts of that time make the stage pictures especially attractive.

Mr. Shubert also purchased a new comedy by Douglas Murray, entitled Sarah. This play has not yet been produced.

MARTIN HARVEY IN OEDIPUS REX.

Mr. Shubert also arranged for the well-known English actor-manager, Martin Harvey, to come to New York in Prof. Max Reinhardt's production.

KLAU & ERLANGER'S PLANS.

Klau & Erlanger's production of The Round-up, under the direction of Joseph Brooks, opened its fifth season at the Boston Theatre, Boston, on Labor Day, with new scenery and costumes. Ripley Holmes again plays the role of "Slim" Hoover, the fat man whom nobody loves. The play will make a long road tour.

Their biblical play, Ben Hur, which is entering its thirteenth season under the direction of Joseph Brooks, will open its tour later in the year than usual, as a Broadway engagement with a big cast is planned. The chariot races will be staged on a larger and more sensational scale, due to the advances made in stage construction and lighting. In the galley scene, the ship will be sunk in full view of the audience, carrying down with it the hattering alaves and pirates. An entirely new production will be built and new costumes made. A tour of the larger cities will follow.

Rebecca of Sunnybrook Farm, their idol of youth, will make its first tour this season in the third year of its existence. The first season was played in Boston and New England. Not until a year ago was the play brought to New York, where it remained during its second year, charming thousands with its simplicity, humor and heart tugs. Edith Tallafiero will play the role of Rebecca when the play opens at the Illinois Theatre in Chicago in October. Rebecca will be seen in all the leading cities of the South and West. Joseph Brooks will direct the tour.

They will make a production of The Count of Luxembourg, the new Franz Lehar opera, early in the season. This opera is a sensation of the current London year. Its first performance was attended by England's king and queen. So much attention has been devoted to the waltz number with its staircase dance, that the audiences are only beginning to realize that two numbers in the first act are the best compositions Lehar has ever written. The scenes are laid in Paris at Carnival time and at a reception of a Russian grand duke, which offers the opportunity for glorious stage pictures and gowns over which women may rave.

The producers will produce Edward Knoblauch's Kismet, under the direction of Harrison Gray Plake, with Otis Skinner in the leading role, that of a beggar, whose scenes are laid in Bagdad at the height of that city's greatness. Mr. Knoblauch drew his ideas from the Arabian Nights. The result is an interesting plot, which is developed amid scenes of Oriental splendor, with glorious pageants, marriage processions, dancing girls, glimpses of life in the harem.

HENRY W. SAVAGE'S PLANS.

Henry W. Savage returned from his semi-annual European trip Tuesday, July 18. His greeting to the town of his business activities was most cordial, and a fund of announcements has been given for publication. After finishing his business commissions, the producer supplemented with a three weeks' vacation in Baden Baden. He attended the premieres of Puccini's The Girl of the Golden West, in London and Rome, and attests that a triumph was scored in both countries. For his forthcoming production in English of the Puccini opera he announces certain of his cast as follows: Icilio Calleye for the role of Johanson; Harry Lion to alternate with the above-named tenor; Leon de Souza, William Reek, Irma Dalossy, Edna Showalter, Luisa Villani, Dina Pugliese, and Giorgio Pollacco has been engaged for the first conductor.

In addition to the Puccini opera, Mr. Savage announces The Little Boy Blue for an early premiere the coming season.

Somewhere Else, a fantastical musical comedy, has also been arranged for an early fall season.

THE PLANS FOR THE SEASON OF CHAS FROHMAN, COHN & HARRIS, JOHN CORT, LEW FIELDS JOE WEBER, AUTHORS' PRODUCING CO., WERBA & LUESCHER, ROWLAND & CLIFFORD

CHARLES FROHMAN'S PLANS.

Charles Frohman has a budget of new plays, English, French, German and American, and most of his stars will be fitted out with new vehicles.

Seven American playwrights have signed contracts to furnish Mr. Frohman with new plays. Augustus Thomas is now writing a comedy, Porter Emerson Browne has completed a new play called Sex and is at work on another play, Thompson Buchanan has also completed a play, and A. E. Thomas is at work on one. A new play by Winchell Smith, a new comedy by Martha Morton, to be ready by September 1, and a new drama by William Gillette, who will finish his play during the winter, before he resumes his stage work, complete the list of American made plays.

Mr. Frohman is to have the new play which J. M. Barrie will write immediately after he finishes his Peter Pan novel. The new comedy which Sir Arthur Wing Pinero is now writing, a new drama by Alfred Sarto, a new comedy by R. C. Carton, the author of Lord and Lady Algy, and a new play which Somerset Maugham is now writing will also have a Frohman production next season. Mr. Maugham's comedy is in four acts with two of the scenes laid on this side of the ocean. Besides these Mr. Frohman has secured a new play which

COHAN AND HARRIS PLANS.

The first star to twinkle under the Cohan & Harris standard this season was Raymond Hitchcock in the new musical play, The Red Widow. The first production of The Red Widow was made at the Colonial Theatre, Boston, September 4.

Channing Pollock and Renno'd Wolf have furnished the book and lyrics of the piece and Charles J. Gebest has composed the musical score.

Mr. Hitchcock's supporting company includes Sophie Barnard, Gertrude Vanderbilt, Jean Newcombe, Augusta Lang, Clara Schroeder, Clarence Harvey, Harry Clarke, John Hendricks, George E. Mack, Lincoln Plummer and Theodore Martin.

In the play Raymond Hitchcock appears as a retired millionaire corset manufacturer on a globe-girdling sprint around the world. In London he meets a fascinating female nihilist and, in the situation that ensues, that lady weaves a web of complications about him that causes the police of St. Petersburg to imagine that the eccentric American is plotting against the life of the Czar.

Cleora Hannibal Butts, as Mr. Hitchcock is known in the play, has a lively two hours and a half trying to dodge the Russian sleuths, and his efforts to convince them that he is

JOHN CORT'S PLANS.

John Cort, in announcing his producing plans for the season of 1911-1912, promises at least three new productions for New York endorsement. Mr. Cort will also have Lawrence D'Orsay under his management, and will again direct the tour of Mrs. Leslie Carter.

Mrs. Carter, whose first season under Mr. Cort's management was one of the most successful in her career, will again be seen in Rupert Hughes' Two Women during the first two months of the season, and after the Christmas holidays, Mr. Cort intends bringing his temperamental star into New York in a new play.

Lawrence D'Orsay will appear in a revival of Augustus Thomas' excellent comedy, The Earl of Pawtucket, opening his season early in September at the Royal Alexandra Theatre, Toronto, and traveling West through the Canadian provinces to the Pacific Coast. In Mr. D'Orsay's

HENRY SAVAGE PRODUCTIONS

A GROUP OF GIRLS IN EVERYWOMAN

LEW FIELDS' PLANS.

Mr. Field's own vehicle, The Hen Pecks, opened at the Broadway Theatre, New York, August 7, to remain there for eight weeks. It then takes to the road for two months, after which Mr. Fields will be seen at the Broadway in The Singing Teacher, a comedy with music (not a musical comedy), by Edgar Allan Woolf and Anatol Friedland. The Never Homes will open at the Herald Square Theatre in September, and The Wife Huntera will succeed The Hen Pecks at the Broadway.

The Bigamists will be produced later in the season in New York. The Midnight Sons and Thillie's Nightmare are booked for road tours.

Mr. Fields expects to have nearly a dozen plays running before the end of the year, he said. After The Hen Pecks has reopened, The Never Homes will go into active rehearsals. That is to be followed almost immediately by

JAMES JACKSON and SCOTT COOPER

The Wife Hunters, which is booked for the Herald Square Theatre. The Bigamists and The Singing Teacher are other productions to be made before long, and William Collier, in the new comedy, Taking My Advice, will also be produced.

JOE WEBER'S PLANS.

Edmund Brees will reopen Weber's Theatre on September 14 with a new play, A Man of Honor, by Rabbi Isaac Landman of Philadelphia. On Labor Day Mr. Weber's production of Alma, Where Do You Live? headed by Trudy Shattuck, opened at the Forest Theatre, Philadelphia. On Sept. 1 two companies of The Climax opened, one at Poughkeepsie, N. Y., and the other at Charleston, S. C. Mr. Weber will also make two new musical productions, Senorita during the holidays, and a new musical comedy in which he himself will star.

AUTHORS' PRODUCING COMPANY PLANS.

The Authors' Producing Company, of which John Cort is president, and Charles Klein, general producing director, does not promise an early presentation of any of the new plays which it will produce during the season of 1911-1912. The Gamblers, Chas. Klein's gripping play, proved one of the genuine successes of last season. This play will be presented by four companies.

The first company to take the road will be headed by Wright Huntington and Mabel Bronnell, opening at Newburgh, N. Y., on September 11. The second organization will begin its tour:

WERBA & LUESCHER PLANS.

Werba and Luescher will send out seven new attractions this season, including two additional Spring Maid companies.

The productions for Louis Mann in Elevating a Husband, and Clara Lipman in It Depends on the Woman, are ready, and three new operetta productions, including the Allice Lloyd Company and The Jolly Pessant, in which Geo. Marion is to star, are to be ready in a short time.

Werba & Luescher are in the market for none but high-class managers and agents for their numerous attractions next year. Yesterday they signed Willard Coxey, formerly press representative for William A. Brady, to be business manager for Louis Mann's tour in Elevating a Husband. Mr. Coxey was formerly associated with the Boston Opera Company, and is one of the best-known advance agents since Mark Hanna's day.

Chas. Marks, who for a number of years has been directing the tours of Richard Carle, has been engaged as business manager for Nora Bayes and Jack Norworth in Little Miss Fix-It.

Edward A. McFarland has been engaged as manager for the Bayes-Norworth Company, and has taken charge.

ROWLAND & CLIFFORD'S PLANS.

There is nothing but activity in the offices of Rowland & Clifford, in the Masonic Temple Building, Chicago. With the five Rosary companies, the new production of Edward E. Rose's latest play, Rock of Ages, and the starring of Dave Lewis in Campbell B. Casad's vehicle, Don't Lie to Your Wife, this firm has plans all completed for another busy season, and the manner in which stage folks congregated this week, assures all that the actors and actresses are gradually coming out of their summer hiding, prepared for the early openings.

One of the most important announcements from the Rowland & Clifford offices is that this firm will positively produce The Rosary in Australia before the season is finished.

LIEBLER & CO'S PLANS.

Mme. Simone will sail on August 26, but she does not open until October. This French actress will appear in America, acting in English, a language with which she is thoroughly familiar. She will be accompanied by her husband, Claude Casimir-Peter, whose father was a French President, and who will deliver lectures at some of the universities. She will also bring a number of trunks, and it is interesting to record that all of her gowns are made in some combination of gray, white and green.

She will open the season in Henri Bernstein's play, The Thief, and later will be seen in The Whirlwind. Both of these plays were written for her and she has appeared in both of them in French in Paris. Later she will play in L. N. Parker's version of Rostand's La Princesse Lointaine, to be known here as My Lady of Dreams. Sarah Bernhardt is to revive the play in Paris, but she will be seen in the principal male role on this occasion, while Mme. Simone will enact the part of the Princess here.

W. A. BRADY'S PLANS.

In his plans for the coming season Mr. Brady will pay considerable attention to the molding of the policy which he hopes to pursue at his new theatre, the Playhouse. The preliminary season there will be opened about the middle of August with Douglas Fairbanks in A Gentleman of Leisure, by John Stapleton and P. G. Wodehouse. George Fawcett will have a prominent part in the production. Early in October the first season of the Playhouse company will be inaugurated, with Grace George at the head. For leading man he brings from London Allan Ayresworth, who has played star roles in London continuously for fifteen years. Another leading member of the organization will be Lyn Harding, a prominent English character actor. The opening play will be The Earth, by James Fagan. Miss George appearing in the role played in London by Lena Ashwell, and Mr. Ayresworth and Mr. Harding in their original parts. The Earth will be quickly followed by an

HARRISON GREY FISKE'S PLANS.

Harrison Grey Fiske brings Kismet with him from Europe, which he will produce in New York on a larger and more elaborate scale and on a bigger stage than it had in London. He found it difficult to fill Ache's part, but has finally reduced the choice to three actors whose names he will not give out, says a cablegram. Mr. Fiske has also secured Langdon Mitchell's new play, Marriage, for Mrs. Fiske, and Loyson's War of Souls, a play dealing with the conflict of science and religion. Loyson, who is a son of Pere Hyacinthe Loyson, is coming to the United States to assist in the production of the play and to lecture upon the subject of which he treats.

FRED C. WHITNEY'S PLANS.

Fred C. Whitney announces: "I will have six Chocolate Soldier companies in Great Britain and America; Baron Trenck will be produced here at the Casino next October; The Spring Maid will be presented in London in September; The Cavalier of the Rose, written by Strauss, is to be presented at Covent Garden, London, Sept. 23, for two weeks, and then comes to America.

Other productions contemplated but not yet definitely arranged for are Franz Lehar's opera, At Last Alone, Vienna in Grunen, Mein Junger Herr and Mein Kleiner Frennde.

CHAS DILLINGHAM'S PLANS.

Charles Dillingham's most important new attractions are: Thomas A. Wise and John Barrymore in Uncle Sam, which will be produced Elsie Janis will have another season in The Slim Princess and The Girl in the Train; The Fair Co-Ed and The Candy Shop will also be sent out. These, in addition to the Globe Theatre and the Studebaker Theatre, Chicago, will be the means of making Mr. Dillingham's life a busy one.

Mr. Dillingham's principal enterprises will be The Assassin, written by Eugene Walter; Uncle Sam, Montgomery and Stone in The Old Town.

Elsie Janis in The Slim Princess, Emmy Whelen in a new musical play, and perchance one or two others.

LEFFLER-BRATTON PLANS.

The Leffler-Bratton Company is to cut an important figure in the season's offerings, for during the past six years they have built up a fine reputation by offering high-grade attractions. Thus far their efforts have been limited to the presentation of Buster Brown and The Newyeds and Their Baby. This season, however, they propose to invade a larger field; their first offering of the year being Driftwood, a play by Owen Davis, which has already had a successful try-out. Edna Archer Crawford will play the leading character, supported by a competent company of players. A complete production will be carried on tour, which begins at Paterson, N. J., August 24.

In September they will produce a new musical piece, Let George Do It, founded upon the funny drawings of George McManus; book by Aaron Hoffman, lyrics by Paul West, and music by Nat Ayer. George P. Murphy, who made

HARRY ASKIN'S PLANS.

Harry Askin, general manager of the La Salle Opera House, Chicago, announces a very active season, rehearsals for three big productions being already under way. The La Salle Opera House opened for the winter season September 3, with a new musical comedy, Louisiana Lou, the joint authorship of Frederick Donaghey and Addison Burkhardt, who has been identified with La Salle successes for several seasons, while the music has been provided by Ben Jerome, who last season composed the music of Sam Bernard's He Came from Milwaukee, and who has also written previously for La Salle productions. Rehearsals of Louisiana Lou commenced Monday, July 31, under the direction of Frank Smithson, who will have entire charge of the production. Prominent in the cast engaged for Louisiana Lou are Alex-

ABORN'S WINTER PLANS.

Having finished their ninth annual spring and summer season of grand opera in English, including eight weeks at the Boston Opera House, six weeks at the Majestic in New York, six weeks at the Brooklyn Academy of Music, three weeks at the Chestnut Street Opera House in Philadelphia, ten weeks at Ford's Opera House in Baltimore, nine weeks at the New National in Washington and four weeks at McVicker's in Chicago, Messrs. Milton and Sargent Aborn are preparing an elaborate campaign covering all the larger cities in the United States and Canada in the regular theatrical season opening in September.

VAUGHAN GLASER'S PLANS.

Vaughan Glaser will send out at least three companies from New York, rehearsals of which will begin in a short time. The companies are St. Elmo, At the Mercy of Tiberius and Salvation Nell.

A. G. DELAMATER'S PLANS.

A. G. Delamater will have many tongs in the theatrical fire this season. Charlotte Walker, in The Trail of the Lonesome Pine, opens her season in Washington, in September. Herbert Kelcey and Edie Shannon in The Lady from Oklahoma, a comedy, in September, at Powers', Chicago.

The Stampede, by Cecil DeMille, with Lillian Buckingham as the star, and Howard Fay in support, opened August 28, at Altoona, Pa., and will play Southern territory. William Hawtree, now playing in Dear Old Billy, at the Whitney, Chicago, will make a tour of the Northwest when his run ends in September.

Joseph C. Lincoln's novel, Cy Whittaker's Place, is being dramatized by Rev. Wm. A. Danforth of Chicago, and will be produced by Delamater in the Windy City in September. The Fling Line opens in New York state Labor Day. It will play the South and West. Beverly of Graustark starts in the South late in September.

FORECAST OF THE AMUSEMENT SEASON IN PHILADELPHIA, OMAHA, MEMPHIS & WORCESTER

PHILADELPHIA, PA.

Optimism is apparently the keynote in the forecast of the 1911-12 theatrical season in Philadelphia. Although a desultory dramatic critic has ventured the opinion that the winter's offerings will be "wooden" in regard to any great variety of productions, there is not a doubt but that the coming season will assume more successful and metropolitan proportions than ever before.

As far as local conditions influencing theatricals are concerned, there is undoubtedly a widespread desire and hunger for better productions than have been here in past seasons. Industrial conditions are such that from the box-office standpoint there need be no fears. Never in the history of the city has there been such a number of playhouses in readiness for the winter's whirl of amusement.

Beside the long list of smaller theatres putting on excellent vanderbilt hills, a score of new structures have been erected in all sections of the city reaching to the farthest points and suburbs. Far out in West Philadelphia and sections many miles removed from the downtown section and big theatre zone, a constant line in front of the playhouses bears mute testimony of the popularity of the "three a day" house.

The Walnut Street Theatre, under the management of Henry B. Harris and Frank Howe, Jr., will undoubtedly offer a series of productions which will be entirely new and varied. This 104th season of the historic theatre will mark the first year in its history as a thoroughly metropolitan house. Closely following Edgar Selwyn's The Arab, Mr. Harris will follow with a long list of new successes.

W. Dayton Wegfarth, who has managed the Grand Opera House, the Stair & Haylin theatre, with the greatest success in its history, is leading the managerial optimists, and predicts nothing but unprecedented success for the season.

In referring to the theatrical situation for the coming season, Mr. Wegfarth said: "I am glad to say that I believe the coming season will be one of the most successful that theatricals have known for many years. The producers themselves will be greatly responsible, inasmuch

OMAHA, NEB.

The prospects for a very successful and profitable theatrical season for Omaha never looked better than for the 1911-12 season which has just opened.

However there will be more competition than in past years, and naturally the business will be divided.

Klaw & Erlanger have for many years held undisputed sway in this city, but this year the Shuberts have entered and their attractions will appear at the Boyd, in competition with the Brandels, which books the K. & E. shows.

There will be more keen competition than usual between the two handsome houses, the Gayety, Eastern Wheel, and the Krug, Western Wheel, owing to the fact that both houses will this year have their shows a full week.

The Orpheum will not have any opposition, being the only vanderbilt house in the city and it has been proven that no other vanderbilt house can compete with this circuit, and those who have tried have made a failure of the undertaking. The Orpheum has the largest seating capacity of any theatre in the city and even at that they are all in use at almost every performance.

The American Music Hall has this season been leased by O. D. Woodward, and will be the home of the Woodward Stock Company, and it is very likely that it will be the only stock company to compete for popular favor.

From information gathered from the managers of these houses, we will have some of the very best attractions of any previous years. This can be said especially of the bookings at the Brandels, and the Shuberts also assure us of some excellent shows that are to appear at the Boyd, so perhaps as a result of these two circuits being represented in Omaha, the public should profit, if better and more shows are offered the theatre-going public.

MEMPHIS, TENN.

The outlook for the present theatrical season is the best in five years and the bookings made at the leading houses indicate a brilliant season. The managers returning from the East report that the impression everywhere is that the South is the most prosperous section of the country, and that the opinion is general is shown in the seating of the best companies to this part of the country early in the season.

Locally the theatrical situation is in better shape than for several years. The competition occasioned by last year's theatrical war has been eliminated and the conditions of last season, when two first-class theatres were playing rival attractions on the same nights, with a result of loss of business to both, no longer exists.

The Lyceum, the city's leading playhouse, owned by Albert Wels of New York, who also owns a string of theatres through this section into Texas, will follow the open-door policy, and all the high-class attractions, with few exceptions, will be seen at that house. Frank Gray, one of the veterans in the theatrical world, has succeeded Clarence Wels as house manager, a position he held for a number of years before the theatre passed into Col. Wels' control. Mr. Gray is sanguine over the outlook and anticipates a larger business than the theatre has had in several years. The Lyceum will open on September 21 with Madame Sherry, one of last season's successes in the South. The bookings are rather far between for the remainder of the month, but during October and November the Lyceum will present The Spring Maid, with Mizzi Hadjos, Sam Bernard, Evans' Honey Boy Minstrels, The Fortune Hunter, Forbes Robertson, Robert Muntell, Nora Hayes and Jack Norworth in Little Miss Fix-It, John Drew, Otis Skinner, Louis Mann, Leslie Carter, Richard Carle in Jumping Jupiter, Blanche Bates, Maude Adams, Nat Goodwin, Marie Cabill, Francis Wilson and a notable galaxy of minor stars. The bookings also include the Lambard Opera Company, the Russian dancers, Everywoman, The Gamblers, the Savage Opera Company, The Red Rose, and scores of similar attractions. The Lyric, which succeeds the Old Jefferson,

WORCESTER, MASS.

The theatrical season for 1911 and '12, opened here August 28.

The first indication of returning life was manifested when the Franklin Square Theatre, on Southbridge Street inaugurated its season with Ward and Vokes for the opening bill, August 28.

Ward and Vokes played three days, 28 to 30, and Billy Watson followed, playing the remainder of the week.

If the opening business is any criterion of what is to follow the Franklin Square Theatre will be a paying investment for the management at the entire season.

Capacity business was the rule at every performance since the opening.

Thurston, the magician, opened September 4, for a three days' engagement, with crowded houses at all performances.

Several changes have been made in the list of attractions at this house.

Mr. Frederick Belmont succeeds Joseph McCarthy as resident manager.

Walter Hemenway is the successor to Dave Haanaglan as door-man.

FORECAST OF THE AMUSEMENT SEASON IN ST. LOUIS, BALTIMORE, BUFFALO & KANSAS CITY

ST. LOUIS, MO.

One by one the winter theatres are opening but two weeks more remain until we are fully launched in our 1911-12 season theatrically. In this time of the year it is always the minds of all managers and those interested in their theatres, what promises the season will offer for the season ahead.

St. Louis as well as other cities, much result from the efforts of the managers themselves and the class and worth of the attractions to be offered.

The summer season just closed in this city was not good as a whole, although Forest Park grounds will report the heat season financially its beginning. It is proudly reported by management that over 900,000 people visited this garden during the summer just closed. Amusement and hand concerts were the chief attractions offered and every comfort was paid its patronage. The other gardens did not do so well, while some of them lost heavily, by the lack of that compactness in the management of their resorts that compels its patronage to mingle with each other until the elation of the crowds became part of the amusement itself. As to the productions given at the other gardens, let it be known that were of the best sort and all who had missed any of them during the season, were satisfied and pleased with their visit, but gardens proper did not contain that air of city that is so essential in drawing crowds. Look for changes before the next season dawns it will bring about this necessity and then will report better seasons and financial hits.

As to the down-town theatres it is hard at early date to forecast what the season now going is going to be. As in past seasons, all theatres have made extensive improvements one way or the other, and all are prepared every effort that will be necessary for a season. Manager Leo Reichenbach of the Grand Theatre and Manager Walters of the city, both are sanguine that a good season is in store, and in this I agree, because these men which furnish our hurlesque attractions are always done big business under all conditions, and as this season, though only three weeks old, has started with capacity business, there is no other conclusion.

BALTIMORE, MD.

Since the restoration of the business center following the famous conflagration seven years ago, a spirit of civic progress has awakened which has gained strength and which will result in future betterment of the city's industrial and commercial welfare. Last spring the manufacturers and business men organized Greater Baltimore Committee which has undertaken a plan to make Baltimore better known in the civilized world. After the organization in shape, the committee sought the services of a first-rate municipal publicity man and in a great list of applicants Edwin L. Quarles was selected and his annual compensation is $1000 per annum.

Last May the citizens elected James H. Pres-mayor of Baltimore, and he has proved to be a live wire man. With all this energy working for the benefit of the community the future is bright with about great results. A new feature of the new administration was the formation of the Factory Site Commission. Any new factory that wants to locate here can secure information and assistance that is necessary from the commission. Several big concerns are located through this commission. Some of the industries that bring millions of dollars to this city annually are: Fertilizer, structural steel, straw hats, cotton duck, shoes, clothing, steel rails, steamships, the canning of oysters, fruits and vegetables.

The Western Maryland Railroad was acquired by the Gould interests some years ago to afford an Eastern outlet of trans-continental scheme to run across the country to San Francisco but the financial panic of 1907 made this accomplishment impossible. The railroad has since been acquired by the New York Central and will form part of that vast system. The extension from Cumberland to Pittsburgh via the Pittsburgh and Lake Erie will be the connecting link. This road will soon be in operation and will give Baltimore a new Western outlet. The

And still they come; more and more of the ten-cent picture and vanderbilt theatres, of which there are now seventy in the city of Buffalo. A new house, costing about $40,000, is being erected at the intersection of Genesee and Grey Streets, and will open about September 20. They will cater to the German section of the city, that is, the East Side. The new Orloff Theatre, at 1592 East Genesee Street, B. Voh-winkle, owner, will open September 18, playing three small-time acts and pictures. This is a fine little place, seating 300 people comfortably, but really capable of holding more. Two smaller houses will be under way shortly. However, it seems to be the prevailing opinion that the advent of the larger popular-price houses means the relegation of the smaller places to the rack.

To get the real situation in hand, we will have to review the real theatres, the larger dramatic and vanderbilt houses. Shea's, the home of the so-called big-time vanderbilt, is as popular as ever with the public. The management will continue their standard policy, playing the best acts and the biggest features obtainable through the United Booking Offices. No expense is spared to give the patrons of this beautiful amusement palace the very finest entertainers extant. The coming season in this pioneer vanderbilt house of the town will be one of the best in its history.

The Academy and Family Theatres, playing Marcus Loew acts, also pictures, are doing a tremendous business at this writing, and will continue to do so throughout the ensuing season, as they have gained the favor of the patrons of "10 and 20" vanderbilt. They are owned by the Mark-Brock Theatrical Enterprises, Inc., who own theatres in Ottawa, Montreal and Toronto, Can.; Indianapolis, Cleveland and other large cities, and are a power in their line.

The Plaza Theatre, owned by a corporation of William Street business men, is a beautiful house, architecturally, seating about 1,600 people, and playing pictures and vanderbilt. Mr. Emory N. Downs is the manager, and he has proved his capability by building up a tremendous following for his theatre, in spite of the fact that it is located on William Street, in the midst of half a dozen rival houses. The house cost in the neighborhood of $80,000, and

KANSAS CITY, MO.

The stage is set and the curtain has gone up on the Kansas City theatrical season of 1911-12 and the scene presented is pleasing and attractive for each and every one in the amusement business here is eagerly looking forward to the happier year and optimism and good cheer prevail.

After a long, hot summer which necessitated an early closing of the eight theatres here, the public is keen for the theatres. This long, hot summer was just what Kansas City needed for it has pointed the way to renewed activity in business after a longer vacation than usual and when business is good and on the increase, and money is easier, the amusement business will prosper. Each and every one of the theatres had very fine openings and every one here is of the opinion that the high-water mark in theatrical success was set at the commencement of the new season and that 1911-12 will swing into its stride of a most prosperous amusement year.

Mr. O. H. Buckley, capable business manager of the Willis-Wood Theatre, said in speaking of the coming year: "I have just returned from a most enjoyable vacation of two months

FORECAST OF THE AMUSEMENT SEASON IN SAN FRANCISCO, TORONTO, & OTHER CITIES

SAN FRANCISCO, CAL.

San Francisco, which is now being heralded throughout the world as the "Exposition City," has a very bright future, and things theatrical will from now on begin to boom. Great preparations are being made to entertain the big transient travel that has already begun to show a marked increase. Our hotels, we boast, are second to none, with ample accommodations and anything one may want in the way of rates we are prepared to meet, so as to meet all comers. Already plans are being arranged for a big celebration Wednesday, October 11, for the grand-breaking ceremonies of the Panama-Pacific Exposition, at which President Taft will officiate, who will be a guest of the Exposition Company, which will banquet him on the previous evening. The effect on the show business in all lines will improve and increase.

The season will open with two first-class houses playing the highest-priced and best of road shows, namely, the New Court Theatre and the Columbia Theatre, both of which have already booked a list of only the biggest Eastern successes. The Savoy will handle a lesser grade of attractions at a $1.00 top for admission prices. The Alcazar will continue with high-class stock company playing only the best royalty plays. The vaudeville situation, with the Orpheum in the lead, getting the highest admission prices; the Empress, a 10, 20, 30 and 50 cent house playing Sullivan & Connelley's bookings, the best show in the world for the money; Pantages Theatre, now building next to the Empress Theatre and playing opposition to the Empress, a beautiful theatre; the Portola Theatre, also on Market Street, a very attractive house playing continuous vaudeville, is by all means in the race and, since its inception about three years ago, holds its own as a money-maker, will be in the race. Since the Motion Picture Patents Company has come in control of the "trust films," it is positively asserted that the large number of five-cent vaudeville and picture theatres will have to advance their admission prices to at least ten cents for minimum, which will be a blessing to both manager and performer, and all the one-night stands here will at the most be changed to split weeks. I refer to the American, Garrick, Princess, National, Globe and several lesser houses. The Mission District at present supports three vaudeville and at least ten picture houses; Fillmore Street District has three vaudeville and four picture theatres; North Beach District has three vaudeville and four picture houses; Polk Street District has six places of amusement, mostly five-cent picture theatres; the Richmond District with one vaudeville and three picture theatres is well taken care of, and every possible outlying district in addition to the above has moving picture houses. All this, of course, detracts more or less from the real downtown districts and serves to keep people nearer their homes; still, let a real attraction or an especially good vaudeville bill be known, and they will flock downtown. In addition to the above ground has been broken for a new theatre at the corner of Eddy and Mason Streets, to be used for a musical comedy company, and plans are out for a new Tivoli on Eddy Street, for a Grand and Comic Opera House, and the city will build a great $1,000,000 auditorium at Van Ness and Market, the civic center, to be ready before 1915. The large number of new buildings in course of construction, the army of workmen to be employed building the Exposition, which will be commenced this year, all tend to increase the population, fill up our vacant houses, and, of course, will positively increase the attendance at all the places of amusement, for amusements have always proved to be a necessity. At present we have no amusement park in San Francisco since the destruction by fire of the Chutes, but Idora Park, located in Oakland, a ten-cent ride, including boat and train, provides entertainment for those San Franciscans who love outdoor amusements. Idora Park is called the "Park Beautiful," and there is a reason for it. It is a real park, fully equipped with all the latest riding devices that are successful. The best bands in the country furnish the music, and grand opera is given at the Park Theatre.

Another important line of amusements that is very popular here is that of the cafes that offer highest class vaudeville, mostly singing, musical and dancing turns, where the best of its kind obtainable is presented. These places include the Portola-Louvre, Teehan Tavern, the Odeon, Tate's, Old Louvre and several lesser ones. All these do a very prosperous business, and following this line is still another grade of cafes where entertainers are employed. We have numerous of these and good talent only are employed. The fact that we satisfy the thousands who visit us daily expecting to find a varied line of amusements here has already earned us the title, "the Paris of America"—not meaning that we are "naughty," but that our entertainments for the public will suit all kinds of comers and all within the law. If anyone has any novelty and can offer us anything we have not at present, this city has the best opening, and the writer will be pleased to answer all inquiries relating to the above, for San Francisco, as of old, continues to be the best amusement city anywhere. RUBE COLLEN, Westbank Building

TORONTO, ONT., CAN.

The Queen City is without a doubt the leading city for amusements in Canada. Managers of travelling companies which have appeared here in past seasons have informed the writer that this city can't be beat for its population anywhere in America for business. Commercial business of all kinds is flourishing. The people are prosperous and the outlook for the season of 1911-12 is most promising.

The Princess Theatre, which is under the able management of Mr. O. B. Sheppard, has a splendid list of attractions booked and will play the K. & E. bookings. Manager Sheppard is very hopeful of a big season.

The Royal Alexandra, considered the most beautiful theatre in Canada, with Mr. L. S. Man as manager and the Shuberts and their allies' shows appear here. Manager Solman is looking forward to a fine season.

One of the most popular houses in the city is the Grand, owned by A. J. Small, the manager of Canadiana theatrical affairs. Mr. Small books the popular-priced attractions and the same are bound to do well.

Shea's, the home of high-class vaudeville where all the big shows and acts of vaudeville appear during the year, is under the management of Mr. Jerry Shea, and this popular gentleman has a big and select clientele.

The Majestic is a big spoke in the well-known Griffin Circuit and plays popular vaudeville and pictures. Mr. Peter F. Griffin, the enterprising booking manager of the same, predicts the best season they have ever had for their circuit.

The Gayety, the Eastern Wheel house here has done a big business since the opening of Manager Tom Henry looks forward to a record year.

The Star (Western Wheel) has a large and ever-growing patronage and Proprietor Fred Stair and Manager Dan Pierce are well pleased with the prospects of a great season.

The Strand is a handsome new place of amusement, erected on Shea's old site and the same controlled and owned by the Metropolitan Theatre, Limited. R. S. Marvin is the manager. High-class motion pictures with a choice program of vocal and instrumental music is the magnet which is drawing big business.

The magnificent Massey Hall, under the clever management of Norman Withrow, presents the leading shows of the vocal and music world during the season.

FORECAST OF THE AMUSEMENT SEASON IN CINCINNATI, THE QUEEN CITY OF THE WEST

CINCINNATI, O.

Following the established custom, the theatrical season in the Queen City was inaugurated the burlesque houses—People's Theatre and Standard Theatre. The opening of these theatres occurred two weeks ago, and from very start business, considering the warm weather has been exceptionally good. The first legitimate houses to open was the Walnut, now in its second week. The Grand Theatre, the local Klaw & Erlanger playhouse, began its season Sept. 3 with Nora Bayes and a new production in Little Miss Fix-It. For the time in the recollection of the present generation of theatregoers, the inaugural production began the season with two weeks' book. Scarcely ever do productions fill longer than a hebdomadal engagement in Cincinnati, then only when business is so great that a week that a second week is arranged as an accommodation for the public. While the engagement of Little Miss Fix-It at the Walnut is financially successful, seats are obtainable at the regular prices. Lew Dock-der, the talented, will again appear in the son of the Lyric Theatre. The posters announce that Nellie O'Brien is again with the famous troupe of minstrels, which promulgation will be kindly received locally, as Mr. O'Brien well liked here. The season at the Lyric Theatre Sept. 10. Last season the Olympic Theatre was run as a stock house by Geo. L. Fish, the Forepangh Stock Company furnishing entertainment. In November, at the Manhattan Opera House in association with the Shuberts, he will produce a big American melodrama, the scenes here laid in New York City and the Far West, an American drama similar to the ones that are given at Drury Lane, London, every year. It will have over fifty speaking parts and twenty changes of scene.

During the season he will offer Who's Who; a farcical comedy, The Best People, by Frederick Lonsdale; The Right to Love, by Jules Eckert Goodman; In God's Country, by Hayden Talbot; and new plays by George Broadhurst, Margaret Mayo, Philip Bartholomae and Jules Eckert Goodman.

The usual Brady melodramatic revival will be made next spring. Way Down East will begin its seventeenth consecutive season in September. Baby Mine is to be played on tour by four companies, and Over Night is also however, this year stock will be given at the Olympic by Harry Davis, the Pittsburgh theatrical magnate. Mr. Davis does not need introduction to The Billboard readers; his ability as a theatrical man is well known, therefore, if enterprise and business sagacity count for anything, the Olympic should be a big pay proposition under his regime. The New Lyceum is now being run as a stock house by Harry Hart, a shrewd business man, whose rise in local theatricals has been steady and rapid. He now has control of two first-class moving picture theatres in addition to the New Lyceum. Mr. Hart has associated with him as general manager of his enterprises, a well-known figure in the person of Andy Hetteshelmer, for years treasurer at the Walnut Theatre. Andy is a favorite with the theatregoing public in Cincinnati, and under his guidance a better class of patronage must certainly result for the New Lyceum. The policy of Keith's Columbia remains the same as last season, i. e., first-class vaudeville. This house draws the largest transient patronage of any theatre in Cincinnati. Heuck's Theatre remains the sole home of melodrama in Cincinnati. If the season continues as good as it has started at Heuck's, this theatre should again enjoy one of the most prosperous years of its career. There are several smaller theatres especially devoted to vaudeville and moving pictures, the most important of which are the American, Robinson's and Auditorium. The fate of the Orpheum Theatre, erected on the hilltops several seasons ago, has not as yet been determined; however, there is some talk of the house being used as a popular price vaudeville theatre.

to be presented all over the United States by a similar number. Both of these farces are to be sent to Australia, with one company headed. It is expected by Harry Coacor, opening in Sydney early in March.

In connection with Greet and Engelbach, Lee Shubert and Mr. Brady have entered into an agreement with the Gatti Brothers to supply the attractions at the Vaudeville Theatre in London for the next two years.

From Herbert Trench of the Haymarket Theatre, London, he has secured the American rights to The Gods of the Mountain, a sensational short play by Lord Dunsany which has been running at that theatre for six months past.

During the season two musical productions, The Violet Widow, by Dorothy Usher, and The Merry Bachelor, by two well-known writers, will also be made.

such a success as the waiter in The Newlyweds, will play George, and his principal female support will be Miss Leona Stevens. A big chorus will be a feature, and the scenic equipment, especially the second act, it is promised, will be unusually and strikingly beautiful.

Later in the season The Dinghats and the Family Upstairs, from the cartoons of Herri-man, now current in the New York Journal, will be produced, with Misses Catherine Hayes and Mattie Lockette in prominent roles. In this, as in all their other offerings, the Leffer-Bratton Company will spare no effort or expense to make the production complete in every detail.

Buster Brown will be sent out early, as well as an Eastern and Western The Newlyweds, which will tour the Pacific Coast for the first time, where Miss Olga Von Hatzfeldt, Leo Hayes, D. L. Don, James E. Rosen and the rest of the big company will be sure of a rousing welcome.

Both the Buster Brown and The Newlyweds will be provided with complete new productions this season, and, of course, new song numbers and recent adaptations of the cartoon classics will be added.

of the SEASON IN NEW YORK

By A. K. GREENLAND.

Theatrically, gay old Broadway is rapidly growing iridescent in dramatic splendor; and so it always does at the beginning of every season. The makers of its history would not consent that it be otherwise. Loathed melancholy skulks most furtively about, but peers in vain for a sheltering abode, for who would be so base as to be a pessimist when the life of the new season is just rising most healthily in the veins of the Gay White Way and its tributaries. Youth and vigor are bubbling profusely on all sides—and optimism is the password on the lip of every recognized member of the theatrical fraternity.

The past has been forgotten and like all good fellows we drink to the health of the new season and pledge toast to its successful outcome. The losses, the tribulations, the successes of the previous years are now tossed to oblivion, so that we may rivet our unencumbered concerns and thoughts on the present season of 1911-12. It has already been born a healthy infant with lusty lungs that predict in unflinching terms that much can be expected of it while developing and after it has developed to maturity.

That the prediction is based on safe foundations, is realized by retrospection upon those productions which have already graced the American metropolis with their premiers. Four dramatic entertainments were able to withstand the rigor of the torrid summer: Cohan & Harris's Get Rich Quick Wallingford, Klaw & Erlanger's The Pink Lady, Al. H. Woods' The Red Rose (Valeska Surrait featured) and Florence Ziegfeld Jr.'s The Follies of 1911. Two of these, the first enumerated, enjoyed the reputation of having played during the past season uninterrupted at the same playhouses. And Get Rich Quick Wallingford, which is just now about to depart from George M. Cohan's theatre broke old and established new records by attaining more than its 400th consecutive performance. The latter two of the four summer abiders were given their premiers just before the extreme heat set in. The Follies assuring some breeze to its audience because of its presentation on the roof of the New York theatre. Then, too, the new era of cinematographical masterpieces, such as the Kinemacolor Coronation Pictures, Floral Friends and The Richmond Horse Show, although not at the ordinary dramatic prices, were installed with success at both the Herald Square and West End theatres, while Dante's Inferno was shown to the citizens of Brooklyn at prices ranging from 15 cents to 75 cents. True, these films can not be classed with the drama, but their advent into legitimate houses is a development of the summer that should be given at least cursory consideration in a discussion of theatrical Broadway.

Many of the plays that achieved success during their last season runs returned to New York for a brief term of repetition before going out on the road. The list of distinction includes among others: As A Man Thinks (with John Mason), Christie McDonald in The Spring Maid, Sam Bernard in He Came From Milwaukee, Lew Fields in The Henpecks, The Deep Purple, Gertrude Hoffman in La Saison des Ballets Russes at the Winter Garden, The Follies Bergere, Excuse Me, Laura Nelson Hall in Everywoman, Pomander Walk, Overnight, Robert Montell and Seven Days.

American players have answered the challenge for dramas of superior merit with Yankee alacrity, with the result that native work predominates in every, save the musical comedy, field.

Maudie Adams returns again to New York with Chanteclair, intermingling a few afternoons with J. M. Barrie and thence to the road until next season. The three short Barrie offerings are to be A Little Play, Judy, while the third has not as yet been given its title.

provided with a new medium. Then, too, Froman has a new comedy by Augustus Thomas, play by Porter E. Browne, titled Sex, and play by Thompson Buchanan, Martha Marton, H. Caine, William Gillette, Winchell Smith, Haden Chambers, Henri Bernstein. The Passerby, Chamber's contribution has its premier at the Criterion this month. Kyle Belieu, in the Molins, Francis Wilson, in The Magic Ring will also be forthcoming.

The Shuberts are also prepared for the season with a galaxy of stars and attractions. Amongst others, there are Boscawell Browne, Mrs. Jack, which had its premier at the Opera Square on Labor Day, Fannie's First Play, George Bernard Shaw, Speed at the Come theatre commencing Saturday, September 16. Eddy Pulla the String, a new Scotch play, be presented with a Highland company; Bazar, by the author of Zaza; The House of Dances, by Mlle. Follaire; Next, a new play, Rida Johnson Young; The Warning, by Arthur J. Eddy; Sarah, by Douglas Murray; Sherlock Holmes and Arsene Lupin; Romance, by Edna Sheldon; Won't You Walk Into My Parlor, by Cosmo G. Lennox; The Sin Register, Who's Who; The Masked Venus; The Glass House; Wire Telegraphy; Papa's Mama; The Dirigible Airship; A Thousand Dollars, A Modern Marriage; Who's Helen? The Best People, and Bought at Paid For, by George Broadhurst, with Charles Richmond in the leading role.

David Belasco extends the promise of number of interesting productions. The first of these is The Woman, which opens at the Republic on September 18. This drama is a creation of William C. De Mille. David Wolfeld in his strange new vehicle, The Bet of Peter Grimm, is scheduled for October 17. Frances Starr is to shine in a new play this season, while Blanche Bates is to carry body's Widow on tour. The Concert also is to the road. Alice Bradley has written Governor's Lady, which Belasco intends to exploit. The Case of Becky is also in production.

Klaw & Erlanger promise the production of the Arabian novel, Kismet, by Edw. Knobel and The Count of Luxembourg, Wilner, Bodansky and Lohar, Sweet Fanny and The Primrose Villa, two musical comedies. Another long list will follow.

The young but voracious firm of Werba Luescher have a gala ensemble of offerings for the metropolis, including Lulu Glaser, Miss Dodelsack; Louis Mann, in Elevating Husband; Alice Loyd, in an English musical comedy; George Marion, in Der Fidele Bass Clara Lipman, in It Depends on the Woman from her own pen and that of Samuel S. man. Buboder Maedel, an adapted Vienna operetta, is also promised. Under the Werba & Luescher banner Wilkie Bard will make first American tour and Lillian Russell will be invested with one of their vehicles.

Florence Ziegfeld Jr. will contribute wife, Anna Held, in addition to the running Follies of 1911.

Cohan & Harris retentent their Cohan theatre with The Little Millionaire, in which the Yankee Doodle producer himself will appear. Raymond Hitchcock will entertain also in Red Widow, by Channing Pollock and Rem Wolf. Lanette Taylor in an unnamed musical comedy, by Harriet Ford; Brought Home, Henry Blossom; The Only Son, by Winch Smith; Adelaide Thurston, in Miss Anna; by Catherine G. Cushing; J. F. Dodson, Richard Gauntlett, by J. Hartley Mann and The Polish Wedding are also promised.

On the fourteenth of this month Joe W. presents Edmund Breese in A Man of Honor by Isaac Landman, at the Weber theatre.

FORECAST of the SEASON IN CHICAGO by GEO. V. STEVENSON

Canton is the keynote of the current theatrical season in Chicago and Middle West. The season of 1910-1911 was stifled and wilted before it reached its normal fruition by a veritable alrocco, an unprecedented early spell of heat. Even in early June, when Broadway still retained its dannels and interest in indoor amusements, Chicago was sweltering under a hot wind from the southwestern prairies, which the bravest effort of the Lake Michigan zephyrs could not dispel.

As a result, all of the theatres of the Western metropolis, with only a few conspicuous exceptions, closed down for an all-summer period of desuetude. Only the whimsical whimsy of Get-Rich-Quick Wallingford, the amusing insanity of Little Miss Fix-it, and the melodious score of The Heartbreakers, made it possible for the Olympic, the Chicago Opera House and the Princess, respectively, to breathe the torridity. Their ranks were later joined by Dear Old Billy at the Whitney, which under Charles Hawtreys' genius as farceur, has kept that house comfortably filled all summer. These attractions, together with high-class vaudeville at the Majestic, constituted practically the entire theatrical provender all summer. The home product satisfied itself with the summer parks and outdoor amusements, leaving to the stranger within the gates the privilege of mixing their theatre-going with copious perspiring.

Naturally, the theatre managers, who nearly always proceed with a conservatism thought foreign to the "show business," have delayed the re-opening of their houses until all prospect of extreme torridity has passed. This precautionousness has cost the managers a considerable amount that they might have garnered during the Aviation Meet. At that time the strange spectacle was presented of the largest number of visiting strangers that have been in Chicago at any one time since the World's Columbian Exposition, being absolutely with "no place to go."

The Cort Theatre was the first of the Chicago theatres to re-open, the new Owen Davis comedy, An Everyday Man, with Thomas W. Ross as star, being the vehicle that has broken all box office records for this house for single consecutive performances since the house was built. It looks now as though this play and star will score a long run in Chicago.

McVicker's, the historic playhouse on Madison street, resumed its season with The Deep Purple on August 26, and ever since has been packed to capacity with highly appreciative patrons. The same happy state of affairs is to be chronicled for the Chicago Opera House, which opened on September 1, with Dustin and William Farnum, in The Littlest Rebel; the Garrick, with Hobart Blinn, in The Boss; the Grand, with William Hodge, in The Man From Home; the Angels, with a revival of comic and light opera, under the management of Col. William Thompson, on September 2; the La Salle Opera House, with Louisiana Lou, and the Olympic, with John Barrymore and Thomas Wise, in Uncle Sam, on September 3, and the Colonial, with Ziegfeld's Follies, on September 4.

There is not a theatre in Chicago but what is doing a comfortable business, while many of the loop section houses are "turning them away."

The answer is due to the fact that Father Dearborn, having been starved, theatrically speaking, all summer, is hungry for amusement of this character. The coming of the crisp, cool nights, and the presence at this season of the year of an immense merchant and agricultural class, drawn to Chicago to lay in the new season's stock, and to dispose of their cattle and grain and other commodities, insures a continuance of the good patronage, at least until Thanksgiving.

COHAN and HARRIS PRODUCTIONS

Moving pictures of Dante's Inferno occupy the Princess until the new attraction comes in at the end of the month. The Lyric, the third Shubert theatre in Chicago, opens with Gertrude Hoffman's Russian Dancers on September 11. On September 16, Jefferson De Angelis, in The Ladies' Lion, will begin the new season at the Illinois. On September 18, the new Blackstone will resume with James K. Hackett in The Grain of Dust, and on the same night, Powers' will inaugurate the fall period with the appearance of Kyrie Bellew, in The Mollusc. With the opening of the Studebaker on September 24, with Elsie Janis in The Slim Princess, and the resumption of business at the end of the month at the American Music Hall, with a series of reviews by Lew Fields, every Loop district house will be under way again.

Recent shifts in the managerial kaleidoscope have made Col. William Roche a leading factor in the amusement of Chicago, especially as concerns the outlying houses. This veteran showman either owns or controls interests in the Academy, Bijou, Haymarket, Alhambra and Marlowe, in the two latter houses being associated with Mr. Charles B. Marvin.

Interest in stock, which reached its periodical high-water mark last season, has waned somewhat, and the Imperial, which was devoted to that policy last year, has resumed its place as a combination house. This leaves the Marlowe in Englewood and the College on the North Side as the sole present representatives of that form of theatrics. The College, under the management of T. O. Gleason, who guided its destinies last season, opened on August 28, with the personnel of its stock company practically unchanged from last season. The leading people are: Marie Nelson and Rodney Ranous, while at the Marlowe, Albert Phillips remains the leading man.

The National in Englewood, the Crown in the Northwestern section, and the Criterion on the North Side, will continue as combination houses.

The Auditorium will open late in September with the annual benefit for the Policemen's Benevolent Association, which this year will be the musical comedy, The Sweetest Girl in Paris. A fortnight will be devoted to this, then the various purposes to which this theatre is dedicated will have their course until November 22, when the Chicago-Philadelphia Grand Opera Company will begin its season under the general management of Andreas Dippel. Among the artists who will constitute the personnel of the company this year are: Mmes. Tetrazzini, Mary Garden, Gerville-Reache, White, Berat, Zeppilli and Miss Maggie Teyte, the Irish soprano; Messrs. Dalmores, Dufrenoy, Hinderdean, Crabbe, Bassi, Sanmarco, Scott. Novelty is promised in the repertoire by Massenet's Cendrillon, which will be performed for the first time in Chicago on November 27.

Another amusement project that promises to appeal strongly to dilettante Chicago, is the ten-weeks' season that is scheduled for the Lyric Theatre in February, under the auspices of the Chicago Theatre Society. This movement, which numbers many of the leading literary and social lights of Chicago among its patrons, stands for the encouragement of art in the drama, and to that end have sponsored the organization known as the Chicago Drama Players. They will undertake to cover the more meritorious as well as the lesser known works of the great classicists of the stage in the period allotted them at the Lyric.

The season has opened prosperously for the vaudeville and burlesque houses of Chicago, of which there are over a score, playing the best attractions, with possibly half as many more under construction or about to be opened.

With the exception of McVicker's, the attractions there being arranged upon an immutable schedule, practically all the attractions now on the boards in the Loop section are on for runs. At the Grand Opera House, The Affair at the Barracks will succeed the engagement of William Hodge, giving way in turn to Rebellion by Joseph Medill Patterson, a gifted Chicago playwright. Miss Gertrude Elliott will star in Re-

FORECAST of the SEASON IN LONDON by F ASLETT WRAY

One of the great outstanding events of the season is sure to be the opening of the Hammerstein Opera House in Kingsway, London's newest and doubtless destined to be London's first thoroughfare. At the present moment several thousand men are working night and day to get this magnificent building finished for the opening on November 11. The building has now been taken down and for several weeks all London has been engaged in visiting or viewing the colossal idea of the scheme of decoration. So long are the dimensions that it is stated to be a photographic impossibility to secure what might be termed a real and comprehensive picture of the huge structure. In a building adjoining the Opera House, hundreds of women and men are at work making some 15,000 dresses to clothe the hundreds of performers who are to play in the thirty-two operas which are to be produced in the comparatively short space of a thirty-two weeks season.

One of the features of the building will be the groups of statuary and carvings placed under the direction of the sculptor, Thomas Budge. They consist of twelve statues of over twice life size, consisting of two groups representing "Harmony" and "Melody" (the central figure of each group will be about 14 feet high at each end of the facade). There will also be four other figures representing respectively, "Comedy," "Tragedy," "Song," and "Dance" and two central figures (seated) representing "Inspiration" and "Composition." The weight of each statue is approximately 20 tons and some of the figures will require three blocks of stone and the others two.

The house will open with the opera Ona Valdis. For this Hammerstein possesses the sole English production rights. After that will come Massenet's Don Quichotte. Then follow in succession the following list of operas: In French—Thais, Le Jongleur de Notre Dame, Herodiade, Manon, Werther, Lanavaresse, Les Contes d'Hoffman, Faust, Romeo et Juliette, Lakme, Le Prophete, Les Huguenots, Louise, The Violin Maker of Cremona. In Italian—Norma, Il Trovatore, La Favorita, Siberia, Dolores, Othello, Il Pagliaccio, Cavalleria Rusticana, Lucia di Lammermoor, Rigoletto, Il Traviata, Il Barbiere di Siviglia, Aida and Andrea Chénier.

The singers include the following: Tenors—Jean Aubert, Mario Ansaldo, Orville Harbord, Frank Pollock, Frederic Regis and Fernand Lemon. Baritone—Maurice Renaud, José Danse, Georges Chadaud, M. Figarella, Arthur Phillips and Mario Ellandir. Basses—Jean Perkin, Enzo Bozzano, Francis Combe and Giuseppe de Grazia. Sopranos—Lina Cavalleri, Isabeau Catalan, Victoria Fer, Aline Vallandri, Ava Oldhamski, Felicia Lyne and Louie Merlin. Contraltos—Marguerite D'Alvarez and Tinka Jossell. Mezzos—Jean Duchene and Nina Ratti.

Opera will be presented each Monday, Wednesday, Friday and Saturday night and Saturday matinee. The house seats 2,500 in the stalls and the two balconies. The "Grand Circle" and "Proscenium" boxes number 53 exclusive of the one devoted solely to the occupancy of royalty; each of these boxes holds six.

The prices for admission range from $5.00 to 50 cents. Hammerstein says that the inquiries and applications for subscriptions are ahead of his most sanguine expectations.

The orchestra, numbering over 100, will be directed by men of the greatest musical distinction: the chorus numbers 125 and the ballet 60. A school is also being opened for training singers for the chorus. The training will be free of charge.

PROMINENT in the ENGLISH THEATRICAL FIRMAMENT

The experiment will be a bold one indeed, and if Hammerstein wins through he will deserve all the credit imaginable. But in my own mind I am very uncertain whether he estimates at its true value the obstacle that he has against him in the small number of opera loving public, the absence of social kudos attaching to the place and which is the sole reason of the continued existence of Covent Garden and also, to some extent, some amount of prejudice against him.

I suppose by this time every one in the United States is familiar with the fame that Professor Reinhardt of Berlin has achieved throughout Europe with his wordless plays, chief of which is Samuray, which was an enormous hit at the Coliseum last winter and is now once more being played there. Well, his latest idea is to turn Olympia—far and away the largest arena in Great Britain—into the setting for his greatest, and is many more ways besides size, the most ambitious of all his creations in the huge "mystery play without words." Everything is to be ready for opening on Christmas Eve.

The central idea of his art is a belief in a stage set right in the middle of the audience—as big an audience as possible—who shall themselves, as it were, become part of the stage. At Olympia, the whole arena will be the stage, the audience being all around except at the entrance, where there will be a big wooden gate. Some of the 2,000 performers will come through this gate, but others will come on from all sides. Not a word will be spoken, but it will be a play none the less and there will be no meaningless processions of the pageant order. The leading pantomimists are to be brought over from France. Hammerstein has written all the music. The story will be based on a German legend of the Faust period, and there is a great cathedral scene, and also a children's festival, which will give the composer of Handel and Grieg an especially appropriate chance. It will be the big Christmas play of the year and it will be surprising indeed if 10,000 people will not crowd the place at every performance.

The Follies are to go as strong as ever this coming season. New plays and new potted plays are to be submitted. Baby Mine, Kismet and Passers-by being among the latter. There will also be a skit on the "higher drama" and a Gignol thrill into the bargain. In the skin an endeavor will be made to serve a pot-pourri of such authors as Ibsen, Shaw, Galsworthy and Barker.

In a few days the beautiful new opera house at Biscupool, the latest innovation of the Winter Gardens Company, will be opened to the public for the coming season. The new building, the exact title of which is His Majesty's Opera House, occupies the site of an older house which, after standing for twenty years, was pulled down last year. The present structure is one of the most beautiful and up-to-date in the kingdom and shall never want for lack of patronage.

During the coming winter there will be a lively controversy here on the subject of vanderville artists' salaries. The various new combinations especially that of Stoll and Gibbons, are naturally likely to eliminate competition and to some extent reduce salaries, except where artists already possess long contracts. It seems the general opinion among managers that salaries have been rising to a level recently entirely beyond the drawing power of the artists and they think that if the music halls are to prosper in the future there must be reduction all around. Of course other people say that it will simply have the effect of driving all the best drawing cards to your side. But there is no doubt that the movement on foot is certain to have the effect of reducing the salaries of the rank and file while it leaves those of the big guns at the top entirely unchanged.

As a result of the growth of the big vande-

THE BERNHARDT THEATRE

The ACADEMY of MUSIC

FORECAST of the SEASON IN BERLIN by EDMOND PELUSO

Because of the restricted seating capacity of the capital's theatres and of a constant, enormous concourse of foreign and provincial tourists, the theatre managers in Berlin do not often have to face the problem of filling empty houses. There is, therefore, no need on their part for a special effort for the advancement of the German drama.

In spite of a tropical summer which we have had, a good many of the Berlin theatres, especially those playing light operettas and vauville, have kept open and done splendid business throughout the hot dog-days. So that the opening of the theatrical season, which has begun on the 13th of August, consists only of the Kaiserliche Oper, of the Komische Oper, of the Deutsches and Schiller Theatres, as well as of a few smaller ones, which constitute the official and serious playhouses of Berlin.

No announcement has been made as yet of any sensational novelty, only the long controversy between the Empress and the intendant of her opera house, Herr Hulsen-Haesler, on Richard Strauss' Rosenkavalier, is ended to the satisfaction of the Empress and of the well-known composer. The Empress forbade last spring the production of this opera, because in the first act there is a bed on the stage, and that a princess commits adultery. It seems that Mr. Strauss has made concessions and that the opera, which is a pretty gallant romance of the eighteenth century, will be played without the objectionable parts and furniture. It is, of course, known that the Opera in Berlin is the property of the imperial family, and that it has not to please the public, but only the Emperor. For this right he spends about a million a year and has appointed as director of the Opera an ex-officer!

Humperdinck's Koenigschilder, which was at first played in New York under the direction of the composer himself, has been given on the opening night. It will be followed by a series of performances of Wagner's Ring der Niebelungen, which although ponderous and terribly tiresome, are very popular among the Germans.

The well-known American basso, Griswald, will not sing here this year. His wife, Miss Easton, will probably remain. Geraldine Farrar, a favorite of the Kronprinz, is also slated for the winter. But, of all the singing birds, Emmy Destina is the one who has the most captivated the Berlin music lovers, for she is a peerless nightingale, and her Walkyrie, during the summer opera which has just ended at Kroll's, has been very favorably commented upon. It is therefore certain that she will be heard again this winter.

The Comic Opera (Komische Oper), which occupies a pretty, modern building at the end of Friedrichstrasse and is the property of Madame Amelia Revy, a singer herself, has almost exclusively a foreign repertoire.

For side by side with the lovers of majestically-deep and earnestly-sonorous Wagnerian music, there is a multitude of warm admirers of the lighter sort—the French or Italian music, for instance. A good proof of this lies in the fact that one house for the production of operacomique has not been deemed sufficient to satisfy the demand for this kind of melody, so that the ex-director of Madame Revy's Opera Comique, Mr. Max Morris, has been placed at the head of a new corporation which has just put up, at the door of the Zoological Garden, a splendid new building, in the style of Hammerstein's Opera House in New York, which will be called the Kurfuersten Oper. The finishing work is advancing very rapidly and it is said that in a few weeks it will be inaugurated with Quo Vadis. As a great deal of the success of this opera depends upon the scenery and machinery. It is predicted that the director, Mr. Morris, will, with the help of modern contrivances, try to eclipse all that has been made till now in that line.

George Baklanoff, the popular baritone of the Boston Opera House, owing to the big hit he made at the end of the previous season in Rigoletto, will sing again this winter. Although the list of engagements is not yet made up at the Kurfuersten Opera, it is rumored that Mr. Morris is trying to get Caruso. But the latter, although he has announced his return to the stage for the fall, does not seem quite in shape yet.

One of the greatest theatrical successes here in Germany is the pretty operetta, Polnische Wirtschafft (a Merry Disorderly Home), by Kratz and Gilbert, which has had at the Thalia Theatre a 400-day uninterrupted run. The music is light, the songs are catchy, and the town whistles its tunes. Among the hits are Komm, Mein Schatz, in den Lunapark (Come, Dearie, to Luna Park), Wer Kann Dafur (It Can't Be Helped), Wie Schon Bist Du, Berlin (How pretty Thou Art, Berlin). The popularity of these songs here can only be equated by the popularity in America of George Cohan's Give My Regards to Broadway, etc. As it is, the run of the Polnische Wirtschafft may antecede reach the third year, a thing without precedent in Germany.

All in Germany that has any relation to "wire, woman and song" is of French importation. Thus the Residenz Theatre, which has kept open the whole summer playing Feydeau's La Dame de Chez Maxim, will keep on giving this merry comedy.

The Neue Schauspielhaus, which, with the Metropol, is the newest, besides being the coolest, playhouse in Berlin, has also had the advantage of having one of the most entertaining French operettas on its boards, Le Fils à Papa (In German, Die Kessche Suzanne). The play is now reaching the 100-day run and is led by Mrs. Hedy Bendiner, who is a joy to the eye and dances and sings cleverly.

The Operetten Theatre plays Elise Millon, from the French Le Million, by Georges Beer.

Harry Walden, the king of popular actors in Germany, causes the Apollo Theatre to be filled up every night. Harry Walden began to be famous in the Prince's role of Old Heidelberg, but since, finding vaudeville more profitable, he has left the serious plays to sing and dance. For Walden is not only as clever a player as Mansfield, but dances and sings as well as Cohan. The operetta which makes the hit of the season is entitled Sein Herzensjunge (Sweetheart). Fregoli-like, he plays six different roles—waiter, negro minstrel, singer, piano tuner, detective, etc. The plot is simple, but the music is lovely. Sweetheart is a lieutenant of the Imperial Cavalry out of service, who, as it is customary among officers, has a great many debts. A wager is made; if Sweetheart succeeds in impersonating the roles which his friends stipulate without letting his real personality be detected, they shall pay his debts.

His brilliancy has gained him the name of "Harry, the irresistible." Every night, besides, to prevent modestation from the ladies who wait for him at the theatre's door, he has to be escorted home by two policemen.

The songs which are a hit are: Ich Bin der Mann der Alles Kann (I Am the Man Who Can Do Everything), and the duet with his pretty and clever partner, Claire Kretschman, Die Situation, in der Rechte Moment (In the Right Moment), which are suggestive and catchy.

THE FUTURE OF VAUDEVILLE

By F. F. PROCTOR

In speaking about vaudeville now, a decided distinction must be noted and kept in mind. There are two kinds of vaudeville and they are commonly termed the big and the small time. A statement about one might appear ridiculous if applied to the other, for while in essentials they are the same and may both be properly classed under the term vaudeville, in many particulars they are very different and their development and future lie along entirely different lines.

Generally speaking, vaudeville has as much development before it as it has behind it. It is the newest form of theatrical amusement, it has been also the most prolific of change and development, and the most spectacular and interesting part of its development is still to come. There can be no doubt as to the firm foundation of vaudeville in the popular estimation. The taste for vaudeville does not change—it is staple; but vaudeville lends itself so admirably to adaptation and reflection of ephemeral taste and the latest sensation of the day, that it has an advantage over all other lines of amusement endeavor. When Shakespeare is popular only in the one night stands and musical comedy has merged itself into musical variety, we will still have vaudeville with us. Its future is assured.

The high-class, or big time vaudeville, shows several tendencies which are interesting but which are not entirely new or untried in this country. The causes operating against their previous success I will endeavor to explain later.

This season has shown more conclusively than ever that we are tending toward the English Music Hall idea in vaudeville and for higher prices and higher salaries. No London music hall audience would sit patiently in its seat through a whole performance; it walks around, smokes, visits, shows off the elegant fit of its clothes and makes itself generally comfortable without disturbing its neighbors or bothering to listen to that part of the program which falls to hold out a special attraction for it. This is a new country, but for all that it is conservative; it does not adopt ideas quickly, and it may be five years before such a scene will be usual in our own vaudeville theatres. But in my opinion it is bound to come. The vaudeville theatres which are being built for high-class vaudeville will have big foyers for promenades, many boxes, large salons, seats easy to get in and out of, dining table seats and other continental conveniences.

In the new house I am planning in Newark, all these adjuncts will be found. I intend to make it the finest and most up-to-date vaudeville theatre in the world. It will have a roof garden which has never been incorporated in New York or in America, with an elevator service to the roof garden and the three balconies. It will have an elevator stage by which a whole production can be taken up on the roof in fifteen minutes. Many of the new Western houses have features along lines which are not to be seen in any vaudeville house in the metropolis.

Within the last year or two, New York has become familiar with several continental ideas in vaudeville entertainment which have at last been absorbed and which have, I think, come to stay, though perhaps in modified form. But though the younger generation of theatre-goers takes it for granted that they are new, there is not one of them which is not at least ten years old.

A manager's success depends upon his foresight and the man who sees just a bit beyond the vision of amusement seekers, who anticipates the trend of theatrical taste and has the courage of his convictions in the successful manager, even though he has to wait for time to justify his judgment and his investment. I have had to wait a decade for justification of the faith which built Proctor's Pleasure Palace, now the Fifty-Eighth St. Theatre. There is not a feature of the Folies Bergere, the Jardin de Paris or any other New York, London or Paris music hall which was not incorporated in that venture.

There was a palm garden from which a patron could see the stage and all other parts of the house as well. There was the dining feature and, in conjunction, the cabaret show, a big tank in which could be shown the spectacular aquatic scenes current in the London Hippodrome, and a stage upon which five separate and distinct acts were run at once. Spectacles, such as the Battle of San Juan, were staged there, which were sights not exceeded by any of those at the Hippodrome or by Kiroff's in his most pretentious efforts. Lockhart's Elephants and Sandow and such features were imported especially for it, and its success was for a time phenomenal. The reason it did not last was because I was ten years ahead of my experience, but New York was not ready for the idea even then, and I was on the wrong side of the town and he was where I should have been.

Another development which I see coming is, bigger and longer acts in the high-priced vaudeville houses. The time will come when we will not be started at a production extending more than an hour in time. I remember vividly the success which attended David Belasco's first venture in vaudeville, Madame Butterfly, at my Fifth Avenue Theatre, and how on the opening night, with the audience profoundly moved, a well-known critic, with tears in his eyes, went over to two girls who had the audacity to giggle and shook them. That production ran an hour and five minutes and had a run of three months. The big productions of Jesse Laaky, The Barnyard Rameo, and the big shows surrounding Harry Lander, Julian Eltinge and Marie Lloyd have pointed the way, and when the American public has had time to get used to it, we will see more of them.

Of course it will have the effect of increasing the cost of the shows and it will mean advancing the admission price—probably to two dollars. The experiment was tried in vaudeville this year, and successfully.

So much for high-priced vaudeville. Small-time vaudeville is on a different plane. Its development has been rapid and bonned up with the moving picture vogue in a peculiar way. At present it exists, the result of much experiment, as a judicious combination of both, like a perfect blend of tobacco.

In New York the small-time theatres came as the result of a condition which could exist no longer. There were too many first-class houses playing to a high-priced clientele and not enough headliners to go around. The moving picture gave them the first chance, and the combination which has been evolved has given dramatics an entirely new and distinctive the admission price must be put up to meet the increased cost and the additional value.

But local managers have found and the public is coming to realize that there is as much amusement to be derived from these theatres for the class of people who attend two-dollar performances as for the class for which the small-time theatre was designed. And once you show this class that they can get as much real amusement there as they would pay the higher price to see in a Broadway production, and once they are convinced that the shows are clean and consistently good, you begin to build up a subscription patronage which the manager can rely upon twice a week.

A friend of mine, a broker, met me on the street and told me he had become a confirmed patron of my Twenty-Third Street house and volunteered the explanation.

"I was in that neighborhood one day," he said, "and had a few minutes to wait before children. Then he told me he was a widower and that both children were in school and just beginning to take up the study of geography. And that he brought them there to see the film of the Marthique disaster. (It was just at the time when there was so much excitement over the eruption of Mt. Pelee.) He was interested in it himself and the children simply would not be left at home, because they had heard so much about it at school.

Now these are merely examples of the class of people who are going to the small-time theatres and it also shows what an educational force the moving picture in the theatre has come to be. It is owing to the growing patronage of this class that the performances have been improved and prices advanced. This is acceptable of still further development and it will come.

There is one phase of small-time vaudeville in the vicinity of New York, which is passing and has further necessitated advanced prices. Not so very long ago it was possible to get a try-out act to play in a small theatre for little more than the expense of getting it there. Big acts were anxious to have a nearby theatre in which to get into shape, round off the rough corners, find out where the laughs were and accustom their players to their parts. It was a bonanza for the houses in Mount Vernon, Yonkers, Perth Amboy and many metropolitan houses where patrons could see for ten and twenty-five cents the same acts and performers that they would have to pay a dollar to see a week later at the Fifth Avenue. But the scarcity of new feature acts has militated against this condition and now the manager must pay well for these try-outs if he wants them, and he must get his return somehow. It is a case of the tax being handed on the ultimate consumer.

The small-time theatres came into existence through this scarcity of headline features and moving pictures made them possible by furnishing a cheap form of amusement. At first they took the form of store shows, but when I finally prevailed upon my associates to put in moving pictures as an adjunct to vaudeville and take advantage of a made-to-order asset, the store shows were doomed. That class came into our galleries then.

After a time pictures and vaudeville adjusted themselves into the satisfactory arrangement now in vogue. The usual scheme is to give three shows a day. But my theatres give four, starting at eleven and ending at eleven, the approximate length of the show being two hours and three quarters. The proposition is this. Here are performers who need the work and have no reasonable expectancy of getting the big time, and here are people who must be amused and who can not pay big-time prices, and we get them together as advantageously as possible.

It may be that some people think that it is for economical reason that films are given as much prominence in the Proctor small-time houses as vaudeville acts are. That is a very mistaken idea. In the first place, nothing but "first-run" films are used in my houses and they often cost us as much as the vaudeville part of the show. And then after careful inquiry and investigation extending over months and conducted in all my houses, I find that fully fifty per cent of the people come for the pictures. I'll admit that while I believed that such was the case in many instances, I had no idea that the analysis would show such a large part of the audiences who came for the sake of the pictures. I attribute it to the educational benefits which the ingenious modern film manufacturer has been clever enough to visualize to a public willing enough to absorb knowledge through its eyes. I have played this educational value up in all my theatres and I am convinced of its practical and pecuniary value.

So much for the small time. There are several problems of vaudeville which are interesting, however, and which apply as well to both big and small time. It has often been insinuated that vaudeville and the big salaries paid are draining the legitimate of its best actors. As a matter of fact the contrary is the case. Vaudeville is the great feeder for the legitimate. Musical comedy is full of vaudeville performers, so much so that several shows this season seem to be made up entirely of vaudeville teams and single performers. Many of the best dramatic players come from the ranks of vaudeville and many also have gone into grand opera. Two recent examples are Orville Harrold and Estelle Wentworth.

Vaudeville also feeds the dramatic shows with material. There is a clever song sung by Irene Franklyn which shows in a humorous but none the less true way, how a vaudeville performer feels when he goes to a show and finds it full of his own gags and lines and situations.

As for the differences between performers and managers which you see occasionally aired in the press, they do not mean anything startling. Personally, I am always able to get on with the people who play for me and I have never had a serious disagreement with any one of them. I do not think the actor will gain anything by combinations, except the unpleasant experience of finding himself completely out of work. Their strength lies in their ability to amuse and not in their ability to compel managers to a certain line of action by combinations.

The business of the F. F. Proctor theatres and theatrical enterprises was never in better shape than it is on the eve of the theatrical season of 1911-12. Before the year is over we expect to have the finest vaudeville house in the world at Newark, a house which will combine a number of new features both front and form of expression. I do not wish to take undue credit for the success of their development, but the responsibility of the introduction of the films was put absolutely up to me after I had suggested and advocated the move for nearly a year. The vaudeville situation was languishing, with too many houses and too little talent and it was the pictures which pulled us out.

The whole plan, and appeal of the small-time house is different from that of high-priced vaudeville. It is a case of the show being the thing and not the name or reputation of a single performer. The plan which I have adopted is to furnish a splendid theatre, keep it as well as any two-dollar house, give a show that will satisfy people and which will make them want to come back, not because they saw such and such a star, but because the show itself pleases them. In that way is built up a steady patronage.

The small-time house originally drew the patronage of the Italian woman, with her baby in her arms, the workman and the children. The moving picture craze for a time threatened to usurp the field of vaudeville, but gradually, by experiment, a satisfactory combination was reached, which in form represents what small-time performances will be, no matter how improved or advanced in cost. The tendency of all these houses is to increase the amount paid for the show and, in consequence,

I could make a business call. I was tired and I went into the theatre for a place to sit down to rest. The seat was comfortable, the lights were down, and I tried to go to sleep. But your confounded drummer made so much noise while the film was being run through, that I had to look at the picture. Now I go regularly twice a week and feel very well acquainted with the coffee and tea industry, the manufacture of sugar from the cane, the salmon industry, from the time the fish are drawn out of the water, how they are cleaned, cooked, packed, how the tins are made, how the product is shipped, and sold over the counter one tin at a time. I know how wooden sabots are made, how glue is obtained, and I feel that I have a working knowledge of the rubber industry.

"Things, you know, that I would never take the trouble to read about, and which would not impress me anyway like the pictorial presentation of them does." I go regularly twice a week and take my boy.

One night I was standing in front of my 125th street house as the show was coming out and I saw a man, evidently in comfortable circumstances with a boy and girl about eight and ten years old, respectively. I asked my manager if he had many children of that age at the late show. He said: "No, but I want you to meet this gentleman." I was introduced and, of course, made some comment on the

THE ARAB SCORES

Strike of Vaudeville Artists May be Declared at Any Moment. Imminent Danger of Serious Breach Between Managers and Artists Over Salary Question

London, England, Sept. 1 (Special to The Billboard).—During the last week we have been perilously near a strike among vaudeville artists, and at the moment the chance of averting such an event is not great.

The trouble arose out of some remarks of Walter de Frece, managing director of the Variety Theatres Controlling Company, that a combination of managers "proposed to combat the growing and exorbitant salaries demanded by artists, and, by fixing a maximum, eliminate the present competition."

Artists, and also the Variety Artists Federation, at first refused to consider this statement seriously. But when it became known that the Moss Empires were linking up with the other company to bring about this change, it became evident that the managers meant business and that the great combines were in line against the artists.

Furthermore, it leaked out that the managers had met and agreed among themselves as to the salaries they would offer to various artists in the future. To each artist had been attached a salary limit, and it had been agreed that more than this amount would not be paid.

At first it was proposed to meet this boycott by a boycott on the part of the artists. Under it every artist would have been pledged to sign no contract for any one of the halls under the direction of these managements so long as this undertaking as to limiting salaries was in existence.

At a meeting, however, of the Variety Artists Federation, the following resolution was passed: "This meeting being satisfied that the Moss Empires, Limited, and the Variety Theatres Controlling Company, Limited, have formed a combine, introducing a new and highly dangerous factor into music hall affairs, desires to express its deep regret at the action taken by these managements, which can only be regarded as a distinct breach of the spirit of the arbitrator's award, whereby it was agreed that no disturbing element should be introduced into the relations then established between managers and artists until the revision of the award in 1912. And, further, that this meeting is content to leave the matter in the hands of the executive committee to watch developments very closely and to take such action as circumstances may warrant."

By taking this attitude the artists have adopted a wise course. In relying on the award of the arbitrator, given after the last strike, they are certain to keep public sympathy with them. And this course is far better than immediately precipitating a strike. Just now we are

Drama of the Desert Depicts Faithfully the Life and Customs of the Roving Desert Tribes—Play Will Be Improved Before Beginning New York Engagement

Philadelphia, September 8 (Special to The Billboard).—The Arab, with the author, Edgar Selwyn, in the title role, scored the heaviest in the openings here Labor Day. The drama of the desert had its Eastern premiere at the Walnut Street Theatre and received unanimous praise from all critics. Another new offering was The Kiss Waltz at the Lyric. The Viennese operetta was described by one critic as being distinctly a girl show, with the girls running on and off the stage with tiresome monotony.

It will be taken to New York for a run, after much-needed improvements are made.

An Oriental melodrama, accurate in its gorgeous local color and wonderfully gripping, describes accurately The Arab. As a stage picture it is always interesting and at times superb. As a romantic story it is highly successful. As a dramatic production it is excellent on many counts.

The cast is as follows:

Mahmout Azeer, an Armenian merchant...	Marcus Moriarty
Selim, his son	Victor Benoit
Kyami Pasha, the governor	Edward R. Mawson
Sheikra, a hazzar merchant	Thomas Adams
A harber	Joseph Kiser
A peasant	Tom Azoon

THEATRE CHANGES HANDS.

Bristol, Tenn., Sept. 9 (Special to The Billboard).—M. L. Fowler has sold the Harming Theatre, Bristol's leading playhouse, to Ausob King, a local business man, the price being $50,000. Mr. King will probably modernize the property after the present season.

Showman Killed by Negro

Louisville, Ky., Sept. 5 (Special to The Billboard).—Thomas McCormick, aged 33, a watchman for Barnum & Bailey Circus, was shot and killed last night by one of two negroes he detected attempting to steal under the tent during the performance.

McCormick saw two colored men pull up the tent wall and dart under, he followed and ordered them out. They went without much trouble, but soon after he discovered them crawling under again. This time they refused to get out, but McCormick succeeded in pushing them out, but on the outside the older negro pulled a revolver and began firing. A bullet passed entirely through McCormick's body, piercing the right lung. He died at the City Hospital at midnight.

Following the shooting, the negroes made their escape in the crowd. An hour later, two negroes, Willi Anty and Sherman Anderson, were arrested and taken before McCormick, who identified Anty as one of the men before he lost consciousness.

McCormick has been employed by the Barnum & Bailey Circus for many years. His home was in New York City.

SORCHO LEAVES CONEY.

New York, Sept. 6 (Special to The Billboard).—Capt. L. Sorcho, with his deep sea diving show, departed from the Garden Theatre, Surf Avenue, Coney Island, on Labor Day, after having spent a season of satisfaction. This week he is at the Syracuse Fair with Rochester to follow. The last selection that his calliope played Labor Day night was Auld Lang Syne. Several Surf Avenue locations have already been offered him for next season.

AMUSEMENT PARK FIRE.

Philadelphia, Pa., Sept. 5 (Special to The Billboard).—Fire of an unknown origin destroyed the scenic railroad and an amusement device known as the Wizard at Woodside Park early this morning. Owing to the remote location of the park the city fire companies had difficulty in reaching it and the flames gathered rapid headway. For a time the entire park was threatened with destruction. The loss is estimated at $15,000.

ANOTHER PLAY FOR WOODS.

New York, Sept. 8 (Special to The Billboard).—Otto Hauerbach is finishing the new play he is writing for A. H. Woods. Most of the book and lyrics were written in Ostend in collaboration with Hugo Felix, the French composer, who is writing the music. Mr. Felix is well-known in France for his recent works, but none of his compositions have been heard in this country, though he wrote the original score of Madame Therry.

The Hauerbach left Chicago on Labor Day and opened the latter part of that week at Calgary, Can., for a tour of the Pantheon Circuit.

CREATORE.

One of the leading musical attractions that will tour the South this winter will be Sig. Giuseppe Creatore and His Band. The tour will open in Washington, Sunday evening, September 24, and will take in the principal cities of the following States: Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Florida, Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana, Texas, Oklahoma, Kansas, Missouri, Arkansas, Tennessee, Kentucky and Ohio. At a number of the cities the band will be presented by local Music Festival Associations in connection with a chorus and celebrated vocal artists. Sig. Creatore is well adapted to this kind of work, for he appears no pains or time in producing the most difficult masterpieces of both the old and new composers, and his concerts are always conspicuous by the absence of the popular rag time. The Southern tour will be under the management of Lorenzo Van Sant, of Washington, D. C.

President Taft At Fair

Hartford, Conn., Sept. 9 (Special to The Billboard).—President Taft, Attorney General Wickham and record-breaking crowds are here in attendance at the State Fair today. Skaters Blythe, exhibiting on their own special skating floor in front of the grand stand, are a feature act and going big.

OLD THEATRE CLOSES.

Des Moines, Ia., Sept. 8 (Special to The Billboard).—After a period of thirty-three years existence, Foster's Opera House in this city closed September 2. The building will be razed and a new office building erected in its place. During all its years Foster's was the leading theatre in the city.

The Universal Electric Stage Lighting Co., which establishment was gutted by fire on Aug. 29, are now established in their new quarters, 238-240 West 50th Street, opposite the Winter Garden Theatre. Their present location is much larger and better adapted to their purposes.

Well-known Aeronaut Killed

Prof. Frank Crawford, of Crawford & Crawford, the aeronauts, was killed at Marion, Ind., August 30, while attempting a double parachute drop. Crawford and his partner, Vivian Crawford, had been married just six weeks at the time of his death.

SUMMERS BUYS THEATRE.

South Bend, Ind., Sept. 9 (Special to The Billboard).—Harry G. Summers of New York, lessee and manager of the Auditorium and Oliver Opera House here, today purchased the Auditorium property and will take possession Sept. 1. Mr. Summers will become a resident of South Bend and direct from here his theatrical interests in Grand Rapids, Mich., LaFayette, Elkhart and Goshen, Ind.

Barrett and Earle spent last week in Chicago and would not work although J. C. Matthews offered them time. They will soon start to play some of the Matthews houses and plan to go East shortly.

Save George L. Marion

Letters are being received in great numbers by the Pennsylvania Board of Pardons, Harrisburg, Pa., beseeching that body to extend clemency in the case of George L. Marion, sentenced to death. Among the letters that have come to our notice is one written by J. J. Farnsworth, one of the proprietors of the Lyric Theatre, Fort Lauderdale, Fla., which we believe is particularly appealing and convincing. Members of the amusement profession who have not already done so, should send their prayer to the Board of Pardons asking that the death sentence be commuted. Mr. Farnsworth's letter is herewith reproduced verbatim:

Fort Lauderdale, Fla., Sept. 5, 1911.
To the Honorable Board of Pardons, Harrisburg, Pa.,

Gentlemen—The writer wishes to add his personal appeal to the general prayer that has gone to you for clemency in the case of George L. Marion.

Mr. Marion has been known to the writer for many years. He could not have been sane when he committed the deed for which he has been convicted.

The writer voices the request of many people in this section who knew him in times of prosperity, that your honorable Board extend him mercy at least to the extent of a reasonable term of prison servitude.

It does not occur to us that his execution would profit society any more than such a term in prison as you may see fit to give him.

Very respectfully,
Lyric Theatre,
J. J. Farnsworth.

WARD RELEASED.

New York, Sept. 7 (Special to The Billboard).—James Ward, the young Chicago aviator who has been flying for the Curtiss Exhibition Company for the past year, was released by them, in order that he may become a contestant in the coming trans-continental flight.

Ward, who is at present giving flights at Olean, N. Y., under the direction of the Curtiss Exhibition Co., concluded his engagement on Thursday, September 8. He then went to Hammondsport, N. Y., to the Curtiss aeroplane factory, to get a new Curtiss cross-country biplane which was assembled there for him.

It is in this machine that Ward will endeavor to wrest the $50,000 prize from a number of other aviators who have signified their intention of entering the contest. Ward's manager and backer is "Ike" Bloom of Chicago.

AGNES AHERN & CO. RE-ENGAGED.

The artistic electric wheel act introduced by Agnes Ahern & Co. proved to be such a success at the big exhibitions recently held at Toronto, Ottawa and London, Ont., Can., that they have been already re-engaged to appear next season at these places. This act is a real novelty and this, as well as its artistic beauty, attracts large crowds.

BREAKS ALTITUDE RECORD.

Parome, France, Sept. 4 (Special to The Billboard).—The world's altitude record in an aeroplane was broken here today by Roland Garros, the French aviator. He ascended 13,943 feet, beating Lincoln Beachey's record made at Chicago, August 20, by 2,365 feet.

MORDKIN'S LONG TOUR.

London, September 9 (Special to The Billboard).—Michael Mordkin, at the head of a large Russian ballet comprising forty-two members, sailed today for New York. A tour of the leading American, Canadian, Mexican and Cuban cities will be made.

CORT THEATRE OPENS.

San Francisco, Sept. 2 (Special to The Billboard).—John Cort's latest playhouse, the Cort Theatre of San Francisco, was opened last night, with Bala Mine as the attraction. The house cost $100,000, and has a seating capacity of 2,000.

Shuberts' General Representative Ill.

Charles R. Bird, general representative of the Shuberts, was taken to the Austin Sanitarium, seriously ill with pneumonia, last week. At first grave fears were entertained as to his recovery, but his crisis has been passed successfully and his recuperation is assured. His illness began with what he considered a slight cold. This he aggravated by steadily refusing to vacate his desk until Labor Day, when he collapsed and was removed to the Sanitarium. Mr. Bird has been in the theatrical business for many years, beginning his career as a manager of a small theatre in Haverhill, N. Y. Since then he has been at the head of the branches of the managerial end of the business. He is a man of wide acquaintance and social prestige.

THE NEBRASKA FALL FESTIVAL.

Hastings, Neb., Sept. 8. (Special to The Billboard).—The Central Nebraska Fall Festival and Y. M. C. A. Smoots, to be held at Hastings, October 9-14, inclusive, have made arrangements for fourteen special trains on the various railroads entering into Hastings. They will engage nine different bands and are booking attractions and concessions in all departments. They have just closed contracts with Frederic DeHoll, high wire equilibrist; Harrison and Son, trick bicycle riders, and the Aerial Uta. They have also contracted with Former Burns for wrestling matches and exhibition for three days, together with lectures on the Gutch-Hackenschmidt go. The Farmer has matched some promising youngsters for this Hastings tournament. Altogether the working committees are very much delighted with the outlook for the largest crowd ever assembled to this city.

FAMILY CO. OPENS SEASON SOON.

New York, Sept. 9 (Special to The Billboard).—The Family Company opens its season September 14 at Allentown, Pa. Its stand on the day following in Altoona, Pa., and on September 16 the show plays Johnstown, Pa., from which point the company intends to Cincinnati, where it begins its season of week stands.

With the company are James P. Hagan, Kathryn Stevens, Fred R. Stanton, J. Merton Stock, Mrs. L. C. Xomana and Kathleen Comings.

C. R. Williams, last season with The Soul Kings (Eastern) will have charge of the advance work. Mr. Cox will be manager.

Mrs. Dora Eldridge, wife of the minstrel comedian, has recently undergone a most serious operation known to medical science as hysterectomy and appendectomy. The operation was performed at the Woman's Hospital by Dr. T. R. Killen of 300 Central Park West, and was successful in every detail. Mrs. Eldridge is on the high road to recovery, and is convalescing in the Catskills with her husband.

Canadian vaudeville circuit that will have theatres in all the principal Canadian cities from Victoria, B. C., to Toronto, Ont. Mr. Pantages is planning the preliminary details of the all Canadian extension to his circuit, which at the start will include the building or purchasing of at least twelve theatres in the principal cities from Toronto westward, and later on the circuit will be extended further eastward to Montreal, with houses in all the principal Canadian cities on the Atlantic seaboard.

BOSTON AVIATION MEET

Inclement Weather Prolongs Series of Contests Two Days—Longest Cross-Country Competitive Flight Won by Ovington—No Serious Accidents Occur

Boston, Mass., September 6 (Special to The Billboard).—The Great Harvard-Boston Aviation Meet ended today. Inclement weather caused several postponements and carried the meet over until today, instead of finishing on the 4th.

Lincoln Beachey, Tom Sopwith, Grahame-White and Lieut. Milling were the stars of the meet. Beachey, on account of other engagements, was unable to compete except in the first few days, but while here his daring work was easily the feature. The big surprise was the fine work of Lieut. Milling of the U. S. Army, who finished third in the list of prize-money winners.

The Derby, on the 4th, was the principal event and was won by Earl L. Ovington of Boston in a 40-horsepower Blériot monoplane. The distance was 100 miles, through three states, the longest competitive cross-country flight ever held in this country. Ovington covered the distance in 186 minutes, 22 1/2 seconds. Lieut. T. D. Milling, in a Burgess-Wright, won in the second division for biplanes. Milling did the course in 322 minutes, 37 seconds.

There were no serious accidents, despite the high winds that prevailed several days, making flying difficult and dangerous.

Following is the total prize money taken by the first six aviators: Earle E. Ovington, Blériot, $11,782; Tom Sopwith, Blériot-Wright, $6,022; Lieut. T. D. Milling, Burgess-Wright, $6,008; Claude Grahame-White, Newport, $5,224; Lincoln Beachey, Curtiss, $3,630; A. B. Stone, Queen, $1,000.

SWIMS ENGLISH CHANNEL.

Deal, England, September 6 (Special to The Billboard).—William T. Burgess, an Englishman by birth and a naturalized Frenchman, duplicated Capt. Matthew Webb's feat of swimming the English channel. It was Burgess' sixteenth attempt. He started from Dover at 11:15 a'clock Tuesday morning and landed at a little village near Cape Gris-Nez at 9:40 o'clock this morning, accomplishing the passage in 22 hours and 35 minutes. A motor boat accompanied the swimmer. It is estimated that Burgess, on account of the zigzag course he was compelled to take, covered nearly sixty miles. Burgess is in receipt of a number of large offers to appear on the vaudeville stage, but so far has not made any decision.

Henry Nelsner, animal impersonator, has been re-engaged for the A. G. Field's Greater Minstrels, this being his third season with Mr. Field.

Circus Encounters Difficulties

The Hagenbeck-Wallace Showa played three towns last week under seemingly insurmountable difficulties that would have disheartened any but the most intrepid and experienced circus managers such as Mr. Wallace and his assistant, Col. Johnson.

Starting at Marion, Ill., on Tuesday, the opening day of the County Fair, the show trains arrived about 8 o'clock from Belleville, where the Labor Day business was immense, and were immediately unloaded. The lot in the fair ground looked fine until the heavy wagons began to mire down in the soft sod. About noon a heavy rain, lasting fully an hour, put all thoughts of an afternoon performance out of the question, and started a struggle for the men, horses and elephants to drag the wagons in place. The doors opened in the evening on time to a big house. After the performance, the real struggle began, which lasted until 6 o'clock Wednesday morning when the last wagon was loaded.

A good hundred-mile run was made to Cape Girardeau, Mo., harring a slight accident to one of the trucks under a stock car, which necessitated transferring of the horses into two of the railroad company's stock cars, and delaying the arrival in Cape Girardeau until 2 p. m. The night performance was given to a capacity house.

Notwithstanding the tired condition of men and horses, the show was loaded in good time and the run was made to Sikeston, Mo., through a hard night rain, arriving there about 6 a. m., only to find the lot practically under water. A lot was finally secured along side the railroad and the wagons were left on the streets and the men carried the contents to the proper places. The side show, menagerie tent and dressing room only were erected and two performances were given in two rings and two stages in the menagerie tent. The menagerie tent was absolutely packed at both performances and precluded any possibility of giving the big aerial number, menage number or the trained wild animals. To satisfy the natives who wanted to see the animals, Col. Johnson obligingly ordered the train switched near the main entrance. All of the cages were thrown open for inspection, thus showing the animals without unloading the train.

PRODUCER DEAD.

New York, Sept. 4 (Special to The Billboard).—Herbert A. Bradwell, a widely known theatrical man and the producer of the spectacular "Johnstown Flood" and the "Deluge," from which he made a fortune, died last night at the Kings County Hospital from a heart affection. It is said that Mr. Bradwell's ailment was caused by worry over financial reverses. He was 44 years of age.

Phillips and Merritt, playing Sullivan & Considine Time, wish to extend their sincere thanks to Manager Robinson of the Empire Theatre, Cincinnati, the theatre staff and Dr. W. Greiss, for kindnesses extended to Miss Merritt during her illness in the Queen City.

Weadick & La Due Return

New York, Sept. 9 (Special to The Billboard).—Weadick and LaDue, the ropers, returned to this country last Saturday, after a six months' absence abroad. During that time they played the principal theatres in London and Paris, topping the bills. Their return to this country was necessitated by previous arrangements, but when these have been fulfilled they will return to Europe, and the spring of next year will see them depart again for foreign shores.

FATAL FALL FROM TRAIN.

Mention was made to last week's issue of the death of Roy M. Cramer, who lost his life in a fall from a train near Chanute, Kan., September 3. Mr. Cramer was connected with Landes Bros. Carnival Company and owned and operated the Ferris Wheel. The show was on its way to Iola, Kan., and it being warm in the coaches, Cramer and some of the other showmen had crawled up on the roof of the caboose. A sudden jolt of the train threw Cramer off. He sustained a concussion of the brain and died within a short time. Cramer's funeral was held from his residence, at Abilene, Kan., September 5, and was largely attended.

Vaudeville Notes of the Road

The Grundy County Agricultural Fair at Dixon, Ill., September 12, 13, 14 and 15, promises to be one of the best county fairs in the state. The fair is open day and night, and $15,000 will be spent in premiums and attractions, with "Bud" Mars and his Baldwin Biplane as the big feature. Other amusement features booked are Samayoa, flying trapeze; Montambo and Bartell, comic acrobats; Six Flying Herberts; La Jot Troupe, and baseball and hand concerts every day. The show of live stock and the agriculture exhibit will be in keeping with the high standard of other years. More than 300 horses and 500 cattle, sheep and swine are entered, and it is probable there will be over 1,000 birds shown in the poultry exhibit. The new grand stand is a model of convenience, comfort and safety, seating 2,000, and affording a splendid view of all the free acts. The grounds are lighted by electricity, and there will be special train service to handle the crowds.

Billy Barron, novelty character musician, after finishing the Sullivan & Considine Time, spent the summer months on his farm. Beginning the season at the Orpheum, Nashville, Tenn., he has fifteen weeks to follow on Interstate Time. He is booked solid until December.

JOHN DREW CAPTIVATES

His Latest Vehicle, A Single Man, While Not Possessing Any Great Portion of Originality, Represents the Average of Henry Davies' Writings—Star Outshines Play

New York, Sept. 6 (Special to The Billboard).—The Empire Theatre opened its doors for the 1911-12 season, Labor Day, and presented as its inaugural offering, A Single Man, the product of Hubert Henry Davies, author of Cynthia, Cousin Kate, and the Mollusc.

The New York Times expresses the general criticism that the various New York papers gave the production: "A Single Man, offered at the Empire Theatre, represents the average of Mr. Davies' work. It has not quite the delicate charm of Cousin Kate, and it lacks the freshness of The Mollusc, but as it stands at the Empire, with acting that is generally agreeable and efficient if never exactly brilliant, it fills out a pleasant evening. It is, in short, a clever and agreeable play."

"The people in it are all well drawn, and they say smart things. If what is going to happen is generally in one's mind before the point of it is reached, the play does not differ in this respect from many others. Indeed, to many playgoers, the opportunity to see ahead but adds a flavor to the whole."

"Robert Worthington, author and bachelor, just turning middle age, has begun to think of marriage. 'How can you help it,' he asks, 'when all the fields and woods are full of family life?' How, indeed! And with a fascinating next-door neighbor just young enough to be attractive to the man who hasn't let his thoughts dwell on womanhood, until his brother's wife and baby bring the domestic thoughts into his very home."

"The curious part of it is that Henry Worthington and his wife have been planning to bring Robert to the thought of marriage, have, indeed, sent for a former school-girl friend of Mrs. Worthington's, who has never had an offer, and who, they believe, will make the author a very good sort of wife. Her arrival and Robert's announcement that he has made up his mind to marry the little neighbor are almost simultaneous, and a little later, Robert, to his own astonishment, finds that his typist, a very discreet, well-intentioned and well-seasoned young woman, is in love with him."

"But he does not discover this until he has had her plead his case with the other girl—" until, being engaged to the latter, he finds her too youthful for him, and her pastimes too wearing on his nerves and strength—and until, in fact, the third lady in the case has made every possible effort to book him, although she has long ago been asked to leave the house and repeatedly postponed her departure.

"All of which is very divertingly discovered in three acts, which lead up to a scene in which Robert, preparing to dine at home alone, finds

New Musical Comedy Produced at Herald Square Theatre Replete with Catchy Songs and Humorous Lines—New Female Impersonator Assured Brilliant Future

New York, Sept. 7 (Special to The Billboard).—Bothwell Browne, heretofore a female impersonator in vaudeville, made his first legitimate appearance in musical comedy at the Herald Square Theatre, Labor Day afternoon, under the Shubert banner. The vehicle offered for the display of his powers of simulated femininity was written by Mark E. Swan, and the music contributed by William F. Peters. According to the various critics, they have succeeded in providing a book and score that harmonize and they have humor and catchy tunes.

The play centers about a young man who gets locked within the gates of a female seminary, and is forced to disguise himself as a girl in order to save himself from arrest and his sweetheart from expulsion. Helping out the plot is an adventurous burglar, a young collegian, a German professor of psychology, and the school gardener, as well as many young women.

Mr. Browne played the masquerading youth and changes his costume frequently, winding up his performance with an Egyptian dance.

Just a word about this matter of costumes. Scarcely, if ever, has there been such resplendent ease in any musical offering. The Croner Em broidery work stood out for special consideration. It was this art that caused thousands of applause during that exquisite Egyptian number that promised to set a fashion along Broadway. The costumes and their embellishments were truly par excellence.

The dialogue is of the snappy variety, and the terpsichorean offerings novel and delicately intricate. Browne loves his work, and truly his elevated female impersonation to an art.

The American characterizes the theme as so genuinely treated. The play is full of spirit, and the applause liberal.

The Tribune has the following to say: "The work of Bothwell Browne was well received by

UP AND DOWN BROADWAY

The Shuberts have accepted for production early this season, Lucille LaVerne's dramatization of Will N. Harben's novel, Ann Boyd.

Miss Emma Trentlin will arrive in America to begin her tour in Naughty Marietta in Brooklyn, on October 2.

Claribel Campbell, who played Myrtle in The New Theatre production of The Blue Bird, has been engaged by Liebler & Co. for the same role. John Sutherland will play Breck, Gwendolyn Valentine will again have the role of Water, and Alice Butler has been engaged for the part of Fairy Berylline.

Guy Bates Post, last season star in The Nigger, has been engaged by A. H. Woods to star in a new American drama called The Great Desire, by Edward Childs Carpenter. The first performance will be given in Detroit on October 20.

Frank Moulan, one of the principals in The Siren, has introduced a new song called Confidential Source, which does not scruple to take a shot or two at the inconsistency of local laws, that permit prize-fighting and forbid horse-racing. At any rate, certainly Mr. Moulan's rhymed sarcasm is nicely greeted with unusual approbation by the public that hears it. Harry B. Smith, the librettist, is responsible for the verse.

Within a year's time the Theatre des Champs Elysees will be opened in Paris. This theatre, which, as will be seen, has a special interest for Americans, will be under the management of M. Gabriel Actrue's, who represents the Metropolitan Opera House on the continent and who contributed largely to the success of the engagement which the Metropolitan played in Paris more than a year ago. A number of representative New Yorkers are associated with Mr. Actrue's scheme, largely those who make the city their residence during a part of the year. Among these is Otto Kahn. The Parisian branch of the Rothschilds is also among the supporters of the enterprise.

Leslie Faber, the son-in-law of Henry Arthur Jones, has come to New York to play with Miss Ethel Barrymore in The Witness for the Defense. He will be seen in the same role that he sustained in the London production.

Sanger and Jordan have kept their A Man from Mexico production in the store-house for the past six months. So many orders, letters and clamors were received for it, however, that they were obliged to release it for stock August 31.

With the dress rehearsal of the new Drew play off his hands, Mr. Frohman has finally scheduled his other rehearsals as follows: Maude Adams in Chanteclair, Ethel Barrymore in A. E.

LYCEUM THEATRE—Thy Neighbor's Wife, a comedy in three acts, by Mr. Elmer Harris.

THE CAST.

John Robbins Arthur Byron
Gerty Robbins Pamela Gaythorne
Harry Miller Frederick Tiden
Alice Miller Alice John

New York, Sept. 6 (Special to The Billboard).—Thy Neighbor's Wife, a comedietta in three acts by Elmer Harris, requiring but four in the cast, was given the honor of opening the 1911-12 season of the Lyceum Theatre, Tuesday night, September 5. The play is a delightful one, telling the story of two young couples who have been dissatisfied with each other's way and who eventually enter into a compact to try an exchange of partners, the experimental arrangement to last one week.

One act is given over to an exposition of the causes of dissatisfaction, another to the arrangement of the plan of exchange and the third to the means by which disillusionment comes on the one hand and renewed affection on the other, since the wives persist in believing that their husbands really love them.

The Times arranges the new production on the grounds that little inherent humor is contained in its lines and that it is full of parallelisms, iterations and reiterations. This, however, is not entirely the case, as the following criticism from The Herald will serve to show.

"Mr. Daniel Frohman's Lyceum Theatre was reopened with a new play, acted by a company

King had enjoyed excellent health since the early spring and upon the advice of his physician passed the summer in the Adirondacks. He came back to New York a week before his death, presumably in a much improved condition of health and even greeted his friends last Saturday night at the Green-Room Club, of which he was a member. The producer's death was indeed unexpected.

HIPPODROME BREAKS RECORD.

New York, Sept. 9 (Special to The Billboard).—The first week of the new show at the New York Hippodrome beat all attendance records at the big playhouse. Around the World, which is a series of consecutive spectacles (instead of the several shows which made up the bills of past seasons) bids fair to become the most popular as it is the most gigantic entertainment ever put on at this house. The Messrs. Shubert have outdone themselves in the beauty not only of the spectacles, but in the costumes as well. The gorgeous Ballet of the Butterflies, the Sandstorm in the Desert with its wonderfully realistic effects, the Alpine Heights in Switzerland, the enchanting forest fire as well as the great water finale these are a few of the features which give it claim to be the best of all Hippodrome shows. The entire production was conceived and invented by Arthur Voegtlin; written and staged by Carroll Fleming; musical ensembles staged by William J. Wilson and music and lyrics by Manuel Klein.

A complete list of attractions at New York Theatres appears on page 66.

WEEK IN NEW YORK CITY

HAMMERSTEIN'S BILL

For the Opening Week of the Fall Season Made Up of Acts that Prove Oral and Visual Delights to Patrons of the Ever Popular Victoria

New York, Sept. 9 (Special to The Billboard).—With Carter DeHaven as a pivot around whom is surrounded and circled a coterie of acts which possess such strength as to move the show with an impetus correspondingly great, the fall season at Hammerstein's had an auspicious beginning. As per custom, the Victoria was crowded all the week.

DeHaven, with an act that must be rated as reaching the pinnacle of classiness, was awarded a splendid spot (closing the first half of the show), and for half an hour regaled the "Corner" regulars with six songs and some characteristic dances. His success was big. What routine is utilized to make up his "classy" offering is described in detail under New Acts.

At 8:04, Monday night, The Flying Henrys began the proceedings with a dexterously executed series of double trapeze feats. Foley Brothers, who followed in Spot No. 2, commanded attention. Both are new acts hereabouts, and are reviewed in the New Acts column.

Kaufman Brothers, with some witty side-walk patter, intermingled with a song or two, caught a comfortably filled house and gained a goodly share of applause. The first to catch the audience when all were seated, was Lottie Gilson, who repeated her usual success. After singing "The Days of Girls and Boys, Can't You Take It Back, and Change It for a Boy, and Lord Have Mercy on a Married Man, the applause was so incessant that "the Little Magnet" was forced to respond with an encore which was her perennial hit. She was the Sunshine of Paradise Alley.

Monday, the title of the comedy sketch arranged for O'Brien, Haven and Kyle, by Will M. Cressy, was written to bring out some of the humorous incidents, or rather of what transpires in a theatre on Monday morning before the rehearsal. The sketch is away from the trite stage-life themes, just a little unlike those sketches with the same subjects that have preceded it. As it is played by O'Brien, Haven and Kyle it brings forth a flood of laughter.

One of the biggest hits of the bill this week are Lyons and Yosco, billed simply as The Harplst and the Singer. Dropping into a popular style of description Lyons and Yosco are "some" entertainers. Carter DeHaven followed them, and as we related previously, also scored heavily.

Very evidently Abbie Mitchell is trying out new materials, for Monday night her act, including herself and her pianist, did not work smoothly. This, however, is sure to be over-

THE COLONIAL OPENING

Amelia Bingham Heads Bill of Exceptional Merit at First Colonial Show of 1911-12 Season—House Has Undergone Extensive Improvements During Summer

New York, Sept. 9 (Special to The Billboard).—The Colonial bill this week is characteristic of all Percy G. Williams' Shows. In other words, program is good all the way through.

This week is the season's opening of the house. During the lay-off season, the Colonial underwent the usual summertime renovation, and is now cooler and more comfortable than ever.

Amelia Bingham is the week's headliner. Her Big Moments from Great Plays this week are a scene from A Modern Lady Godiva; a scene from La Tosca, and a bit from Mme. Sans Gêne. Miss Bingham and her company, which includes Mr. Williams, Mr. Pratt and Miss Fraaklyn, give the hits effective and intelligent interpretation.

The Musical Fredericks, one of whom is a woman with engaging personality and an abundance of unctious, gave the show a bully start. In Position No. 2, Cooper and Robinson, the colored comedians, fitted nicely.

Salerno, the juggler, is playing his second week's engagement since his return to America, his first visit being to the Fifth Avenue. At the Colonial, considered a difficult house, Salerno went big. Barry and Wolford, in songs and stories, likewise registered a success.

Amelia Bingham closed the first half of the show. During the short intermission, Julius Lenzberg out-Created Creators in leading his orchestra, which played Alexander's Rag Time Band, after Lenzberg's own idea. Lenzberg has become an act during the intermission at the Colonial.

Stepp, Mehlinger and King scored strongly. Sam Chip and Mary Mable, with John W. Dunne, who followed the rathskeller act, did equally well. Lester has a clever ventriloquist act, and The Flying Martins put the finishing touches on a thoroughly enjoyable show.

CHANGE NAME.

New York, Sept. 9 (Special to The Billboard).—Within the next two or three weeks, Red-St. John and Company will change their names to Betty Beavere and her Associates. Under the new title they will present a new musical offering termed Colonial Pastimes, the dressing of the act and its general frame-up being in accordance with the customs of the Colonial period. Miss Betty Beavere, who was one of the prize scholars of the Chicago Conservatory of Music, is to be featured in the act.

The Orpheum theatre, Mansfield, O., opened the season August 28 under new management.

5th Ave. Begins Winter Season

New York, Sept. 9 (Special to The Billboard).—With this week's bill the Fifth Avenue Theatre begins its drill through the 1911-12 season. The summer atmosphere of the shows has been dropped and the regular show season garb adopted.

In the fun line, The Four Mortons carried off the honors. Sam Morton has lost none of his cunning, which earned for him the reputation he now possesses. Mrs. Morton is the same excellent "feeder," and Kiddy Morton is the same cute little person, while Paul Morton dances as only Paul Morton can. The Fifth Avenue audiences voted this act the biggest kind of a hit.

One of the neatest acrobatic acts shown hereabouts in a long time is that performed by the King Brothers. The appearance of the act is more like that of a production than of an acrobatic turn. Not only in appearance do the King Brothers shine brightly, but in their work they show that they are members of the A-1 class. The act is new to New York and is therefore reviewed under New Acts.

The Morris and Charles Allen, also a new act, filled nicely in Spot No. 2. Following European triumphs, Earle Reynolds and Nellie Donegan, the stage's premier roller skaters, have returned to the States. Here they score just as heavily as they did on the other side, where they were such a success that our far-away brethren just would not permit them to leave. Their dancing on skates is exceptionally clever. The costumes are elaborate and with the work they accomplish there isn't the slightest wonderment that Reynolds and Donegan attained the position that they now hold.

Keller Mack and Frank Orth, a shower of laughs with their skit, The Wrong Hero. The servant girl song, Mack's O'Hara number and Orth's Follow Me song were liked.

Broadway Love (reviewed under New Acts) programmed as a sketch of stage life, is pre-

SHIELDS' LATEST COMEDY.

New York, Sept. 9 (Special to The Billboard).—Fun in a Flyer, a comedy playlet written by Ben Shields, was produced by John E. Cain and Company. The action of the piece takes place in a Pullman car. In the cast are ten people, including, besides Mr. Cain, Blanche Newcombe, Edna Rainer, Fred Bulla, Lillian Raymond, Dora Davis, Joe Birnes, Sam West, Lee Holland and Lem Tower.

DeWOLFE'S NEW ACT.

New York, Sept. 9 (Special to The Billboard).—At the Union Hill Theatre the week of September 18, the Four DeWolfe will add another act to the personnel of their company and beginning with that date the act will be billed under the name of The Five DeWolfe. Beginning with the same date The DeWolfe will present a new act called The Air Fnd. It is a comedy skit, with singing and dancing.

EMMA CARUS.

Singing comedienne. Her New York engagement was played at the Fifth Avenue Theatre, week of August 28.

PERTINENT PATTERN

New York, Sept. 9 (Special to The Billboard).—Within a few weeks Hilma LeRoy, the singing comedienne, will try a new monologue written by James Slevins.

New York, September 9 (Special to The Billboard).—After a successful tour of the South, Essie Saint Clair, the comedienne, has returned to New York, from which point she will again start on her season's trip in Eastern vaudeville bonanza.

Owing to illness, Genie Pollard was unable to join The Whirl of Mirth (Western Wheel), for which show she was engaged this season. With Ed Lee Wrothe and his Ginger Girls this season are Jane La Beau, Beattie Evans, Helen Bellver, Nellie Lockwood, Corinne Blackmore, Viola White, May Carlton, Blanche Brooks, Ray Morris, Beadle Montgomery, Ella-abeth Kelly, May Ward, Ethel Brewster, Murray Belmont, George Hoey, Owen Martin, Walter Pratt Lewis, James Jeffers, Angel Cohen, Frank Carson, A. Weston, George Roeder, A. Dwinnell, Lou Elber and Frank Wakefield. The business manager, business manager, Ed Lee Wrothe, stage director, Frank Wakefield, stage manager, A. Blinkow, musical director, Robert Ross, stage carpenter, Joe Doly, master of properties, Robert Palmer, electrician, and Mrs. Ward, wardrobe mistress.

At Akron, Ohio, last Friday, the members of the stage crew of the local vaudeville theatre indulged in a game of ball with the artists on the bill. The stage crew alone had not lost a game until last Friday when the artists nearly trimmed them to the score of 10 to 0. Dick Hamlin, the dancer, made five hits out of five trips to the plate, including a home run and two triples. The Four Bards also gave evidence of possessing ability in lines other than gymnastic.

R. E. Harrah & Co., the roller skaters, opened last week on the United Time at the Hippodrome in Pittsburgh. Harrah is carrying his own skating floor and his own special scenery. A season's route has been booked for him.

The Reno Cure, a new comedy sketch written by Charles Horwitz, is being played by the Cameron-Largay Company. Tom Cameron, one of three people forming the company, is remembered as a member of The Time, the Place, and the Girl Company. Ray Largay was with Lasky's At the Waldorf and Miss Sue Snee was also with Lasky's acts.

Eddie Mack and Dot Williams have in preparation a new singing and dancing act.

Harry Darcy has dissolved partnership with Mr. Carr and has joined forces with Andy Williams. The boys will shortly be seen in a new act written by Charles Horwitz.

Henry P. Dixon's Big Review comes to Miner's Bronx Theatre, week of September 18. Frankie Heath heads the organization. Harry LeFan is the comedian.

The new stage manager of Proctor's Fifty-eighth Street Theatre is Frank Neville. Chas. Baven is his assistant. Dan Smith is gymnasium and Teddy Byers is property man.

AUSTIN GOES ABROAD.

New York, Sept. 9 (Special to The Billboard).—Harry Austin, the dancer, sailed Thursday for England to fulfill engagements abroad. He is booked to open September 25 at the Empire, Dublin, Ireland, for a two weeks' engagement. His next stand is the Tiroll in Liverpool, where he is billed for a week's stay. After filling the European Time arranged for him, Austin will tour South Africa.

MISS HAZARD'S START GRATIFYING.

New York, Sept. 7 (Special to The Billboard).—Grace Hazard opened her European tour last Monday at the Hippodrome, Leeds, England. The charming "Five Feet of Comic Opera" was given a most cordial reception.

The English papers, usually very conservative in the use of their adjectives to praise acts, and especially American turns, spoke in glowing terms of Miss Hazard's work. To quote one of the critics' words: "Miss Hazard gives a really talented act, which greatly pleases the audience." Another reviewer extracted a few additional words of commendation from his vocabulary than ordinarily used and finished his review with a description of the great hit made by Miss Hazard.

The length of Miss Hazard's stay abroad is indefinite. At the present time she is in the provinces.

Russell Bingham has joined the Grace Borge Company My Wife's Family, playing leads and doing his specialty as a feature. The company is booked West and then South.

THE APPALACHIAN EXPOSITION

Second Annual Event at Knoxville, Tenn., Bids Fair to Eclipse Any Previous Amusement Tournament Held in the South---Exposition will Continue from September 11 to October 1

It is predicted for the second annual Appalachian Exposition to be held at Knoxville, Tenn., September 11 to October 1 that one of the greatest collections of amusement features will be presented ever seen at any fair or exposition held in the Southern States.

COL. CAREY F. SPENCE,

Secretary-Treasurer.

The Midway attractions have been assembled by H. G. Barkoot, the well-known carnival company proprietor, who has had the assistance of Paul Blum, another Midway man of many years of experience. For several weeks, Messrs. Barkoot and Blum have been visiting Chicago, New York, Cincinnati and other big cities looking over amusement features and attractions, and picking out shows for the three weeks of the exposition, and they will have twenty or more features for the midway street, in addition to the free acts and other amusement specialties which the exposition company has arranged.

One of the drawing cards of the exposition, it is promised, will be the production of Hiawatha, by the company of Iroquois Indians under the direction of F. E. Moore. The Hiawatha Company goes to Knoxville from Cincinnati, having been playing an engagement at the Zoo, and will appear at the Appalachian Exposition daily during the three weeks. This will be the first production of this celebrated Indian passion play in the South.

In addition to several nights of fireworks specialties, Fair is to present two of his feature

OKLAHOMA STATE FAIR.

Oklahoma City, September 12 (Special to The Billboard).—On Tuesday, September 26, the Oklahoma State Fair, Oklahoma City, will be ready for the hundreds of thousands of visitors from of education and amusement for twelve short days.

Officers of the State Fair have gone ahead just as if there was no such thing as a drought, and paved the way for Oklahoma to show the world that it is a state of achievement. They know that Oklahoma has produced crops equal to those of any other state; that the live stock is in good shape, and the products of the state's industries are as good as the best.

The people of Oklahoma have rallied to the Oklahoma State Fair in its annual inventory of the state's progress, and they will certainly be on hand; while those who have not helped to make the 1911 fair will come and see what other people have done and make suggestions for improvement.

The initial event of the Colbert County Fair Association will take place at Tusculum, Ala., October 4 to 7. This will be the first fair in Colbert County in thirty years, and all efforts will be made to make it a success. A fine list of agricultural and live stock exhibits are assured, and the great horse show, held in the evenings, will be one of the features. There will be some splendid amusement attractions offered.

TWO CHICAGO PREMIERES NEW BRUNSWICK THEATRE

Louisiana Lou, a Musical Play, and Uncle Sam, a Farce in Three Acts, Given Their First Metropolitan Engagements at Windy City Theatres

Opening of Percy G. Williams' Brooklyn Playhouse Occurs September 11—New Structure One of the Finest Temples of Amusement in the World

Chicago, September 4 (Special to The Billboard).—The city of zephyrs auspiciously inaugurated her new season with three premieres. That of The Littlest Rebel at the Chicago Opera House has already received attention in our columns and is safely launched on a career of prosperity. Sunday night, September 3, marked the inaugural of two others, which also give promise of lusty life and vigor. These are Louisiana Lou at the La Salle Opera House and Uncle Sam at the Olympic.

It is indeed gratifying to find a musical comedy that may in all justice be so classified—one that is at once musical and comical. Such is Louisiana Lou, and is this opinion all of the gentlemen who would mould theatrical taste for Chicago are agreed. Addison Burkhardt, a native son of Chicago, and Frederick Langley have labored together with happy advantage in fashioning a book that bristles with merry quips and funny situations. Their efforts have been strengthened by the able cooperation of Ben Jerome, who has written a score that is inspiringly tuneful and interpretative. Frank Smithson's genius for creating beautiful and novel stage effects and his ability to draw out the best efforts of his interpreting cast, adds the last note to ensure the success.

Chicago, Sept. 5 (Special to The Billboard).—Ann Caldwell has "come back," that is as a writer of comedy, and in Uncle Sam (with which she had the collaboration of James O'Dea) she has a worthy companion to her other success, The Nest Egg. This seems to be the consensus of opinion of those who had the pleasure of witnessing this merry farcical comedy last night.

The play provides capital opportunity for Thomas A. Wise and John Barrymore to display their characteristic talents as comedians, and while somewhat light, and monotonous in spots, promises to develop into a lively and entertaining entertainment, when the action has been accelerated, and a little judicious pruning made.

Acts New to New York

THE FLYING HENRYS, Aerialists; 5 minutes; full stage; Hammerstein's Victoria.

The act of The Flying Henrys is almost a replica of the turn given by The Flying Martins, although The Henrys lack the polish and ginger that The Martins possess and launch into their work. In all the houses here they have appeared. The Martins have registered a distinct success. The Flying Henrys, too, may go big, but only in houses where The Martins have not yet been seen. In their five minutes' space The Henrys worked valiantly but with the aforementioned results.

FOLEY BROTHERS, Singers and Dancers; 9 minutes; in one; Hammerstein's Victoria.

The Foley Brothers were on too early (No. 2) at Hammerstein's to get an opportunity to interest an audience. The act is one that requires the strictest attention and how is one to get it at Hammerstein's with constant interruptions by late-comers? The Foley Brothers

Fred Ward was to have played the American Theatre in Davenport, Iowa, last week, but his voice went back on him and he was forced to close before he opened.

The scenes take place at Heidelberg, Germany, and Uncle Sam is a wealthy American from Nevada, who goes abroad to visit his nephew, a student at the German University. From his uncle's American chamber, the nephew learns that Uncle Sam is coming with an American girl, whom he has chosen as a bride for the youth. Being already in love with an actress, he decides to disguise his uncle by an affectation of manners, which he knows will offend the old gentleman. The ruse works beyond his fondest hopes, and the uncle lately prepares to leave his mischievous nephew behind. The young man, who has really fallen in love with the American girl whom his uncle has chosen for him, delays their departure from the inn where they are lodged, by stealing the spark-plug of their automobile.

This gives him time to demonstrate to his uncle and the girl that he has been masquerading.

New York, Sept. 9 (Special to The Billboard).—Percy G. Williams' new Bushwick Theatre, situated at Broadway and Howard Avenue in the Bushwick section of Brooklyn, will be opened September 11.

The Bushwick is one of the most handsome amusement structures in the country. The main entrance to the house is circular in design and situated directly in the triangle formed by Broadway and Howard Avenue. The stage entrance will be on Madison Avenue.

The dimensions of the new playhouse include 132 feet on Broadway, 200 feet on Howard Avenue and 110 feet on Madison Street. There is a fourteen-foot exit court on the Broadway side, 90 feet in length, thus making the building open on all sides and thoroughly easy of access. There are twenty-five separate exits in the house. The building is two, three and four stories high and constructed of brick, granite, limestone, marble, steel and concrete, with terra cotta and galvanized iron cornices and ornaments.

The seating capacity of 2,500 makes the New Bushwick one of the largest vaudeville theatres in the world. In addition to the parquet, balcony and gallery, there are ten proscenium boxes with a total capacity of 300. The front of the balcony is graced by eleven smoking boxes with an individual seating capacity of eight persons, or a total of eighty-eight. Both on the lower and balcony floors are large promenades with ladies' retiring parlors and dressing rooms. The gentlemen's smoking room in the basement is elaborately furnished.

The theatre will be particularly brilliant inside and out. The huge ornamental dome at the main entrance will be unusually illuminated at night, enclosing a marble and tile lobby and vestibule of gorgeous design. The style of interior decorating is very elaborate, the prevailing color scheme of turkey red and gold leaf lending a warmth and luxurious appearance. The exterior of the building is Neo-Grecian.

The new Bushwick has four tiers of dressing rooms, metal shelves and wire glass windows to each room, with strictly fireproof equipment. In addition to the dressing rooms there is a large apartment for quartering the various animals taking part in the different acts. The stage dimensions are 35 feet from the curtain line to back wall with proscenium opening 30 feet in height. The width of the stage from wall to wall is 80 feet.

The Bushwick was erected at a cost of $225,000.

ACTRESS DIES IN WANT.

New York, Sept. 9 (Special to The Billboard).—It has just been learned that Virginia Adams, an actress, died September 2 in Bellevue Hospital in destitute circumstances. The body was taken to the morgue, where it remained unclaimed for several days. Miss Adams appeared in a number of big musical productions, including Up and Down Broadway, The Girl in the Taxi and in one of Eddie Foy's companies.

Drew-Barrymore Combination

New York, September 9 (Special to The Billboard).—Sidney Drew and Lionel Barrymore, representatives of a notable theatrical family, have joined forces to appear in vaudeville. They will play the Percy Williams' Circuit in Greater New York in a condensed version of Richard Brinsley Sheridan's immortal play, The Rivals. This combination of Mr. Drew and Mr. Barrymore will appear in the parts of Rob Acres and Sir Lucius O'Trigger, made famous by the late Joseph Jefferson and by W. J. Florence. They open Monday at the Orpheum in Brooklyn.

NINETY MILES AN HOUR.

G. A. Dorian has completed his new hipsize which travels 90 miles an hour; it is a two-passenger carrying machine, with 50-h. p. motor. He has made successful trials from Atlantic City, Washington, D. C., Philadelphia and all through the South. This machine is manufactured in Pittsburgh and is a great success. W. N. Murray, president of the Standard Automobile Co., and A. X. Phelan, president of Lozier Motor Co., Pittsburgh, and Art Fischer are the promoters of this company, which is formed to manufacture these machines.

FRENCH THEATRE COLLAPSES.

Nice, France, Sept. 8.—The Theatre Eldorado collapsed here today. Workmen who were engaged in making repairs to the building were buried in the ruins. The bodies of seven workmen have been taken from the debris. Five other men have been taken out alive, but badly injured.

J. L. McDOUALL DEAD.

New York, Sept. 6 (Special to The Billboard).—Mr. Joseph L. McDouall, who had been in charge of the play producing department maintained by Mr. Daniel Frohman, died Tuesday afternoon, September 5, of acute indigestion at his home, 137 McDonough Street, Brooklyn. He had passed the day with Mrs. McDouall at Brighton Beach and was taken ill suddenly on board a train returning home. He was taken to a drug store at Brooklyn Avenue and Fulton Street and removed from there to his home in an ambulance. He died soon afterward.

Mr. McDouall was well known in the theatrical profession. He managed the Columbia Theatre, Brooklyn, under Edwin Knowles in 1892, and remained with that theatre until it was given over to a stock company. He later went to the Garden Theatre, in Manhattan, and lately had charge of Mr. Frohman's play-producing department. He was fifty-five years old.

PITTSBURG T. M. A. HOLDS PICNIC

On Sunday, August 27, the members of Pittsburgh Lodge No. 37 turned out in a body with their families and friends and went out in the country to Tim Fettes' farm, where they enjoyed themselves as only people that are tied up in a big city the year round can. The committee that had charge of the enjoyable outing were Brothers Fred Green, Charles Nolte and Earl O. Gunther.

Music was furnished by Brother Joseph Sasso's T. M. A. Band. Among the musicians were Brothers Joseph Sasso, Loula Panella, Fred Gregory, Hook Osborn, William Swartz and P. B. Lang.

Brother C. Elwin Edwards and Sister Edwards, of the Edwards London Stock, came all the way from Irwin, Pa., to attend. They brought with them two members of the company, Jack London, who is to join No. 37 on Sunday, September 3d, and Miss Mamie Stahr and their son, Norman Edwards, secretary of Detroit Vaudeville Exchange, who is visiting his parents.

Brothers Bennie Drob and Adam Killmeyer were the official photographers. Brother Frank Poulson was there with his voice. You could hear him all over the farm, but could not get him ten feet away from the bar.

Among the many members present with their families were: Brothers E. O. Gunther, Fred Green, Charles Cahill, Albert J. Strum, Tim Carroll, John Long, Henry Kurtzman, James Smyth, Meyer Green, William Bowers, Alex. Miller, Charles Austin, Frank Poulson, Charles Sweeney, M. Meehan, William Clutter, James Welsman, Charles Nolte, William J. Nolte, Charles Huth, George Schroeder, Charles Conrad, William Mengel, George Hausman, W. J. Edwards, C. H. Millard, Charles Low, Harry Sherlock, Daniel Tyler, E. J. Washburn, S. F. Smith, Louis McMillan, E. W. Brant, Walter Dry, Rutta Eagen and Pop Taylor. Brother Robert Ellison was excused from attending as he was only married a week ago.

Mr. R. D. Coyle, who with his wife were guests of the lodge, lost a large diamond out of the setting of a ring. It was found two hours after by Brother C. E. Edwards.

The fat men's race was declared a tie between Brothers Fred Green and W. J. Nolte. By actual count they made the 100 yards in 15 minutes.

The married men won the baseball game by a score of 17 to 2. The game only went five innings, as all the balls were lost in the farmer's tomato patch.

T. M. A. LODGE ENTERTAINED.

At a social given by Lancaster (Pa.) Lodge No. 92, Thursday night, August 24, Bessley and Morris and The Mysterions Moore entertained the members. Secretary W. W. Reading visited members of Local No. 92 at Pottsville, August 22, and returned with several applications. This lodge will hold a benefit Monday, October 30, when an entertainment consisting of vaudeville acts, and a hall will be given.

T. M. A. NOTES.

On August 11, last, death entered the ranks of Stretator Lodge No. 58, T. M. A., and removed one of the association's most excellent members, Benjamin Mull of Ottawa, Ill., where a large membership is affiliated with the Stretator local. This is the first time death has stricken from the roll of No. 58 an active member and his loss is felt keenly.

Mr. Mull was stage carpenter at the Lyric Theatre in Ottawa, and was well known and liked generally by a large number of vaudeville performers. His death was due to electrocution, caused by his falling from a bridge upon a live electric wire.

Being popular with a very large circle of acquaintances in both Stretator and his home town, the following resolutions of respect were adopted and ordered published in The Billboard:

Whereas, It has pleased our Heavenly Father to remove from our midst Bro. Benj. Mull;

Whereas, We desire to express our condolence to his family in their affliction; therefore be it Resolved, That we extend to the mother

Management of Grand Opera House Refuses to Recognize Mandates of Chicago Federation of Musicians and are Giving Shows Without the Customary Orchestra

Chicago, Sept. 9 (Special to The Billboard).—Musicians are on strike at the Grand Opera House, and, as a result, the house is playing without an orchestra. The trouble is over the new rule of the Chicago Federation of Musicians, that first-class houses must employ a minimum of eleven musicians. This the management of the Grand will not concede. The Grand Theatre also refuses to recognize the mandate.

NEW STAGE GRASS.

Camels, sheep, donkeys, dogs and the rest of the live stock which is to help fill the stage of the Century Theatre, New York, when "The Garden of Allah" is put on, are going to have their chances of sudden death minimized, according to plans adopted by Liebler & Co. For many years stage producers, when they wanted to get the eye over the grassland, have been using dried raffa grass, dyed to the appropriate color. The raffa served its purpose until now, though it proved a swift depopulator so far as four-footed performers are concerned. Cows, horses and other animals employed in stage productions, where the scene was helped out by raffa, have been so imposed upon by the artificial appearance that they frequently reached down for a generous mouthful of the grateful growth. As the raffa was cured in the deadly aniline dye the earthly activities of the horse, dog or cow ceased abruptly. Under the new order of things, fatalities from this cause will be improbable.

William Moore, property master for Liebler & Co., accidentally dropped the contents of a dye bottle on an ordinary sheepskin rug, which lay in the firm's construction shop. The section that was dyed green took on the appearance of growing grass. Mr. Moore emptied the rest of the dye over the rug covering it, and the effect was most convincing. The rug looked like a grass patch—more like grass than the real raffa. The managers have ordered a large supply of the sheepskins, which have been dyed and which will form the carpet for the oasis scene in "The Garden of Allah." It isn't likely any of the camels, donkeys or Barbary sheep will meet with any mishap, as they are not generally credited with a fondness for dry wool as a diet.

NEW THEATRE FOR CHICAGO.

Chicago, September 9 (Special to The Billboard).—We are told that a new theatre, which is being erected in Chicago, will bear the name of the Hippodrome. In honor of Mr. J. M. Hopp, proprietor of the Standard Film Exchange. This, of course, is another demonstration of Mr. Hopp's popularity among the exhibitors he is supplying with film, and it is the belief of some people that this name will be assumed by other motion picture houses.

Past Week Notable for the Large Number of Inaugurations at Theatres in Loop—Grand, Garrick, La Salle, Olympic, Columbia and Angelus Begin Season

Chicago, Sept. 9 (Special to The Billboard).—The week just closing is notable for the large number of theatrical openings, that have taken place in Chicago, six of the Loop theatres having inaugurated their new season since Saturday. On Saturday night, September 2, the Grand witnessed the return of William Hodge in The Man from Home; the Garrick opened with Holbrook Blinn and Company, in The Rose, and the newly-christened Angelus started on its season of light opera under the management of Colonel William A. Thompson. On Sunday night, two metropolitan first appearances were successfully negotiated at the La Salle Opera House, where Louisiana Lon delighted its hearers, and at the Olympic Theatre, where Thomas Wise and John Barrymore appeared in a clever farce called Uncle Sam. On Monday night, Ziegfeld's Follies, which has been playing all summer at the Jardin de Paris in New York, started the autumnal merriment at the Colonial.

Mr. Hodge still retains the loyal interest of Chicagoans in the Tarkington-Willson play, and is fortunate in possessing a company that plays up to him admirably. The Russian Grand Duke and the English Earl are artistically delineated by Harold Russell and Herbert McKee; Arthur Bell has Hazard Short's old role of the brother; Helen Harvest is acceptable as the girl, and Leonora von Ottinger as the continental countess looks and enunciates the part as to the manner born.

Holbrook Blinn made a decided impression with his interpretation of the title role in The Boss, at the Garrick, and H. A. La Motte as Porky McCoy, the slagger, shares honors with the star. Mr. La Motte is a great favorite in Chicago, having been identified with stock in the western metropolis for several seasons. Maude Fealy has the role of the gently-bred wife of Reagan. Others in the company are Ben Graham, Felix Krembs, Henry Sargent, Kenneth Hill, Ruth Benson, John M. Troughton, Eugene Shakespeare, Wilmer Dane, Thomas McCrae and Frank Julian.

The plays at the Olympic and the La Salle, which are elsewhere reviewed, are on for long runs. The Brothers Farnum, Dustin and William, are assured a long tenancy at the Chicago in The Littlest Rebel, the People's offering seemingly touching a popular chord that has not been played upon for some time—the innate love of the martial.

Col. William A. Thompson, famous as an impresario of operatic talent, seems to have struck his pace with his new venture, light opera at popular prices. He opened the rechristened Globe Theatre under the name of the Angelus Saturday night, and gave the Chicago critics a genuine surprise both as to the excellence of his company and the amptuous manner in which he clothed and staged the inaugural number, Wang. In the company that Col. Thompson has secured, are Anna Hoffman, Dorothy Vangha, Vela Malcom, Viva Ethelia, Charles Huntington, Leroy Plicher and George Knikel, all of whom possess excellent voices and good stage presence.

DUSTIN AND WILLIAM FARNUM.

Appearing together as co-stars in The Littlest Rebel at the Chicago Opera House, under direction of A. H. Woods.

Illinois Theatre Opens Sept. 16

Chicago, Sept. 9 (Special to The Billboard).—The Illinois is scheduled to open on Saturday night, September 16, with Jefferson De Angellis and Company, in The Ladies' Lion being the attraction. Dainty Anna Langhlin will have the leading feminine role, the supporting cast including Frank Rushworth, Herbert Wilke, Florence Martin, Morgan Williams, Charles Prince, Texas Ginnam, Thomas Gailola, Eugene Francis, Anna Milward and Carol Oty. The engagement of The Ladies' Lion will be for a fortnight only. It will be followed on October 1 or 2, by Edith Talliaferro in Rebecca of Sunnybrook Farm.

FIRST LIEBLER ATTRACTION.

The first new play of the season to be put out by Liebler & Co. will be C. M. S. McLeilan's The Affair in the Barracks, adapted from the German drama, Kasernenluft, which has had a vogue on the Continent. Two engagements have been made so far for this company, Emil Hoch, who relinquishes an entire season in vaudeville to play Sergeant Koster, a blunt, good-natured officer, and Menefee Johnstone for Corporal Faller, the "heavy." The story is love, hate, revenge and justice—the principal character being a young German soldier persecuted beyond the point of endurance by an older officer. The play will be given an early New York production.

James Bachford, who has been treasurer at Electric Park, Waterloo, Ia., during the season, has returned to Marshalltown to take up his duties as manager of the Odeon Theatre for Busby Bros. This is his third season as manager of the Odeon.

William A. Roche will surrender the management of the Haymarket Theatre Sunday night to Max C. Anderson, of the firm of Anderson & Zelizer, who control the playhouse. Roche will continue to direct the destinies of the Bijou, Academy and Alhambra Theatres.

Mort Singer has leased the entire production of A Stubborn Cinderella to Charles Marvin and William Roche, who will revive the musical show at the Alhambra on October 1, with Madlyn Journe, playing the titular role. It will appear at the Marlowe the week following, with Lella Shaw in the title part, assisted by the Marlowe Stock Company.

Walter Hill, who has been promoting publicity for the Hokin's Circuit, has resigned to accept the editorship of The Player, the official organ of the White Rats. E. E. Meredith has taken Mr. Hill's place here.

Joseph M. Gaites' musical comedy, "Bright Eyes," with Cecil Lean and Florence Holbrook, opened their season at Allentown, Pa., on August 10th, and, after passing out of the hot weather, the piece has been doing a very nice business, especially in the upper peninsula of Michigan, as the weather has been cool and people all seemed to be quite anxious for inside amusements.

SAID AND SEEN IN CHICAGO

Chicago, Sept. 9 (Special to The Billboard).—The successful run of William Hawtreys, in the amusing farce, Dear Old Billy, came to an end at the Whitney Opera House September 9, and that playhouse will remain dark while a new attraction is arranged for it. A play of Cape Cod life, Cy Whitaker's Place, had been scheduled for production there, but its presentation there has been postponed indefinitely. At McVickers Theatre, "The Deep Purple" still thrills with its glimpse of the underworld.

Dante's Inferno is shown with awesome reality in motion pictures at the Princess and will continue until Philip Bartholomae's farce, Over Night, is put on the boards there.

A high class of offerings is promised for next week at the outlying houses. Martin & Emery will present The Red Mill at the Haymarket, beginning Sunday matinee, September 10. This is the fascinating musical comedy by Henry Blossom, with music by Victor Herbert, in which Montgomery and Stone starred so long and successfully. It is sumptuously staged and costumed and is presented by a company of sixty people.

At the Imperial Theatre, A. G. Delamater, the well-known producing manager, will present Stampede, a stirring comedy-drama from the pen of Cecil De Mille, author of Dave Wardfield's latest success, The Return of Peter Grimm. The locale of The Stampede is Arizona, and it is said to abound in logical and stirring incidents.

The Bijou will have as its week's attraction a veritable melodrama of Colonial days, called Daniel Boone on the Trail. A cage of real wolves, a dozen Indians, a bear cub, and a company of live actors will interpret.

Charles Klein's great play of latter-day police methods, The Third Degree, will stir up the patrons of the Crown Theatre for the seven days beginning Sunday matinee, September 10. Winston Churchill's delightful romance of the South in wartime, The Crisis, dramatized from the novel of the same name, will occupy the efforts of the Marlowe Stock Company for the coming week, commencing Monday night. The leading role of Stephen Brice, the Northern law student, is given to Albert Phillips. Lella Shaw is cast for the part of Virginia Carvel, with whom Brice is in love. The scenes, it will be remembered, are laid in St. Louis just after its evacuation by the Confederates.

Salvation Nell, originally produced with Mrs. Fiske and Holbrook Blinn in the leading roles, will appear at the National for the coming week. Miss Mabel Randolph and Edmund Roberts have the roles made famous by their stellar predecessors. Mr. F. A. Gleason, the stage manager, was a member of Mrs. Fiske's original company in this, the most powerful of the dramas from the pen of Edward Sheldon.

The Struggle, a big new melodrama, comes to the Alhambra for the coming week. The production is said to be elaborate.

The College Theatre, which opened its season on Labor Day to crowded houses, reports that the attendance has been at the high-water mark ever since. The Yankee Prince was the opening attraction. It will be supplanted on September 11 by The Awakening of Helena Ritchie, Margaret Anglin's greatest success. The Chorus Lady is scheduled for production for the week following.

The Majestic will have Dr. Ludwig Wullner, the German Hederlinger, as its headliner next week. This theatre never offered a finer artist. Others on an exceptional bill will be Maxie King, the dancer; Mary Norman, impersonator of types; Eugene O'Rourke, a well-known actor; and Welch, Mealy and Montrose.

Miss Emma Slocum, daughter of a travelling salesman in Oak Park, a western suburb of Chicago, has been adopted by Mary Garden as a protegee, and has gone to Paris where she will have a course of instruction under the best

Powers Theatre Marvel of Beauty

Chicago, Sept. 9 (Special to The Billboard).—When Powers' Theatre opens for the fourteenth regular season on Monday, September 18, with Kyle Bellew, in The Mollusc, an entirely new decorative scheme will be revealed to the patrons. The auditorium will be decorated in shades of ivory combined with French gilt moldings, in the style of the eighteenth century. A crimson and gold curtain, and mural paintings of pastoral scenes in the manner of Boucher or Lancret, will add distinction.

James K. Hackett will begin his Chicago engagement at the Blackstone Theatre, on September 18, this being the inaugural attraction of the season at this exquisite playhouse. His engagement will be later followed by that of Leo Ditrchstein, in The Concert.

ELSIE JANIS FOR STUDEBAKER.

Chicago, Sept. 9 (Special to The Billboard).—Miss Elsie Janis, in The Slim Princess, will begin the new season at the Studebaker on Monday evening, September 25. Miss Janis will be supported by a company of 80 people in the Blossom-Stuart musical comedy. Joseph Cawthorne will appear at the head of the supporting cast, among whom are: Julia Frary, Queenie Vassar, May Fields, Ella Rock, Eugene Revere, Sam Burbank, Charles Judeis, Douglas Stephenson, Oscar Ragland, Hans Schmuns-Helk and Lonla Baum.

vocal teachers of the French capital. Miss Garden will hear all the expense. She is said to regard Miss Slocum's voice as the most remarkable in tone, volume, quality and general sweetness that she has ever heard, and predicts a great career for her protegee.

The elite burlesque house, the Columbia, on North Clark Street, will have as its bill for next week Al Reeves' Big Beauty Show. The company includes Andy Lewis, Marie Brundage and a number of other prominent burlesquers.

At the Folly, Zallah's Own Company will present the two burlesques, A Dress Rehearsal at the Folies Bergere and The Unkissed Oriental.

Burna Mantle, formerly dramatic critic of the Inter Ocean and the Tribune, has deserted his desk as Sunday editor of the latter paper and will go to New York to engage in general journalistic work.

Harold Atterice, a Chicago boy who has written many successful songs and lyrics, is in New York writing some verses which will be sung in the new review at the Winter Garden in Gotham. He is also collaborating with Melville Gideon on a new revue for the Folies Bergere.

A complete list of attractions at Chicago Theatres appears on page 60.

THE WEEK IN CHICAGO

ACTS NEW TO CHICAGO

Last Week's List of Newcomers to Chicago's Variety Houses Made Up of Five Clever Turns—The Struggle is an Exceptionally Well Written Dramatic Sketch

GORDON ELDRID & CO., Dramatic Comedy. Won by a Leg; Majestic, Chicago; second in nine-act show; time, nineteen minutes; number of people, four.

Won by a Leg is funny. The fun is continuous throughout. The idea of the first part is not entirely new, wherein a young lady who is engaged to a young man pretends to be deaf and dumb. This idea has been carried out by several teams and the same thing always occurs. He tells her frankly just what he thinks of her, thinking it a huge joke that she can not hear him. She loses her temper and lets the "cat out of the bag." Of course, there is a "split-up" and he decides on a novel revenge by coming back with a fake cork leg. Mr. Eldrid's work here is overflowing with rich comedy. The "gag" is worked by Mr. Eldrid sitting on a seatless chair with his perfectly good leg on the inside and the phoney one on the outside. In an exciting moment he forgets himself and places the phoney one on the wrong side. The deceit is discovered, his revenge is sweet and—the curtain drops. The act responded to four encores and proved one of the hits of the bill.

LEWIS IRVING & CO., Dramatic Playlet. The Struggle; Parkway, Chicago; fourth in six-act show; time, twenty-one minutes; full stage; number of people, three.

The Struggle is one of the best-written dramatic hits seen in Chicago for some time. It is a story of human nature and temptation. The principal character is a young married man who is the treasurer of a large manufacturing plant. His salary is small and he has to worry and economize in order to make both ends meet. He has drawn the weekly payroll of $50,000 and, as the bank is closed, is compelled to keep the money in his home over night. He talks over his hardships and struggles with his wife and proposes that they run away with the money. Of course, she objects, but he has provided for this objection by having a fake telegram sent to him calling him away for the night. He pretends to lock the window, but, instead, unlocks it. After he leaves, the wife grows nervous and is finally startled by a tramp entering and begging for food. She gives him something to eat and the tramp starts to leave. There is a storm raging and she tells the tramp he may stay in the house. She sends him upstairs to bed. She sits in front of the fire, preferring to sit up rather than go to bed. She is startled by someone trying to enter through the window. The tramp has also heard the noise and rushes downstairs to warn her. She hands the tramp a revolver she is holding and the minute the intruder entered, the tramp springs upon him. Of course, the intruder is the husband who has also provided for this emergency by removing the bullets from the

FEATURE BILL AT WILSON

Chicago, Ill., September 9 (Special to The Billboard).—A big feature bill is offered at the Wilson Avenue Theatre this week and, out of the five acts, it is doubtful which is the best, as each of them are worthy of headline positions in the family vanderbilt houses. The Melody Four, a quartet of young men, singers and instrumentalists, under the management of Beecher Bros., score very heavily. Mme. Adelaide Herman (widow of Herman the Great) is headlined, but was hardly up to expectations. However, the prestige of her name may have helped toward a very successful act. With the reign of cool weather conditions, the Wilson has enjoyed record-breaking business, consequently better bills can be offered. There was some rumor about the Elsie this week to the effect that the Arcadia (the big dance hall on Evanston and Wilson Avenues) would be converted into a vanderbilt house. This is not authentic, however, but one thing is sure, with the established patronage enjoyed by the Wilson Avenue for the past two seasons, the Arcadia could be nothing but a losing proposition.

The bill for the first half is opened by the Lunig-Pitaro Troupe of comedy acrobats. There are four men in the troupe, three working straight and one as a comedian. Their work is just a trifle rough in spots but can be easily worked out. The comedy part is not overdone, just enough of it being introduced to lend variety to the act. Their work is fast and some difficult feats are put on very nicely. The act went well for an opener and responded to several encores.

Rohish and Childress appear second on the bill in a novelty singing act. They work in one with a special drop and have a pleasing little vehicle for the introduction of their songs. This act is not nearly as good as the one used by the team for the past few seasons on the Orpheum Time. There is not nearly as much comedy nor the same good class of singing as was used in the old act. There's an old fable, though, about a man who "killed the goose that laid the golden eggs." Read it over Mr. Rohish—that's all.

Jack Harlow and Co. offer a farcical sketch called The Dicky Bird. There is a great sufficiency of good laughs throughout the sketch, which is well-acted by a lady and two gentlemen. The Dicky Bird is a little bit in the story wherein an old man marries a young woman who is ignorant of the fact that she has a stepson in college. However, son comes home. Father receives word in advance and tries to head him off. Son beats father to it and arrives home while dad is waiting at the station to meet him (Dicky). "Mother" gets wise and demands to know who "Dicky" is. Dad and son get together and tell her it's a bird. She's from St. Louis—consequently, son goes out, gets on a "foot" and returns to the parental abode with a large paper-mache "Red Raven." That's the Dicky Bird. The act goes big and with a little smoothing out in spots will be worthy of a place on a more pretentious bill.

VAUDEVILLE CHATTER

Pertinent Gossip of Performers Appearing at the Several Variety Houses in the Western Metropolis—Their Present Activities and Plans for the Future

John and Winnie Hennings opened their season at the Grand at San Claire, Wis., recently and were on the opening bill at the Casino in Chicago, last week.

Dave and Percie Martin are sending out an attractive postal calling attention to their act. J. M. Nix, president of Southern Vaudeville Managers' Association, has given out an interview predicting a big season.

Owen and Hoffman left Chicago, September 9 for Calgary, Can., to open on the Pantages' Circuit.

Mart Fuller, a brother of George Fuller Golden, has succeeded Tom Brantford in the agency business, buying out his office in the Crilly Building.

The Casino Theatre in Chicago, opened Sunday, September 3, and began the season with big business. It is booked by Gus Sun.

Le Ora Vennett recently opened at Joplin, Mo., for a tour of the Charles E. Hodkins' Circuit.

The Original Potts Brothers and Company began their tour of the Hodkins' Circuit at Bowling Green, Ky., September 4 and when they found that there was no program used at that house, got out and sold an advertisement to a local firm and had programs printed independent of the house management. The Twins displayed their diamonds at a local jewelry store, which proved another fine advertising stunt.

Don A. Meaney, a popular Chicago newspaper man, has written the lyrics and Bernice Adler has provided the music for a new ballad, I'd Lay Down My Life and Die.

Bobby Rankin and the Merritt Sisters, whose last engagement with the three-act was on the Hodkins Lyric Circuit, have joined hands again after splitting up during the summer months.

Will Josey has submitted a play to Glendia Kornek and she is tempted to leave vanderbilt to appear in the legitimate.

Lester Rose, for several years associated with different theatrical papers and enjoying a large acquaintance among vaudeville people, has accepted a position in the office of Norman Friedenwald. He began his duties on Wednesday of last week. Lester's friends expect him to make a fine agent.

The Curtis Sisters, who recently returned to Chicago, after a tour of the Hodkins Circuit, were on the opening bill at the Parkway Theatre last week.

Bianche Walsh, soprano, played the Casino the first half of last week. It was not the Bianche Walsh known in the legitimate.

Pirri and Pirri have spent a fortnight in Chicago, desiring a vacation before the opening of the regular season. They had been on the Hodkins Circuit and returned to that tour.

Helen Ogden is playing vanderbilt houses in Ontario and other Canadian provinces.

Bill at Majestic Theatre

The bill this week is good but hardly up to the standard of the one offered last. Mabel Hite holds the headline position this week and holds it well. She's just as crazy as ever and if anything got more laughs than when last seen here. No doubt one great feature instrumental to Miss Hite's great popularity is her delightful originality. There is not a line in her entire offering that is not strictly a "Hite line." Business continues to flourish at the Majestic and with the outlook at present owing to playing some of the highest acts, this condition will undoubtedly prevail for some time to come.

Four new acts have spots on the bill this week and are all well liked. Ethel McDonough, who appeared here last season at the Music Hall in a swimming act, under the name of The Divine Myrna, offers a singing act wherein drum playing is introduced. Miss McDonough is not over modest in her costumes and it might be well to suggest that a sea-shore song demands a more conservative costume than one worn in a swimming act. However, Miss McDonough does not seem to realize this fact.

The show is opened by Tuscano Brothers, battle-axe jugglers. They are reviewed under New Acts.

Gordon Eldrid and Company appear in a comedy sketch called, Won by a Leg; the act

THE PARKWAY BILL.

Chicago, Ill., Sept. 9 (Special to The Billboard).—The old Chesterfield, etc., Lew Hawkins, is on the job as the box-office magnet at the Parkway Theatre this week.

The show is opened by a team (lady and gentlemen), singing and dancing, whose names do not appear on the program. Judging from the result of their work they were "just trying out."

Van Camp and his dancing pig appear next. Van Camp introduces a few feats in magic which is entirely out of place in an act of this nature. The little pig used in the act is exceptionally clever and well trained. Owing to this novelty the act went big.

Nancy Lee Rice, singing and dancing harpist, has a very neat little act and one that goes over very nicely. She is appropriately costumed in green and uses a small harp which she carries on her shoulder. Miss Rice plays, sings and dances and does all very well. She responded to three encores.

Lewis-Ingling and Company present a dramatic playlet, The Struggle, which is reviewed under New Acts.

Lew Hawkins sings the same old songs and tells the same old gags which he has been using in vanderbilt for some time. The material seemed to be new to the Parkway audience, and Hawkins proved a small riot.

The Four Lincolns, a comedy quartette which has been seen about Chicago for the past five years, close the show. The boys have made very little change in their offering and go very big.

Glover Declares Report False

Chicago, Ill., Sept. 7, 1911.

Editor The Billboard, Cincinnati, Ohio.

Dear Sir:—In order to correct an apparently radical misunderstanding in regard to the recent transfer of the Bijou and Academy Theatres, I beg to make the following statement:

The sale by Mr. Middleton and Mrs. Castle of the stock in those two theatres, to Mrs. Caroline Kohl, made no change whatever in the management or controlling ownership of the regular Kohl-Castle theatres, which are the Chicago Opera House, Majestic, Olympic and Haymarket. The officers chosen after the death of the lamented Charles E. Kohl are in full charge of these theatres, not the slightest change having been made in the operation of the company. These officers are: George Castle, president; Martin Beck, vice-president; Charles E. Kohl Jr., secretary and treasurer; and Lyman B. Glover, general manager.

The Bijou and Academy were not distinctively Kohl-Castle properties, the preponderant interest in them belonging to Mr. Middleton. By this Bijou-Academy purchase, therefore, Mrs. Kohl acquires these two West Side theatres as a personal investment. She also obtained the stock interest held by Mr. Middleton in the down-town houses, which did not change the balance of stock ownership.

It will appear, therefore, that the statement provided by some irresponsible news agent to the effect that the time-honored Kohl-Castle firm is at last wiped out is absolutely false. Mr. Castle and all his associates are actively engaged in maintaining the prestige of the concern, which was never more prosperous.

Yours very truly,
LYMAN B. GLOVER,
General Manager.

VAUDEVILLE NOTES.

Wentworth, Vests and Teddy have been selected by Percy G. Williams to be the first act to step upon the stage of his New Bushwick Theatre in New York, which opens September 11.

Grant Gardner and Marie Stoddard have returned to New York City from their summer home on Long Island, and will soon start a tour of the U. S. O. houses, opening at Shea's, Buffalo.

Vaudeville has enlisted another recruit from the ranks of the legitimate, James O'Neil of Monte Cristo fame. His vanderbilt vehicles will be condensed versions of Monte Cristo and Julius Caesar.

The Barlow Show reports all well and business fine. They landed in Illinois August 12, and will remain there the balance of the season. 1911 promises to be a record-breaker for this show.

Nicolson, Kush Trio, Austrian equilibrist, have joined the Coburn Greater Minstrels for the season of 1911-12.

Hampton and Bassett open the season for the W. V. M. A. at St. Louis and are booked solid.

IMP PLANT THREATENED

Prompt Action on Part of Employees in Extinguishing Blaze Saves Moving Picture Plant from Probable Entire Destruction

New York, Sept. 8 (Special to The Billboard).—Prompt action on the part of twelve of the employees of the Imp Moving Picture Company's printing and developing plant at 102 W. 101st Street, New York, saved the entire Imp plant from destruction by fire, on Tuesday, September 5. The Imp Company is located on the fourth floor of the building and the fire started on the floor below which is occupied by the Belfert & Abel Co., manufacturers of women's underwear. Two of the Imp workmen were the first outside of the Belfert & Abel employees to notice the smoke, which had sifted up through the elevator shaft and into the Imp developing room.

R. PRIEUR RETURNS.

New York, Sept. 8 (Special to The Billboard).—Mr. R. Prieur, head of the Lux Motion Picture Co., will return to America after a long absence in England. Mr. Prieur sails on the Lusitania Saturday, September 9 and will arrive in New York on September 14. The enormous business of the Lux Co. throughout Europe and part of Asia has compelled him to remain in London but the opening of the winter season in America is of such importance as to bring him here.

REALISTIC FILM.

The demand for realism in film production has led the Yankee Film Co. to utilize an entire newspaper plant in the production of a newspaper story, or rather a story about a newspaper. The director has found occasion to use every room in the plant tracing the composing and issuance of one edition from start to finish while the film was being played. The film to be called The Star Reporter and will be of future release.

Purchased Dante Film Rights

New York, September 9 (Special to The Billboard).—Karl W. Bornscheln of Ellsworth, Kan., has purchased from the Monopol Film Company the exclusive Kansas state's rights for the famous Dante's Inferno Milano Films. The Banner Film & Supply Co. of Kansas City, Mo., have purchased the exclusive rights for the same films for the states of Texas, Iowa, Oklahoma, Nebraska, New Mexico, North Dakota and South Dakota.

CHICAGO FILM NOTES.

The Temptations of a Great City were recently shown at the Boston Theatre on Madison Street, and those of the moving picture industry who saw them had only praise to offer. The Standard Film Exchange controls the Illinois, Indiana, Minnesota and Wisconsin state rights on this film and as a lobby advertising feature are putting out a handsomely decorated screen bearing many scenes of the subject.

Now that the Kinescope pictures have left the Garrick Theatre, the moving picture public of Chicago are turning their attention to the Dante Inferno film which is being exhibited at the Princess Theatre. That the moving picture is a larger entertainment factor than is generally thought is being demonstrated at the Princess at each performance by its large audiences. A similar interest was also evinced in the Kinescope and Lyman Howa pictures at the Garrick and the travel film at the Studebaker.

At a recent picture taken at the Selig studio of a circus scene, much comment was made by those present on the realistic way in which the front of the white top was arranged. In every way and detail it resembled some of our largest circuses. The entire equipment was furnished by the United States Tent & Awning Company, whose knowledge of show equipment covers every branch of that line of amusement, and whose tents and banners are used by a number of our largest circuses.

William H. Bell, manager of the General Film Company, 435 North Clark Street, Chicago, has sold to August Weaver & Son of Spokane, Wash., the moving picture supply house in that city known as the Northwestern Amusement Supply Company.

OES RETURNS.

New York, September 9 (Special to The Billboard).—The United States, which pleads between Copenhagen, Denmark, and New York City, brought among its many passengers, September 5, Ingvald C. Oes, American general manager of the Great Northern Film Co. Mr. Oes included in his visit Germany and Norway, as well as Denmark. While on the continent he looked through a considerable number of new films produced by the Nordisk Co. and expressed over their superiority. Besides manufacturing the best film features and sensations of the present time, they will also place light comedies, carefully executed and acted, upon the American market. Mr. Oes was gone almost a month. Welcome back!

The entire force ran down the fire escape and forming a bucket brigade fought the quickly-spreading flames desperately for fifteen minutes before they were extinguished. There was some delay in turning in the alarm which delayed the arrival of the fire department until about fifteen minutes after the discovery of the fire so that when it finally arrived the Imp boys had the flames under control and a small stream of water from the fire department's hose finished the work.

The employees of the factory are always on the alert for signs of fire, each and all knowing the result should a blaze of any considerable size once get started. The knowledge of the location of the blaze in the floor below was all that was needed, therefore, to bring prompt aid and despite the combustible nature of the linen factory's stock the fire was kept within the confines of the third floor and the Imp factory suffered no loss. Several of the boys received slight facial and hand and other minor injuries but all hail the event as a lucky escape rather than a mishap.

A TRIUMPH FOR SELIG

Chicago Film Maker Surprises Contemporary Manufacturers by Showing Finished Picture of Gotch-Hackenschmidt Wrestling Match on Day Contest Was Held

Chicago, Ill., Sept. 7 (Special to The Billboard).—Probably one of the greatest triumphs in the history of moving pictures may be credited to the Selig Polyscope Company of Chicago, who made the pictures of the Gotch-Hackenschmidt wrestling match on last Monday afternoon, and showed them at the Majestic Theatre on Monday evening. About two weeks ago a representative of the Selig Polyscope Co. called on Manager Lyman B. Glover and made arrangements to spring a surprise on the Majestic audience. Mr. Glover gave his consent, but had no idea that the Selig people could "get away with it." No more was heard of the matter by Mr. Glover until Monday evening at 9:50, when he was called to the phone and informed that the films were ready and would be in the theatre at 10:10. The Selig Company's plant is about eight miles from the Majestic, and Mr. Glover informed them that he did not think they could reach the theatre in time to show the film. However the Selig people were prepared for just such an emergency, and had obtained a special police permit for a record-breaking "joy ride," and resultantly had the film in the operator's cage at 10:08. Mr. Raymond of Raymond and Carver made the announcement, which was greeted with a storm of applause. As a general thing over half the Majestic's audience leaves during the last act, but one would have had to turn in a fire alarm to get them out following this announcement. Nor was there any cause for disappointment, for the film was exceptionally clear and vivid. Both the management of the Majestic Theatre and the Selig Company are to be congratulated on the smoothness with which the entire exhibition was carried off. The film was not shown at the Majestic after Monday evening, and the result was a great number of disappointed patrons who had heard of the exhibition and expected it to be continued through the week.

Charles Vance, owner of Dreamland Theatre, Streator, Ill., recently leased a building on the main street of that city, in which he will open another moving picture theatre about the first of September with licensed film secured from the General Film Co. on Wabash Avenue.

The Yankee Film Co. is now working upon a series of Irish classics which will allow the operator to project some of the scenes, stories and song plots so dear to the hearts of Irishmen. The series will include such classics as Colleen Bawn, Kathleen Mavourneen, etc.

The Motion Picture Publicity Company, recently formed, report good business for the first week of its existence. Several clients have applied at the office of the company, 103 Fourth Avenue, New York City, in regard to the handling of their advertising.

Mr. J. J. Newcomb, director of the orchestra at Wolf's Opera House, Burlington, Kan., has opened up a first-class moving picture theatre in that city, at which his orchestra of seven pieces will render musical programs in connection with the show.

Moving Picture Theatres

Hulu's New Theatre at Pleasantville, N. J., is owned and run by the old-time circus minstrel and dime museum feature, Frank B. Hulu, who during his long career was connected with some of the leading shows of the country, his last engagement being with Ringling Bros. in 1894-5. The house is devoted to moving pictures, seats 650 and costs $25,000.

The Vandette Motion Picture Theatre, Atlanta, Ga., opened September 4. The house is owned by and under the management of J. C. & J. G. Evans, and represents the last word in moving picture theatre construction. A pleasing feature of the new Vandette is the indirect lighting, no lights being visible in all the house.

B. F. Christman and H. Fickenshler purchased the Gem Theatre, Frederick, Okla., from Wilbur and Tate and the Air dome from Dr. Shaw and the Electric from W. P. Cox. It is their intention to operate all of the shows under one management. These gentlemen have been very successful in their past enterprises at Halsey, Okla.

The Jersey Theatre Company had under construction, and will soon open, a magnificent new theatre, to be known as The New Orpheum, located at Newark, N. J. It will be under the management of Max Schlesinger. The cost is to be $75,000, and when completed will be one of the finest in the state of New Jersey.

The Iris Theatre, McAlester, Okla., has changed hands. J. A. Steinborn, manager of the Forum being the new purchaser. The Iris and the Forum will be under the same management in the future, and both theatres will run first-run licensed films with three changes weekly.

Harry Evans has purchased the Princess Theatre at Mayfield, Ky., from M. Blumenthal. Mr. Evans will operate this house in connection with the Dixie, showing high-class vaudeville, songs and pictures.

The property at 2716-18 Girard Avenue, Philadelphia, has been sold to Morria Spiss, who will erect a moving picture theatre there. The structure is to be used for motion pictures exclusively.

The Majestic Motion Picture Theatre at Beloit, Wis., has closed, owing to the hot weather. The Star Theatre has added five-cent vaudeville to its picture exhibit, and the result is big business.

Plans have been drawn for a moving picture theatre to be built at Utica, N. Y. It is the intention of the management to have the new house ready for opening some time in September.

A. E. Holton has leased the Stephens Opera House at Booneville, Mo., and will operate it as a moving picture house, with occasional high-class attractions, during the coming season.

The Air dome at Dewey, a suburb of Burlington, Okla., has reopened under the management of W. B. Dixon. Three reels of independent films constitute the program.

The Fayette, picture house at Washington, D. C., will business August 1. The entire outfit has been moved to Sabina, O., and will be established there.

A SCENE IN DANTE'S INFERNO, THE FEATURE MONOPOL FILM.

"Look how thou walkest. Take good heed thy sole tread not on the heads of thy poor brethren."

Charleston Devastation Filmed

With enterprise that is commendable the L. M. P. Company had a photographer on the spot to preserve in film the scenes of the recent hurricane and flood at Charleston during the closing days of August. The film is for release Monday, September 18 and will be called The Great Charleston Hurricane and Flood. Those who have read the newspaper accounts are familiar with the harrowing story. It is pronounced the most disastrous storm that ever invaded the East coast of the Atlantic Ocean and Charleston, S. C., was in the center of the storm that created havoc on land and on sea.

When the first reports of the storm arrived the Imp management despatched a camera man and assistants to the scene of devastation with instructions to spare no expense to photograph the event. How well the man with the camera succeeded is best left to the film secured. Working under a handicap that would have driven many men from the scene the employees trained the lens on scenes while the rain poured in torrents and he was obliged to wade in water nearly to his waist. Nothing was missed and, notwithstanding the incessant rain, the negative secured is a splendid one, the triumph of photographers' skill.

The scenes in Charleston are the most thrilling ever taken of the results of a storm and the pictures are the first ever taken of a calamity of like proportions by a camera for moving picture production. Words utterly fail to describe the scene of devastation or the loss to property and shipping.

The Champion Film Company is preparing and will shortly release a film which promises to be above the ordinary grade of films in many respects. It will be called The Red Devils, author being Sidney Drew. Besides coming from the pen of Drew, which fact would distinguish the film from the ordinary, the production is to be made an especially large one. The release date is not yet set.

Sales Company's Second Ball

New York, Sept. 6 (Special to The Billboard).—The second semi-annual ball of the Sales Company Employees' Association will be held Saturday evening, October 14, at Alhambra Hall, Seventh Avenue and One Hundred and Twenty-sixth Street, New York. President Spanu of the association, has gone to endless trouble in the preparation of the program for the evening and has even arranged to tender each guest a souvenir in the form of an artistically gotten up sofa pillow cover made of fine material with the emblem of the Sales Company printed over the face in silver.

A souvenir program is also being gotten up for the occasion and will be artistically designed with sketches and drawings emblematic of the business. Manufacturers and those engaged in other branches of the business are being asked to take advertising space in the program in order to complete its make up and render it inclusive to every detail. From the magnitude of present arrangements the ball promises to be a success in every sense of the word and it is to be hoped that all who have any connection with the Independent side of the motion picture game will be present on the evening of the 14th. Tickets, costing $1.00, are on sale at the various exchanges and the newspaper offices or can be had from any Sales Company employee.

KIEWERT ELECTED PRESIDENT.

New York, Sept. 8 (Special to The Billboard).—Mr. Robert W. Kiewert has been elected president of the Charles L. Kiewert Co. of New York, distributors of the well-known Bio Carbons. The company's headquarters are located in Milwaukee and their carbon business will be managed from said city in the future, although the East will be supplied from their big warehouse on Greenwich Street, New York. This enterprising company is able to report a very satisfactory year for "Bio."

AN ENTERPRISING FIRM

Notes from American Music Publishers of Their Latest Songs, and the Artists Through Whose Aid They Are Popularized

History of the Aufderheide & Co. Music Firm Discloses Remarkable Rise from Obscurity to Fame in an Incredibly Short Time

M. WITMARK & SONS.

Joe Graham, the boy with the soprano voice, singing on the W. V. Time, is going very big with the new Irish ballad, For Kiliarney and You, wherever he shows. This number is, without doubt, the successor to River Shannon.

Deagon Bros., playing the Orpheum Time, are using the two ballad hits of the season, and they report both numbers force them to take several encores each performance, singing in the Garden of My Heart, and Goodbye, My Love, Goodbye.

Chas. Colbert, playing Buchanan Time, is singing Never Mind the Family Tree, and the song hit of the season, Baby Rose, with great success.

The Goodwin Bros., known as the whistling bachelors, are whistling their way through Wisconsin and Indiana with Witmark hits. They are using in the Garden of My Heart, On San Francisco Bay, and Baby Rose, the latest song, is the hit of their act.

Miss Katherine Kavies, who is playing with Arlbor Gillespie, are singing Any Girl Looks Good in Summer, Baby Rose, and Ernest Ball's latest ballad success, Goodbye, My Love, Goodbye.

Sampson and Reilly, who are playing over the Orpheum Time, and going big on each bill, are singing Goodbye, My Love, Goodbye, in the Garden of My Heart, and Baby Rose. All of these numbers are going very big with them.

Chas. Dayton, the man with the three voices, is creating a riot at the Wayne Roof Garden, Detroit, singing Goodbye, My Love, Goodbye. Mr. Dayton has three distinct voices, which he uses perfectly, and the above song made him respond to several encores each performance.

Maime Hammer, who is singing her way into the hearts of the Chicago public, is using with great success at the Congress this week, Goodbye, My Love, Goodbye, and Santalita.

FRED HEIF CO. NOTES.

Bert A. Williams, who introduced and popularized Play That Barber Shop Chord, is making an equally big hit with the latest novelty song success, Lord, Have Mercy on a Married Man, which he is singing in The Follies of 1911.

Harry Leighton, manager for eleven years of Vogel's Minstrels, is now associated with the J. Fred Heif Co., and has been placed in charge of their professional department.

That beautiful rustic ballad, I am Longing for the Old Days, Marguerite, brings Theis' Harmonists plenty of applause.

The biggest of the Heif song hits used by Lew Dockstader's Minstrels this season is Lord, Have Mercy on a Married Man. Among the other Heif successes in the Dockstader company are: Wanted—A Mary Like the Angels Play, the new child ballad, sung by Master Charles Lee Love is the Only Thing in Life, high-class ballad, sung by Don Ferrandou; Bring Me a Message of Love, White Dove, march ballad, sung by Roy La Pearl; This Ain't the Place I Thought It Was, comic song, sung by Nell O'Brien; On the First Dark Night Next Week, novelty song, sung by Happy Nantty and Charles Leo; Yesterday, to-day and Forever, concert number, sung by Bob Albright; I am Longing for the Old Days, Marguerite, rustic ballad, sung by Marnet Romaine; Texas Tommy's Dance, Western novelty song, sung by "Happy" Nantty; Gee, but it's Great to Meet a Friend From Your Home Town, the sensational song success, sung by Roy La Pearl, and Let's Make a Rag of the Old Oaken Bucket, novelty song, sung by the entire company.

ROSSITER MUSIC GOSSIP.

Browning & Manning, new on Gus Sun Time, report excellent results with Let's Make Love While the Moon Shines, a new number, and I'd Love to Live in Loveland with a Girl Like You, as a solo.

Russell & Shreve, singing medians, have been taking encores with When it's Honeysuckle Time, and will add to their act the big success, Let's Make Love While the Moon Shines. Geo. Austin Moore & Cordie Hauger speak in glowing terms of Let's Make Love While the Moon Shines.

Gretchen Spencer is using That Carolina Rag and receiving praise notices at every performance.

The one big hit of Norwood & Wheeler's act is That Carolina Rag. John Baxter is also cleaning up with this number at Coney Island and the East.

Nonette, the singing violinist, is using Let's Make Love While the Moon Shines as her closing number and Love Me, Let the World Go By, with violin obligato.

At Abbott is still proving a drawing attraction among Chicago's neighborhood theatres. His latest song success is When I Woke Up This Morning and That Carolina Rag.

Bessie Kefau, who has been singing at the La Salle Roof all summer, has reorganized her trio and is now ready to play W. V. M. A. Time which she has booked. I'd Love to Live in Loveland with a Girl Like You will be featured.

STERN & COMPANY NOTES.

Mark and Worth, presenting a comedy skit, The Scotchman and the Yankee Girl, have accepted contracts for a number of weeks of New England Time. They have interpolated the new comedy song, On the B. A. R.

Farley and Morrison were successful at the New York Theatre, where they showed their act in New York City for the first time. They are finishing their turn with Macdonald and Walker's Mississippi Dippy Dip. The dance which they originated for the "Dip" is a feature of their act.

One of the feature acts with the New Century Girls this season is the Musical Stewarts. Ed. Stewart is playing Oppenheim and Cooper's Child Love, on a novelty one-string 'cello.

Dora Pelletier and Company are now playing in New York City.

Hazel Miller and Company have a new act combining singing, dancing and a rattling finish with brass quartette, two trombones and two

The history of the J. H. Aufderheide & Co.'s music firm, dates from the publication of Dusty Rag, composed by May Aufderheide, a talented young musician well known to musicians throughout Indiana, where she resides.

Dusty Rag created a demand. First published as a compliment to Miss Aufderheide it has constantly grown in popularity and "re-orders" have run its sales up into big figures. The catchy ragtime of the special kind first introduced in Miss Aufderheide's Dusty, took Incorporated in 1911, with J. H. Aufderheide, president; Charles D. Lynch, secretary; William G. Maguire, treasurer and manager of the Indianapolis offices, and Lawrence William Denker, manager of the Chicago offices, and with increased facilities, large capital and a wide knowledge and experience as to the wants of the musical profession and trade, the company has made rapid strides. During the present year the Aufderheide catalogue has grown by leaps and bounds. Among recent additions are That Lovin' Dippy Glide, by Bobbie Jones; Horseshoe Rag, by Julia Niebergall; I Want a Patriotic Girl, by May Aufderheide; Kitty Magee, by Charlotte Hisslon, and others.

By "live wire" methods, with enthusiasm instilled by praise on the part of dealers and musical experts everywhere, and by extensive advertising recently undertaken, the popular Aufderheide list has been made known until they are to be found on sale everywhere. The mails carry the numbers to every part of this country and foreign countries.

Aufderheide & Co. have two very complete musical establishments. In Indianapolis, in the Unity Building, are located the publishing headquarters, with stock rooms, shipping depot, financial office and a professional room in charge of William G. Maguire. In Chicago are the offices of the company which are probably best known to the profession. Centrally located, in Suite 403, Randolph Building, are the Chicago supply depot and professional and musical headquarters in charge of Lawrence William Denker, the genial "Larry" so well known to musical circles. At these establishments new friends are being made daily.

Assisting the managers of the Indianapolis and Chicago houses of Aufderheide is a strong corps of arrangers, manuscript reviewers, composers, lyric writers, and assistants in charge of the various branches of the company's business. Prominent among these are Paul Pratt, (composer of the recent successes, Moontime is Spootime and That Ever Lovin' Bear-Cat Dance) who has charge of the professional department, also Duane Crab, Miss Wachstetter, Miss Helen Ritter, Will B. Morrison, Charlotte Hisslon, Abe Gloman, N. S. Carter, Russell M. Tarbox, Dwight Wiley and others.

Everything points to "Success" in big letters for Aufderheide's "House of Melodic Ideas."

V. KREMER CO. NOTES.

The Three Dixie Girls are using Tell Me If Love Is a Dream and Honey Sal, with big success.

Detro is now on the Coast, and has added Ragged Edges to his act, and it is going big.

Ferguson and Northlane, the two English girls, are scoring very big with Honey Sal.

The Dalys will add Tell Me If Love Is a Dream, the new ballad, to their act.

Kantman and Santelle are featuring Sing Ye an Irish Come All Ye to repeated success.

Levere and Palmer have a strong finish with the strong ballad, The Stars Are the Eyes of Night.

SIREN MUSIC IN DEMAND.

New York, September 2 (Special to The Billboard).—Joseph W. Stern and Co. have ventured the prediction that the ultimate sale of The Siren music, written by Leo Fall, will surpass the high water mark set by The Spring Maid. The call for copies of individual numbers as well as the complete score has been tremendous and hundreds of advance orders have been booked. The edition following the play exactly and containing all of Leo Fall's charming melodies will be on the market within a fortnight. In the meantime several editions of the separate numbers have been exhausted. The main sellers seem to be Wallflower So Sweet, sung by Donald Brian and Julia Sanderson; Music Caressing of Violins (waltz caprice), sung by Mr. Brian and Miss Sanderson; Him! She is the One Girl, the solo song sung by Donald Brian, and Farmhouse Life—Country Life, sung by Miss Sanderson and Will West.

Morehouse, of Boston, who has the selling privilege in the theatre, states that the average sale is between a hundred and two hundred copies nightly at 35 cents a copy. Of this at least 98 per cent is the music by Leo Fall.

Stern and Co.'s new production will be Miss Dudesack, now in rehearsal by Klaw & Erlanger and Werba & Loewer. In this piece Lulu Glaser will star and Mr. Richards, of "Goodbye Soldier" fame, will play the part of Lieutenant Jack, the principal male character.

WRITE TWO NUMBERS.

New York, September 9 (Special to The Billboard).—Jack D. Richmond and Ben Grossman, who are identified with the Seymour Furth Music Pub. Co., have written and placed with the Shapiro Music Co., Inc., two new numbers, entitled My Man and Good-bye Broadway. Richmond and Grossman have each written a number of songs. I'm Lonesome and Every Moment That I'm Lonesome was written by the two while The Dreamy Barcarole Tune, Memories, etc., are numbers from the pen of Mr. Grossman.

MUSIC NOTES.

Mr. S. Everett Haskell of Lynn, Mass., well-known composer and former Billboard representative, has accepted the position of Eastern representative of the H. K. Duxdale Co. of Washington, D. C., music publishers. Mr. Haskell is also well known in T. M. A. circles and the above comes as a reward well earned by his recent clever work.

MANAGERIAL STAFF AUFDERHEIDE MUSIC CO.

1—J. H. Aufderheide. 2—Chas. D. Lynch, secretary. 3—Lawrence Wm. Denker, Chicago manager. 4—Wm. G. Maguire, treasurer and general manager Indianapolis office. 5—Miss Wachstetter, professional department, Indianapolis office. 6—Helen Ritter, professional department, Chicago office. 7—Paul C. cornets. For this finish Miss Miller is singing Henry & Brannen's I'm Looking For A Nice Young Fellow, and the company join in the finish on musical instruments, Miss Miller playing the lead on a cornet.

Miss Pelletier is featuring Lewia & Bennett's "spot-light" song, My! What a Funny Little World This Is.

Della Davis of Davis and Davis has interpolated Krouse and Goodall's high-class love ballad, I'll Go with You to the End of the World, in their sketch, The Traveling Man and the Maid.

George B. Alexander, the "tramp" comedian and monologist, scored a tremendous hit at Loew's Seventh Avenue Theatre with the new novelty comedy song, On the B. A. R.

ARTHUR C. WILSON MUSIC CO. NOTES.

Through the consistent and well-directed efforts of its professional department manager, Miss Beale St. Claire, the Arthur C. Wilson Music Pub. Co. is making rapid progress in the field of popular music.

From present indications the two numbers, When It's Jane Time, Sweet Elaine, and the rustic ballad, When the Cotton Blossoms Meet Me, Mary Dear, just brought out by them, are bound to be among the season's big successes.

to such an extent that other numbers of its clever character were demanded by music lovers.

Richmond Rag, Buzzer Rag, I'll Pledge My Heart to You Blue Ribbon Rag, In Bamboo Land and others by Miss Aufderheide followed Dusty and immediately became popular.

Although first shown to friends who admired Miss Aufderheide's talent, it was but a short period until dealers became acquainted with her numbers, and, recognizing their distinctive merit, sent in orders for copies to sell to the general public.

The details of publishing and shipping Miss Aufderheide's music became more than a mere pastime matter requiring as it soon did, a goodly working force devoting its whole time to the business which had developed. The publishing business of J. H. Aufderheide, Indianapolis, was established by Miss Aufderheide's father to take care of the sale of her own popular numbers. The firm's policy soon embraced a general publishing business and new pieces, Vanity, by Paul Pratt; Cuddle Stick Rag, by Abe Gloman; A Totally Different Rag, by May Aufderheide, and others were soon added to the list of publications. Business grew. Sales by merit alone were wonderful, they justified a larger establishment still, and it was not long until J. H. Aufderheide & Co., Indianapolis and Chicago, was incorporated to put the fast-growing catalogue, the offspring of Dusty, within reach of a bigger field.

LONDON NEWS LETTER

Dawn of Theatrical Season of 1911-12 Breaking Slowly—Only a Few Theatres are Open but Many are Preparing to Inaugurate Season—Passing of Old Playhouse

I have always maintained that we have brought play production in this country down to a pretty fine art; but one has to make one important reservation in regard to this statement—that is in the manner in which, in this country, a play is exploited. No pains are spared in seeing that the cost is not only efficient but suitable and adequate down in the smallest speaking part; infinite care is given to the mounting, staging and general scenic effect. And yet, when all this labor has been bestowed, when it comes to a question of actually introducing a play to the public our methods are antiquated and bad.

The fault lies both with the theatre manager and the theatre press agent. The average manager, when he has put the finishing touches on the production, sees that the play is well advertised in the newspapers and on the boards, is assured that some formal announcements have gone out to the newspapers, thinks he has done enough. The press agent, on his part, sees that the paragraphs do reach the papers, answers any questions that some inquiring newspaper may put to him, and considers that his duty is done. Between the two of them they very often succeed in running what might be a first-class money maker.

Perhaps one ought really to blame the system. I don't think that the average manager has any conception of what may be done by a really good press agent. In some cases I have known the latter has been regarded either as an unnecessary addition to the salary list or as a person who need not be regarded particularly seriously. Perhaps you may open your eyes at this and wonder that such a state of affairs can really exist in this year of grace. But let me assure you it is a real existing fact. As for the press agent, in nine cases out of ten my opinion is that he does not know his business either in theory or in practice.

No doubt this last statement would raise the most fearful howl over here. All the same it happens to be true and you would only have to talk to any practical newspaper man to get confirmation of it. In ninety per cent of the cases all that a newspaper gets from a press agent is formal parts of the description—"Such and such a play reached its 100th performance at the theatre last evening, and 'House Full' has been the order of the day for weeks." Occasionally he may have flashes of brilliance and rise to the heights of faking a jewelry theft from an actress. But even this strains him for some time after. His conception of his business is getting a succession of trite paragraphs into the theatrical columns of several newspapers and then he thinks his day's work is done.

The idea that he has to make his play and his theatre one of the points of vital interest in the eyes of the newspapers has not yet struck our home-bred press agent. His range lies between boring to tears the desk editors or else putting their backs up by some silly fake which would put them in had if they fell for it. Of the art of getting a genuine "story" out of his show he has no conception. The idea of getting a newspaper genuinely interested and making it think that it really has a genuine stunt on hand has never occurred to him.

Not only this. At times he allows his methods positively to set the newspapers actually against his play and to reduce the notices of it in the news columns to a minimum. For instance, it was the general practice here, and still is in many theatres, to call a photographer in just before a first night, and, for a consideration, allow him to take exclusive pictures both of the scenery and the action of the play. The photographer would then go to the newspapers and attempt to sell these pictures for amounts varying from $250 to as much as $25. Naturally no newspaper wanted on its own account to pay money to do a little advertising on behalf of a theatre, and consequently it was a rarity to see any play photos in the papers. Of course, it occurred one day to an enterprising press agent—there are some good men here—that it would be far better if the theatre took the picture on its own account and distributed them to just as many newspapers as would take them. As might be expected every newspaper printed the pictures and the play got all the publicity that could be desired.

And then again the average press agent utterly fails to realize that to do any good he must be in close personal touch with the newspaper offices and personnel, and that it is the personal touch that counts more than anything. How any reasonable being can think he will do any good by sitting in an office and sending out more or less uninteresting matter will ever do any good is a perpetual puzzle to me. And yet this is the general method. On the other hand I know several press agents that can get all the publicity they want in the news columns. The publicity they want in the news columns is easy. They go to themselves, they get to know the men in charge, they make themselves agreeable and, of course, they begin to be regarded as part and parcel of the establishment. But these men are the exception and not the rule.

Moreover some of these gentlemen have not even an elementary knowledge of their functions. For instance, some little while ago an American newspaper man just arrived here heard that there was a real good story in connection with a somewhat notorious vandyke performer. Not knowing where to find her he went to the theatre where she was showing and was told to see the press agent. After keeping him waiting for about an hour a gorgeously dressed individual, with studs about as big as a plate and patent-leathers that would have done credit to Jack Johnson, appeared and in a lofty tone asked the newspaper man his business. Being told it he remarked in a loftier manner than ever: "We can't give you any information of that kind. You must write to the lady and ask for an appointment." Now, fancy it. Here actually was a story that would have turned the eyes of the entire country on that particular theatre, and the press agent himself tries to hinder a newspaper man from getting it! A man like this ought to be poleaxed out of his job.

There is certainly a great field in this country for a press agent in the theatrical business who knows his job. Any man that cares to take up the work and while keeping clear of faking and sensationalism will give the newspapers a line of real bright interesting straight stuff should do real well here. At present the first-class men in the business could be counted on the fingers of one hand. There is plenty of room for more. But newcomers must remember this one thing—don't fake; and if you must fake, put the newspaper reporter wise to it.

In the case of touring companies the press agent, except in a few instances, hardly exists. As a rule the advance man is expected to do the press work. Of course, he has very little time and if he can manage just to drop

Gossip Concerning the Coming Theatrical Season—Passing of a Famous Playhouse—At the Summer Parks. News Items in Short Paragraphs

Slowly one can see signs of awakening among the closing playhouses. Many of the theatres now dark are, nevertheless, quite animated with in; cleaners, painters, upholsterers, decorators and others bustling about getting things in shape for the winter of 1911-12.

So far, few of the theatres have reopened, but opening dates have been set by many houses, said dates being rather close at hand. The Opera, of course, and the Comedie-Francaise, being heavily endowed by the French government, are open throughout the summer, the younger members of the companies then getting their chances at the big roles. All other places of amusement close for a time, more or less long. The Chatelet has reopened, being perhaps the first to do so. It has put on a revival of Around the World in Eighty Days. The Gymnase got back into the game this week with a revival of last season's success, Papa, the de Flers-de Caillavet comedy, to be seen in America this fall under Charles Frohman's banner. The artists who created the various roles are still vacationing by the sea, in the mountains, or elsewhere, and understudies are taking their places. The Palais-

Théâtre Timmory and M. de Marsan are the authors of the new work. It will be produced early in October. M. de Max, known in the United States (having appeared there as Bernhardt's leading support some years ago), will have the principal role.

The last of this month will see the Theatre Sarah Bernhardt reopen its doors with a revival of La Dame de Monsoreau, but without the great tragedienne herself in the cast. M. de Max will again take the role of Chicot, a role which fits him like a glove. This piece is intended simply as an opener and will not have a long run—can't have, since de Max is under contract to appear at the Chatelet in October.

We are promised a treat this winter at the Theatre Rejane. According to the story, Messrs. Rip and Bonquet are preparing a revue for this playhouse and the leading roles will be interpreted by M. Signoret and Mme. Rejane herself. Rejane in a revue!!

OLD THEATRE PASSES.

The famous old theatre, the Nonvanteas, is now well on its way to the scrap-heap, the house-wreckers having been pulling it down for several days. It was one of the favorite playhouses of Paris and upon its stage have been some of the heat of that brand of actors known as "typically parisian."

Just before his manager, Henri Micheau, gave it over to the contractor to be demolished—because it stands in the way of a new street which is being cut through a block of houses—he invited to come and dine with him on the stage of the theatre all the authors whose plays he has produced in the house—that is, all who were living and who were living near enough to Paris to come. Alfred Capus, Georges Feydeau, Pierre Weber, Jacques Lemstra, Robert de Flers, Gaston de Caillavet, Maurice Hennequin, Pierre Decourcelle and others, answered the call. Most of those present made little speeches, calling to mind the famous artists seen on the boards upon which stood the table about which the company were gathered. And solemnly Micheau brought the little ceremony to a close with a serio-comic speech commending the soul of the dying playhouse to Theophs, the god of the theatrical heaven, to which place all good theatres go when they die.

The building now being torn down to make room for the new Rue des Italiens, was formerly the Hotel Brancas, and at one time the property of the Marquis de Hertford's family. Later it came into the possession of Sir Richard Wallace, founder of the Wallace Collection. In the courtyard of the theatre was still to be seen a pulley for hoisting hay into the loft when the house was a private mansion. In 1807 it became the headquarters of the Oller Agency, a firm of bookmakers who introduced the "pari-mutuel" betting system. After the Franco-Prussian War it became a music hall, the Fantaisie-Oller, and for a time was the strong rival of the Folies-Bergere. Its run of prosperity came to an end, however, after a few years, and in 1873 the famous Palais-Royal actor, Dumont (called Brasseur), desiring to have a theatre of his own, took over the theatre and, after some alterations, the Fantaisie-Oller became the Theatre des Nonvanteas. It was the third theatre, by the way, to take that name in Paris during the nineteenth century. Brasseur died in 1891 and M. Micheau became the manager. Under his guidance it became immensely popular.

Micheau tells me he has not had a holiday since he took over the management of the playhouse twenty years ago and now he is going to take one lasting a year. When that time is up he may lease another theatre, or build one of his own.

SOME NOTES.

A pig feast was celebrated by the Igorrotes at Makia City Sunday, the authorities forbidding the killing of a dog. For those Parisians who were allowed to witness the ceremony—it took place in the morning, before the gates of the park were opened to the public—it was a revelation. As mentioned last week, a baby belonging to the village had just died and the ceremony was of a religious nature, the Igorrotes believing the spirit of the child would need provisions and protection on its way to the happy hunting ground. Usually a dog is sacrificed, because it is to act as a sort of guardian for the departed spirit, as well as provide food, and there is some question of whether a pig will make a successful watchdog on the other side of the Styx.

Mary Garden returns to the Opera next week. She sings in Faust. Her second appearance will be a few nights later, when she will appear in the role of Salome.

The American summer park in Marseilles was partially destroyed by fire this week. During a fireworks exhibition a badly directed rocket descended on one of the buildings, unnoticed, and this started the fire.

M. Dufranne will be seen at the Opera next week, having returned from his vacation. After singing the role of Iokanaan to Mary Garden's Salome, he will leave for New York, where he is under contract to sing with the Metropolitan artists.

Charles Dickson, formerly a well-known artist, who later on wrote the books for Three Twigs, Bright Eyes and other successes, and who, during the coming season will be actively engaged in personally producing several new plays of his own conception, will produce The Golden Rule, Ltd., with a carefully-selected cast, opening in New London, Conn., on September 23. This will be followed by three new musical plays, the titles selected being The Girl Habit, The Lovely American and The Good Trust. Later on two other comedies, named Dora Root and Professor Vic, will be produced. Mr. Dickson will personally finance and stage all his plays and Albert Borris will manage the business for the new producer.

in on the local newspapers that is about as much as can be demanded of him. But of the work in what might be called its scientific aspect he has not a notion. Getting old stereotyped stuff into old stereotyped newspapers is about his limit and it is of infinitely more importance to him to know how many double crown hills he will want for a particular town than to worry about how the show can be newspaper-boomed.

But while the press agent has never really found his proper station in this country, his colleague, the stage director, is becoming of more and more importance. Year by year the public becomes increasingly insistent on the subject of the mounting of a play and although we have several schools, each of which insist that its particular method is heaven-sent, there is no doubt among the controversialists on the point that, whatever the method, a play well mounted is a play on the road to success. It doesn't matter whether it is a Gordon Craig or a Granville Barker coming along with revolutionary ideas, or whether it is a man who is content to stick to conventional ideas, they have all got to work to the same end—to put a play on so that neither critic or public can put a finger anywhere on a flaw. Take the case of Tree's last big success—Henry VIII. The whole town raved about the way that play was put on. It was one of the biggest successes ever known over here and Tree himself would be the first to confess that the brilliant scenic pageant probably attracted the public even more than the fine star cast and the magnificent acting. One has only to attend a rehearsal of any of the numerous new plays now in course of production to realize the positions of the stage director—or as he is generally called here, "the stage manager"—holds in this country. It is up to him to see that every scenic, every lighting detail is correct. On him comes the burden of drilling all the supers or chorus; he is the man who is responsible for seeing that every detail of the action of the play runs smoothly and well; he has to be on the constant lookout to make the most Royal has reopened with a new piece, Le Coup du Berger, preceded by a one-act comedy called Knockout. With The Merry Widow the Apollo is back in the business after only a few days of closing. The Waltz Dream will be put on again after this week at this house. At the Folies-Dramatique, recently reopened, La Fenille de Vigne is the bill.

Thursday of this week the Vaudeville Theatre will reopen with a revival of a former success, Mlle. Josephe, Ma Femme. Thursday of next week the Theatre Porte Saint-Martin will start up, also with a revival—and, of course, with minor players in the principal roles. On Saturday the Ambigu will start the ball rolling with a revival of a melodrama, one of a number of this theatre's stock plays.

Two new plays are now being rehearsed at the Comedie-Francaise, one of which will be seen on the other side. Primerose is its name, and, as I have mentioned before, it is the work of the authors of Papa, Love Watches, Inconstant George, etc. The other piece is by Gabriel Trarieux and is based upon the Steinheil affair. I spoke of this piece more at length in my last letter. Mme. Bartet, one of the Comedie-Francaise stars, will play the principal role in this drama. She is expected in Paris this week from her vacation.

The Theatre Antoine will produce a play by Max and Alex Fischer this winter, drawn from a story published some time ago under their signature. The title of the piece has not been given out.

MORE NEW PLAYS.

Lucien Descaves and E. M. Lanmann are putting the finishing touches on a play entitled La Colonne, which will be produced at the Grand Guignol this winter. Another Grand Guignol promise is Sur les Cimes, a two-act piece by E. M. Lanmann and Paul Tivier. These two plays will probably appear early this fall.

La Course aux Dollars is the title of the new piece scheduled to take the place, at the Chatelet Theatre, of the revival of Around the World in Eighty Days. M. Fontanes, manager of the Chatelet, is due back in Paris this week, and rehearsals will commence immediately. Ga-

Review of Sans Souci, the Pioneer Pleasure Park of Chicago —Suggestions for Suitable Buildings and Attractions to Occupy Burnt Area at Cincinnati Resort

SANS SOUCI, THE CARE-FREE.

The real beginning of Sans Souci, Chicago, dates back to the beginning of the World's Columbian Exposition of 1893. As will be remembered, the Midway Plaisance, originally designed by the famous Midway Plaisance, originally designed as an ethnological exhibition, occupied the mile length of connecting parkway between Jackson Park, the seat of the Exposition, and Washington Park. An overwhelming feature of that pleasure place was the Old Vienna. The year after the fair closed, a Chicago corporation reconstructed in miniature this famous rendezvous on the privately owned plot at the intersection of Cottage Grove Avenue and Sixth Street, diagonally opposite the west end of the Midway Plaisance.

The park filled the proverbial "long-felt want," and its success was immediate. In a short time the Old Vienna property was acquired, and thrown into Sans Souci Park, which has since occupied the entire site south of the beautiful Washington Park.

Practically holding a monopoly of the amusement park field in Chicago, its only possible competition being the Chutes Park on the West Side, and Ferris Wheel Park on the North Side, both of which have long since passed away. Sans Souci laid the foundation of that popularity which is still as strong as when it first opened its gates to Chicago's pleasure seekers. It has just terminated its fourteenth season, and although the value of the real estate that it occupies has enormously increased, it remains one of the best-paying parks in the country.

The principal charm of Sans Souci Park lies in its natural features of foliage and verdure.

LUNA INNOVATION.

New York, September 8 (Special to The Billboard).—Frederic Thompson intends to end the activities of Luna Park September 17 with a contest of song. The news has been most assiduously taken up by the music publishers and with their assistance many singers will be on hand contesting energetically for the promised prizes which will be awarded as follows: A loving cup for the most popular song; a gold watch for the singer receiving the most applause; a gold watch for the ladies' watch to the woman singer receiving the most applause; stick pins to the best group of singers, either duet, quartet or larger. The contests are to be held in the hall room.

SUGGESTED BY C. H. GRAY, COLOSSE, N. Y.

The accompanying sketch is a suggestion for the rebuilding of that portion of Chester Park, Cincinnati, destroyed by fire, Monday, August 14. In the edition of The Billboard, bearing date of August 28, a diagram of the park, and particulars concerning a prize contest, in which The Billboard would award prizes of $100, $40 and $10 respectively for the three best suggestions offered by Billboard readers for rebuilding the burnt area of the park. The suggestion printed above is among the best received so far. Since announcing the contest, The Billboard has received many letters from persons interested in the contest, asking that the time for closing the contest be extended from September 12 to October 1; therefore, in order that all who wish to compete for the prizes may have an opportunity of properly preparing their suggestions, the date for closing the contest has been forwarded to October 2. Complete instructions for preparing suggestions were printed in the August 28 issue of The Billboard, copies of which may be had by application to the Circulation Manager, The Billboard, Cincinnati, Ohio. All suggestions, plans, etc., are to be addressed to The Editor of The Billboard, Cincinnati, Ohio. The contest is open to all.

and revived therein the merry spirit of Old Vienna. It assumed to be nothing more than a refreshment place, along Continental lines, but the memory of the happy Bohemianism of its predecessor served to give it a vogue and popularity that called for many imitations.

The success of the new Old Vienna encouraged another company, sponsored by the traction interests, to secure the remainder of the plot of which Alt Wien formed a corner, and in 1897, it was opened under the name of Sans Souci Park. The name meaning "care-free" had originally been applied to the magnificent seat of Frederick the Great at Potsdam, Germany. The tract which occupied the land bounded by Cottage Grove Avenue on the east and Langley Avenue on the west, and extending from Sixth Street to Sixty-first street, was parked and beautified, and equipped with a Casino, a Japanese Tea Garden, and a multitude of attractions which had proven popular during the World's Fair. An especial feature was a beautiful electric fountain, designed and built by Harutomi Hashimoto, a brilliant young Japanese electrician.

Ornamental trees and shrubbery are tastefully arranged throughout the center of the tract, the edges of the park occupied by the various concessions. These latter comprise several substantial buildings of brick in tasteful design, several riding devices, souvenir booths and amusement concessions, affording entertainment and recreation for young and old. On the extreme south side of the park is located the new rathskellar and music hall, erected at an expense of $50,000, which in winter is devoted to roller skating; the hall-room, with one of the best floors in Chicago, and the Crystal Casino, where a fresco refreshment may be enjoyed while listening to the music of the nation's best orchestras, or witnessing the best vaudeville acts that it is possible to procure. Such famous band leaders as Giuseppe Creatore, Francesco Feriallo, Oreste Vessella, Marco Vessella, Don Phillipini, Chevalier Emanuel, with the full Chicago Philharmonic Orchestra; Holcomb, Warren Fales, Holcomb and Weber, have all appeared here. Among the rides that are represented are the Alps Rill, with a scenic front occupying 150 feet on the west

STEEPLECHASE CONFLAGRATION

New York, September 7 (Special to The Billboard).—Steeplechase Park furnished quite a thrilling fire Labor Day night, 10 p. m. On the second floor of the House Upside Down, a two and one-half story frame structure situated along the west wall of the park and about 200 feet from the big glass enclosure, flames were discovered. For a time it looked as if there might be quite a serious conflagration, as the Steeplechase Baths and the picnic pavilion were threatened.

The first floor of the House Upside Down is occupied by the German Village Restaurant, and it was well filled with patrons when the cry of fire was first raised by Charles Kohn, an employee. No one was injured in the escape, and resulting policeman, however, being overcome by smoke. The cause of the fire, which resulted in about $1,500 damage to the building, has not as yet been discovered. It was the property of George B. Tilton, proprietor of Steeplechase Park. He feels that he is fortunate to escape without a recurrence of the conflagration which wiped out Steeplechase Park a few years ago.

BANQUET TO PARK EMPLOYEES.

Chicago, Sept. 6 (Special to The Billboard).—Tuesday evening, September 5, at the close of the day's business, a pleasant surprise was sprung upon the employees of the Derby, Royal Derby, Scenic Railway and cashiers of the park, by Messrs. McRie and Henney (proprietors of these respective rides), in the beautiful dining-room of the Casino at Riverview Exposition, where plans were spread for 150 people.

The banquet proper consisted of ten courses served by the able corps of Manager Lizar, whose cuisine is known to rank with the best in the country. The meeting was called to order by General Manager James O'Neil, who proposed a standing toast to the future health and prosperity of the management which was given with three rousing cheers.

At this juncture Manager George J. Baker of the Derby, in behalf of the Derby staff, presented Mr. W. F. Merle with a beautifully engraved, gold-headed, ebony cane. Mr. Merle responded gratefully.

Mr. James A. Crotty, of the Derby staff, acted as master of ceremonies, and succeeded in bringing forth among several short speeches by President Paul W. Cooper, Mr. Merle, Mr. Henney, Dr. Merki and others, the following: "Bob Crotty, Dutch character political speech from the new sketch, The Telegrapher's Dream, a lark dance, his Dutch character song, Aching Hearts, and a single monolog, The Dutch Chauffeur."

Oscar Enger of the Derby staff, whose clever imitations of Cliff Gordon's stuff in word and song, assures him of success in the entertainment field.

Al Eggstrom of the Derby staff, an old-timer, in several good jokes we have not heard in many a year.

Miss Barron, cashier, and Johnny Knox of the Derby staff, in a unique revival of the cakewalk.

Fred Gates, carpenter on the Derby staff, although 60 years old, tickled the happy party with a bear dance.

Glen Gates of the Derby staff, entertained with some choice selections on the violin.

Here the floor was cleared and Blanche Schultz, cashier, and Harry Murray delighted the party with a real bear dance.

Throughout vocal and musical numbers were rendered by the Casino "regulars," which were highly appreciated. All the popular brands were at all times in evidence in unlimited quantities, as were good cigars. Dancing followed until day-break when all departed for home, each and every one of whom has indelibly stamped upon their minds the magnificent appreciation shown for the services they rendered, as attested through this fete.

LUNA PARK NOTES.

All the employees of the pneumatic tube ride are going to give a big spread in honor of their able manager, Abe Schwartz, at the close of Luna. The same is to take place at Feltman's Gardens.

A good many paper dollars rolled from Luna last Wednesday to see the Brown and Wells fight, which was held at Madison Square Garden. The first bout pulled off under the Frawley act. Good times have come again.

Charles Jones, the popular singer, is entertaining crowds daily by his sweet singing and clever dancing in the circus ring.

During the week of the Mardi-Gras, Sept. 11, the management are going to put on a strong circus bill, and have secured a good many big acts to close the successful season. An important feature will be the aviation meet, which will be held the last three days.

John Martin, the Carnival man, who is making good on the Trip to the Moon, is promoting the Old Timers' Week at Elizabeth, N. J., commencing the week of September 18.

Wm. Jenkins Hewitt, the man who is known as "Here and There," paid a visit to Coney and extended the hand-shaking act to his many friends last week.

The Aerial LaPorte, who have been featured in Luna's Free Circus a number of years, leave for London, Eng., opening at the Palace Theatre the first week in November.

Miss May Kenny and Elsie Maher, two of Luna's great cashiers, left last week to join the All Around the World ballet at the New York Hippodrome.

A. J. Campbell and Roy Hotelling, who have been electricians here since the park has been built, are going to join the Folies Bergere, opening at the Montank Theatre, Brooklyn, week of September 18. This is a great pair to be together.

Con Cornely and Albert Jonet, who have been seen on the boards for almost ten years, are now getting ready for a new act. Con says this act will be ready week of September 18.

Ralph Cole is arranging to be an aviator when the season closes. Ralph says he will get there, as he is contemplating spending the winter in Arkansas.

The Virginia Reel, the Scenic Railway and the Joy Ride all are making money. The weather has been suitable all but last week, and if it keeps up the owners will reap a harvest. Eddie Byrne is largely responsible.

Dave Lambert, who is making good in front of Duffy Lane with his merry spiel, is going to join the Pittsburgh big band show, opening October 12 at Duquesne Garden. Dave says he is booked solid until March, 1912.

William Inshew's cuckoo clock and cake walk is one of the big attractions that draws the crowds daily.

Doc Fisher is known as one of the busiest men in the park since he came here. Doc manages the Bony Incubators, and is quite a favorite among Luna's employees.

Checkers, at Luna, is still the same favorite, and Messrs. Mangel and Brewster are well satisfied with the results.

PARK NOTES.

Mrs. Charles D. Fraser, wife of the manager and proprietor of the Florida Ostich Farm, Jacksonville, Fla., is spending a few days at the Garden Theatre on Surf Avenue, Coney Island, the Headquarters of Capt. L. Sorcho, the deep sea diver, and his wife. She is going to remain in New York until Mr. Fraser joins her, about the middle of September.

Col. Thomas G. Cagney returned from the British Isles Saturday, September 2, on the Adriatic. His trip in the interests of the Cagney Amusement Company kept him in England, Ireland and Scotland for the past six months. His headquarters while there were at London, 21 Ethelred Road. The Colonel reports the European business very satisfactory.

Resume of the Week's Important Amuse

BALTIMORE, MD.

Labor Day was a red-letter event for River View Park. In previous years, the Federation of Labor usually had a parade as a feature of the day and it took considerable time in preparing for it, so this year this was dispensed with, and a big outing was held at the park.

The show had a busy day and the Royal Artillery Band entertained the patrons with special music. August 31 was another big day at the park. Through the circulation department of a local paper, 2,200 newsboys were given an outing at the park. The railways company furnished the transportation and the park management furnished all attractions free to the boys.

The Catholic Benevolent Legion gave a theatre party at the Maryland Theatre, August 30, in honor of the visit of the uniform rank of the New York Legion. The Gothamites were the guests of the local legion and after the show a sumptuous banquet was served at the Hotel Juniper.

Daniel Feldmann, leader of the City Park Band, was honored by a committee of citizens August 31. Mr. Feldmann received a handsome gold watch and also a set of engraved resolutions expressing public appreciation for his excellent worth to the community as a musician.

Although Governor Crothers stated some time ago that he would not permit any Jeffries-Johnson fight pictures to be exhibited in the Commonwealth of Maryland, an announcement was made several weeks ago that the films would be shown at Yockel's Park, in Anne Arundel County. The announcement created quite a rumpus, but the county officials did not indicate that they would take any steps to prevent the exhibition. But the pictures were not shown anyhow.

Joseph F. Kennedy, whose home is 1400 N. Charles Street in this city, died in Brooklyn, N. Y., August 31, of heart disease. He was assistant treasurer of the New Montauk Theatre in Brooklyn, and in the summer months he worked at Dreamland. He was 26 years old. He went to New York about five years ago. Previous to that he was connected with the Academy of Music and Albaugh's Theatre in this city. Besides his mother, one sister and a brother survive him. He was buried from the St. Ignatius Catholic Church here, September 5.

James Young Jr. was visiting his parents last week and he announced the fact that he was married to Miss Clara Kimball of Seattle, Wash., and the wedding ceremony was performed in August, 1910. After the marriage, he went abroad and never came here. The couple left here September 3, for Jacksonville, where Mr. Young will join his company. He opens his season there as the star in Judy O'Hara, by Frances Hodgson Burnett. Mr. Young's first wife was Rida Johnson Young, a former Baltimore girl, who has made a name for herself as a playwright. Mr. Young's father is president of the Democratic Telegram Company and was a senator in the State Legislature for several terms. Rida Johnson obtained a divorce from James Young Jr., in 1909.

Miss Efecto, who appears with Fred St. Ouge in a bicycle act, was obliged to nurse an injured foot while playing at the Maryland Theatre during the week of August 27. She is quite a feature with the act, and Fred was much depressed on account of her failure to appear. The young lady managed to have her pedal extremity in shape to permit her appearance on Saturday.

"What is a theatre?" was a perplexing question that confronted the city administration last week. Mayor Preston decided that a theatre is not a theatre unless it is more than 36 feet wide. The question was due to a protest by residents in the neighborhood of Madison and North avenues.

The Madison Amusement Company wants to erect a moving picture theatre and according to the new law such a building can not be erected without the residents' object. The promoters stated that there were going to run a theatre and not a moving picture show. The mayor said that it was hard to tell when a moving picture show is not a moving picture show. He can refuse a permit for a moving picture show and as he was not convinced that a bona fide theatre could be built on a lot 36 feet wide he refused the permit.

George D. Beatty, with his diving girls, has left River View Park after a successful summer season and will now go on tour with his water nymphs. He will go to Syracuse, Wilkes-Barre, Louisville, and Louisville, Ky.

SYLVAN SCHENTHAL.

ST. LOUIS, MO.

The last of our summer season occurred on September 4, when the West End Heights, Forest Park Highlands and Suburban Garden closed their season. The attendances for the closing day were big, although heavy rain set in before the day closed. Most all of our theatres are now open, and on September 11 they will all be running in full blast.

Dante's Inferno is in its second and last week at the Garrick Theatre and has done a record business. It is easily the best thing in the motion picture line that has come this way and could remain longer. The regular season at the Garrick will open September 11 with Mother as the attraction.

The Olympic Theatre, with James J. Hackitt, and the Shubert Theatre, with The Heart Breakers, will open their regular seasons September 11.

Lyman Howe's Travel Festival opened at the Century Theatre on September 4 for a stay of two weeks. This attraction has always been popular here and will do a good two weeks' business.

The First American International Exposition of Inventions will open in St. Louis at the Coliseum on September 11 and run for a week. The exhibits are coming in from all parts of the world and should prove a most interesting display of the world's inventions.

The Princess Theatre here has just closed its fifty-second consecutive week, which is establishing a new record in this city for continuous performances. This house has been playing to more than 15,000 patrons weekly this summer, with vaudeville and motion pictures.

Of all the acts on the bill at the Columbia Theatre here this week, the biggest hit is that of Mae and Johnny Burke. Their piano playing and wit is great. The performance was brought to a complete stop opening night, so great was the demand for encores. He is one of the funniest of his class in vaudeville, and his ragtime on the piano is beyond comparison.

The Virginia Theatre, owned by Gus Busch, will reopen, after being closed for a long period and will play vaudeville and motion pictures. The Eastern Theatrical Exchange will book the house.

The annual St. Louis Poultry Show will be held in this city the week of December 3, at the St. Louis Coliseum.

The American Gypsy Girls have been engaged to play the Gem Theatre here, starting September 11, and their engagement will run indefinitely. They have made a strong hold on the St. Louis people and never are able to get away from this city for several weeks, once they get in here.

Havlin's Theatre opened its regular season on September 3, after a week's delay, due to the alterations not being completed in time. The policy of the house was to use no orchestra, but after the experience of playing The Convict's Daughter Sunday matinee, Mr. Havlin hastened and got his orchestra for the night performance, and Havlin's will play with an orchestra, as usual, for the balance of the season.

Lonie Juda arrived from Cincinnati this week and will become manager of the Garrick Theatre here under the Shuberts. He was formerly connected with the Lyric Theatre in Cincinnati. It is understood that the Garrick will try this season without the use of an orchestra.

A tour of the world which will last three years will be made by the Nagfys and Comwitted by more people than any other event of the week. Granada and Fedora, the high-wire artists, did their act on a wire stretched 200 feet across the square, high in the air above the electric wires. Legare, who descended from the top of a high spiral tower on a blazing revolving globe, was the other attraction. These two acts lasted a half hour, and were applauded by audiences of from 5,000 to 10,000 at every performance.

The only disappointing feature of the week was the fact that the dam proper could not be seen, due to the high stage of the river.

Chester Park closed its regular season on Labor Day, but will be open on Sundays for the balance of the month. Cone Island also closed on that day and the Lagoon on September 6.

With the opening of the Lyric September 10, the theatre season will be on in full force, with the exception of the Olympic, which has not announced an opening date as yet, and the Orpheum, with regard to which nothing has been heard to date.

All the theatres are doing well, considering that it is just the opening of the season and that the weather is still very much summery. Norworth and Bayes, in Little Miss Fix-it, are taking just as well as they did in New York and Chicago. Keith's Columbia presents an excellent vaudeville bill, headed by Loto, the mystic. This little Indian girl is just what she is billed—a mystic. The Walnut presents Merry Mary, a musical comedy with some bright music and laughable situations. Kara, the juggler, heads a strong vaudeville bill at the Empress. The old-time melodrama, The Heart of Chicago, held forth at

NEW THEATRE FIRE BRIGADE, BALTIMORE, MD.

Consistent with the spirit of enterprise that permeates the management of the New Theatre in Baltimore, Md., the members of this palace of amusement have organized a fire brigade, which is the equal of any fire fighting unit in any playhouse in the United States. The boys took up the work voluntarily, and are thoroughly drilled and well trained in the performance of their duties. They are ready to act in any emergency, and can readily seat a large audience in remarkably short time. Their efficiency in their capacity as members enables them to handle a large crowd without any difficulty, and should the occasion require hasty action, with their excellent training the house can be cleared in a few minutes. The boys have given demonstrations of their ability and were warmly commended by the Board of Fire Commissioners and leading officials of the Fire Department. Reading from left to right: Chas. Collison, Jim Diddlake, Will Downey, Chief, Chas. Nolan, Bill Doble, Carroll Devlin and Jockey Kennedy.

pany, starting in Western Canada about November 1. On their last tour they lost all their show property in the earthquake in Bermuda. Mr. Nagfys is a member of the Society of American Magicians and is a very talented performer. His wife will accompany him with a full company of vaudeville artists, and the tour will embrace Australia, Japan, China and South America.

The Hagenbeck-Wallace Shows played to two packed tents in Belleville, Ill., on September 4. The matinee had them sitting in the hippodrome track four deep. The show was the talk of Belleville and everybody went. The sight of the money going out of this town must have made the sheriff's gripe, as they were unusually busy around the show and for no apparent cause other than to get back all that they could.

Bob Frankel, who is with the Astec Twins of the Wallace Show, was paid a visit by his father and mother while the show was in Belleville, and it made him exceedingly happy. Everyone was introduced to the couple and the happiest bunch in Belleville was around the Astec wagon.

CINCINNATI, O.

Citizens of Cincinnati and the Ohio Valley united in the celebration of Home Coming Week and the completion of the Fernbank Dam, September 4, to 9. The ball started rolling at Music Hall on the night of the 3d, with a reception and meeting to welcome visitors. On Tuesday there was a steamboat parade on the river and the dedication of the dam. Wednesday prize hand contests and a most magnificent display of fireworks at night in Eden Park, witnessed by fully 50,000 people. Thursday was the day of the decorated pleasure boat parade on the Ohio. On Friday motor boat races, rowing contests, swimming races, and at night an allegorical street pageant and parade. Saturday, aviation exhibition and automobile races. It is estimated that Cincinnati entertained between 75,000 and 100,000 visitors during the week, which was one continual round of pleasure, something along all the time. There was a free show every afternoon and evening on Government Square, and it is safe to say that the two attractions presented were Henck's, and drew the old-time crowds. The Lawrence Stock Players presented St. Elmo at the New Lyceum. This company is rapidly growing in favor at this house. The Auditorium, playing four-day vaudeville, is attracting good houses. Austin & Co., in Crazy Folks, were the headliners. The burlesque attractions are Vanity Fair at the Standard, and The Coxy Corner Girls at People's. Both are good, clean shows, and above the ordinary run of burlesque.

Lyman Howe's fifth and closing week at the Lyric was fully up to the standard of the four previous weeks, both as to attendance and the pictures presented.

The Kinemacolor pictures of the Coronation at the Olympic proved to be somewhat of a surprise, inasmuch as they were fully up to 11 press notices regarding them.

It is not generally known, but Charles Urban, the inventor of these wonderful colored pictures, is a native Cincinnati, who left Cincinnati some years ago and settled in London.

The Sells-Floto Circus showed here September 3 and 4, and had two good days.

There was no orchestra at Henck's Theatre September 3 on account of a disagreement between the Musicians' Union and the management of the theatre. The musicians demanded an assurance that there would be at least thirty weeks to the current season at Henck's, in order that the wage per week might apply. This the management would not do, as there is no telling how melodrama will pick up this season, or whether there will be enough good shows for a season of that length. In the absence of this assurance of time the union insisted that the musicians be paid so much per performance, which the management refused to do. The disagreement was only a technical one and was later settled.

The Sun Theatre, a moving picture house, and M. P. Operators' Union have also clashed. The management of the house have filed a petition in the courts asking that the union be restrained from interfering with the theatre's business, alleging that men are stationed in front of the theatre and handbills are distributed, advising that the theatre employs non-union men. It is also alleged that a boat in the Labor Day parade heralded that fact. The theatre recently discontinued the employment of union men.

Frank Rosata, an Italian, fell from one of the cars of the Dip-the-Dips at Coney Island, September 3, when he released his hold to take a chew of tobacco. His collar bone and two of his ribs were fractured.

Mr. and Mrs. James Welch, of James Welch & Co., and Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Shearer, of Shearer & Newirk, were the guests of Manager J. E. Girard, of Coney Island, week of August 27. Mr. Girard treated his guests a banquet, and a very pleasant week was spent, chiefly in talking over old times.

RICHMOND, VA.

The opening of the new theatrical season here this week signifies as usual the advance of the Klav & Erlanger and other first class attractions into the Southern country, Richmond being the long established and recognized key to the dramatic field of the South.

It was a week of big business for the theatres, with all the signs and omens propitious for a long season and a prosperous one. The Wells and Leath interests, which practically control the theatres of Virginia and dominate the whole Southern territory between Washington and New Orleans, were never so strongly organized nor substantially fortified as now. The syndicate has supplied for the numerous houses the most alluring array of attractions ever sent on tour in the Southern states. It looks like a big season ahead for Dixie.

The season was inaugurated at the Academy of Music, August 29 with The Nest Egg as the opening attraction. Three performances of the charming comedy were given, delighting large audiences. The presenting company is headed by Lydia Knott and the production is a handsome one, complete in every detail.

Driftwood, the elaborate new Leffer-Brattos production of Owen Davis' play, attracted bumper houses to the Bijou all week. The piece is well staged and mounted and the acting cast exceptionally fine. Interest in the engagement of the attraction was increased by an "Amateur Dramatic Critics' Contest" launched by the dramatic department of one of the afternoon newspapers. Cash prizes were awarded to the writers of the best reviews of the play. More than 500 entered the competition. Probably 90 per cent of the criticisms were eulogistic.

The Lyric Theatre recently acquired by a company headed by Jake Wells, will be opened probably before the close of the month. General Manager Wells is yet to decide the policy of the new house which is one of the handsomest theatres in the state. It was built by M. L. Hofheimer at a cost of about $130,000. The popular impression is that the Lyric will be made the home of first-class vaudeville.

At the Colonial Theatre, vaudeville retains its popularity and the cosy amusement house, under the management of Edward P. Lyon, continues to lead its field in Virginia.

Good business ruled throughout the week at the Lubin, and the minor theatres came in for their proportionate share of the big patronage of the week.

Forest Hill Park and Idlewood, the summer pleasure ground of Richmond, will close about October 1. The season has been unusually good, all of the concessionaires at Forest Hill in particular winning out strong. Both parks are conducted by the J. H. Livingston Company, Inc., of which Col. J. H. Livingston is president and general manager. With the improvements contemplated for next summer installed, Forest Hill will be the largest and handsomest park this side of Atlanta.

ROBERT GOLDEN.

OMAHA, NEB.

When the Woodward Stock Company opens the season at the American Music Hall on the 8th, presenting The Chaperon, the audience will witness a performance given almost entirely by strangers to Omaha. Mr. Woodward has selected a company of players during his recent Eastern trip, who are said to be capable actors of experience in stock work. However, Miss Eva Lang will continue as leading lady. Harry Burkhardt, the new leading man, has been appearing in Eastern stock companies and comes well recommended as an actor of ability.

Manager Woodward will, as in the past, give only the latest and best plays available for stock purposes and the costumes and scenery to be in keeping with the plays.

If the opening week's business at the theatre is anything to judge by, the season just opened will be a most excellent one, as all the houses were well patronized, although the weather the last half of the week was extremely hot. The managers are all pleased and look for a continuance of splendid business throughout the season.

The capacity attendance at the Brandeis on the opening, August 31, to see The Flirting Princess, must have been very gratifying to Manager Burgess. This house appeared more attractive than ever and is certainly a "Theatre Beautiful."

W. J. Burgess, manager of the Brandeis, has returned from a six weeks' stay in Europe. Mr. Burgess stopped over in New York a few days to look after the bookings for his house, which he says are the best attractions ever booked for Omaha.

Work of making a new theatre out of the Boyd has commenced, and the Shuberts expect to have everything in readiness to open about the 20th.

The improvements are being looked after by Parnell Mangan, who will continue as treasurer under the Shubert management.

Miss Grace Cameron, another Nebraska girl, who has made a success on the stage, appeared at the Orpheum the past week as the headliner, and she is well entitled to head even so splendid a bill as was offered, which is in itself a very high compliment to Miss Cameron, who is a very clever and finished artist and well deserves the success she is making in vaudeville.

Manager Johnson of the City will make a trip to Minneapolis and St. Paul every two weeks to witness a performance of the show, which appears at his house, so that he may offer any suggestions that he thinks proper as to the performance offered his patrons. Manager Johnson is catering to the ladies as well as the men and will not allow the companies which appear here to put on anything that would offend or cause the loss of his feminine patronage.

Furlong as his assistant.

JESSE J. WAGNER.

SAN FRANCISCO, CAL.

October 14 is the day set for the grand opening ceremonies for the Panama-Pacific Exposition. President Taft will officiate and a big time is expected. Special excursion trains will be run to accommodate the immense attendance which is expected.

Captain A. W. Lewis, who was the organizer and promoter of the Boer War spectacle at the St. Louis Fair, is here at present. He claims that this concession occupied twenty-two acres and paid in revenue to the exposition more money than any other concession on the grounds. His visit here is presumably to promote a similar exhibition for the Panama-Pacific Exposition.

Bert Levey, the independent booking agent, mentioned to the writer that he will make quite a change in his office staff. Arthur Don is out and will not have any connection with the office; William Daley will resign, and it is rumored he will take out a colored minstrel show on the road in connection with Ben Harvey.

Maud Lillian Berri began a suit August 29 in the Superior Court against Max Dill and Mat Masner for $6,900, for alleged breach of contract. Miss Berri claims that she was engaged under contract for a period of twenty weeks at a salary of $300 per week and that after playing the first two weeks the defendants prevented her from continuing her part of it.

A fire broke out August 29 in the Film Exchange conducted by Miles Brothers, at the corner of Turk and Franklin Streets. The fire spread rapidly and some $20,000 damage resulted. L. Saroul, manager, was severely burned about the face. Ten thousand feet of films made for the Western Pacific Railway and a number of rare films of scenes of the Portland Festival, Admission Day Celebration, Earle Convention, were destroyed.

Mr. Alken Dones, the Irish singing comedian, and Miss Edna Keeley, his leading lady, departed August 30 on Steamer Wilhelmnia for Honolulu, thence to Australia.

An explosion on a moving picture machine took place August 26 in the new theatre recently opened on Hayes Street, near Franklin. Owing to the hour, 7 p. m., only a small attendance was present, and a mad rush was made for the exits, but luckily no serious accidents were reported. The operator, Ike Borias, was badly burned about the face and hands.

Henry K. Hadley, the well known director, has been engaged as leader of the new symphony orchestra to be established here by the Musical Association of San Francisco. Hadley is to receive a salary of $10,000 yearly, which is $4,000 more than he received in Seattle. Rehearsals will begin as soon as the organization will be completed, and the first concert is to take place in November in Scottish Rite Auditorium.

R. F. Howell, independent booking agent, announces that he has made connections with the Webster Circuit, and also is connected with Ed Lang in Seattle and William Lang, Chicago, and is now in position to give performers eight weeks in California; eight weeks in the Northwest and the balance over the Webster Circuit.

It is rumored that the Princess Theatre, on Ellis Street, which is now playing continuous shows at 5-cent admissions, will change its policy, featuring vaudeville, and increase the admission to 10 cents.

The Western States Vaudeville Association is now getting acts direct from Chicago, and in a short time intends getting six to eight new acts weekly.

It is understood that John Cort will hereafter have his headquarters in this city, instead of Seattle, where they were formerly.

The Third National Industrial and Food Exhibition takes place at San Jose September 14 to 23.

At Moss Beach, on Ocean Shore Railroad, a three days' street carnival takes place September 9, 10 and 11.

Burk's Uncle Tom's Cabin, a one-car show, Kershman's Cattle King Company, also a one-car show, and Bushy's Miestrels, using two cars, also Mrs. McDonald's Girl of the Golden West, traveling in their own cars, are all playing at present under canvas in California. Four tent shows in this state at one time.

Florence Roberts, Thurlow Bergen and Theodore Roberts began their season's tour at the Savoy Theatre August 27, presenting Jim the Penman, and offered a most meritorious performance which pleased all the critics and the public. The tour will be under the management of Ernest Shipman and will include a complete route over the Pacific Coast. Special paper, etc., has been ordered for this company, and with the popularity of the three stars, good bookings and careful management, a profitable tour is predicted.

Beginning September the policy of the Bell Theatre, which has been charging 15 and 25 cents admission, will be changed to 10, 20 and 30 cents, and the Broadway Theatre, which always was run as a straight 10-cent house,

The big Twin City Wonderland Park closed its gates Sunday night, September 10, after a long and prosperous season of summer amusements. The park has proven itself a mecca for the State Fair visitors (the week of September 4-9) and was well patronized only second to the fair itself during that period. Great credit is due to Manager Fred H. Camp and Secretary Johnson for the capable and conscientious administration of the park, which has always been the secret of its success, as well as to the efficient and courteous corps of employees. The park will open early next spring, probably in May, bigger and better than ever before.

Wernicke, the Magician, returned from a very successful trip in Wisconsin and spent the week of the State Fair (September 4-9) in Minneapolis, where he makes his home. He is on the road again and reports himself as busy as ever.

Longfellow Gardens, of Minnehaha Falls, of which R. F. Jones is the manager, is still operating and will continue to remain open until the cold weather sets in. The latest acquisition to this park is a mama monkey with a six-week-old baby. Other attractions include a bunch of trained sealions, four black "Teddy" bears, pet raccoons, a trained animal show of lions, tigers, jaguars and pumas daily in the Arena, military band concerts, picnic grounds, a botanical and zoological exhibit, and other like features.

Ben A. Joss, the local baritone, is still singing at the Seville Theatre, where continuous performances of daylight motion pictures are given from 1 to 11 p. m. Word is received from Hopkins (West Minnesota) Minn. that the Hennepin County Fair, which will be held in that village Sep-

J. D. Williams, formerly one of the pioneer picture house men of Spokane, was a visitor here last week. Mr. Williams left for Australia two years ago, and is at the head of one of the largest picture syndicates there. He is accompanied by E. L. Thompson, of Sidney, Australia. The object of their visit is to obtain new American and European ideas. They have left for the East, and thence to London.

Joseph A. Muller, manager of the Orpheum Theatre, has returned from the Coast after a week's vacation, stating he had a grand time. He was accompanied by Mrs. Muller.

After being a resident of Spokane for thirty years, and twenty-one years a theatrical manager, Harry C. Hayward, one of the best-known managers in the Northwest, has closed his books with the Auditorium Theatre, and leaves for San Diego September 6, where he takes the management of the new Spreckels Theatre. At a banquet given in his honor, the Managers Theatrical Association presented him with a gold watch, set with diamonds. Spokane people will miss Harry, as he is known to everyone, and we all wish him luck and prosperity in his new home. Charles W. York, manager of the Spokane Theatre for the past two years, succeeds him.

E. AXELSON.

TOLEDO, O.

Three new theatres have been added for the coming season to the already long list, making eight theatres in Toledo. The managers of the various houses have not as yet entirely outlined their plans for the season, but the following expressions have been received:

At the Empire, under the management of Hurlig & Seamon, and on the Eastern Wheel of Burlesque, the local manager, Harry Winters, states that the new policy in burlesque, that of eliminating anything vulgar or suggestive from the shows and catering to the ladies in harmony with his views, and it is his intention to run his theatre strictly on these lines. He is confident that an adherence to this policy means greater prosperity to burlesque shows than ever before.

At the Lyceum, the popular price theatre of musical and high-class dramas of Stair & Havlin, Manager Moore states that his bookings are along that line, and that it will allow Toledo theatregoers to see some of the best attractions that this city has ever had. The season so far with the last three attractions, points to a prosperous year.

The Auditorium, on the Shuberts' Circuit, Manager A. Wiswell, who has just landed here to take charge of the theatre, says the opening will be about the middle of the month. He can not predict the outcome so early, but having just come from the firm's headquarters in New York, knows that the bookings are strong and many.

The Arcade, at present the only ten cent vaudeville theatre in town, is on the Gus Sun Circuit, Harry Hewitt, the local manager, claims that his season has been big and going along as the same clip. We are to have some opposition for the coming season, but from the goods that we have had in the past, it looks as if the Arcade will go merrily on with the usually large houses and another big season.

The Valentine, on the K. & E. Circuit, Manager Ketchum, claims that the regular season will open some time in October, and that Lee Bods, the general manager of the Valentine Circuit, has been in New York for the past two weeks, and his attractions are the best that play many of the leading cities.

Louis Theall is with us again this season with one of Vaughan Glaser's attractions, and likes his company, and held a rehearsal at Point Place during his stay.

Mail is here for the coming of the Jersey harp agent, Morris Cane, who conducts the tour of Harry Clay Blaney's Across the Pacific Co., booking at the American Theatre soon.

Chup Kipple and wife have just returned from the white tops, and after a little home tonic will return to the vaudeville field for the winter opening in New York.

The Valentine Theatre will have for one night Kyrle Bellow in The Molluc, on September 3. The regular season will open the middle of October.

Auditorium will open the season on September 13, with Grace Van Stoddard.

Willie Leone has returned home from the parks at Columbus, and his slide trombone will be heard from in some local theatre the coming season.

Bernard Lustig, the press agent, will handle that end for the new Keith's. Lustig has some good stories to offer for the opening.

Johnnie Russell, one of the boys of the hill, is to handle the Great Divide house, the American Theatre, stage.

Harry Hurlig of the Arcade, will have a grape farm soon in the lobby of his theatre. The framework is up, and Harry will go down York state for the fruit.

Sir John Campbell was with us for a few days with the advance of The White Slave, which is at the Lyceum Theatre.

Chester Servant has severed his connection as partner in the Elarto Hotel, the theatrical place, and from now on will attend to the booking of the Arcade and other matters with the Hurlig & Seamon enterprises.

Keith's new vaudeville theatre on 26, State Street, will open its doors September 25. Manager Joe Pearlstein says if the Toledo people want the goods in the vaudeville line they will get it, and all he wants is the goes to make a visit. You know what the Keith's motto is. The theatre will surprise many who have wondered what has been going on for months.

Manager Briley will be ready with his new theatre, the Columbia, which will offer vaudeville and pictures. It is rumored that it will have Sullivan & Considine's Time.

The American, formerly known as Bur's, has gone back to melodrama, which has not been seen in this city for the last three years. Manager Wilbur is doing all he can to get the best attractions for his theatre, and as it is on the Stair & Havlin Circuit, it should be a banner year for such class of shows.

JACK TIERNEY.

MINNEAPOLIS, MINN.

Several of the local aldermen have in project an ordinance to prevent the employment of girls as ushers at the theatres and motion picture houses here, which idea has aroused considerable protest on the part of the girls so employed at the present time. Miss Gratia Hanson, ushering at a Nicollet Avenue picture house, says that she will be present at the next meeting of the special committee of the city council to protest against such an ordinance, which, she states, will throw many deserving girls out of employment and fill the places with boys, who are no more competent than girls in such capacities. She states that the boys or work are no different from those in which many other girls are employed in other situations, and that she can not see what objections the aldermen can present to girls being employed as ushers in any of the local theatres.

The Lyric Theatre will not continue as a stock theatre, at least not for some time, as it has been leased as a motion picture house and will present daylight motion pictures, beginning at an early date. This will practically eliminate stock in the Mill City this season, unless the unexpected happens, and it will be the first season for about six years that this city has been without a winter stock company. Promoters claim that stock ventures here have been unusually unsuccessful in the past seasons and that the amount of patronage received does not warrant the expense of maintaining a company and operating a theatre for stock purposes.

The new Grand Theatre, on Hennepin Avenue, between Sixth and Seventh Streets, opened Monday, September 11, instead of Monday, September 4, as was first scheduled. This delay in opening was due to the fact that, while the work of completion of the building was rushed as much as possible, it was found that the work of decorating the interior would take a week longer than was the original intention of the owners, I. Ruben and M. L. Tishelstein.

tember 28-30, will have both new buildings and equipment this year, as the management has purchased a tract of ground which in the future will be owned by the Hennepin County Agricultural Society, who control this fair. Workmen are now busy erecting the buildings and getting the tract into proper condition. The fair will have a baseball diamond and a race-track, and there will be a live stock show, poultry and truck-gardening exhibit, work of school children of the county, besides the midway. The officers of the Hennepin County Agricultural Society are as follows: President, C. W. Baird, Edina, Minn.; first vice-president, Clarence Wilson, Richfield, Minn.; second vice-president, N. D. McGillivray, Hopkins, Minn.; secretary, W. S. Smetana; treasurer, A. J. Hentzell, Hopkins, Minn.

The motion picture theatres of the Mill City continue to grow at an astonishing rate, springing up like mushrooms overnight all over the city. A partial summary at this date shows the following motion picture theatres operating here: Seville Theatre, Crystal Theatre, Photo Theatre, Gem Theatre, Lyndale Theatre, Orient Theatre, Scenic Theatre, Cyril Theatre, Isis Theatre, Princess Theatre, Majestic Theatre, Novelty Theatre, Wonderland Theatre, Lake Theatre, Milo Theatre, Plymouth Theatre, Manda Theatre, Cozy Theatre, Zenith Theatre, 100c Theatre, Grand Theatre, Northern Theatre, People's Theatre, Iola Theatre, Elite Theatre, Dome Theatre and Royal Theatre.

RODERIC STE. FLEURE.

SPOKANE, WASH.

John Considine was a visitor here week of September 1, and during his stay announced that Spokane will have a new Orpheum Theatre in the near future. Some of the big headlines which we will see at the Orpheum include McIntyre & Heath, Romance of the Underworld, Odvia, Alice Lloyd and many others. Mr. Considine, accompanied by his son and Mose Oppenheimer has left on a hunting trip through the mountains.

Another prominent visitor during the week was President Heilig of the Northwestern Theatrical Association. Mr. Heilig stated that the theatrical outlook for the Northwest is excellent. During his stay here he was the guest of Dan Weaver.

where animal acts of the largest kind may be seen as well as the highest and largest aerial performances, and with a seating capacity of 10,000. Mr. Hoberd in January, this year, with very strong opposition, and a similar incident, under the auspices of the local circus, just one week ahead of this, produced under the auspices of the Moose one of the best exhibitions ever seen under roof, drawing away hundreds of people at every performance.

Besides the contract already closed for week of November 27 with the Canton Moose, a number of other contracts for the same show for other cities will likely be closed within a few weeks. It is expected that there will be a circuit of from two to five weeks. The only thing that will prevent such a circuit will be the lack of large enough and suitable buildings, as it will require large and substantial space for the playing of the big feature acts that are now being looked.

HERE AND THERE.

By GUY WEADICK.

London, August 25.—The big strike that has held Great Britain—or at least England and Scotland—in its grasp for the past two weeks, was officially declared settled last Saturday evening, but, although most all of the railroads have resumed their usual schedule again, the tramcar men and the dock hands in Liverpool and some of the other cities in the north are still out and at this writing things are still in a bad condition.

Owing to the labor troubles it has been very hard for vaudeville artists to make their jump to the next town; as the railroad and steamship companies alike, although their property was guarded by the soldiers and police, had a difficult time in keeping their lines going. An early settlement of the strike will greatly relieve others beside the traveling public, as the food shortage, etc., has raised prices on goods to famine prices in some towns.

As an instance of the trouble used by artists to make the town for their next week's engagement, would say Holmes Bros. and Jacobson made the journey last Sunday from London, England to Newcastle-on-Tyne, Scotland, a distance of some 500 miles, in a motor car, so as to be on the job Monday. This trio is now in right over here, having at present bookings for the next three years, with only four or five open weeks in that time, which will be filled ere they get to them.

The Aerial Smiths, formerly with the Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey Shows, are playing an engagement at the Empire in London and their success seems to be greater each performance. It is a double trapeze act that runs nine minutes, and the amount of good, clever work that is executed in that time is astonishing. The old stunt after each trick, that of the performer taking out a handkerchief and wiping off his hands, etc., and passing it on to his partner (the old stall thing), is conspicuous by its absence in the course of the Aerial Smiths' performance.

Capt. Jack Kelley and Violet Kelley, the Australian stock whip manipulators, are at present in London, having just completed a successful engagement in Glasgow.

Fred Lindsay, the stock whip man, left a couple of weeks ago to play an extended engagement in America.

Pete Wiser, the "King's friend," is here. Pete says, upon his arrival at New Haven, the English part of entry, crossing from France, he lined up at the money changer's window with the crowd to get his French money changed into English coin. When it came his turn he presented seventy centimes (fifteen cents U. S. money). In return he received sixpence, ha-penny, English money (thirteen cents U. S. money). Pete says, after much arguing with the man at the desk, he was informed they charged him a ha-penny (one cent U. S. money) for changing the money. Wiser says the crowd lined up behind him were very indignant at the delay he caused, but says the next time he changes money at a foreign port he'll know about it, for "what the deuce would a man do who had any amount to change, when they took so much time to change my small ha-penny?" "I am really glad I spent all mine in Paris," says Pete.

There is some talk over here of the music hall managers getting together to form a combine which aimed at the power to say to an artist that his maximum salary should be so much and no more. There are doubts expressed as to the success of the movement.

Dick Staley, formerly of Birbeck and Staley, the "musical blacksmiths," is in town, but leaves for Colorado immediately to get busy with his mine there, which, according to recent reports, is making the so-called "wise ones" of a couple of years ago wish they had purchased some shares.

Among the exhibits of cowboy goods, such as saddles, spurs, etc., at the Cheyenne Frontier Day Celebration this year, will be that of Victor Marden of The Dalles, Ore. Mr. Marden declares he is out for the cowboy trade and his filling an order of twenty-five first-class stock saddles for the Lubin Film Company, to be used on their horses in scenes for their Western pictures, and also numerous orders from cowboys with the different Wild West shows, looks like he was going to make good his assertion.

Wish to say we call next week for America and all mail will reach me if addressed care The Billboard Pub. Co., 1440 Broadway, New York City.

A. B. P. & B. OF A. NOTES.
